

BULLARD—NOONAN

Miss Elizabeth H. Noonan, daughter of ex-Secretary of State, Patrick Noonan of Canal street, and Ralph F. Bullard of Jamaica Plain, son of Mrs. Olivia N. Bullard, were united in marriage last Saturday morning at the Cecilia's Church, Boston, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends who taxed the capacity of the church. The ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. Ryan who also solemnized the nuptial mass which followed.

The bride was given in a wedding dress of white ivory satin embroidered with pearls, and having a border of point lace. She wore a bridal veil, misty tulle caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was accompanied by Miss Margaret Phelan as maid of honor. Miss Phelan wore shell pink georgette with a picture hat to match and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Emma Seabrook and Miss Edna McKay, the former wearing orchid georgette with hat to match, and Miss McKay, pale blue georgette with pale blue picture hat. Marjorie and Jean Peal were flower girls. They were charming little frocks of fine chamois with lace hat to match. Albert Cass was groomsmen, and the ushers included John Burns, I. W. Parsons, E. A. Weiden, Horace Lawrence, Newman, E. A. Lawson, and M. S. Lovell.

At the conclusion of the nuptial mass the wedding party drove to the Hotel Vendome, Boston, where a wedding breakfast was served. After a wedding trip to the White Mountains and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Bullard will spend the remaining summer months at Hull.

TWO OUTINGS

Nantasket and Gloucester were the delightful resorts on the South and North Shores that re-echoed with the laughter of the happy choir, sewing circle, and mandolin club members of St. Mary's Parish outing the past week. Tuesday, bright and gay, found the singing ladies and choir entertained as guests of Rev. N. J. Merritt in a motor trip and dinner at McPeak's shore garden at Nantasket. The pulpitary Gray Line Bus, "Berkshire," conveyed 17 cheery picknickers with Fathers Merritt and Fitzgibbon's mandolin club members, 22 in all, to Gloucester. Bass Rocks, the famous appointed Gray Line Bus, "White House," caused the musicians to forget the weather and amid "uke" strains, choruses, solos, stories, antics and a general round of fun the trip along the North Shore passed quickly. Hotel Savoy's chef, Arthur R. V. Pettie and then the hall room were their stamping ground of games and dances till 4:30.

Bass Rocks showed clear after the drizzle—rain—to the rocks and water did the merry maidens go to swim and frolic in the waves. When Fr. Fitzgibbon and Tom Gifford's band called for supper at 7 by the clock, the tired girls with Miss Nellie M. Sullivan and Miss Margaret W. Callahan as chaperones, off once more to eat if they were able.

Revere Beach and its countless attractions were too tempting, so an hour was given over to "trying everything."

As chickens are gathered into the coop so were the fatigued members of the "White House" at 9:30 to sing and cheer till their homeland was reached where each ballad in the extended car for the "days" was the last ever, rain or shine.

CELEBRATED ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Finley F. Beaton of this town observed the twentieth anniversary of their marriage at Tufts Oval from Winchester last Saturday afternoon. More than 100 guests were present from Stoughton, Dorchester, Somerville, Malden, Brighton, Woburn, and Arlington. The affair was from Winchester to celebrate the happy couple and enjoy the program of vocal and instrumental music in the afternoon. Refreshments were served from 5 until 10 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaton were married in Winchester June 19, 1905. They are well known throughout the district in which they make their home and are the parents of six children: Francis V., Daniel J., Nora A., Joseph L., Winifred A., and Lillian G. Beaton, all of this town.

O'MELIA—NOONAN

Many Winchester residents were interested in the wedding in Woburn Sunday evening, June 28, when Miss Thomas O'Melia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Noonan of 12 Hudson street, that city, became the bride of O'Melia of this town, son of Mrs. Nora O'Melia, 66 Loring avenue. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. O'Melia, the double ring ceremony being used.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white crepe de chine with veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Florence Noonan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of Nile green crepe de chine with picture hat to match, and she carried pink roses. Thomas O'Melia, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a ring, and the groom's gift to the bridesman was a pair of golf cuff links.

Following the ceremony luncheon was served by a caterer at the home of the bride's parents. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, ferns, and notations with devotional and musical program. The house was presided from Woburn, Winchester, Stoughton, Reading, Arlington, Somerville, and Watertown.

A short honeymoon trip to Canada which will include a visit to the far-south of St. Anne de Beaupre, Mr. and Mrs. O'Melia will be followed by their friends at 516 Main street, Woburn.

PRIZES AWARDED THURSDAY

Paul Welburn Wins Elks' Safety Essay Contest

The award was made Thursday, June 25 at a meeting of the committee at the High School in the safety essay contest conducted by Winchester Lodge Elks among the Winchester public school pupils. Paul Welburn of Ridgefield road was the winner of the contest, his essay "What I Should do to Escape Accidents in the Highways" being awarded first honors by a unanimous vote. Two prizes were awarded each school in town.

The winners were as follows: High School, Beatrice Post, 33 Cross street, 1st; Hazel Pose, Myra road, 2nd; Wadsworth School, Maryann Grant, 30 Wildwood street, 1st; Junior High School, Paul Welburn, 1st; and High School, Paul Welburn, 1st.

The prize winning essay of Paul Welburn is as follows:

What I Should Do To Escape Accidents in the Highways

The greatest enemy of all safety seekers is carelessness. It is my greatest enemy because it has more power than the combined armies of the world. It has broken many families and taken in the United States alone the lives of 19,000 people by automobile accidents. The greatest enemy of safety is carelessness. ## SERVICES HELD SUNDAY

Charles J. Ramsdell Laid to Rest in Wildwood Cemetery

Largely attended services were held on Sunday afternoon at the home on Lakeview road for Charles J. Ramsdell, prominently known in this town and Boston, who died Thursday night. The residence was filled with flowers and the attendance included many prominently identified with Boston business houses and organizations, together with delegates from fraternal and social clubs. Representatives from William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of this town were also in attendance.

The service was conducted by Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Winchester Unitarian Church, of which Mr. Ramsdell was a member. Mr. Reed was assisted in the service by Dr. John Gowdy, president of Fitch Christian University of Fitchburg, China. The pall bearers were Frederick S. Snyder, president of the firm of Batchelder & Snyder, of which Mr. Ramsdell was vice president; Dr. John Gowdy of China; Dr. George Willard of Everett; Frederick C. Alexander, Dr. W. Holbrook Lowell and F. M. Russell.

The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery, of which the deceased was a commissioner.

A Tribute

The writer wishes to pay a personal tribute to the disinterested and generous friendship which he enjoyed in associating with Charles J. Ramsdell, covering a period of nearly 25 years. His early life in Nottingham, N. H., where he was born, was not without its struggles, but he was always interested and loyal to his native town and especially interested in the younger generation. For many years he remembered all the youth under 12 with an appropriate gift at Christmas. His school days were spent at Nottingham and Fitch, Vermont, where he graduated. The stories he related of his early life plainly indicated his keen enjoyment of public life and his staunch loyalty to the friends of his youth. He early began an apprenticeship of the art of business, and the profession of Hotel Entertainment, at the Isles of Shoals. Beginning as tell boy, he served as manager for several years before he ended his 13 years of continuous service with a later business connection there. Oscar Laighton, whose life of 80 years has been mainly spent at the Shoals, was among his special friends.

With this beginning, it was natural that he should become vice-president of the Batchelder, Snyder Co. of Boston, which serves the hotel trade of N. E. and the South, as well as an increasing number of schools and colleges in many sections. Here the circle of his personal friends and business associates was greatly augmented, which was supplemented by his own business interests with several large summer resorts.

While his business interests were wide and varied, he was ever ready to welcome with cheery words, a hearty hand clasp, and a touch of friendly personal interest, all classes and conditions of friends and business associates. He often seemed to delight in giving expression to the finer emotions by some unusual way of doing a favor or presenting a gift. His home was always dear to him and the memory of his mother who died when he was very young was sorely cherished. He bestowed his friendship in a generous manner among the high and the low without discrimination, the real test being that the friendship should be as true as beaten gold and that he could serve them. Shams and unseemly pretense were nothing to him, and he was as enduring in his convictions and judgments as the granite of his native hills. His interests were as far reaching as the waters surrounding his loved Shoals, and his varied activities as intense as the busy hours of his working days. Those who helped him in his early efforts to gain the goal of his seeking were never forgotten. He seemed to be always on the lookout to help a friend in trouble.

God's out-of-doors had a strong appeal for him. Sunshine or rain, intense cold or burning heat were alike attractive. His spirit sought kinship in all out door life and he found much restful recreation with a perched bird or the waters surrounding his loved activities of human kind. With him wrong was right, and wrong was wrong, and no camouflage about it. Our associations with him were largely in his rare days of outdoor recreation where he revealed his fundamental instincts of true manhood and loyal generous friendship. How greatly these friendly companionships will be missed by an unnumbered host of personal friends cannot be told. Those who knew him as one of God's real noblemen can only hope to endure his passing with the same fortitude he showed when the ranks of his own family circle were broken and when he lost near and dear personal friends. Words poorly express the deeper emotions of the human heart but from the heart we can testify to the noble character of our friend who proved himself ever generous, loyal and true in all the human relations of his daily active life. He loved his fellowmen for what they were rather than for what they seemed to be.

RAMMED HIGH TENSION WIRE POLE

Leonard Hastings of 39 Springfield street, Somerville had a narrow escape from serious injury last Saturday night at 11:15 o'clock when a Ford car, the property of Mary Hastings, also of 39 Springfield street, Somerville, and which he was driving South along Cambridge street, got out of control and crashed into an electric light pole at the corner of Wildwood street, breaking a glass insulator to which was attached at the top of the pole a 2300 volt high tension electric wire and also knocking from the same pole a U. S. Mail box. The front of the Ford was badly wrecked in the smash, and Hastings was well shaken up. He was removed to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. R. L. Sheehy for abrasions to the legs. Later he went to his home. The Ford was towed to the Central Garage.

J. E. BYRON WON AT COUNTRY CLUB LAST SATURDAY

A handicap medal tournament for members was held at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. J. E. Byron was the winner, turning in a card of 78-64. Other scores follow:

Mrs. Helen Regan received injuries to her right knee when a Ford sedan in which she was riding skidded on Church street last Sunday afternoon, and going across the sidewalk turned over upon the lawn in front of the residence of Mr. Leon E. Crouch. The car was being driven by John Regan of 1211 Commonwealth avenue, Boston who was driving in the street car tracks at the time of the accident and headed Westward. Mrs. Regan was removed to the office of Dr. H. E. Maynard for treatment. The Ford was not badly damaged.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

Winchester had its first fatal motor accident in modern times last Sunday night between 11:40 and 11:45 o'clock when a motorcycle ridden by Chester P. Garland, aged 22 of 1112 Broadway, Somerville crashed into a one-man electric car of the Massachusetts Eastern Street Railway on Cambridge street, causing injuries to the rider from which he died about 20 minutes later.

According to the police version of the affair, Garland, in company with two other motorcycle riders, was traveling on 23 Berland street, Somerville and Horace G. Dearborn of 86 Electric avenue, Somerville, the latter two accompanied by the young ladies, was returning home from a trip to New Hampshire and was riding his Harley-Davidson in the direction of Arlington. Just as he happened to strike the car which was headed toward Winchester and operated by Conductor D. L. Everett of 522 Main street, Melrose, is not known. The police, however, are inclined to believe that the glare of an approaching automobile's headlights blinded Garland and caused him to swerve his machine sharply to the left directly into the path of the electric. The accident occurred at the entrance to the garage of Mr. A. P. Smith of Myopia road, and it is possible that the appearance of the driveway may have caused Garland to believe it possible to turn off the main road to the left of the trolley line. He struck the car head on, reducing his motorcycle to a mass of wreckage and rendering himself unconscious. He was picked up by a passing motorist, whose name is not known, and accompanied by John Drohan of 83 Nelson street, was taken to the Winchester Hospital, the machine stopping at the Town Hall to pick up Officer Charles Harrold of the Winchester Police.

At the hospital Garland was pronounced alive by Dr. F. F. Pike of Melrose, but was found to have sustained a fractured skull, broken bones, and multiple internal injuries. He died without regaining consciousness at 12:15 o'clock. The medical examiner was notified and the body viewed by associate medical examiner W. M. Tyler of Lexington early Monday morning. The wrecked motorcycle was removed to the Winchester Police Station by Sgt. Rogers and Officer Hogan who were on duty at the scene of the accident after it occurred. No arrests were made.

BALL SQUARE AND CENTRAL THEATRES

Another one of those big photograph bills which have been the rule at the Locust Theatre, the Ball Square and the Central will be presented to the patrons at each half of the coming week. The first three days will be unfolded the stupendous Ernst Lubitsch production, "Kiss Me Again," in which Monte Blue and Marie Prevost will be featured. The story of "Kiss Me Again" is essentially a romance of highly colored speed and thrill, but Mr. Lubitsch's genius for the "different" in screen production, has woven around it a subtle veil of fun, absurdity and sophistication, that is without doubt one of the most interesting and fascinating frames that has ever been devised for a picture. "Everyman's Wife" tells a story that might well be written about any American family, and it drives home with unrelenting force the danger of suspicion. It is a drama set in exquisite beauty. The last half of the week will show Zane Grey's stirring Western romance "Code of the West." The story is of a New York flapper who tried to marry a cowboy, and was tamed and taught the "Code of the West." If you like to be thrilled, if you like to see a pretty girl and a brave young man fighting through dangers to happiness, you must see this great picture. Owen Moore and Constance Bennett are featured. The second picture will be

"The Price of a Party," with Hone Hampton and Harrison Ford in the leading roles. It is a thrilling, thrilling, drama of a girl who fought against terrible odds in her quest for success. A comedy of the newest type "Luna-Cy" will be shown the last half also. Other screen features will be offered throughout the week.

Last Friday evening a Ford touring car, the property of Mr. Fred Macdonald, proprietor of the store at the junction of Forest and Washington streets, was badly damaged when it was struck, while standing in front of his place of business, by a Chevrolet touring car owned and operated by L. W. Hayes of 94 Pearl street, Boston. Mr. Hayes was going west on Forest street and was about to turn to go south on Washington street when his machine was threatened by a Hudson sedan, owned and operated by M. M. Dwyne of 43 Park street, Boston, and going north on Washington street. To avoid being struck by the Hudson the Chevrolet went directly across Washington street, striking Macdonald's Ford. Both the Chevrolet and the Hudson were going at a high rate of speed, according to Macdonald who removed the matter to the Winchester Police. The Chevrolet was slightly hurt in the crash.

More Milk—Better Health

The more we know about milk the surer we are that this is true. No other food contains the life-giving combination we find in milk, and no other food is so easy to digest and assimilate. But milk quality is important. Hood's Grade "A" settles that. Try it for a month. Its richness and fine flavor will appeal to you and the children as well.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

Article 3 relating to the acceptance of building lines on Bolton street was quickly passed as was the next one relating to the acceptance by the town of the deed and plan of 27 square feet of land at the corner of Elmwood avenue and Vine street as tendered it by Daniel Kelley. In connection with the latter Mr. Laraway felt that the Moderator should be a committee of one to thank Mr. Kelley, and we were unable to catch Mr. Ives.

Chairman Dotson of the Board spoke in favor of Article 5 calling for $100 to be expended in dredging and lowering the bed of Horn Pond Brook within the limits of the Town Ward on Lake and Linden streets, and the motion to that effect went through without opposition.

Then came the fireworks, Article 6, inserted to see if the town would vote to acquire the land bounded by Lansing avenue, Lockman street, Fitzgerald avenue, Kirk street extended northerly, and a railroad street, or any part thereof, for the purpose of a public playground or recreation center, and authorize the Selectmen to prepare a plan by eminent domain, raise and appropriate money therefor, and determine how the same shall be raised. A motion had hardly been made by Mr. Cassidy authorizing the town to take or purchase the above mentioned parcel of land for a playground, and providing an appropriation of $5000 therefor, when Mr. Laraway presented to the meeting a petition against the proposed plan signed by the several residents on or adjacent to the proposed playground site. Mr. Laraway stoutly opposed the motion presented as did Messrs. Erickson, Longo, and Stearns. Mr. Carleton speaking for the Finance Committee felt that his committee could not report favorably upon the proposition until they had secured financial data upon which to base its findings. Mr. McDonald speaking for the motion dwelt at length upon the necessity for a playground in the proposed district, and felt that the citizens there were entitled to recreational facilities for their children, and to those enjoyed by the children in other parts of the town. She felt that playgrounds were just as essential as schools, and further was of the opinion that the view of the ladies' committee recently appropriated for school buildings the $5000 asked for in the article was not excessive. Her remarks called for such prolonged applause that there could be little doubt as to the sentiments of most of the citizens, especially the ladies, gathered in the center of the hall. Nevertheless Mr. Laraway refused to accept the inevitable, and offered a motion postponing the action upon the playground proposition until the next annual meeting in March. Mr. Laraway felt that such procedure would be in view of the Finance Committee's opinion that the town should look before leaping into a financial program about which little apparently was known. Mr. Erickson again voiced his general opposition to the program at large before Mr. Ives put the question on Mr. Laraway's motion. The motion was first rejected, then decided on a Ye and Nay vote, the nay fairly causing the chandeliers to quiver. Nothing daunted Mr. Laraway arose and said that in the whole matter he referred to a committee of three to be appointed by the Moderator and to report to a subsequent meeting. Again Mr. Ives put the question and again the meeting voiced its disapproval of putting off action upon the playground in a hasty rejection of Mr. Laraway's second motion. Action then reverted to the original motion of Mr. Cassidy authorizing the town to take or purchase the land, and appropriating $5000 to that end. Mr. Parsons of the Planning Board spoke in favor of the immediate action, feeling that the land could never be gotten any more cheaply, and was further of the opinion that while it was unfortunate that several residents might be forced to abandon their homes if the playground was placed as proposed, the location was on the whole the only one available in the district for playground purposes. The meeting was becoming impatient for the question, and after the Town Council had approved of the motion as it was presented the question was put. It required, to be passed, a two-thirds vote, and it was easily successful, the result being 163 Ye, as opposed to 23 Nay.

The meeting then adjourned after Mr. Randall of the Water Board had failed to get a majority of the vote that the town should install brass water service on future jobs.

BOSTONIA WINS AGAIN

Boston, owned by John Black Jr., easily won the six-mile race last Saturday at the Model Yacht Club last Saturday. The boat, with a strong southerly wind blowing, Elizabeth, owned by Fred Pigeon, was second. The first, owned by Black, finished first in both heats in class B races. The first finished second last year in the national championships of the Model Yacht Racing Association at Flushing Bay, L. I.

In the first heat, Circe, owned by Fred Pigeon was second; Vamp, owned by James Potter, third; Mystic, owned by Wellington Kimble, fourth; Scott, owned by S. C. Macomber, fifth. In the second heat Mystic finished third, Vamp fourth, and the other boats finishing in the first heat.

WHAT MACMILLAN HOPES TO EXPLORE

First announcement was made today of the detailed plans for the Macmillan Arctic Expedition, under the leadership of the National Geographic Society, as submitted to The Society by Commander Donald B. Macmillan.

In addition to exploring the million square miles between known areas on the North Pole Commander Macmillan, with the aid of the U. S. Navy planes, plans to make reconnaissance flights over other unknown regions which the eye of man has never yet beheld.

The other unexplored areas where flights with the Navy's amphibian planes are planned include the central part of Ellsmere Island and Grant Land, the central part of the great Greenland ice cap, the entire interior of Baffin Island and the northern part of Labrador.

Why Planes Are Practical

I believe that the practical way of raising these unknown areas on the maps of today is by the use of airplanes and particularly the new type of plane known as the amphibian which is capable of landing on water, ice or land, Commander Macmillan said.

To carry out this work successfully, I plan to establish a base at Etah, about 700 miles from the North Pole, which a good strong ship can reach by Aug. 1. If it is not possible to leave Wasegat, Me. about June 27, to proceed along the Nova Scotia coast to Sydney, there to take on the coal supply for the season, and to continue up through the Gulf of St. Lawrence, to the Labrador coast, and from about 60° north latitude cross to the Danish town of Julianahab, South Greenland.

With Julianahab as a base we shall study the remains of the old Norse settlements established in southern Greenland some 1500 years ago. The best authority on Greenland today states there are there about 100 farms of the early Norsemen, also stone churches, and from this point the Norsemen used and away for the discovery of America. After investigating and studying these ruins, especially the site of houses built by the Norsemen, we shall proceed to the town of Godthaab.

Back of this town there are about 90 farms and some 21 stone churches. The principal reason for visiting and studying these ruins is to prove or disprove a similarity between the houses built there by the Norsemen and those that are found in Labrador, reported by the Eskimos to be built by a strange people who came in from the sea in open boats without masts and without sails. I believe that we ought to find in Labrador the first authentic proofs of these Norsemen who came to America some 1000 years before the time of Columbus.

Planes Will Carry Food

From Godthaab we shall proceed up the coast to Etah, this to be a base for the exploration work to be done by the amphibian planes. From Etah oil and supplies can be relayed to Cape Thomas Hubbard, the most northern point of Axel Heiberg Land at the edge of the Polar Sea. The distance is, roughly, 250 miles. From Cape Hubbard to the center of the great unknown area is, roughly, 500 miles, which will make a total of 1200 miles to be covered by the planes. It is hoped by fastening extra fuel tanks on the planes to cover this distance in a continuous flight. If ice conditions are favorable, other attempts may be made north and south of this direct line, thus eliminating thousands of square miles of unknown area from the maps of the world of today.

Food will be taken in the planes for several days of exploration of any lands that may be found in this area. Following our return to the ship at Etah, other trips will be attempted north to the center of Ellsmere Island and Grant Land to Cape Columbia at the edge of the Polar Sea, where Peary's record is to be found, strong he reached the North Pole on April 6, 1909.

Flight of 680 Miles

The great Greenland ice cap, 500,000 square miles of area, is supposed to reach a height of about 10,000 feet. No one has ever visited that part of the cap between 70° and 80° north latitude, the center of which is, roughly, 340 miles from Etah. This will mean a continuous flight of 680 miles, which can be accomplished in about five hours. The condition of the Greenland ice cap is such, however, that our planes should have no difficulty in making a landing every few minutes. This work done in the North, it is my purpose to return southward following the eastern shores of Ellsmere Island to Baffin Island, the northern shores of Baffin Island.

In Baffin Island we have one of the most interesting lands in the North, some 600 miles long, 200 miles wide, and yet unexplored, although it was discovered in about 1500. On the mass today there are a few lakes. I am informed by the Eskimos that there are thousands and thousands of lakes in the interior of this great land.

Seals, Caribou and Geese

The Eskimos say that many of these lakes are filled with seals that come up the river from the sea; also their waters are covered with many kinds of water birds. Here, we are also informed, roam big herds of Caribou, and here also is believed to be the hidden unknown breeding ground of the Blue Goose.

The Eskimos say that here there are enormous numbers of Lesser Snow Geese in making a landing every few minutes. This work done in the North, it is my purpose to return southward following the eastern shores of Ellsmere Island to Baffin Island, the northern shores of Baffin Island.

MILK CHART FOR MAY 1925

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

Strange Accompaniment

William Collins, English poet, in fits of melancholic insanity, used to haunt the cloisters of Chichester cathedral, England, and would utter weird and unworldly howls whenever the organ was played at services.

Reason Most Powerful

The value of reason is more to be regarded than the bent of any present inclination, since inclination will at length come over to reason, though we can never force reason to comply with inclination.

Controversy Over Song

"Which shall it be? Which shall it be? 'My' or 'the' 'my' or 'the'?" "Isn't that silly? I agree with you and yet it was the basis of a discussion that was carried on by several historical societies. The question was told Stephen G. Foster wrote, in 1880 for the first time of his famous song 'The sun shines bright on my old Kentucky home' or was it: 'The sun shines bright in the old Kentucky home'?"

British Fight Slang

Parents in British society are discussing the elimination of slang among young people, such expressions as "bally" and "odd thing" being among the most offensive expressions.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

WOMAN A FIRE EATER?

Antiquated cooking equipment that heats the cook as well as the food puts woman in the fire-eating class. Any housewife who has slaved with coal and wood knows that is true. A change from solid fuel to gas fuel has meant liberation for millions of American Women. But even gas ranges can become antiquated. Some women submit to them by force of habit. Others rebel, secure modern equipment and find their kitchen duties are made lighter and more pleasant.

If your gas range is not giving you entire satisfaction, get in touch with us. Perhaps your range is not adjusted right. Perhaps it is worn out. Any way you look at it you'll profit in hours of work saved in the kitchen. Remember that your cooking equipment is the most used equipment in the home.

The Winchester Fire Department was called out at 8 o'clock Monday evening by an alarm from Box 21 for a fire in a car at the Colonial Filling Station on Main street. It was a more or less in the chain of proof demonstrating that gasoline and matches just wont get along harmoniously together. Mr. Sam McNeely of 13 Elm street, Winchester had just filled the tank on his car with gasoline, and had lighted a match to light a cigarette when some of the fumes from the gas (the tank was closed) took fire. The flames were quickly extinguished, and the damage was to the cushion on the rear seat of the machine.

The worst electrical storm in the memory of the oldest inhabitant and probably in the history of the town visited Winchester last Tuesday evening.

For one hour the Heavens opened up in one continuous pyrotechnic display ranging from horizon to horizon and accompanied by such deafening crashes of thunder that people wondered if they were experiencing a terrific earthquake.

The storm apparently came over the town and stood there, bombarding Winchester with lightning and thunder which made a condition both magnificent and terrifying.

Accompanying the electrical display was a downpour of rain so thick that one could hardly see across the street, and driven by a gale of wind which swept it in clouds of spray like fog.

The rain in itself was phenomenal. Streets were flooded and the interior of houses damaged by the water.

The wind, too, was exceptionally heavy. Under ordinary conditions these phases of the storm would have been remarkable, but the electrical display was so magnificent that it overshadowed all else.

Such flashes of lightning were probably never seen before by our residents—at least by those who were fortunate enough to watch in comfort and with any extended outlook.

The display was continuous. There was no intermission whatever.

From east to west the sky was one continuous glow. There was every brand of lightning yet discovered, from flashes as broad as a house to hair lines.

There were curves and angles, halls of fire and spiders. The lightning was vivid in the extreme. It cut the sky as though engraved.

And it continued and continued. Even after the first heavy rain let up the lightning continued unabated.

People stood outside the stores and houses watching the magnificent display, wondering if it would ever end or if it was to be a continuous affair.

As a matter of fact it lasted just under an hour, although for a half hour longer there was plenty of flashes and thunder as it gradually disappeared over the east side hills.

WINCHESTER'S FOURTH QUIET

Rain Fails to Prevent Completion of Program

Winchester's observance of the glorious Fourth was carried out according to schedule despite several attempts on the part of the weather-man to dampen festivities with fitful showers of rain.

The first rainfall was very slight, and interfered with the carrying out of the morning's activities only in the promise it gave off to come.

By noon the weather was ideal with clear skies and a fresh breeze, these conditions holding until near the close of the afternoon ball game when a brisk shower dampened the ardor of the assembled fans while causing everyone to feel that the evening program of fireworks must suffer a postponement.

Early in the evening intermittent rain gave promise of fulfilling this apprehension, but by the time it was dark enough to start the display conditions had cleared nicely, and continued fine throughout the closing numbers.

The day was generally quiet, and like conditions prevailed the night before. Here and there a few exuberant spirits allowed their individual celebrations to assume such proportions as to necessitate police intervention, but these instances were few, and both police and firemen were unanimous in naming the Fourth of July one of the calmest on record.

The high light of the morning's activities was the children's party in the town hall. Considerably more than 800 enthusiastic kiddies were guests of the town at 10 o'clock, reveling in the antics of a clown magician, and longing to own the clever little trick pony which also performed for their edification.

Community singing of popular and patriotic songs rounded out the activities of the party, the children being led by Miss Mary A. Lyons with Mrs. Robert Kingston at the piano. Everything was very orderly and selectman Walter H. Dotten and John H. Powers with Mrs. Dotten and Mrs. Powers, James J. Fitzgerald, Fred H. Schell, Napoleon Goddu, and Edward Callahan, keeping a watchful eye on proceedings, had little to do beyond exercise a general supervision of things, in itself considerable of a job.

At the conclusion of the entertainment each kiddie was given a card good for an ice cream cone at Randall's and while the youthful merry-makers left the hall in good order, little time was wasted in cashing their claims, there being some very creditable turns turned in for the distance separating the popular confectioner's establishment from the town hall.

WINCHESTER COUPLE SHOWERED

The many friends of Mrs. Lillian Gillette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry City of Washington street, Winchester, called at her home on Tuesday evening and showered her and Mr. Gillette with many good wishes as well as numerous beautiful gifts of silverware, china, glass, linen, blankets and other articles.

The bride, though taken by complete surprise, responded charmingly and thanked all present for their kindness.

Friends were present from many of the surrounding towns and following a most tastefully served supper the following contributed to a high class concert which delighted all present.

Solos, William I. Cote; piano selections and solos, Miss Mabel M. Cote; specialty dance acts, Mr. Warren; violin selections, Mr. Thomas Gigliotti; specialty dance acts, Mr. Warren Minkel and Mr. Joseph Venuti.

The guests departed at a late hour, leaving behind many good wishes for the newly-married couple.

SIXTH OUTING JULY 23

The Winchester Laundry will hold its sixth annual outing on Thursday, July 23. Although complete plans have not been formulated, the program calls for a three-hour sail along the North Shore on the steamer Rose Standish of the Nantasket line, followed by an afternoon at Nantasket Beach. The boat will leave at 10:15.

The afternoon and evening will be spent as suits the party individually. The entire personnel at the big Winthrop plant, together with the new Watertown plant will attend. The committee in charge of the outing is composed of Roscoe C. Wallace, Charles P. Downer and R. D. Smith.

Five hundred feet of new water main is being laid on Sylvester road at the new development in north Winchester.

MARSHALL—CAMPBELL

A wedding that was of very considerable interest to many Winchester people, took place at St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church at Barnstable, Cape Cod, last Monday afternoon, and attracted many people from New York State and New Jersey, with a large attendance also of friends and relatives from Greater Boston and other parts of Massachusetts.

The bride, Miss Katherine Campbell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. French Campbell of Utica, N. Y., summer residents for many years of Wellfleet, Cape Cod.

The groom, Mr. Alexander Gordon Marshall is the son of Dr. James Marshall and the late Grace Calder (Gordon) Marshall of Brookline, and who is associated with Baker, Young & Co., Boston.

The officiating clergyman was the Very Rev. Dean Edmund S. Rousmaniere of St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. William Mason of Fall River, as matron of honor, and the groomsmen were Mr. Allan Wood of Winchester.

The ushers included Mr. French Campbell, Jr., of Tennessee, George Campbell, Williams College '25, of New York City, brothers of the bride and Jackson Cabot Morse of Boston.

The reception, held immediately after the ceremony, was very largely attended. Many of the summer residents of the Cape took occasion to offer congratulations to the bride and groom, whose families for some years past have been prominent in the social set of this part of the Cape.

Among the Winchester people in attendance in addition to Mr. Allan Wood, the groomsmen, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Best and Miss Margaret Best of Hillside avenue.

DYSON—COTTON

Mrs. Margaret Cotton, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Dawe of Hillside Park, Somerville, and Mr. Harry S. Dyson, a well known young man of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Dyson, were quietly united in marriage on Monday evening at the home of the bride.

The ceremony, which took place at 8, was performed by Rev. Wilbur Chaffee, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church of Cambridge.

The couple were attended by Miss Marion E. Dyson of this town, sister of the groom, and Mr. Herbert J. Dyson, the groom's brother.

The bride wore a dress of blue crepe de chine and carried lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaid wore pink crepe de chine and carried roses.

The residence was decorated for the ceremony with roses and palms, and the couple received after a large wedding bell of roses and asparagus fern. This was unexpectedly opened at the conclusion of the reception, showering them with confetti. They are spending their honeymoon on the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyson will make their home in Winchester, residing on Main street.

BICKFORD—CLDMORE

Miss Sarah Ellet Cudmore of Church street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Cudmore of Brackley Point, P. E. I., and Mr. Walter Ernest Bickford of Vine street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bickford of Tamworth, N. H., were married on Sunday by the Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mobbs, 196 Washington street at 8 o'clock.

The bride's dress was of dark blue cut velvet and georgette crepe, the bridesmaid, Miss Mae Townsend of Calumet road, wore a dress of powder-blue canton crepe. Mr. Henry Roberts of Vine street was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony attended by friends of the couple among whom were the Misses Edna and Margaret Bickford, sisters of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Patterson. The house was beautifully decorated with roses for the occasion.

At the close of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Bickford left on a motor trip to Tamworth, N. H.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham of Winchester, who are visiting in England, announce the engagement of their daughter Jennie Pinkham Burnham to Mr. Donald Ewen Cameron of Leicester, England.

Miss Burnham attended Dana Hall, Wellesley. Mr. Cameron is a graduate of Brasenose College, Oxford.

SAVED THREE FROM DROWNING

The fact that two Winchester men decided to spend the Wednesday holiday fishing at Lake Quinipowett, Wakefield, was a fortunate occurrence for three young men of our neighboring town. Had fate decided otherwise, the three would have undoubtedly been drowned. As it was, Louis Kaplan, proprietor of the Outlet store, and his son Myer were right at hand when necessity arose.

The two men were not enjoying particularly good luck with the hook and line, but the service they were able to render more than repaid them for their trip. It was Myer who first noticed that three swimmers appeared in difficulty, and he called his father's attention to the fact. The elder Kaplan decided that there was no trouble and that his son had mistaken some rocks for human heads.

A closer and more careful inspection of the scene, however, convinced both men that there really were some swimmers in difficulty, and hastily pulling up anchor they started to row their boat to the spot. As they were hastening to the rescue, shouts from shore indicated that others had noticed the situation and they redoubled their efforts to rescue.

The three young men were handily and neatly brought into the boat, one over the bow, one over the stern and the third amidships. They were utterly exhausted and in a semi-conscious state, but were quickly revived on shore.

Both Mr. Kaplan and his son are thoroughly satisfied with their Wednesday afternoon outing, and are receiving congratulations on their quick and efficient work in rescuing the young men.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

Under the direction of Mrs. Anna W. Lochman and Mrs. Marion H. Gilman the whist party in Lyceum Hall last Wednesday night was a big success and a tidy sum was added to the hope-chest fund.

The lucky winners of many beautiful prizes are as follows: Miss F. Dinneen, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Callahan, Mrs. Nordstrom, Mrs. Foley, Miss S. Quigley, Mrs. Lochman, G. Horn, Mrs. Welsh, Mrs. Noble, Miss A. Dowd, Mrs. Maloney, John Cackley, Kenneth Cullen, Mrs. M. Campbell. A cake on chances was awarded to Mrs. McGowan.

The next party of the series will be under the direction of Mrs. Ella Halligan on the last meeting night of the month, August 26. A record attendance is predicted and an unusual lot of prizes will be donated on this occasion.

All members are urged to attend Kiddies' Day at Leonard Field, July 29 and render their assistance to the Elks who have the affair in charge. The following members: Mesdames G. H. Lochman, F. H. Schell, T. F. Falken, M. Dinneen, J. E. Hanlon and A. M. Little.

Plans for a beach outing at Salem Willows, August 12, are in progress and will be announced in a later edition of the Star. For the next two weeks the chairman of the outing committee, Mrs. G. H. Lochman with her husband will be at Twin Mountain, N. H., and it is expected that she will return with a fine program of entertainment for our first outing.

Friends of Mrs. Bernice F. Gorman, recovering from an operation at St. Elizabeth's Hospital will be glad to know that any sister to the hospital at Brighton would be a very thoughtful attention and much appreciated.

TRADERS' DAY AUGUST 5

Aug. 5 has been set for the annual Traders' Day in Winchester. The merchants have generally signified their willingness to close their stores on this Wednesday for the annual mid-summer outing. As yet plans for the day have not been completed.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Contagious Diseases reported this week ending Thursday, July 9 are as follows:

Mumps	1
Tubercular Pleurisy	1
Maurice Dinneen,
Agent of Board of Health

The Harrington Company has sold for George B. Smith his property on Foxcroft road, Winchester, comprising a newly constructed Dutch colonial dwelling house containing seven rooms with three bathrooms and sun parlor, together with 12,000 feet of land. The purchaser was Newell K. Morton, who buys to occupy.

COMING EVENTS

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday, July 9 as follows:

J. A. Laraway, Winchester, alterations to dwelling at 30-52 Middlesex street.

Ralph P. Sylvester, Winchester, new dwelling at 54 Royal street.

Theodore W. Hartley, Winchester, Roof over Piazza at 13 Governor's avenue.

Ralph P. Sylvester, Winchester, temporary office at corner Main and Hemingway streets.

R. H. Randall, Winchester, new dwelling and garage at Lot C, Marshall street.

William S. Richardson, Winchester, Turn Portable garage around to face street, at 22 Chester street.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester Town Team with a much stronger lineup than at any previous game will meet the Woburn Scholastics Saturday on Manchester Field. The Woburn team will be composed of school, college and prep school stars now at home off their vacation and will make a formidable opponent for the local team.

It is our endeavor to put on the best ball possible consistent with the receipts received on the field, and give those who stay at home during the summer a chance to see some good baseball. There will be a new pitcher in action and Cummings who played such good ball in the Melrose game is being sought to play third base and will probably be seen there.

FORMER RESIDENTS UN-INJURED

Word has been received from Miss Grace Lawrence and her sister Mrs. Any Wyman Reed who went from Winchester to Santa Barbara, Cal., several years ago that they came through the earthquake with no damage to their property.

Miss Lawrence's house is a cement bungalow and stood the shocks much better than frame or brick houses.

They write that people are living in tents and even sleeping in the open. Oak Park in the Western part of the city where these sisters live was not damaged as much as was the East side or the business section.

Winchester Visiting Nurse and Hospital Notes

In the absence of Mrs. Gormley who has gone for her month's vacation, Mrs. Ross, formerly our Public Health nurse is in charge of the District work. Miss Hayter, surgical nurse at the Hospital is away for July. The new graduate nurse in charge of the first floor comes highly recommended from the Massachusetts General Hospital. Miss May Leah Mackintosh has started her work in the office to take the place of Miss Mary Stevens.

The Hospital records for June indicate an extremely busy month for this season of the year. There were 116 patients, 28 new babies, with 14 major and 36 minor operations. X-ray department reports 29 patients under 8 different physicians.

The former Nurses' Home is safely moved to its new foundation and the work progressing most satisfactorily.

The annual invitation four-ball tournament held at the Winchester Country Club this week brought out a field of 80 pairs, a record for this match. In Wednesday's play a new amateur competitive record was established for the course by W. A. Jackson of the home club, who went the course in 71, two shots better than the 73 made by Tom Claflin. E. S. Child and B. K. Stephenson, after a hot fight with T. F. McGinn and L. Grinnall, lost out in the first division in the first round yesterday. McGinn and Grinnall won the medal in the qualifying round with 69, and playing the second round yesterday they again won, being strong favorites for today's play.

LOCATELLI'S BALL SQUARE AND CENTRAL THEATRES

The summer season finds no lessening of the quality of pictures at Locatelli's popular Ball Square and Central theatres. As a matter of fact the program arranged for the coming week smacks of mid-season variety. With this in view and the excellent ventilating and cooling system contained in these two modern playhouses it is safe to predict that capacity houses will be recorded as usual. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the management has contracted for the screenings of "Adventure," a superlative Paramount picture adapted from Jack London's famous novel with Tom Moore, Pauline Stark and Wallace Berry in the principal roles. The story is that of a courageous girl in her fight against ruthless nature, head-hunting savages and unscrupulous white men, under a blazing, torrid sun out of a savage such scene. The companion picture will offer Elaine Hammerstein and Herbert Rawlinson in a drama of odd domestic disturbances captioned "Everyman's Wife." Other films will also be shown. For the concluding three days the double features will be "Tracked in the Snow Country," with Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, and June Marlowe, David Butler and Mitchell Lewis. The film sets forth a sequence of intensely dramatic events which transpire in the Far North. It is the story of a battle for tremendous wealth as represented by a rich gold mine. This film is a Warner Brothers' classic as well as "The Bridge of Sighs," which will serve as the other portion of the bill. Of course there will be the usual late comedy and pictorial news.

Mr. P. J. Martin will conduct a summer riding school at Newcastle, N. H., this season, he sending some of his horses along this week.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Mrs. Edward O'Connell will hold the next of the series of whist parties which is being conducted by the C. D. of A. at her home, 27 Kirk street off Loring avenue, on next Tuesday evening, July 14, at 8 o'clock.

Many prizes have been donated and there will be special prizes for the men.

We will be all glad to know that Sister Catherine Welch who has been on the sick list, is well on the road to recovery.

Sister Anne T. Scott has returned home after spending the month of June at Hampton Beach.

At the next meeting which will be Thursday, July 16, plans will be made for our annual outing.

Many members attended the wedding of John O'Melia of Loring avenue, son of Mrs. Nora O'Melia, one of our most active members, which took place in Woburn last Sunday evening.

Miss Mary Jaggerty of Cross street, one of our members, was the fortunate winner of the beautiful electric lamp, which was one of the articles on chances at St. Mary's Garden Party. That's good Mary, keep up your good luck.

Many of the members attend the special services held at the Mission Church, Roxbury, every Wednesday morning.

The proceeds of all whist parties are to swell our charitable fund and to help carry on our good work under our banner of Unity and Charity.

Robert Hamilton left town Tuesday for Camp Dix, N. J., for a 15-day stay at the R. O. T. C. He is a commissioned 1st Lieutenant in this corps and during the war served nearly two years in France. Mr. Hamilton is also one of the active members of the Winchester Post American Legion and is being spoken of as the next commander.

SECOND LIFE GUARD AT SANDY BEACH

The increased attendance at Sandy Beach on Mystic Lake has led to the placing of another life guard at that bathing spot, Edward H. Murtagh of Cambridge going on duty Friday. "Bill" Murray, who has been the guard at Sandy for several years, is still in charge, and the Metropolitan Commission has placed a police officer there to maintain order.

With the hot weather and the coming of the hordes, drowning escapes are common occurrences. Last Friday Murtagh rescued Mary Green of Charlestown, who slipped off a plank after floating into deep water. Murtagh was on shore when the girl and her companion screamed, and he swam to them and brought them ashore. Miss Green was unconscious and was revived by the life guard.

A report was circulated about the lake on Monday that typhoid germs had been discovered in the water and that the beach will be closed. This is apparently false, as no one in authority appears to know anything about the matter.

ATTEND BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

Master Wallace Fay and Master Donald M. Bates of Park avenue, have signed up for the month of July, to attend the Boy Scouts' Camp of Hartford Council. This camp, known as Camp Pioneer, is located at West Hill, Winsted, Conn. and is under the direct supervision of the scout officers of Hartford Council. Hartford Council has charge of the second largest group of scouts in New England, being exceeded only by Boston Council and the work and recreation which this camp has been doing in times past has been of such high merit, that it has been rated as a Class A Camp by the scout authorities.

FIRE RULES FOR MOTORISTS

The operative action on the new law governing the actions of motorists in connection with fire apparatus went into effect the first of the month. This law was passed by the General Court last April and now gives power to the police to make arrests in any cases where motorists interfere with the apparatus.

Following is a text of the new regulations:

Section 1. Chapter eighty-nine of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after six the following new section:—Section 6A. Every motorist of a car upon a street railway shall, at the approach of any fire apparatus going to a fire or responding to an alarm, immediately stop said car and keep the same at a standstill until such apparatus has passed. Violation of any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars.

Section 2. Said chapter eighty-nine is hereby further amended by inserting after section seven the following new section:—Section 7A. Upon the approach of any fire apparatus which is going to a fire or responding to an alarm, every person driving a vehicle on a way shall immediately drive said vehicle as far as possible toward the right-hand curb on side of said way and shall keep the same at a standstill until such fire apparatus has passed. No person shall drive a vehicle within three hundred feet of any fire apparatus going to a fire or responding to an alarm, nor drive said vehicle, or park or leave same unattended, within six hundred feet of a fire or within the fire-lanes established thereat by the fire department. Violation of any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars.

ACCIDENT ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

An automobile accident occurred Monday afternoon at 3:20 on Cambridge street near the entrance to Fernway, three Lowell men being injured. According to report of the affair, Joseph B. Richardson of Lowell, accompanied by Peter Stone, J. Hunt, J. Caron and C. J. Richards, all of Lowell, was in a collision with a Dodge touring car bearing New Hampshire number plates and a doctor's insignia. The driver of this car was not known. Stone suffered a broken rib, and Hunt and C. J. Richards were cut about the head and face. They were taken to Dr. Simon's office, where they were treated and allowed to go to their homes.

REPORTED DISAPPEARANCE

Marion E. Fiske of Manchester, N. H., a maid employed in the home of Mr. Marsters on Madison avenue, was reported to the police as having disappeared on Sunday. She is described as of medium height, weight about 125 pounds, slightly stooping and having auburn hair and wearing glasses. She left the Marsters' Sunday morning, with a sailor named Frank, said to be stationed at the Navy Yard at Charlestown. The police are conducting a search for her.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

There have been many reports of lost dogs during the past week, more of the animals having disappeared about town during the period than within a year.

Mrs. Margaret McAdams of Railroad avenue awoke at 3 o'clock Sunday morning to find a man in her bedroom. She screamed and frightened the intruder, who had gotten in by the window, away.

Mr. Charles Woolley, son of Mr. Charles Woolley of Fells road left July 2, for France, where he will spend two months. He will fly from there to Spain. When his ship sailed from Boston for New York it was accompanied by four airplanes down the harbor. He is the commanding officer of the East Boston airport.

Treasurer and Mrs. Sherard Clay of Lloyd street have opened their cottage at Sunapee Lake, N. H., where they will spend the warm weather.

Mrs. A. P. Weeks and Page Weeks have left for their country residence at East Woffboro, N. H. to be absent until October.

TOWN TEAM LOST HOLIDAY GAME

Strong East Boston Nine Victor, 5-1

The Winchester Town Team lost its holiday game on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon, being defeated, 5-1 in a good game by the East Boston All Stars. The visitors brought out a strong club for the debate and were never in danger, the two runs which they put across in the second inning being enough to win the game.

The locals played good ball, but were unable to hit Molloy, the visiting pitcher, particularly when hits meant tails. Martin, who worked for Winchester was effective in the main, but was unable to prevent the Boston boys bunching their bingles in the 2nd, 6th, and 9th frames.

The Towns' presented a changed lineup from that of the week before. Frank Melly was back behind the bat, and "Doc" Doherty of Woburn was at second base. "B.B." Walsh at third with "Fitzzy" at first, and "Jonma" Dolan playing shortstop, rounded out the infield. Scanlon, the Arlington High star, was in centerfield between "Nip" Chamberlain and "Leah" O'Donnell. Martin, a kid right hander, was on the hill and showed much promise.

East Boston landed on his shoats in the second. The left handed Scapponi beat out a hit to short, was sacrificed to second by Bagley and made third while "Doc" Doherty was tossing out Bunney. He was over a moment later on "Tip" O'Neil's double to center, a vicious ball which Scanlon reached but couldn't hold. O'Neil rode home on Molloy's single past first, but Silva ended the frame by rolling out to "Fitzzy" unassisted.

Following this inning things went along nicely until the sixth, when with one out Bagley beat out a hit to third, Walsh making a sweet stop but being unable to get off his throw in time to head off the runner. Bunney singled to right, sending Bagley to third, and when the ball got away from O'Donnell, the latter counted. Bunney was out trying to go from first to third on the throw-in, and O'Neil fanned to end the stanza.

Two more All Star runs were over in the ninth for good measure. With one away O'Neil singled to center and went around to third when Molloy hit safely to right. Silva hit sharply to third and an attempt to run down O'Neil by "Bob" Walsh and Melly failed, the former getting safely back to third, filling the bases. Flaherty singled past third to score O'Neil and Molloy, but Silva was thrown out at the hot corner, Chamberlain to Walsh. Flaherty stole second and hit to right, but O'Neil fanned for the final out.

Winchester's only run came in its half of the sixth. "Bob" Walsh doubled to left for a starter, and was over a moment later on "Doc" Doherty's hit over second. Big "Doc" pilfered second and made third when Toulouse let Bunney's throw get away. When an attempt to get him at third resulted in a short overthrow, Doherty tried to score, and was out, Flaherty to Bunney. Fitzgerald fanned, and Scanlon who had singled to right was out stealing. Bunny to Toulouse.

Notes of the Game
A fair crowd, but not large for a holiday afternoon. The Selectmen's ruling, prohibiting autos upon the field, kept the attendance down.

The visitors had an experienced club. Kelley at first was the old Everett High and Dartmouth star; Toulouse at second the all scholastic Somerville High shortstop of four years. Molloy in the box was the old Norwood interscholastic luminary, while manager Silva formerly cavorted on the diamond for Dean Academy.

"Tip" O'Neil believes in doing one's best wherever he happens to be. Last Saturday he pitched Winchester to an 11 inning win over Melrose. The 4th found his bat a big factor in the local defeat.

"Bob" Walsh showed the local fans just why they are so enthusiastic about his playing up Woburn way. The Lake Forest boy made a sweet stop of Scapponi's wicked smash in the 8th to force Kelly at second.

Scanlon looked good in center field, and also got one of Winchester's six hits.

It happened to be one of those afternoons when Doherty wanted to play ball. When the spirit moved him, big "Doc" has just about everything.

We never saw Melly peg so poorly. It's a rare day when four stolen bases are registered against the raucy backstop.

Bagley robbed Dolan of a hit in the third, taking his solid smash near the foul line, and carrying on with a perfect peg.

While the children's party was in progress those interested in the fortunes of the Winchester A. A. had assembled on Manchester Field to watch "Tom" McKee's nine exchange pleasantries with the colored "Crescent" of Woburn. At the Winchester Country Club, the golfers were teeing off for a busy morning given over to handicap medal play which was won by E. R. Rooney who turned in a card of 79-63. There were plenty of individual activities impossible to describe, but the next item on the town's celebration program was the band concert at 3 p. m.

Stiles' Band of Boston had been secured to furnish the music for the day, and they gave one of the best all around concerts given on Manchester Field for several years. The bandstand was attractively decorated for the occasion with colored bunting and flags loaned by Mrs. Carl G. Halwartz who also assisted Selectman Walter Dotten and Fred H. Scholl in the work of decorating.

At 3:15 the Winchester Town Team swung into action with the East Boston All Stars in a ball game which resulted in a win for the visiting nine while showing some nice baseball for the pleasure of a good sized crowd of fans. Throughout both afternoon and evening the booths on Manchester Field for the sale of the usual holiday combustibles proved popular.

The afternoon golf at the Country Club was mixed foursomes, handicap play, the winners being Mrs. H. B. Twiner and A. P. Chase with 84-70, a new score of five strokes better than those of the next three teams who turned in 75s.

At the Medford Boat Club there was a water carnival which was watched by a large gallery of motorists on both the Winchester and Arlington sides of the lake. The evening program by Stiles' Band proved fully as good as its predecessor, and was thoroughly enjoyed by a large audience, though by no means as big as would have been the case had the weather conditions been somewhat more favorable. The seats which the Selectmen had placed near the bandstand were much better patronized during the evening than in the afternoon, and doubtless were much appreciated by those who availed themselves of the opportunity they presented of enjoying the music in comfort.

The display of fireworks was one of the best which Winchester has had on a Fourth of July in some time, both in quantity and quality. Several of the set pieces were worthy of comment, that depicting Barney Google's famous horse "Sparkplug" being especially fine. We recall few displays featuring better rockets while the grand finale provided enough color and plain unvarnished noise to satisfy even the most ardent lover of pyrotechnics.

Differing somewhat from other years when arrangements have been handled by a general committee appointed by the town, this year's program was completely put through by Selectmen Walter H. Dotten, and John H. Powers who deserve much credit for the success of the day.

The programs for both afternoon and evening concerts by Stiles' Band follow:

LOCAL ARCHITECT TO DESIGN NEW SCHOOL

The committee in charge of the building of the new Highgrade district school has chosen as architects the firm of Derby & Robinson, of which Mr. Richard B. Derby of this town is a member. In selecting the architect, the committee has had in mind that, inasmuch as the four schools recently completed were done by outside architects, a local architect should, if possible, be chosen for this building. The senior partner, Mr. Derby, has been a resident of Winchester for many years and has served on various committees of the town.

Studies to determine the best type of building and its location on the lot chosen will be made at once, and it is expected that the final plans and specifications will be ready so that bids may be received and work started in the fall. The building should be completed next spring, so that the furniture and fixtures may be installed during the summer, and it should be ready for occupancy with the opening of the school year in September, 1926.

FEAST OF THE ASSUMPTION ON AUG. 15th

Preparations are already under way for the annual celebration of the Italian residents of Winchester, Aug. 15. The committee in charge this year is composed as follows: James V. Barabro, Pietro Sciascia, Vincenzo Gigliotti, Erriro Fico, Joseph Rania, Gaetano Sciascia.

It is planned to have two band concerts this year, both at Manchester Field, the first one Friday evening, Aug. 14, 7:30 to 10, and the second Saturday evening, Aug. 15, 7:30 to 11.

The usual fireworks will be given at Manchester Field the evening of Aug. 15, at about 9. To those who have witnessed these displays in the past very little need be said as to their quality. The committee feels safe in predicting this year's display the best ever. Contributions large or small will be gladly received by any members of the committee named above. Since we all enjoy these displays it is only fair that each of us should help out in a measure to make this year's event a grand success.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The fence which has been erected around the cemetery land recently purchased, has cost the town a very small sum as it was bought from a private estate, where it had been erected only a short time and had to be removed as the estate was opened up for development.

Andrew F. Anderson of Washington state reported to the police that his Ford sedan was stolen Thursday night. Later in the evening the police of Station 15, Charlestown, reported that they had recovered it, and it was at the station waiting for Mr. Anderson.

Mr. Crawford L. Goldthwait of Norwood street suffered the death of his mother, Mrs. Carrie C. Goldthwait of Brookline on Sunday.

Frederic C. 38 Hancock street, Everett, operating a motorcycle on Main street accompanied by a young woman on the rear seat struck a dog nearly opposite Whitney's shop Thursday. The force of the collision threw the young woman into the street. She was taken into Whitney's shop, but refused to have a doctor or give her name, stating she was not hurt.

It is stated that seven new houses are to be built on the Henry estate at Symmes corner costing from $10,000 to $30,000 each. The development of this property is in charge of Mr. Thomas H. Barrett, the well known real estate broker.

Value of Mastication.
A good way to form the habit of thorough mastication is to begin each meal with a small quantity of very dry food. In most cases mastication is a help to digestion. The only circumstances under which it is not advisable to prolong the mastication are where there is an excess of the digestive acids in the stomach or where there is pain after eating solid foods.

Perfumes.
A Parisian doctor declares that certain perfumes affected by his various patients in time produce an effect upon those using them. Violets inculcate a predisposition to sympathy and devotion, geranium makes one audacious and bold, mint generates craft and business capabilities, while Vervain develops a liking for the fine arts.

Battle of Thirty.
The Battle of the Thirty was one in which 30 Britons and thirty Englishmen were pitted by Jean de Baux, a wandering hermit who traveled through the Middle West with a bag of apple seeds which he planted in many places. His real name is said to have been John Chapman, but he got the name "Appleseed" from his occupation.

Forests of Maine.
The primeval forests of white pine, which gave Maine the name of Pine Tree State, have nearly all disappeared, but the second growth is being used to a large extent. Spruce forests to the most extensive. Hemlock, birch, balsam fir, oak, maple, cedar, yellow pine, beech, basswood, elm, ash, and others also are found in Maine.

Meg of Muckle Mouth.
It is said that Sir Gordon Murray of Eltham, Scotland, took prisoner a young gentleman named Scott, whom he was about to hang, but his wife persuaded him to commute the sentence into marriage with their daughter, "Meg of the Muckle Mouth." The young man hesitated for some time but finally preferred marriage to death. Strangely enough the match turned out very happily.

Unassailable Argument.
There is no good in arguing with the inevitable. The only argument available with an east wind is to put on your overcoat.—Lowell.

The Jewish Man.
A "Jewish" character once meant the type supposed to belong to all persons who were born when the planet Jupiter was in the ascendant. They were supposed to possess more of the cheerful, carefree character than others, and hence to partake of the benign qualities attributed to the father of the gods.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The world usually pushes a man the way he makes up his mind to go.
Modesty and retirement if persisted in prove a handicap to ambition.
To those who are ruled by passion and ignorance, nothing has value.
Live, as the boy learned to skate, by getting up every time he fell down.
Hope is a much better companion than fear.
Look for people's virtues, but their faults refuse to see and a comfortable, happy cheerful place you'll find this world to be.

COOLER TO GO WITHOUT HAT?

It is cooler to go without a hat, says Dr. Lakeman of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, and also more healthful, until it becomes too hot. In intense heat the beating of the sun on the head is dangerous. It is conducive to sunstroke. The back of the neck is a center of the nervous system, and should be protected against too great heat. The eyes also are strained by intense glare of the sun.
Dr. Lakeman described the ideal head covering as the old Indian helmet, made of a band of bamboo with bamboo uprights supporting a covering of pongee. This type of hat allows free circulation of air around the head.

It may not be possible to obtain such a hat today, but a straw or light-weight fabric hat is satisfactory. Dr. Lakeman advised against velvet and velour hats for summer wear, as they do not allow for ventilation of the head.

ON BOARD SS. BUCKEYE STATE AT SEA

Yesterday morning upon awakening very early in anticipation of the expected arrival at Havana, I looked out of my stateroom window and beheld the distant, hazy, cloudlike outline of the hills of Cuba, purplish and fantastic in the uncertain light preceding the sunrise. About an hour later I went upon deck, being then the only passenger visible, and directly ahead and close at hand was the famous capital of the Island, and the commercial center of the West Indies, the city of Havana.

Immediately at the Eastern entrance of the narrow channel opening to the sea, and on a considerable eminence, stood the grim old lighthouse and fortification, Morro Castle. Extending toward the East from this ancient guardpost, lay a long stretch of green, rolling country, practically uninhabited, except in the immediate proximity of the lighthouse, and from this clean, fresh, wooded reach of tropical soil came, cut to greet me, a fragrant, sweet, earthy odor slightly suggestive of the mingled scents from the florists' conservatory.

At the Western shore of the harbor entrance is Punta Castle, and stretching along the coast far to the West, and reaching back into the hills toward the South, was an extensive panorama of white, attractive houses in the new residential section of the City.

A steamer followed us in from sea, and very soon a tiny launch was seen coming out from the city, bobbing about in the choppy waves, and bringing two pilots, one for each ship. In passing thru the very narrow entrance between Morro and the Malecon and of the Prado, I was strongly impressed with the wonderful natural formation which gives to Havana such a perfectly land-locked harbor; a simple simile is that of a long necked bottle, except that in this instance the neck of water 3.8 of a mile in length, is sharply curved, thus effectually keeping out of the harbor the heavy ocean swells in stormy weather; Porto Antonio, Jamaica, has a similar, but somewhat inferior formation.

Our steamer did not dock but dropped anchor in mid-harbor quite near the former location of the ill-fated "Maine" which sank there on February 15, 1898, the wreck being raised some years later and sunk in deep water in the Caribbean Sea. At the same time with the plunge of our anchor, a rapidly growing flock of small gasoline launches suddenly materialized from apparently nowhere like some of the magicians' productions, and gathered about our ship, evidently scenting the odor of American money, as the vultures locate, and congregate about a carcass. Soon the portable stairways which had been put in readiness during the slow and cautious entrance into the inner harbor, were lowered into position for the accommodation of passengers desiring to go ashore for about nine hours: although those stairways reaching down to the sea level led out from the main deck, which is four decks below the topmost of all—yet even so the distance to the water was so far that two long stairways were used jointly, and many of us felt a little lightheaded at the descent of that long stretch of swaying steps—however the trip was accomplished by all without mishap, and as I drew out from the steamer in a little motorboat and looked away up the high, smooth, steel, steel side and realized it must be climbed upon my return from shore, there was a passing sense of apprehension, for it did look very formidable from our tiny launch, and I think all were impressed with the immensity of the ship when seen from the surface of the water.

Havana is the second city of Spanish North America, with a population of about 250,000—the old city, now the commercial quarter, with narrow and crooked streets, occupies the Western peninsula of land dividing the sea from the harbor; the newer and largely residential city, as mentioned earlier in my letter, extends well toward the West on rising ground, and abounds in fine macadamized streets and boulevards, parks, plazas, delightful homes and luxurious gardens. Landing from our launch at a nearby wharf, and passing into a customs building, I was subject to a mere formality of inspection because of my camera which the officer labeled; in company with two fellow-passengers I engaged a taxi and we proceeded to drive about the downtown thoroughfares, and at Calle Obispo, (Bishop Street) we dismissed the auto and sauntered on foot for about an hour, looking thru the attractive shops and finding the general range of prices on clothing, shoes and similar commodities, very high—palm-branch suits selling in Boston at $20 were here priced at $35; men's ordinary low shoes at $10; umbrellas with wooden handles at $12 to $22.

Upon reaching the Plaza Hotel after passing thru the Arcade, we rested awhile, sent off some picture cards, and later ascended to the top floor where the open-air dining room is located, and here, above the house-tops, we leisurely and comfortably lunched, the strong Northeast trade wind from the ocean sweeping thru the room, rendering the Sunday temperature far more agreeable than at home—1500 miles farther North. About 1.30 we started out again by auto to see a little more of the city and much more of the country; from the Plaza Hotel our driver turned into the Prado continuing to the end where it joins the Malecon opposite Morro; thence by this latter thoroughfare which is a boulevard reclaimed from swamp-land by General Wood and which leads on, via Calle de la Reina (Queen Street) to the best residential section; here we saw very attractive homes, set into large plots of land, filled with palms in variety, clumps of towering, feathery bamboo, large spreading poincianas (trees now in full bloom of huge scarlet spray); hedges of deep red, spiky hibiscus, and graceful growths of oleanders in mixed colors—all so immaculate in their external appearance, and so solid in outline as to suggest miniature palaces; I lingered for the opportunity to enter and investigate the interiors of the "gardens of Paradise."

Coming soon to an arm of the sea we crossed a fine bridge and emerged upon Fifth Avenue, a modern double piazza of considerable length, laid out with a plan similar to Commonwealth Avenue in Boston, but lacking the city environment, being well out in the suburbs; two wide roadways, smooth and clean, were ample accommodation for automobile traffic, and in the center a cement walk extends for miles thru garden plots of grass, tropical flower-shrubs, and young trees coming into growth; in a few years these trees will then be large enough to be ornamental. The shrubbery is composed of a profusion of rose bushes with blooms of varying colors and shades; long reaches of the brilliant hibiscus, crotons, bougainvillea, almander, and others that were new to me. This avenue stretches on and on, straight for a very long distance (as I remember now, I think our guide said five miles) and being newly developed property, is not yet much built upon, but a few mansion houses are under construction scattering, and I predict that in a dozen years this locality will be the show-place of the Island.

Finally reaching the finished portion of Fifth Avenue (further construction is contemplated) we were driven thru the country roads, much less formal in their plan, but with countless handsome rural homes, all so lavishly embowered in floral luxuriance. The guide and chauffeur, finally drove us into the race-course grounds and we looked about in genuine wonder at the magnitude of this venture—an enormous grandstand of steel framework construction, a clubhouse costing $200,000 and the most extensive stables imaginable; I was led to think that the horses of the United States could all be housed there by crowding them in closely!

Our next "port of call" during this automobile "cruise" was to that which is usually considered the final one for humanity, but was not so in our case—the large cemetery of the city, the name of which I have forgotten. The acreage is very extensive and the monumental display ornate, tawdry and much overdone to our New England eyes. Prevailing customs, too, are radically different from our own in several respects as will appear anon. Upon acquiring a license the owner proceeds to have built therein, cement collars, or vaults, of considerable depth and each about 5 feet wide, and 8 feet long, with an earth floor; these vaults vary in number to conform with the size of the family as prospective occupants, several bodies being placed in each vault one upon another; in the course of building these sepulchers and when the cement construction has reached the surface, an ornamental capping of marble side-slabs a foot, or more, higher than the turf, is added, and large marble slabs with strong metal handles, are placed as removable roofs or covers. As the occasion for use occurs, these covers (usually two) are removed, the body lowered into place, the covers replaced and the mourners depart; this operation is repeated so often as is necessary to dispose of that family. Not so however, with the poorer class of Cuban, single graves are rented for a stated period and price, and upon the expiration of the time, the failure to continue the payments results in literally evicting the occupant and re-renting the same space for the use of another tenant whose rights and title to its privilege of peaceful repose is contingent upon the surviving relatives' ability, or inclination, to "pay up" from time to time. In such a situation the epitaph "Requiescat in pace" would scarcely be inappropriate in the majority of these cases.

An enclosure surrounded by an ornate iron fence, receives such Northern visitors express incredulity when told the foregoing facts, it is now a regular part of the guide's program to convey his tourists as a matter of course, to that part of the cemetery where occasional evidence carries conviction; human bones, etc., are taken to this enclosure in an ox-drawn cart, the door similar to our country barn-doors, is swung open and the "cargo" dumped upon a large and steadily growing heap upon the ground—as I was present when an ox-team was so engaged, I know whereof I speak. From the dimensions of the enclosure and the volume of its contents, it is obviously correct to assume that the majority of surviving relatives fail to pay more than the first installment of grave-rental for their "dear departed." Yet transit gloria mundi!

Having seen as much of this phase of Cuban custom as was desirable and the afternoon beginning to wane, we (literally) shook the dust of the cemetery from our shoes, leaving by the same automobile which brought us, and soon passing again into the commercial quarter were driven to the landing dock, embarked again in a motor launch, and by 5 o'clock arrived safely on board our floating home; it was interesting to look over the rail and down the long, sheer side, watching the later arrivals of home-comers laboriously toiling up the long ascent to the main deck—all had bundles, some being square and some round, but all had liquor contents purchased at high prices.

The last group to embark was the Cuban Consul to Honolulu, Sen. Gustavo Enriquez Mustelier, who, with four children, is going to his new field of duties in the mid-Pacific; as I had been alone at my table in the dining room, and he and the children completed the complement of six, they have been assigned to bear me company there, so we shall become acquainted during our month's stay and association, provided that his command of English is superior (very much so) to my knowledge of Spanish.

As darkness came, the harbor and city presented a handsome panorama with their illuminated shipping and buildings—three routes of regular Northern treaty ferry boats make frequent trips across the harbor in as many directions, and scores of coughing little launches circled about our ship, looking very diminutive from our vantage point of observation; and looking down upon the entire scene was the bright and piercing eye of the powerful light at Morro Castle. There was but one thing lacking to complete a scene of tropical grandeur and al-lurement in the warm, ocean-scented air of the night, and that was a glorious full moon.

About 9 o'clock, without a tremor, we almost imperceptibly began to move, proceeding slowly to sea, and started on another run of about 100 miles, with Ponce, Porto Rico, as our next destination.

Thus ended a day replete with the charm of exploration and enjoyment, amid the scenes incident to life in a new-old Spanish city founded about 1520; once the home of wild buccaners who burned it about 10 years later; rebuilt in the course of time it was the storm center of wars and piracies for several centuries, and today thanks to our Uncle Sam, is the capital of a young republic.

THE RELIGION IRVIN HILTON PRACTICES

Controlling so many avenues of publicity, it's a rather dangerous thing for any citizen of Winchester to declare war on Thomas Dreier. That is a truth which Irvin Hilton discovered Wednesday night when he heard the following coming over the air from Station WNAC:

"One of the jolliest, happiest, most delightful granddads with whom I play golf at the Winchester Country Club is Irvin Hilton. Even when we do not play together but meet somewhere on the course we find pleasure in calling out insulting greetings of one kind or another.

"I suppose Mr. Hilton has been on earth 20 or 25 years longer than I, but in spirit we are of the same age. We treat each other with great respect. If we did not like each other we'd be respectful. I would say but polite words to him and he would use the same kind of polite words to me, and neither would care if he never saw the other again. It doesn't matter much what one says. Words which by themselves might be interpreted as insulting become expressions of a rough and a crank, a menace to the spirit in which they are uttered. All of which means that Irvin Hilton and I belong to the same spiritual fraternity. We simply understand each other.

"When we were playing one day he told me something about the fun he has with his grandchildren. Grandchildren, he says, are lots more fun than children. He thinks it is a fine thing to have children, and he quite approves of being a parent, but for real fun he says there is nothing quite equal to that of being a grandparent."

"It must be nice to reach the age of a granddad without losing any of the love for the things that make youth a time of adventure. Nothing about Irvin Hilton suggests old age. He walks, talks, and acts like a man to whom the fairies have given imperishable youth. Men like him are good to meet either on golf courses or on the greater course of the world, in which all of us play some sort of same. They show us how to grow old not only gracefully but joyously. They prove that one may reach the grandparent age without becoming a grouch and a crank, a menace to the happiness of the neighborhood in which one lives, and an argument in favor of the idea that old people should be put out of the way.

"Possibly one of the reasons why Irvin Hilton is a radiator of fun is because he mixes with all sorts of people, refuses to take himself too seriously, preaches only what he practices, and acts all the time like a normal human being whose religion is the religion of happiness."

BOAT CLUB CREW GIVEN FIRST PLACE

The Winchester Boat Club was canoe won first honors in the race at the Charles River Basin July 4. Owing to leading boats fouling, the judges threw them out and awarded Winchester, which was the only crew to cross the line in good shape, the win. Dedham and Crescent C. C. fouled at about the middle of the course. Another boat following failed to clear them and was itself mixed up in the melee. Winchester passed them all and took the prize.

The local boat was manned by Bob and Phil Hight, John and Kenneth Pratt, Stafford Rogers, Edward Sandberg, Gleason Buckley, Allan Hovey and John Caldwell.

Winchester will race again at the big A. C. A. meet to be held at Onset July 24, 25, 26.

Idol Found in Burma

Splendid Work of Art

The bronze Buddha of Yokohama is commonly thought to be the largest statue of that god in the world, but there is one in Burma that exceeds it in at least one dimension and gives an impression of greater size.

When the English were building the railway from Rangoon to Mandalay they searched the vicinity of Pegu for stone with which to make the embankment through the great swamps. In the whole area there was only one elevation of any importance. The engineers thought that this hill might provide the necessary material, so they dug into its base and were surprised to find some artistic brickwork, the Washington Star says.

On clearing away the earth further they found an enormous stone statue that represented Buddha in a reclining position. The statue is about 190 feet long and, including the brick base, it is more than 400 feet high. The Yokohama Buddha is 55 feet high and 110 feet in circumference.

At first the English statue is not so artistic as the Japanese. It is a wonderful piece of work. Not the least remarkable thing about it is the way in which so large a monument had disappeared absolutely from Burmese history and legend.

The news of the discovery at once brought numerous Buddhists to the place, who gazed and decorated the glacial image as a work of devotion. The site of its base and were ornamented at great cost with an elaborate glass mosaic and each toe was embellished with a separate decoration.

Attained Fame Early

William Congreve, the great English dramatist of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries, wrote nearly all the plays on which his fame rests before he was thirty years old. He wrote little of importance after he was thirty.

Cling to Machete

The machete is still the favorite weapon and cutting tool of the Cubans, who buy 480,000 of the instruments from manufacturers in this and other countries every year.

Was Civil War Veteran

Emil Frey, who was president of the Swiss Confederation from 1894 to 1897, was a sergeant in the Union army during the Civil war, and was taken prisoner at Gettysburg, and confined in Libby prison.

Odd Species of Fish

That Possess Lungs

We are so accustomed to think of fish breathing by means of gills that it is difficult to imagine a species which have lungs and can breathe air like the higher land animals. These are the Dipnoi (meaning double-breathers). At one time numerous, they are now almost extinct. There are three species of them. These are found in different parts of the world—one group in Queensland, another in Africa, and the third in South America.

They inhabit the tropical rivers, which, though full in the wet season, are parched up when they heat comes. During the dry season they bury themselves in the mud of the river bed and start to breathe air when they are able to do by means of a swim bladder, similar in structure to our own lungs, though naturally not so highly developed.

Their internal structure is certainly interesting. As well as in their lungs or swim-bladder, they show resemblances to amphibians and land vertebrates in the skull, heart, and blood vessels. In spite of these resemblances, however, it is not certain they are really a "missing link" between fish and amphibians. It is thought that the latter have been evolved through a different line, even the lungs of land vertebrates being of supposedly different origin to the lungs of the Dipnoi.

THE STORM

The approach of the storm was not nearly so menacing as hundreds of others which have visited our town. It came about 5 o'clock, following a day of extreme heat and dryness for this part of the country. When it broke, it appeared to be no more than one of our customary heavy showers. There was the heavy wind and the rain. But as the heart of the storm reached the town, and the rain driven by the gale, began to assume exceptional proportions, the lightning began. From then on there was something doing. No Fourth of July celebration ever approached it.

Winchester was about the only town in this vicinity to retain its fire alarm system in working order, and, of nearly a dozen calls, probably half of them came in over the telephone. Women so frightened by the storm they could not stay in their homes, rushed to the telephone and sent in, or tried to call. The men had real calls and panic calls; and not a few just called up to know if the lightning was striking anywhere. There were just two box calls during the storm; but there were a few places visited by the firemen, especially on High street, where they were needed and directed while answering other alarms.

It is estimated that there is enough work to be done about town to keep the masons and jobbers busy during the rest of the summer, for there are undoubtedly many other places where the lightning struck in addition to the printed list.

The first fire alarm came in at 5:30, being for a house on Irving street. The family was away, and the bolt struck the chimney, running down into the kitchen. When the firemen broke in a scene of chaos met them. The kitchen was a litter of stove covers, pots and pans. The chimney pipe lay out on the floor and the place was filled with soot and dust. There was no fire.

The Irwin barn was struck at about the same time as the Irving street house and the alarm came in just after the firemen reached the first call. The Packard combination answered the Irwin alarm—or tried to. It was held up at the railroad gates by a train and never started again until near the close of the storm. The other apparatus had to run from Irving street nearly to the Arlington line. Fortunately the Irwin fire was slow in starting, possibly being held by the rain, and it was extinguished with little damage. The bolt entered the peak of the barn and came out over the door, following almost exactly a similar bolt which struck there last year.

Mr. George M. Lezhorne lost his chimney and his roof was opened up. The lightning struck just at the bottom sill of an upstairs window at the Taylor residence, burning up the window frame. The damage was slight. Mr. Smith lost a chimney and the large main chimney at Jere Downs' was wrecked. A chimney went at the Mitchell house, which was formerly owned by Joseph Bonick. The Westland avenue house and the Hunter house on High street lost chimneys. Mrs. Boyce lost a chimney. Edward McKenzie had his cellar wall damaged, and at Keown road a flag pole and the roof suffered.

Most of the bolts struck the chimneys or the roof nearby, and all-in-all the damage was exceptionally light considering the violence of the storm and the number of places struck.

The lights went out early in the display, and the Edison Company was hard hit by the loss of many of its transformers. Hardly anyone expected lights during the night, but circuit after circuit was opened up as the repair crews got to work, and while many went to bed by candle light, as many more enjoyed their customary illumination. Particularly damaging were the burning of the Pond street and Main street transformers, while that at Lloyd street, grounding with the telephone cable, was another bad case.

The telephone service was exceptional. Considering the conditions, the fact that only a few lines were out of order and that there was no general tie-up, was remarkable. Telephone calls were taken and handled with the customary precision and promptness.

Burning wires and trees were reported about town all through the evening, and the police had the busy time marking danger spots and investigating leaking wires and dangerous conditions. At Wildwood and Church streets the surface drainage gave up its task and the streets were flooded knee deep, while the flood blew off a manhole cover on North Main street. There were many places where the sewers proved unable to handle the flood and the streets were covered with water. Possibly your own cellar took a little!

Woburn was also hard hit, and during the storm, just after the railroad station there was struck, nearly creating a panic, a message was sent here for fire apparatus. Chief DeCoursey dispatching the pump up there. It was not needed. Passengers coming from Boston on the evening trains between 5 and 6 were treated to exciting experiences as the lightning struck time and again beside the trains. The whole section in this vicinity was visited by the storm, which apparently crossed over Lexington, Winchester, Melford, a part of Somerville and Revere. Adjoining towns and cities also suffered less seriously.

All-in-all, it was SOME storm, and it will not be soon forgotten.

THE SANTA BARBARA EARTHQUAKE

July 1, 1925

To the Editor of the Star:

It is entirely too early for us in California to have received copies of eastern newspapers relative to the earthquake in Santa Barbara. We are, therefore, unable to determine whether the eastern papers are giving correct information regarding the quake or not. Past experience with accidents, catastrophes or general affairs in California, have shown that frequently newspapers in the East have not received the proper information regarding our happenings and have created, unintentionally to be sure, a wrong impression of conditions as they actually exist. For this reason I am taking the liberty of writing you a little of the situation as it exists in Southern California, more particularly in Santa Barbara, because of the earthquake which was experienced there on Monday morning.

In the first place Santa Barbara is further removed from Los Angeles than Springfield is from Boston. As the quake was entirely local in Santa Barbara and confined almost entirely to the business section of the city, no damage was experienced in Los Angeles and only a slight shock was felt.

The old earthquake fault which comes in from the ocean a few miles north of Santa Barbara, circles a range of hills or low mountains directly back of Santa Barbara and disappears into the higher mountains right behind them. This fault has been thought by scientists for many years to have completely sealed, which would indicate that no more shocks would be experienced from it. This, however, was proven untrue last Monday, and the shock, while severe and with quite a few casualties, will really benefit Santa Barbara in the long run rather than injure it.

Santa Barbara for many years has been typically a residential city, located sufficiently far from Los Angeles to have become a commercial city of no small size. Growth of population has been small and building development has just barely kept pace with the growth in population. It may seem queer to you when I speak of an earthquake benefiting a community but past experience in California has proven that an occurrence of this sort has welded the populace together as a whole, for the future benefit of the community at large, with the result that when rebuilding takes place everyone works together for the common good of the community.

Residences in Santa Barbara were not injured. To be sure brick chimneys fell and such few houses as were constructed of brick were damaged in relation to their proximity to the center of the business section, where practically all of the damage occurred. It is a proven fact that frame dwellings withstand earthquakes better than any other type of construction. In almost 100 years of the quake regardless of the severity of such shocks.

State street, which is the principal business street of Santa Barbara, extends from the water front to the hills and damage was experienced for about three-quarters of a mile of its length.

It so happened that Mrs. Blaikie and I were returning from Lake Arrowhead on Monday morning, having left there at 6 a. m. for Los Angeles, a distance of 85 miles. Lake Arrowhead lies to the east of Los Angeles in the San Bernardino Mountains, while Santa Barbara lies to the north and slightly to the west on the ocean front. However, as you come out of the mountains and into the valley you cross the main earthquake fault running north and south through the state of California. At 6:15 in the morning, or in other words, at the identical time of the shock in Santa Barbara we were crossing the earthquake fault in our machine and I paused to point to Mrs. Blaikie the line of the fault. We felt no shock and in fact knew nothing of it until we reached Los Angeles some two hours later and read of it in the extra editions of the local newspapers. Friends and relatives living in Los Angeles said they experienced a slight shock at 6:15, which was evidenced by swaying of chandeliers and rattling of windows. Nothing, however, was broken and if your reports at home are to the effect that Los Angeles was injured in any way it would be greatly appreciated by all of us if you would emphatically deny it, for such was not the case.

Santa Barbara, as you know, is a wealthy community. There are probably more millionaires living there than in any other city in California and few people living in what might be termed the poorer section of the city. While the financial loss is great there will be very little suffering if any, and Santa Barbara is amply able to take care of its own situation, with the assistance of the clearing houses and local banks advancing money on mortgages for the rebuilding of the destroyed portion of the community.

Such portions of this letter as you think might be interesting to your readers may be published if you so wish. I am writing primarily that you as a newspaper editor in Massachusetts may have actual first hand information from one who has been through other quakes of minor importance and who has seen true conditions as they really are today.

Cordially yours,
J. Y. Blaikie

THE W. C. T. U.

By Frances Dreary McMullen

The woman's club movement was not yet born and women were unaccustomed to gather beyond earshot of their own households when the first call rang out for them to meet in national assembly. Some 200 women from 17 states mustered the courage to band together and respond. This band has multiplied to 385,000 women in 15,000 groups, united in a world organization with women of 51 lands. This has been the half century's growth of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the oldest of women's national organizations.

Its beginnings go back to the Woman's Crusade, that strange, fervent movement which spread from Ohio in the winter of 1873-74, drawing women in masses from their homes to close the saloons by the combined force of persuasion and prayer. Saloons were closed and church bells pealed out for joy, saloon-keepers and drunkards were brought to see the error of their ways. Though liquor came back, the spirit of the crusade was still abroad in the land the following summer, when the National Sunday School Assembly met at Chautauque, New York. A group of women there were inspired to call a national convention to plan war on the liquor traffic.

This convention, meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, in November, 1874, produced the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, with the set purpose of reforming the drunkard, training children for temperate lives, educating the public in the evils of the liquor traffic, and closing the saloons by law. In the interval between the Chautauque discussions and the convention, localities and states were organized to carry on the movement, which in the years following sent protagonists to all parts of the country to mobilize women in the temperance cause. These pioneers accomplished some remarkable geographical feats. For instance, in a single year Frances E. Willard, visited every city of the country with more than 10,000 inhabitants, speaking, working, organizing as they went.

The story of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union falls naturally into four periods, coincident with the administrations of its four presidents. First came Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer of Pennsylvania, widely known among women for her work in the Civil War, a conservative and an anti-suffragist. Under her, the organization focussed on those who dispensed liquor and those who consumed it. Five years later Frances E. Willard, then a teacher and an ardent advocate of woman's rights, was elected on a suffrage issue; and the scope of the work was widened. Miss Willard saw the liquor problem entrenched in all phases of life. It could be combated successfully, she thought, only through a "do everything" policy, which she proceeded to inaugurate. Forty departments were created to handle the problems of occupation, preventive, evangelistic, educational, social and legal work. State departments became almost as numerous. During this period, too, foreign lands were invited to join; and the first world convention met in Boston in 1891. As this is published, the 13th Triennial Convention of the World's W. C. T. U. is in session in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Miss Willard's death in 1898 brought Lillian M. Stevens to the presidential chair. By this time organization had been so far advanced that Mrs. Stevens, a woman of great force and statesmanlike ability, could concentrate on the campaign for national prohibition. On her death Anna A. Gordon succeeded—in 1914—with her policy of general co-operation, under which the organization has developed since.

When national prohibition went into effect, January 16, 1920, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union felt that 45 years of organized effort had been crowned with success. In the accomplishment of its great objective, however, it by no means saw an end to its labors nor the removal of its reason for being. To secure adequate law enforcement, to make public the accomplishments of prohibition, to obtain public support and individual law observance—these aims now absorb that energy which formerly went into efforts for the passage of the 18th Amendment.

For many years the departure of Peace and Arbitration has functioned, and since the war, the W. C. T. U. has aligned itself with those organizations working for the permanent peace of the world. A third great objective falls under the head of purity. Ever since Frances Willard upon her return from a visit to England made one of the first speeches heard in this country on the subject, the W. C. T. U. has worked for recognition of the single moral standard. In addition, since the vote has been won, it has been educating women to the duties of citizenship and the importance of the vote.

Evansville, Ill., is the center from which the W. C. T. U.'s influences spread. Here on Chicago avenue is gathered Rest Cottage, where Frances Willard once lived, where Miss Gordon now makes her home. Next door is the Willard, which served as national headquarters until 1922, when a substantial brick administration building was erected, adjoining the publishing house already on the rear of Rest Cottage lot.

The legislative headquarters are in Washington. Here Mrs. Lenna Lowe Vost is stationed to direct legislative work for law enforcement and social betterment.

Those 40 working departments outlined by Frances Willard have been somewhat boiled down. There are 28 today, each covering a wide range of activities. Through literature, lectures, pageants, medal contests, exhibits at fairs, and educational institutes, through social service and club work, the W. C. T. U. in its various branches is fighting narcotics and the use of alcohol in medicine; conducting scientific temperance investigations and offering scientific temperance instruction; urging Sunday observance and prison reform and the arbitration of international disputes; studying moving-pictures and preaching social morality; co-operating with Sunday School and missionary work; interesting itself in the problems of women workers; mothering soldiers and sailors, advocating the teaching of the Bible in the public schools, and helping to build up community health.

Americanization work has been undertaken intensively in many places; and W. C. T. U. Americanization centers are open day and evening for recreation, aid and instruction to strangers of whatever age, from whatever land. From these centers neighbor-teachers carry the message into the homes of the foreign-born. There is a special department for work among Negroes, to build up a stronger public sentiment among them in favor of total abstinence, social purity and prohibition.

The coming generation has always been one of the prime concerns of the organization. Under its wings are the Young People's Branch and the Loyal Temperance Legion. In addition, it has undertaken systematic child welfare work. It has made surveys and studies of child laws, conditions and needs and has conveyed this information to mothers through child-study classes. It aims to protect children from child labor, to safeguard them morally and train them spiritually.

Busy about many things, the W. C. T. U. never forgets the purpose for which it was founded. Its members constitute an army of vigilantes, posted throughout the country to promote total abstinence and to help maintain the prohibition law. A campaign is now being conducted in New York State, under the presidency of Mrs. Ella A. Booe, who is also first vice president of the national organization, for the collection of signatures to a pledge to observe the spirit and letter of the 18th Amendment. Thousands of men and women, many of them unconnected with the organization, have signed.

In celebration of its 5th anniversary, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union raised a million-dollar fund to be devoted to enlarged activities in many lines. From its Golden Jubilee, it thus looks forward to what it calls its "golden future."

Other women's organizations of America from time to time have acknowledged the debt they owe to this, in a way, the mother of them all. It helped to prepare the way for women's clubs, women leaders in many lines were trained in its service. By its insistence from the first upon parliamentary procedure, it gave women's clubs a tradition of proper form upon which to build. In its broad interests, it indicated lines along which other groups of women might proceed. When suffrage came, women who had studied issues through W. C. T. U. work were ready to step up and take their place in public affairs. It has done much to eliminate sectarian lines and unite Christian women in common understanding and joint undertakings. Its slogan is "to make the world wider for women and more homelike for humanity."—[The Woman's Citizen.]

Plant Care

The only reason that house plants should not be kept in a sleeping room is that the temperature of a well-ventilated room is lower than the temperature necessary for plants. The average plant should have a night temperature of around 50 degrees and a day temperature of around 70 degrees.

GRANDMA SPEAKS

I hear much complaint from the young housewives of today about long hours in the kitchen, arduous household duties, hot weather work and the like, comments an elderly woman.

I wonder what these young girls would say if they had coal buckets and wood bins to fill, ashes to carry out, lamp wicks to trim and washing to do, over a sizzling coal stove. It seems to me they are surfeited with conveniences but utterly lacking in their sense of appreciation.

Grandma is correct. We are literally surrounded by the most marvellous conveniences known to mankind. Yet how easy it is to think lightly of them or even forget them. Sometimes it takes the older generation to bring us to our senses. A description of domestic duties fifty years ago generally makes one thankful for the blessings of today.

The Pavil on A. C. defeated the Harvard A. A. 7-5 on Leonard Field on Wednesday evening in a spirited contest which was a pitcher's battle throughout. Sherry twirled for the Pavilion, allowing four hits and fanning six being opposed by Kirby who pitched a masterly game until the sixth when he was relieved by Jackson. "Dave" Meskill, former Winchester High School catcher, starred for the Pavilion performing in masterly fashion behind the bat and knocking a single, triple and winning the game in the seventh by a home run with two on, the longest hit ball seen on Leonard Field. Harold Boardley and W. Smith starred for the losers, in the field and at bat, the latter knocking out a home run in the fourth inning.

The Star hears complaint about town regarding our lack of Directing Signs for motorists, and heartily agrees with the advocates of new signs. We should have, on our principal highways, simple and adequate signs. This is one feature which we lack, and many a country town not approaching us in size can give us points.

About 250 telephone lines were put out of commission in this town during the big storm Tuesday evening.

Mr. James Purdy of 135 Forest street reports that a carrier pigeon landed at his home Wednesday. The bird is of unusual breed and very tame, and although it seems to have nothing the matter with it, has no desire to leave. It bears a tag marked "1925-V2301."

The lightning struck at the estate of Mr. Lewis Parkhurst during the big storm Tuesday evening, breaking the water pipe on the lawn and tearing up some of the ground. The house was not damaged, although the water flowed in torrents until shut off by the department men.

John Calvin.

John Calvin was a Frenchman, one of the most eminent reformers of the sixteenth century, very prominent in the work of the reformation. The views of Calvin are supposed to be embodied in the doctrines of the Presbyterian church.

Where Hot Air is Deadly.

In Mesopotamia the "poison wind" or "sam" is a whirlwind of superheated air, which literally deals death to those it strikes. It travels almost with the directness and narrow path of a bullet, singling out perhaps a single individual. The person struck by it collapses almost immediately and may die if stimulants are not soon applied. It has the effect of causing heat apoplexy.

The Wisent Nears Destruction.

The wisent is threatened with extinction. There are no herds of this European bison left and only about 50 head scattered widely in zoological gardens and preserves. Plans have been proposed in Germany to get some of these animals together and start breeding them. The success of the United States and Canada in bringing back the buffalo, encourages old world zoologists to think that the same methods used with our bison will be effective with theirs.

Keep Your Enthusiasm.

Let us beware of losing our enthusiasm. Let us ever glory in something and strive to retain our admiration for all that would ennoble, and our interest in all that would enrich and beautify our life.

Socrates a Busy Man.

Socrates followed at first the craft of his father, a sculptor. Later, however, his time was spent in the market place, catching all who would listen. He served as a soldier and finally became a member of the senate.

EXPLOSION CALLED DEPART-MENT

An explosion in the attic of the house at 40 Myrtle terrace, occupied by Harry E. Gardner, called on the fire department shortly after noon Tuesday. A chemical composition, mixed up by boys in the family for making a noise on the 4th, was responsible for the racket, which aroused every family in the neighborhood and filled the house with sulphur and acid fumes.

The firemen found no fire, but the upstairs rooms, and especially the attic where the explosion occurred, were so filled with fumes they had hard work to enter, and when they did, could see little or nothing.

It was first thought that a radio battery had exploded, the trouble being in close proximity to a set, but later investigation revealed a different cause. It appears that a quantity of a chemical explosive had been mixed up for 4th of July use, and after the holiday what was left was put in the attic along with the radio and other paraphernalia. Apparently it was left on the floor in a paper bag—at least it is supposed so. A glass jar used as a radio battery broke from some reason, possibly the heat, and allowed the acid to flow to the explosive, setting it off.

The explosion was a good one and awoke the neighborhood, and the firemen had an interesting half-hour clearing the upstairs rooms of acid fumes, but the damage was fortunately light, although just what the acid will do to the floors and ceilings remains to be seen.

LEAVES TWO CHILDREN HERE

Mrs. John A. McLean of Stoneham, who died on Wednesday, leaves two children residing in this town. Mr. Frank W. McLean of Myrtle street and Mrs. Ethel B. Morse of Euclid avenue. She resided here for several years also, living on Park avenue.

Mrs. Mary E. McLean was the wife of John A. McLean. She was in her 68th year and was a native of Prince Edward Island, her parents being Paul and Effie McDougall Thompson. Besides her two children here she leaves her husband.

The funeral services are to be held this Friday afternoon at the residence, 89 Central street, Stoneham, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. M. N. Thornburg will officiate and the burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery, this town.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Stoneham Town Team will be here tomorrow for a game with the local boys. This team has been recently organized under the management of Joe Tole a former well-known semi-pro player and he has gathered a lively team of all classes and school players which has proven a good record of itself to date. Among the players are the two Cuppins, Kinsley, Maxwell, Hunt, Cogan, Measures, Quinn, Martin and Nig White. The lineup is capable of giving any team a battle and the locals will have to travel at top speed to get away with the game. The Winchester team will be a little stronger tomorrow than at any time this season.

Game starts at 2:15 p. m. or as near that as possible. Get down to the field early and pick a shady spot.

WINCHESTER TAXES ARE COLLECTED

This week the papers have been telling about the taxes due in one city or town after another, and it may interest the citizens to know how Winchester stands in this matter. There are no outstanding taxes due before 1924 except one personal tax. Every poll tax in 1924 has been collected. Only $505.44 of the 1924 personal remains on the books and the 1924 real estate is to be advertised in a few days.

TAKEN TO TEWKSBURY

Frederick Howard of Chelsea was found Tuesday on the curbstone on Main street Tuesday evening about 5 o'clock by Mr. Jonas A. Laraway. As the man appeared in pain Mr. Laraway questioned him, and found him to be bleeding profusely from a bad wound in the stomach. He appeared to be in bad shape and the police were notified and he was removed to the emergency room at the station. According to his story he was 45 years old and single. He had previously been an inmate at Tewksbury Almshouse and was on his way there. When in Malden he suffered, according to his tale, from pains in his stomach, and in order to relieve them, cut himself with a piece of tin. After this he had walked as far as Winchester.

The man's condition was such that it was thought that the almshouse was the best place for him, so the police took him up in the auto and he was received and placed under medical care.

PROGRAM FOR KIDDEES' DAY

Winchester Lodge of Elks held its annual Kiddees' Day on Wednesday, July 29, on Leonard Field. The idea of holding this gala event right here in town is an innovation, for all previous entertainments for the children have been at the beach. It has been felt, however, that by having the outing at home, a larger number of children will be able to enjoy it, and so the experiment is to be tried out.

The program for the day will be as follows:

- 10 A. M.—60 Yard dash; boys 13 to 16 yrs. of age.
- 10 A. M.—60 Yard dash; girls 13 to 16 yrs. of age.
- 10:15 A. M.—50 Yard dash; boys 10 to 12 yrs. of age.
- 10:15 A. M.—50 Yard dash; girls 10 to 12 yrs. of age.
- 10:30 A. M.—40 Yard dash; boys 8 to 9 yrs. of age.
- 10:30 A. M.—40 Yard dash; girls 8 to 9 yrs. of age.
- 11:15 A. M.—Marian.
- 12 M.—Lunch.
- 1 P. M.—Basketball throw, boys; Basketball throw, girls.
- 1:30 P. M.—Marian.
- 2:15 P. M.—Three-legged race, boys. Boys must be teamed up and ready.
- 2:30 P. M.—Sack race, girls. Girls must come with sacks.
- 3 P. M.—Wheelbarrow race.
- 4 P. M.—Sack the Flag.
- Prizes—Fountain pens, silver pencils, baseball bats, baseballs, knives, etc.
- A ticket is necessary to enter the field and no one will be served with lunch, or be allowed to enter any race, without one.

TRAVELS ACROSS STATES ON NERVE

Series of Accidents Keeps Paul Sargent Broke Until Reaching Anacoda

Gulliver and his travels, but he didn't have to make his trips in an automobile, without funds, and worry about gasoline and oil. Paul Sargent arrived in Anacoda yesterday with a check book that looked like fiction to the people he met along the way, but met Jack Bowman, with whom he went to school in the East, and was able to establish his identity.

But as the mottoes on the wall say, "Advancement is made through adversity." Young Sargent started across the continent a few weeks ago, and in five and one-half days of actual travel has gotten this far with his Hudson speedster and a lot of perserverance and experiences. He has averaged 525 miles a day, with the longest drive for one day being 625 miles. He was stopped nine times by officers on the way, three times as a bootlegger suspect and six times by authorities who figured he might have stolen the car he was driving.

By the sky above and the green below he has a home, "Just roughing it," he says, and from his experiences it has been rough enough.

Starting out with sufficient funds to make the trip, trouble overtook him and his money stayed behind when his car went "hay wire" and the garage mechanics went through him. When he arrived at Altoona, Ia., he possessed four cents. A bank president who had attended Harvard was persuaded by the young man to come to Sioux Falls, and he proceeded to seven cents and made Livingston where his finances were reduced to 16 coppers. A fellow in Livingston got a sporting chance and cashed a check for $2 after most of the citizens figured the traveler's name was Ponzi. About 75 miles out of Butte his oil supply became low and his gas was no more. An old Indian woman who runs the only store in the hamlet couldn't see U. S. Treasury on his money.

He swapped a flashlight for five gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil. Not yet showing signs of being downhearted he arrived in Butte with 11 cents in the god.

He went to the police station to see if he could have a check cashed, but the officers couldn't understand him as there was no charge there. Then he thought of Jack Bowman living in Anacoda and after a flood of argument and persuasion finally inveigled a fellow he met to cash a one dollar check.

During the summer the Massachusetts boys wants to be of the great open spaces, where men are men and women are governors so he is planning on proceeding to Washington to work in the lumber camps if he can not get a job on a Montana ranch.—[Anacoda Journal].

FINED FOR TAKING TREES FROM MIDDLESEX FELLS

Diminutive pine trees are fairly expensive in Woburn Court, particularly if taken without permission from the Middlesex Fells, for in the Woburn Court Monday, Joseph Bernardi, 41 Derby street, Somerville, paid $10 and Diana Chippe, 60 Derby street, Somerville, paid $5 for helping themselves to a bunch of little trees in the Fells Sunday.

Evidence was given by the park police that pilfering of young trees goes on steadily in the park reservation and the officers are continually on the alert to prevent the place from becoming despoiled of its beauty.

The two defendants declared that they did not realize they were violating the law when they took the trees. The trees were recovered and offered in evidence.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday July 16 as follows:

Harry Y. Nuter, Winchester, make alteration to inside of dwelling at 129 Mt. Vernon street.

Jerome Gates, Winchester, alteration to garage at 9 Warren street.

Norman Hitchcock, Winchester, garage at 5 Copley street.

Vincent Farnsworth, 7 Copley street, remodel present dwelling at same address.

Edward McKenzie, P. O. Box 55, Winchester, Mass.

MRS. MARTHA E. WARREN

The hundreds of motorists who have admired year after year the beautiful dahlias display on the Mystic Valley Parkway at Wedgewood station will unite in mourning the death of Mrs. Martha E. Warren, mother of Mr. Clarence A. Warren of 26 Parkway, for it was her love of flowers, and dahlias especially, which prompted the care and work which blossomed into this lovely display each year. She suffered a shock last Saturday, and on Monday passed peacefully away at her son's home in her 73d year.

Mrs. Warren had made her home in Winchester with her son for the past 10 years. Long ago she sought permission of the Boston & Maine Railroad to start a dahlia bed on the Wedgewood station 14th fronting the Parkway. Daily she was seen working on her beds, and each year she brightened the hearts of thousands of motorists by a more and more beautiful display of these flowers, until, as each summer opened, car after car stopped and speculated upon what new variety or color would be most admired. Her beds this year have up to now received the same care as in the past, but this season will be the last that the flowers will grow under her loving labor and they will not bloom for her except in memory for those who enjoyed them with her.

Mrs. Warren was born in Newmarket, N. H. She was the daughter of Alexander and Abigail (Ely) Ellison. Her husband, the late Edmund C. Warren, passed away a number of years ago, and besides her son in this town, she leaves only one brother, Mr. Charles W. Ellison of Newmarket, N. H.

The funeral services were held at the residence on Wednesday forenoon. They were of a simple nature and were conducted by Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, pastor of the First Baptist Church. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors, and a beautiful display of the flowers she loved. The remains were taken to Newmarket for interment, where previous services were held at the grave at 2 p. m.

A JOB FOR THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

A swarm of bees alighting on the grass plot on Cabot street was the occasion for a telephone call to the police for relief from a resident in the vicinity Tuesday night. Fear of children and pedestrians being stung led to an appeal for relief. The police, while good hunters in most instances, were out of practice when it came to bees, so the complaint was turned over to the Highway Department. Needless to say, this branch of our community service handled the situation promptly and efficiently.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

The following intentions of marriage have been filed with Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson:

Edward Joseph Walsh of Roxbury and Mary Catherine Greene of 234 Highland avenue.

Patrick Crotty of 29 Border street and Sarah Curran of 28 Rangleley.

Edward Luke McGinn of Woburn and Elena Nora Hanlon of 27 Garfield avenue.

Salvatore Augusta of Boston and Julia C. Barbato of 43 Oak street.

BIRTHS

A daughter, Margaret Ann, was born last week at the Winchester Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fitzgerald of Grove place.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Elliott of 38 Clark street are the parents of a daughter born last week at the Winchester Hospital.

A daughter was born July 6, to Mr. and Mrs. James Nowell of Stratford road.

COMING EVENTS

WHARF PLAYERS TO OPEN NEW THEATRE

The Wharf Players Theatre at Provincetown is completed and opened on July 15 with a series of one-act plays.

This is one of the most up-to-date theatres in a town of its size in the country. Electrical equipment is decidedly modern. A garden has been made surrounding the theatre where patrons may rest during intermission, and a house adjoining the theatre has been built for the directors, Frederic Burt and Helen Ware, who have been here for several weeks arranging the plays.

Professional players and students from various schools throughout the country and as far as Canada are taking part. Great interest has been shown by summer residents and natives.

One of the benefits of the project will be the acceptance of plays written by playwrights who have been long struggling for a hearing, but have written good plays. Aspiring actors and actresses of talent will also have an opportunity for experience and launching of careers.

During the summer extras will be introduced apart from the regular performances. A recital by Paul Robson, who created the role of Emperor Jones, will be one. He will sing negro spirituals. The presentation of a play translated from the Hindu will be for children alone. Other attractions are planned.

To Mr. W. H. Bicknell of this town, president of the organization, must go credit for her untiring efforts in the accomplishment of the purpose of erecting a permanent theatre in Provincetown. She has raised the greater amount of money for furthering the Wharf Players, and has given her entire time for more than a year to making plans, securing architects and builders, and has superintended the entire erection of the theatre.

BALL SQUARE AND CENTRAL SQUARE THEATRES

A magnificent program of superb photoplays will be offered by Manager El Locatelli for the coming week at his popular playhouses the Ball Square and the Central. During the first three days the screenings will be those of Pola Negri in her latest triumph "The Charming" and "On the Stroke of Three" with Kenneth Harlan and Madge Bellamy in the leading roles. "The Charming" will present Miss Negri in her first big American comedy role. It concerns Mariposa, a Spanish mountain dancer who barely keeps out a living in her home country and who is prevailed upon to come to the United States and here display her marvelous dancing. Her success is instantaneous but two men fall in love with her with the result that a series of situations develop which make for genuine laughs. "On the Stroke of Three" is a powerful tale with the scene laid in a rugged mountain country where the people are simple rural folk, and in the giddy whirl of New York's richest and most fashionable set. Across the background is thrown in delicate light and shadow the love story of a young mountaineer for the daughter of a rich broker. The last half of the week will present the popular Richard Dix in his great success "The Shock Punch." In this picture Dix is a young society fellow who would rather trade punches with a real "pug" any day than wrestle with a tea cup. During the course of training he develops a "shock punch" which lands on the point of the chin with shocking force. How it serves him in good stead will interest you immensely. The second feature will be "His Own Law" with Jack Meehan and Woolly Barry featured. The story is built around the efforts of a rancher, his son and his daughter to defend their ranch against a band of desperate outlaws. In this they are aided by a Federal Secret Service officer and a beautiful romance is created. Other features will be shown at each performance including a comedy and news reel.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The 1 o'clock train was stoned at the Swanton street bridge last Friday and two windows broken.

William H. McLean of the Paper Store had his Hudson coach pinched between an electric car and a parked auto at Knight's corner Friday noon, the auto being somewhat damaged. This is a bad corner, although much improved since the short electric cars have gone into use. It is usually good for two or three accidents a month, though.

Saturday afternoon as a lady residing on Robin Hood road, Arlington, was leaving her house, a small boy accosted her, urging that she buy some needles that he was peddling. She told him she did not wish any, and went to the shore of Mystic Lake leaving her house, but a few rods away, open and unlocked. Upon her return she found that someone had entered the house and taken every bit of change there was in it. Jewelry and bills were not touched. Suspecting the needle seller she telephoned the Arlington police, who in turn notified the Winchester department. Chief McIntosh and Sgt. Rogers soon after took into custody Thomas Flaherty of South Boston, 12 years of age. Flaherty admitted taking the change. He was found to be out on probation for the larceny of $50 earlier this year.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The third in the series of whist parties being conducted under the auspices of the C. D. of A. was held at the home of Mrs. Edward O'Connell on Kirk street last Tuesday evening. This party as well as the other two was a most successful one. Mrs. O'Connell should receive much praise and credit for it was she who was directly responsible for the success of the affair.

The prize winners were as follows: Miss Mary O'Connell, Mrs. Elizabeth Flaherty, Woburn; Mrs. Mary Kelley, Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, Woburn; Mrs. J. Burke, Woburn; Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. Goldie Horn, Mr. Daniel Daley, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Alice Martin, Mrs. Patrick Lalley, Mrs. Margaret Foley, Mrs. John Murray, Mrs. Fred Flanagan, Mrs. Austin Garvey, Woburn; Mrs. Hugh Skerry, Mr. Sawyer, Miss Susan McPartlin. The Gold piece on chances was won by Miss Katherine O'Connell.

Sisters Mary Kelley and Nora O'Melia spent the week-end visiting friends at Nahant.

Sister Jennie King and family and little Miss Myrtle Powers are spending a month at Plymouth, N. H., visiting Mrs. King's sister, Mrs. Mabel Murray.

Sister Mary Fenton and family have returned home after spending the month of June at Hampton Beach, N. H.

Sister Mary Hanlon of Washington street is entertaining friends from the West.

The next in the series of whist parties will be held in the form of a lawn whist at the home of Sister Annie Scott, Loring avenue, Friday evening, July 31.

This party promises to be one of the largest of its kind this season and every member is expected to attend and bring her friends.

Outside of the whist there will be many additional features. Already many excellent prizes have been donated which tends to show that unusual interest is being taken in this affair. A good time is anticipated by everyone, so come one and all.

Full details of this party will be announced in a later edition of the Star.

Grand Regent Annie E. Vayo wishes, through the columns of this paper, to express her appreciation to the members and their friends for the splendid attendance at these parties.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Complaint was made on Monday evening of an unlighted truck left on Cross street at the turn west of the railroad bridge. The truck broke down early in the evening and after dark was nearly hit by two autos. Lanterns were placed at the danger spot.

Considerable damage was done by boys about town Monday night, and the police were asked to investigate the tearing of the tennis nets and the destroying of property in the old school house at the Palmer street playground. At the old Prince School, which is being demolished, someone stole the flag pole.

Monument Unfinished

Edinburgh flies, or once liked, to be called "the Modern Athens," and there is certainly a suggestion of the old Greek capital about the 12 tall columns which stand out against the sky-line on Calton hill. These have been called "Scottish pride and Scottish poverty." A public subscription was opened in 1821 to erect a memorial to the Scottish soldiers of the Peninsula war. This was to take the form of a building after the style of the Parthenon. But the plan failed for lack of funds, and the 12 solitary pillars, erected at a cost of $5,000 each, alone remain to tell the story.

WINCHESTER COUNTRY CLUB HOST TO NEWSPAPER GOLFERS

"Abe" Savarn, Traveler cartoonist, remembered by many Winchester people who watched him sketch at an entertainment sponsored by the Eastern Men's Club in that club some two years ago, proved as clever with his golf sticks as he was with charcoal and pencil when he turned in the low net in the second tournament of the season conducted by the Newspapermen's Golf Association at the Winchester Country Club last Monday afternoon. "Star" as he is known professionally, had a net of 75, one stroke lower than the nets returned by W. E. Brigham and H. T. Claus, both of the Transcript.

Bert Hoxie of the Post had the best gross with an 82. In Class B, Eddie Hurry of the Advertiser was the leader with a net of 91.

The first rounds of match play for the Class A and B championships also were played, and the lineup of second round matches will be announced shortly.

Harry Bowler, Winchester's popular professional, gave the association a brassie and a nibble to distribute among the prizes. Phil Hendrick, chairman of Winchester's tournament committee, was on hand during the day to extend the club's hospitality to the golfers.

WINOR BUMPS BENEDICT
The Benedict Club of Winchester lost its match in the Old Colony Tennis League to the Winsor Club of Watertown, 8 points to 1, on its home courts at Park avenue last Saturday afternoon. All the matches went fairly close, though Riley, playing singles against Caywood of Winsor, was the only local contestant to come through, winning his match in straight sets; 7-5, 6-4.

The feature match in doubles was that in which Bruster and Jamieson of the visitors defeated Murray and Riley of Benedict after a hard fight in three sets; 1-6, 7-5, 7-3.

The summaries:

Singles
Jamieson, Winsor, defeated Blanchard, Benedict, 6-1, 6-4.
Riley, Benedict, defeated Caywood, Winsor, 7-5, 6-4.
Bernard, Winsor, defeated Blacker, Benedict, 6-4, 6-1.
Bruster, Winsor, defeated F. R. Smith, Benedict, 6-4, 7-5.

Doubles
Bruster and Jamieson, Winsor, defeated Murray and Riley, Benedict, 1-6, 7-5, 7-3.
Caywood and Linderholm, Winsor, defeated Blanchard and G. Smith, Benedict, 6-2, 6-0.
Anderson and Head, Winsor, defeated Hall and Laid, Benedict, 6-2, 6-2.

WINCHESTER DEFEATS WOUBURN 2-1

Pearlstein Pitches Masterly Game
For Local Team—Doherty Hits Homer

Winchester defeated Harry Doherty's Woburn ball club last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, 2-1, in a game which was featured by the masterly pitching of Pearlstein for the winners and the hard hitting of "Doc" Doherty, playing first base for the local nine. Winchester's big right hander was in good form, and clearly demonstrated the value of tight pitching on a team's success by holding the visiting batters to five safeties while striking out four and issuing no free tickets to first. Big "Doc" just about won the old ball game with his potent war club, banged out a home run in the first inning and later scoring "Touchy" Gray from second with a double for what proved the winning tally. The home team's margin should have been bigger but was held down by costly base running. Colucci, on the mound for Woburn, was hit hard enough, but a foolish desire to stretch things on the sacks broke up several budding rallies.

Winchester hopped off to a lead in the very first frame. After Gray and C. Cummings had tied out Colucci's slants for a home run into the river, one of the longest, hardest hits seen on Manchester Field since Mr. Hogan of Somerville played his memorable visit last year. It looked like a big frame when "Fitz" followed "Doc" with a single to left and Pearlstein slapped a one shot to center, but "Harpy" spoiled the fun when he was cut down trying to make third on the hit, being out by a city block, Linscott to Walsh.

The third saw the winning run for Woburn, Gray led off with a hit through short and was advanced by C. Cummings's sacrifice. Doherty doubled scoring "Touchy" but was out at third a moment later when "Fitz" rolled to Linscott. Pearlstein went safe and "Harpy" moved up when the Woburn shortfielder fooled the former's bounder, but big Jim was out at the plate when he tried to score from second on Francis Tansey's hit to center.

Woburn's lone tally came in the sixth with two away. "Tony" Colucci slapped out the second single of the game off Pearlstein, and was over right off on "Burt" (Coste's) lacy triple between Gray and "Punk" Cummings. J. Doherty ended the inning by popping to Dolan.

Notes of the Game

Winchester looked a whole lot better with Pearlstein on the mound than was the case the 4th, yet their lineup was little if any stronger. The old pitching sure does count.

The fans were glad to see Cummings back at third. He played a nice fielding game but failed to collect any hits.

"Harpy Fitz" went behind the bat, and "Doc" Doherty to first when Mcl failed to make connections for the game. The former makes a great mark for a pitcher to shoot at, and is a capable receiver. He has a whole of an arm.

The vacancy at second caused a "Nip" Chamberlain to move in from the outfield, and this versatile kid did a nice job, accepting four chances without a boggle, including a stop off Snyder in the 5th which was a honey. Snyder, the Woburn left fielder turned in a couple of nice catches. He robbed Fitzgerald of a sure home run when he took his belt on the loop to the right of the bandstand when the ball looked good to reach the parkway. It was the fielding gem of the matinee.

Too bad Francis Tansey couldn't play in town regularly. He played a nice game in left field last Saturday.

Yes, a 2-1 ball game is always worth the watching in any locale.

TANSEY TO PLAY WITH ALL STARS IN MAINE

Francis Tansey, ex-Winchester High star southpaw and one of the ranking schoolboy pitchers of greater Boston for the past two seasons, is one of the box men making the five day Maine trip with Frank Silva's East Boston "All Stars" baseball club this week.

The team opened at Sanford, Me., yesterday and the schedule calls for engagements today and tomorrow at Kennebunkport, a Sunday call at Taus and the final game at Lewiston Monday.

Tansey will surely be in fast company on the trip. Included among the players who will be his team mates are "Jabber" Burke, ex-Holy Cross pitcher; "Steve" Patten, former Boston College flinger; "Don" McDonald, one of the good performers at Boston University this season; "Eddy" Doherty of Holy Cross; "Roy" Kelley ex-Dartmouth football and baseball star, Paul Myron, old Dorchester and B. C. athlete; "Dick" Casey, formerly of the Neponset Wanderers, and several other luminaries, not forgetting Manager Silva who made a fine record as a schoolboy on the diamond at Dean Academy and Westbrook Seminary.

Numbering the local boy among such a list of seasoned veterans is a distinct tribute to his ability and his many friends and admirers here are confident that Francis will give a good account of himself on the trip.

WINCHESTER BOY FORCED BRILLIANT TO FAST TIME IN INTERNATIONAL GAMES

John N. "Sonny" Walters of this town, Harvard's crack middle distance runner competing last Saturday for the combined Harvard and Yale track teams against the combined invading forces of Oxford and Cambridge in the Stadium, forced Douglas G. A. Lowe of the latter college to race the half-mile in 1:53 2-5, the fastest time for this distance made in America this year, before he was finally defeated a scant two yards by the great Olympic Champion.

Naturally "Sonny's" many admirers were somewhat disappointed, having hoped that the Harvard star might lead his distinguished rival to the type. Close followers of track, however, are of the opinion that the local boy ran his greatest race last Saturday, and this in view of the fact that he had had scant opportunity for intensive training due to the necessity of his attendance at Engineering Camp at Squam Lake since the closing of the college year at Cambridge.

Walters has not enjoyed a particularly successful year since his early season win over George Lenness of Tech, but

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Dickens receipt for keeping young was cheerfulness and content, they beautify and preserve.
Ruskin says: Pleasure comes through toil and not by self-indulgence.
We have no duty which is so much underrated as that of being happy, by being happy we show benefits upon the world.
He is happy whose circumstances suit his temper, but he is more excellent who can suit his temper to circumstances.
Think of your blessings of which you have many, not of your misfortunes of which all men have some.

In the respect, anyhow, many a city could pattern itself after Cleveland, Ohio, and benefit by the change of policy involved. During the recent Rotary convention special orders were issued to Cleveland traffic men to treat everyone with courtesy, all unecessarily sharp reprimands by the police for minor infringement of traffic regulations to be dispensed with. The idea was to impress the visitors, but the plan worked so well that a special order has since been issued abolishing such reprimands in their entirety. This is how the innovation has been described in part in the editorial columns of the Cleveland Plain Dealer:

In the future the traffic cop must treat the everyday Cleveland as if he were a visiting Rotarian. He must use soft words and mild tones in administering his rebukes. Of course, under certain aggravated conditions,
the policeman may raise his voice;
but for the ordinary, everyday motorist who strays just slightly from the path of correctness there will be only a fatherly or fraternal admonition. . . .

If soft words prove to be permanently sufficient the city will owe a lasting debt to the Rotarians.—

INCREASE OF DISEASE GERMS BY HEAT

Food, especially milk, should be kept cool and covered in the summertime, as heat increases greatly the number of bacteria. When milk is allowed to stand in a warm place we may find as many as several million bacteria in a quarter of a teaspoon.
Some of these bacteria cause disease.
Flies and dirt also carry germs of disease. Therefore food should be kept covered.

A simple way to keep milk cold if an ice chest is not available is as follows:

Wrap a cloth around the bottle, leaving one end of the cloth in a basin of water. Put in an airy place.
The evaporation of water from the cloth will keep the milk cold.

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH

By W. L. Gordon

Words often misused: "likely" and "liable." Don't say "he is liable to come any minute." When expressing a very probable event say "likely." If a possible event regarded as disastrous, use "liable." "He is liable to injury."

Often mispronounced: Demonstrative. Accent the "n." Many people misplace the accent on the "n."
Often misspelled: Visualize. Note the "f" in first syllable, though pronounced as "z."

Synonyms: Submission, yielding, non-resistance, obedience, subjection, surrender, resignation.

Word Study: It is "you" a word three times and it is "ours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: FLAMBOYANT characterized by extravagance; showy. "The home atmosphere can never be improved by such flamboyant decorations."

The Woburn police were called in Tuesday to settle a dispute at the plant of the Bay State Sand & Gravel Company on Lake street. According to reports the company has been using a right of way to the street for several years which was closed by Mr.
Ralph Sylvester of this town, who has purchased a large tract of land in the vicinity. Mr. Sylvester erected a line of posts across the road which were promptly removed by the gravel company. Finally the police were appealed to when the argument began to look serious. It is reported that the dispute will be taken to court.

ONSET READY FOR REGATTA

Canoists Complete Plans for Event
July 24-26

J. Goddard Pace of Roslindale, purser of the Eastern division of the American Canoe Association, which will hold its annual regatta at Onset from July 24 to 26, announces that plans for the big event are practically completed and that it promises to be one of the biggest gatherings the association has held in the East.

The best of canoists will be on hand for the exercises, coming from Greater Boston, which will have over a half-dozen clubs present, and from as far away as Washington, D. C.
Many clubs from New York State and the international champions, the Island of Aquatic Club of Toronto, will be represented.

The Samoset Canoe Club of Boston will entertain and to it has fallen the work of planning for the program.
There are 121 entries in the various sports, thus far, and there will be 87 cups awarded, as well as a shield presented by Governor Fuller, and another presented by Mayor Curley of Boston.

In addition to the Canoe Club's program, the business interests at Onset have arranged a land carnival for the same period, and through a Planning Board comprising Carl Illig, Leo E.
Thomas, Edward J. Skelley, George Land and William Freeman, have raised $1600 to put their program across.

Of this sum, the town of Wareham put up $500 and the remainder was subscribed by merchants. There will be judging of the best decorated buildings, and also of the best illuminated, on July 24.

Saturday will be the big land day.
There will be a street parade at 9
a. m. with decorated doll carriages, horribles, marching, floats, decorated automobile and commercial divisions.
Prizes will be awarded in each division.

In the evening at 8:30 there will be a water parade, with prizes for the best decorated canoe and best novelty illuminated; also prizes for the row-boat, motor boat, float and commercial craft on the water.

On Thursday, July 23, there will be a beauty contest at the Colonial Casino at 10 p. m. There is big interest in this event. A bathing beauty contest is scheduled for 4 p. m. at the beach on Sunday. Cups will be awarded.

The canoe program includes a variety of races, commencing Friday morning, of single, tandem, four, club fours, and mixed single and double-blade races.

Saturday, similar senior events will be run off, and on Sunday the canoe races will be held, commencing at 1
p. m. In the far canoe races, in which nine men constitute a team, the entries now include the Samoset Club of Boston, Dedham Canoe Club, O. D.'s of Riverside, Crescent of Waltham, Riverside of Riverside, Winchester
Canoe Club, Medford Canoe Club, Chattanooga of Providence, Kikua of Providence and Pawtucket of Providence. The old-time Quinebauguin's and Wadsworths, stars of other days in war canoes, will only be represented by veteran members.

Other canoe clubs which have entries are Lawrence, Newton, Swans-ta of Providence, Vesper of Lowell, Pondition of New Jersey, Edision of Schenectady, Kenard of Syracuse,
Washington, D. C., and the Toronto
Club. The Toronto and Washington Clubs were in the last Olympic games.

Clarence B. Benedict of Norwood is vice commodore of the meeting. J.
Goddard of Roslindale, purser, and Arthur G. Mather of Medford, rear commodore. A leading person in the arrangements is John Veader of the Samoset Club.

The water sports feature is also to be carried through Sunday afternoon. There will be canoe tilting, hand paddle, tug-of-war in canoes, and a variety of other novelties. A veterans' race is also planned. Later the Onset speed boat races will be put through, and Sunday night there will be a big fireworks display.

Band concerts, vaudeville sketches at the wharf by visiting canoists each night, and a general open house are in order.

Headquarters for the meeting is at the Antlers' Club, which has turned its quarters over to the visitors.

On Saturday, July 25, the Beverly Yacht Club is to make in at Onset and there will be a banquet at a local hotel and an entertainment by the members.

Mrs. B. S. Briggs, 34 Stevens

COUGAR MORE DANGEROUS THAN FIERCE

The cougars which recently have been causing alarm in Washington State are not so menacing as they are reputed to be according to a buletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The cougar, or mountain lion, while powerful enough to be dangerous to man, is in reality extremely timid, says the bulletin based on a communication from Dr. E. W. Nelson.

Owing to its being a potentially dangerous animal, the popular conception of it is that of a fearsome beast, whose savage exploits are celebrated in the folklore of our frontier. As a matter of fact, few wild animals are less dangerous, although there are authentic accounts of wanton attacks upon people, just as there are authentic instances of buck deer and moose becoming aggressive. It has a wild, screaming cry which is thrillingly impressive when the shades of evening are throwing a mysterious gloom over the forests. In the mountains of Arizona one summer a mountain lion repeatedly passed along a series of ledges high above my cabin at dusk, uttering this loud weird cry, popularly supposed to resemble the scream of a terrified woman.

Is a Tireless Wanderer

The mountain lion is usually nocturnal, but in regions where it is not hunted it not infrequently goes abroad by day. It is a tireless wanderer, often traveling many miles in a single night, sometimes in search of game and again in search of new hunting grounds. I have repeatedly followed its tracks for long distances along trails, and in northern Chihuhua I once tracked one for a couple of miles from a bare rocky hill straight across the open, grassy plain toward a treeless desert mountain, for which it was heading, some eight or ten miles away.

Although inoffensive as to people,
this cat is such a fierce and relentless enemy of large game and livestock that it is everywhere an outlaw.

Secures Prey by Stealth

A mountain lion usually secures its prey by a silent, cautious stalk, taking advantage of every cover until within striking distance, and then, with one or more powerful leaps, dashing the victim to the ground with all the stunning impact of its weight.

Have an Unusual Opportunity in Winchester for an Ambitious, Well-Bred Woman as

Local Representative of Their Home Planning Bureau

Somewhere in Winchester there is a well bred broad visioned, ambitious woman with a pleading personality with a desire to join the ranks of successful business women. The woman we have in mind will have the vision to see the wonderful possibilities for women in Furniture Salesmanship and Home Planning.

The successful applicant will be appointed exclusive representative in Winchester for the Hill-Welch Company and she will work through the Hill-Welch Home Planning Bureau to interest people in Home Betterment, in planning and refurnishing their homes, and in the selection of their furniture and furnishings.

Preference will be given to a woman with a wide local acquaintance who has come in contact in the past with many people through clubs, social or charitable activities and who would be willing to work with one purpose in mind, regardless of hours or outside attractions.

Experience in this field is not expected. The successful applicant will be given thorough coaching and training in every phase of the work. She will be expected to give all of her time for a period of two months without compensation during which time she will learn every step of this new and interesting business. After that period she will be sent into the field to follow out a definite program, mapped out step by step for her.

The right woman will be able to earn the first year an income higher than the average woman ever attains. The ownership or use of an automobile will be very helpful but is not essential.

Tell us in a letter frankly and candidly why you think you can meet these requirements. If your application impresses us, an interview will be arranged at your convenience.

from cover to cover until it reached a knoll at one side of the little glade where the deer was feeding. Then a great leap carried it to the deer's back and struck the victim to the ground with such violence that it slid 10 or 12 feet across the sloping ground, apparently having been killed on the in-

BAMBOO: WORLD'S FINEST TIM- BER GRASS

Chicago celebrates the two-score anniversary of chop suey, and illustrates how a luncheon fad among State Street shoppers literally transformed hillside landscapes in Japan and China.

Chop suey is a stranger to China—
it is as American as the ice cream soda or hot dog—but its making requires bamboo sprouts from China and Japan, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"When the United States began buying the succulent sprouts the effect upon the thrifty farmers of Honchu and Kiangsu was akin to a Nebraska granger finding acres of weeds turned to wheat. Edible bamboo had been scrub bamboo; soon its yield vied with timber bamboo."

Jack-and-the-Bamboo-Stalk

Of course it did not take an American food fancy to show the Orient that bamboo sprouts were good eating. The Japanese variety of the grass which yields the most luscious sprouts is known as "Mossy," a designation that goes back to the "24 paragons of Chinese filial piety."

Once a widowed mother, so the story goes, fell ill in mid-winter and longed for hot broth made of bamboo shoots. Her devoted son dug down in the snow to find them for her, and the gods rewarded his piety by raising up shoots that grew to an amazing size. Japanese artists, to this day, perpetuate the Jack-and-the-bamboo-stalk legend by their drawings of the boy, Mossy.

The actual facts about the bamboo are fabulous enough. It is a grass, and provides wood of more numerous uses than any tree. One root may project a 100 straight, polished, jointed stems into the air; these grow as high as 120 feet; and their rate of growth has been marked at more than two feet a day.

A Chinese or Japanese family eat bamboo, sleep under it, sail the river on it, write with a pen and paper made from it, comb their hair with it, cut their food with it, pipe water with it, and make their bird cages of it. Western people multiplied its uses by their inventions and employ it for airplanes, flutes, hairpins, porch screens and graphophone needles.

Comparable to Cocoonut and Date Bamboo has been called one of Nature's most valuable gifts to man.

In parts of Kiangsu Province, China and in large tracts of rural Japan it would not be amiss to speak of the bamboo age; keeping in mind, however, that the bamboo civilization is

The giant bamboos are true grass-long distances through the soil, bind-

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken.
It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

EARTHQUAKE EXPERIENCE

Interesting Letters From Santa Barbara to Winchester Woman

The following letters from the earthquake zone at Santa Barbara, Cal., have been received by Mrs. Daniel C. Lincoff from her sister. Several Winchester people were in California and experienced the earthquake to a more or less degree, and the account herewith given will doubtless prove interesting to their home friends.

Santa Barbara
Monday, June 29, 1925
10.30 a. m.

My dear sister:

Long before you will get this, you will know that Santa Barbara has had her earthquake troubles and was badly shaken at just about 7 o'clock. My first concern after making my life safe, was to try to send a telegram to you and let you know that I am perfectly safe. Sitting now on the green turf back of the house, with my personal effects of value scattered around me, and planning to take the first train east that will carry me in safety. I shall seek the best advice in the town.

I had awakened at quarter of seven. Before I could jump out of bed glass was breaking all around me. When I got to the door I met Miss Miller, and in all calmness I said, "do we go out?" and she said in the same manner, "yes we go right out," and out I went barefooted, clad only in my nightie. She grabbed my blue shaker cape, and the whole household met on the lawn. The tremors continued, but none so severe as that first one. Even while I sit here, there is an occasional tremor, but we feel that the worst is over. The next move was to get breakfast and I wish I could have a picture of us sitting around a fire made of bricks from the fallen chimneys and wood lying from the newly built houses. Now we are all well sustained. I have been upstairs and gathered together my valuables, my suitcases, my traveling clothes and necessary articles, so that I am provided against any further calamity.

The water system is unharmed, and there is no fire, so that we have much to be thankful for. Isn't that always so?

We are hearing worse reports from Los Angeles, and have yet to hear from San Francisco, but it will take time to learn the truth. The telephone is out of commission and State Street is under military control, so alas I cannot get to the telegraph office. Probably the wires are out of commission temporarily anyway, but you may rest assured that the first possible chance that I have to get word of safety to you, I will do so.

Now our house, a wooden frame house, has not suffered much, but dishes, pictures and bric-a-brac are badly demolished. There was strawberry jam everywhere in the vicinity of the kitchen; lying on the hill we have suffered much less than the down town district. Some buildings are demolished, and there has been some loss of life. There is a hospital at the end of our street, and the patients of course suffered terribly from fright, but all have been safely removed. Chimneys everywhere are down, and one man said his house had moved back four inches. Our piano is about a foot out from the wall, so you may know there was some swaying.

Aeroplanes are doing a scout duty overhead. We have a fine swimmer, and I am sure everything will be righted with the greatest possible efficiency.

We read yesterday of the earthquake in Montana but whether ours is in that claim, I have no way of knowing.

My chief concern is of you and the family and the unavoidable worry you will have to endure again until you can hear that I am safe. That is what I am most sorry about. I must possess a charmed life, don't you think so? It seems the irony of fate that this should happen almost on the eve of my departure.

My pillows and blankets are out on the lawn with me, and I shall sleep out here tonight. The earth is safe!

With dearest love,
Mary

My dear sister:

I mailed a letter to you at noon today and they assured me mail would go south at 2.30, same as usual. The earth had seemed to quiet down by

NEXT WINTER

FUEL HABITS are changing. A great revolution is taking place. An increasing number of house heating installations are now being made in the summer instead of in the fall, and the trend is definitely away from coal to gas.

The American people are beginning to appreciate the sterling qualities of gas fuel. They know it is the cleanest fuel on earth. They know it makes no smoke, soot or ashes. They know it requires no storage bins and makes no dust. And those who have cast their heating burden on the gas company know that when they shut off their heat they shut off their fuel expense at the same time. Is it any wonder that the gas business is showing the greatest growth in its history?

that time, and we have had only slight tremors this afternoon, so we believe it is over. At any rate, I sleep on the ground tonight. We shall toss our mattress out the window and cover ourselves over with blankets.

Western Union had an out door station immediately and telegrams by the thousands are going out. I hope you have mine by now to assure you I am perfectly safe and well. Aeroplanes are taking them every two hours to Los Angeles. We know now that Los Angeles and San Francisco have both escaped.

We had food enough by us to feed eight of us today. We bought an air tight stove out from the house, and have just cooked some nice potatoes, which, with cold meat, tomato salad, tea and bread and butter made a perfectly good supper for us. While out in the auto this noon, to send mail and telegrams, we saw the devastation through the business part of town and residences near by much worse than up here.

Our beds are all scattered about the lawn and we shall be happy to sleep out under the trees.

We are all calm and happy. Everyone kept her head, and there was no trouble.

Now to the mail.

With dearest love,
Mary

Christianity in China

It cannot be definitely stated who was the first Christian missionary to China, since a tablet found in 781 A. D. indicated that Nestorian missionaries operated in as early as 635 A. D. There are, however, no definite records. The first definite record is that of Friar John of Monte Corvino, a Franciscan friar who went alone to China in 1254 shortly after the return of the Polo family to Europe, and he remained in China for many years, when his effort was reinforced by the pope of Rome and he was consecrated archbishop of Cambalin (Peking).

Rifle Inventions

The Flintlock rifle was invented in France in the year 1610. The percussion flintlock rifle was patented by a Scotch clergyman named Alexander Forsyth in 1807, and had been adopted everywhere by 1820.

Arkansas Diamonds

The Arkansas diamond mine, in Pike county, has produced several thousand diamonds equal in color to the best produced in other parts of the world and 1 per cent harder than the hardest from other parts of the world. In the Arkansas diamond mines the gems have been found "in place," as the geologists put it, and nowhere else on this hemisphere have they been so found. The Arkansas mines are being worked only enough to pay overhead, as the management has decided that the per load recovery of diamonds is not sufficient to justify the operation of the mines at this time.

Your First View of the 1926 CHANDLER!

See this Car—it will show you New Values

The 1926 Chandler is bound to attract attention the country over.

Such a distinctive and beautiful car has an assured welcome.

Every detail—body lines, appointments, equipment—has been developed to appeal to all who appreciate the smartness that is also artistic.

The feminine demand for luxurious environment is satisfied by this aristocratic beauty and perfection of detail.

The New Chandler is a car for the critical.

Even the radiator, usually only an exposed mechanical utility in American cars, is given an artistic touch suggested by latest foreign practice.

Unrivalled Power and Masterly Performance

This new beauty, dominating though it be, is only the partial expression of 1926 superiority. Mechanically an already great car has been made still better.

Around the famous Pikes Peak Motor, Chandler engineers have developed an equally famous chassis.

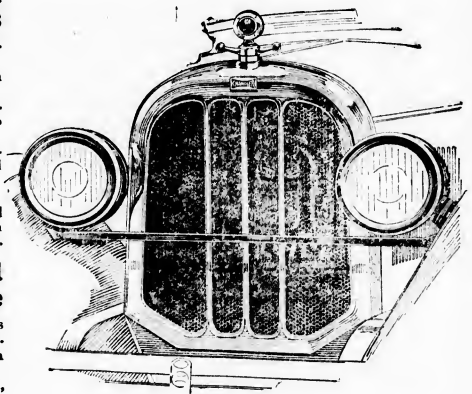

Chandler's recent run of 1000 miles in 689 minutes, (an average of 86.96 miles per hour), established a new world's record for stock cars—a marvelous demonstration of power, speed and stamina.

No stock car, regardless of cost or class, now holds so many performance records.

Every important mechanical unit has been proved by thousands of users the country over,—a Chandler purchaser takes no chance on what his car will do.

It has the mastery of performance that makes a hill a thrill, that takes every advantage in congested traffic, that robs the long tour of its fatigue.

See and drive this greatest of all the great Chandlers before you decide on any car.

New Coach Imperial $1595

The 1926 Chandler is especially attractive in the low priced coach.

The highly aristocratic Metropolitan Sedan, Chummy Sedan and Comrade Roadster, are, for their types, equally impressive values.

ARTHUR BRIDGMAN, JOURNALIST, DIES

Dean of State House Reporters Was in 75th Year

Arthur Milnor Bridgman, 74, dean of the State House reporters, died suddenly Saturday morning at the home of his sister, Miss Amy S. Bridgman, 38 Cabot street. He had been at the State House attending to routine duties as usual on Friday.

Mr. Bridgman was born at Amherst on Jan. 2, 1851, and was a brother of the late Raymond L. Bridgman, for many years a legislative reporter, who died Feb. 29, last.

He was graduated from Amherst College in 1873 and married Miriam Gay of Stoughton, Nov. 12, 1879. The following year he founded the "Evening Telephone," and was the first to send news by telephone. He began his newspaper career as Amherst correspondent for the Springfield Republican in 1872 and was local and legislative reporter on the Springfield Union in 1873 and 1874, holding a similar position on the Springfield Republican from 1875 to 1877.

Mr. Bridgman was at one time proprietor of the Valley Index, at Waterbury, Ct., which he held until 1879, when he purchased the Haverhill Gazette. In December, 1882, he purchased the Lynn Union and later the Holyoke Herald, also founding the Weekly Herald at Northampton. He also published at one time the Brockton Daily and Weekly Gazette. He was owner and publisher of the Stoughton Record from 1893 to 1909.

At the State House Mr. Bridgman was legislative reporter for various newspapers since 1874. He was State House reporter for the Boston Herald from 1879 to 1881. He founded the Legislative Souvenir in 1892 and continued that publication for many years. In 1897 he published "Brief Outline Sketches," of members-elect of the legislature which he continued up to the time of his death. He also founded, by authority of the legislature, the Legislative Bulletin, a semi-weekly record of legislative activity, and the Daily List, a daily bulletin of legislative hearings.

Mr. Bridgman's wife died recently. They had no children. He had five sisters. A nephew, Percy Williams Bridgman, is professor of physics at Harvard.

He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa (Amherst), and Stoughton Gyngas, Chemung Lodge, Knights of Pythias. He was a Republican and attended the Congressional Church.

CHILD DROWNED TUESDAY NIGHT

Barbara Mearls, two and a half years old, was drowned in the river at the rear of the Central Fire Station on Tuesday evening. The little girl evidently toddled to the river bank and fell in, not being missed by her companions at play near-by until some time after.

The children in the neighborhood use the open grassy space at the rear of the fire station for a playground, and on Tuesday evening were out as usual after supper. At about 8 o'clock Barbara was missed and not being found, the police and firemen were appealed to in hunting for her. In the search the river was looked over, but although it is not very deep, it is so dirty that little in it can be seen. After some searching, Assistant Fire Chief John Gorman decided to drag the bottom of the river, and his first thrust with a hay rake brought the little body from the shallow water at the shore.

Barbara was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mearls of 16 Winchester place and was one of several children. The accident created a considerable sensation, and when the body was recovered, the woman fainted. Mothers in the neighborhood, ran to the scene upon the report of the drowning, not knowing but what it might be their own child. There is little danger from the river at the place except to a child as small as Barbara. Efforts at resuscitation failed, and it is thought she was in the water a considerable time before being found.

Several dinners may have been somewhat delayed last Monday afternoon as a result of an accident which befell a delivery truck owned by the W. K. Hutchinson Provision Company. The machine which was being driven on Maxwell road by George Richardson lost its left rear wheel when the brake band broke allowing the axle to drop, but although it is not very deep, it is so dirty that little in it can be seen. After some searching, Assistant Fire Chief John Gorman decided to drag the bottom of the river, and his first thrust with a hay rake brought the little body from the shallow water at the shore.

WEEK END AUTO ACCIDENTS

Early Sunday morning a bad auto smash occurred on the turn on the Parkway at Wedgemere station when two Fords came together. One car was rounding the turn on the incline coming north and the other, according to report, was cutting the turn going down. A Ford runabout driven by Thomas Hayes of Somerville was demolished and Mrs. Hayes was injured about the face, arms and side. A Ford touring car, driven by Annet J. Wilkum of Wilmington had Martin J. Joyce as a passenger. Joyce had his knee injured. The touring car was also badly damaged. Dr. Brown treated the injured persons, who afterwards were taken to their homes. A Ford truck owned by the Priscilla Cake Company of Worcester, driven by Peter Zabel of North Woburn and a Ford touring car driven by Reuben Sherman of Somerville collided on Main street at Symmes road Sunday forenoon. According to explanations, the truck was coming out of Symmes road and turning to go north. No one was injured and the automobiles were only slightly damaged.

An electric car was sideswiped on Monday at Washington and Irving streets when a Ford truck owned by Michael J. Foley of Middlesex street struck it. Foley claimed the truck was driven by Edward Duran, and as it came out of Irving street it hit the electric and then ran over the sidewalk and through the fence near the store there. The damage was not heavy, and no one was injured.

NEAR DROWNING AT SANDY

Daniel G. McGaffigan, a Stoneham boy, came near being drowned at Sandy Beach Saturday afternoon and except for the prompt and efficient work of lifeguard Bill Murray, his name would have been the first as having lost his life at this popular resort. According to report there was nothing sensational in the causes of the accident. McGaffigan simply got out beyond his depth. Lifeguard Murray was on shore watching the bathers and noticed his trouble. He went in and got the boy on shore after much difficulty, and immediately started first aid work on him. A call was put in for the police pulmotor, but before it arrived Murray had the boy breathing and well on the road to recovery. As a matter of precaution he was taken to the hospital in the police fliver and later to his home. Several doctors were summoned, but found little to do. The accident put a damper on the bathing activities at Sandy for the evening, and after it was over there were very few who cared to remain in the water.

FALSE ALARMS START HERE

The epidemic of false alarms of fire which have been experienced for the past ten days in surrounding places reached Winchester Tuesday night when the first "false" in several months was rung in from box 38 at the corner of Oak and Holland streets. The police are working on the case and steps are being taken to prevent any further occurrence of these needless calls here.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL ENGAGED

Word has been received of the engagement of Miss Phyllis Rivet, daughter of Mrs. Florence Rivet of Portland, Oregon to Walter Coleman Christy of Glendale, Cal. Miss Rivet formerly made her home for several years with her mother on Maxwell road in this town and attended the Winchester Schools. October is set as the month for the wedding.

PETER WALLING DEAD

Mr. Peter Wallington, a resident of Winchester for the past 30 years, died at his home on Winthrop street Sunday. He was 80 years of age.

Mr. Walling was a native of Canton, Ill., and was a veteran of the Civil War, serving with the 51st Illinois volunteers. His early life was spent in railroad fields, he being railroad bridge builder in the middle west and a division superintendent on the Wisconsin Central Railroad. He was later supervisor of bridge building for the old Eastern Railroad and on the Southern Division of the Boston & Maine Railroad. For a number of years he was superintendent of the Laconia Car Works at Laconia, N. H. He moved to this town in 1896 and was widely known, having served on the Board of Selectmen from 1908-1910.

He was a Mason, being a member of William Parkman Lodge of this town and the Peoria, Ill. Commandery of Knight Templars.

His wife, who was Miss Claire M. Nutter of Salem, died in 1908, and he is survived by two sons, Louis N. Walling of Lynn and Archy C. Walling of Boston.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church. Delegations were present from William Parkman Lodge, the John T. Wilson Camp, S. of V., and Winchester Post, A. L. The pall bearers were the two sons of the deceased and Dr. Harry Y. Nutter and Mr. Fred L. Nutter of Reading, brothers-in-law. The remains were interred in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. THOMAS P. DOTTEN

Mrs. Lavona Dotten, wife of Mr. Thomas P. Dotten, a veteran police officer of this town, died at the Winchester Hospital on Sunday after an illness of over seven months. She was 71 years of age and was a native of North New Portland, Maine. For 32 years she had made her home in this town, where she had a host of friends.

Mrs. Dotten was the daughter of William and Jane Taylor, and besides her husband leaves but one sister, Mrs. Charles Robinson of Lowell. She was always active in the First Baptist Church and in earlier days was prominent in the Good Templars.

The funeral services were held at the residence on Reservoir street on Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. Clifton H. Walcott of the First Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Arthur L. Winn. There was a most beautiful display of flowers from many friends, both of Winchester and also of Lowell, where the deceased previously resided. The interment was in the family lot in Wildwood cemetery.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester will meet the North Woburn team here tomorrow. This team has been playing Sunday baseball all season at the new North Woburn playground and draws a large gathering of fans there at each game. It is managed by Fred Connors an old time player who has the faculty of getting good baseball out of his team. They met the strong Melrose City Club last Sunday which has a victory over Stoneham and were beaten 6 to 4 by a couple of bad errors. The local team will be about the same as last Saturday except in the box and right field.

Sunday we play at Brighton against the Brighton A. C. team which has won 15 straight games.

Mrs. L. T. Mason and family of Lloyd street have returned from a motor trip to South Tamworth, N. H.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Remember When?—Experiences of a Former Car Conductor

Remember 20 years ago when you were a frequent passenger, and the writer one of the old school "conductors" and motormen on the electric cars? Most of the "old time" passengers and employees, are alas, no more.

Remember in those old days, before the automobile made its appearance here, going out on the electric to a boat race, horse race, exhibition, regatta, or a hockey game? They were the days of real sport, in the old open car.

Remember seeing the conductor with about 150 passengers aboard, trying his level best to collect the nine five-cent piece, the fare at that time? Remember seeing him climbing around the people standing about "free deep on the running board," carrying a fare box, punch and transfers in one hand, making change and ringing in fares on the cash register with the other, hanging on to some passenger's coat with his teeth, lightly but with some weight placing his foot gently upon the pet corn of a patron who would have created a scene but for the fact that if he let go his hold he would lose his balance and likewise his passage, and have a sore head to boot?

Remember him on such a car during a rain storm, without a raincoat around the sides, on the fenders, back and front, yea on to the roof did he travel after the small fare of y. old. en times, with the water running down his neck and sleeves and filling his rubber boots? (if he was fortunate enough to have them on.) But we see him today; he is privileged to a seat on the rear platform (the open car having been completely lost sight of) and the passengers, of which he carries about as many in one day as in one trip of old, must deposit his members which is nearly double the size of 20 years ago, in the fare box, conveniently placed for the purpose.

Remember every day the rush hours, and say, the "Strap hanger" passenger? These all alas, like many of the respected citizens, patrons, and employees of my time are no more; still the wheels of progress continue to turn, even though to me they appear backward.

During my 20 years in the capacity of conductor, I had many experiences and while never a one resulted in a sorrowful way, many were attended with comic and mirth-making situations, and as a conclusion to my memoirs of 20 years ago, I am going to relate one incident, and I trust if any of my readers recall the incident in question they will not divulge the identity of the lady or the writer:

How Many Laps to a Mile?

A maiden boarded a well-filled car and firmly grasped the strap. And every time the car would lurch she'd sit on a different lap.

Now, the motorman, seeing some fun in store, released his brake quite smart. As soon as a car is on or off.

With the power he made a quick start. The stops were frequent, the jerking worse. And the passengers all wore a smile. When at last the maiden, "Will somebody please—

Tell me how many laps to a mile." A. C. N.

BOAT CLUB BOYS AT A. C. A.

The boys of the Winchester Boat Club, greatly encouraged by their victory of July 4, on the Charles River Basin, when they defeated six of the leading war canoe crews of New England, are going out for big game again this week-end. A dozen or more of them are to attend the annual camp and races of the Eastern Division of the American Canoe Association, to be held this year at Onset. They plan to enter most of the regular championship races, such as war canoe, club dubs, tandems and single, and the novelty races, also. By the way the boys are going and the spirit they are showing it will not be surprising to see at least one crew come home a winner.

475 ATTENDED OUTING

Enjoyable Day For Winchester Laundry Employees

Four hundred and seventy-five members and friends of the Winchester Laundries Inc., from Winchester, Lowell, Waltham and Newton attended one of the most enjoyable outings the company has yet held yesterday. The big party embarked on the steamer Rose Standish at 10 o'clock and enjoyed a three hour sail down Boston harbor around Minot's light, with lunch and dancing. A landing was made at Nantasket shortly after noon and the remainder of the day was spent enjoying sports and bathing there.

A feature of the trip was a novelty shower tendered Miss Nellie McCauley in anticipation of her coming marriage to Mr. William Mulrennan of Woburn. Heralded by a special number by the orchestra, the company assembled in the saloon, where the large centre table was heaped high with gifts. After the stage was set, Miss McCauley was escorted to the scene. Needless to say she was overcome by surprise, but arose gamely to the occasion and after thanking her friends proceeded to open the gifts of linen, kitchen utensils and several substantial gifts of gold. The gifts were all packed in two containers provided for the occasion and when Nantasket was reached were shipped to her home by express.

The company returned by the regular boats early in the evening after a most enjoyable day. This outing, the sixth in the history of the company, was in charge of a committee composed of Messrs. Roscoe C. Wallace, Charles P. Downer and R. D. Smith.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday July 23 as follows:

KIDDIES' DAY NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Elks' Kiddies' Day comes next Wednesday. The day's program opens at 10 o'clock at Leonard Field starting with field sports, which last until 11:15, when there will be an entertainment by a magician. At 12 o'clock there will be lunch and during the afternoon a program of novelty races will be run off. A hurdy-gurdy will be at the field during the day, and many attractive and beautiful prizes will be awarded the boys and girls who are winners at the sports.

No child will be allowed to take part in anything without a ticket.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Greetings have been received by the Court from State Regent Mrs. Katherine Salmon, and State Secretary Miss Marie Collins who are attending the National Convention at San Francisco, Cal. as delegates from Massachusetts.

Many members attended the Visiting Day exercises at Camp Devens last Sunday. Sisters Mary O'Melia and Elizabeth O'Melia spent last week at Lancaster, Mass. visiting relatives. Sister Katherine Kean and Mr. Kean are enjoying a vacation visiting points of interest in Canada. They will make a special visit to the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre.

Sister Mabel Coy is enjoying a two weeks vacation visiting relatives at Nashua, N. H.

Sister Mary Kelley of Hill street has returned home after spending a week at her sister's farm at North Hampton, N. H.

Members are looking forward to the annual outing the plans for which have not as yet been completed.

Sister Mary J. Kelley of the local telephone exchange is spending her vacation at Oak Bluffs.

Indications point to a most enjoyable time at the lawn whist to be held at the home of Sister Annie Scott of Loring avenue, Friday evening, July 31. Many unusual prizes have been donated for this affair. Mrs. Scott is working untiringly to make this party a success and the members, each and every one, should co-operate with her whole heartedly. Every member should remember that these parties must "go over the top" and in order for this to be done each party must be more successful than the last one. So if you have neglected to come before, remember "there is no time like the present," so start now by attending this most novel affair at the home of Sister Scott, and don't forget to invite your friends.

BALL SQUARE AND CENTRAL SQUARE THEATRES

Again will the Locatelli Theatre, the Ball Square and the Central, offer its patrons for the coming week, a program of photoplays which for entering value is sure to satisfy the most fastidious picture fan. During the first three days the screenlines will be those of Thomas Melham in "Old Home Week" with the beautiful Ella Lee also featured, and "The Wolves" with Anna Rabans in the leading role. Little need be said about the Melham picture, as the fact that Thomas is so here, is sure enough guarantee that it possesses everything that goes to make it a worth while picture. "The Wolves" is a vivid picture of Parisian night life. It's narrative centers around the gallant attempt of a devoted husband to transform himself into a polished gentleman—the type idealized by his wife as the perfect man. Failure to live up to her expectations brings about much unhappiness which is happily smoothed over when realization of the real worth of a husband comes to the jaded wife. The last half of the week will offer a complete change of bill with the principal feature being a picturization of Harold Bell Wright's masterpiece "The Re-creation of Brian Kent," with Kenneth Harlan and Helen Chadwick featured. There is a sweetness and irresistible power in this picture dealing with a man who lost faith in himself by trusting a frivolous woman, and who "found" himself through his love for a loyal woman. The companion picture will be "My Wife and I," a drama of domestic embroglio starring Irene Rich. The story weaves its fascinating and fantastic way around a unique triangle that actually has four points—a father and son both fighting for the love of a naughty little creature of the primrose path, with the gracious mother and wife waiting, waiting, waiting. Comedies and news reels will also be shown at each performance.

Sister Anne. See her at Wilson the Stationer's.

Women Rank With Men As Expert Drivers Says Noted Statistician

Women have proved themselves so competent in control of motor machinery, according to the findings of Frederick L. Hoffman, LL. D., in his recent survey of motor traffic and its hazards, that he sees no reason why they should not be equally skilful in the handling of the aeroplane. For this reason, he says, the rule adopted by the International Commission on Aviation, excluding them as aviators, "is not to be commended."

"There are no reasons," asserts Dr. Hoffman, "for assuming that women, in the course of time, will not prove as capable of handling aeroplanes as they have been found to be in the driving of motor cars. The prejudice against women drivers and the charge that they are erratic or unreliable is usually voiced by men who could be convicted of recklessness."

As consulting statistician of the Prudential Insurance Company, Dr. Hoffman is now making an inquiry into aerial traffic hazards in view of the prospective development of commercial aviation in this country and the resultant demand for the insurance of aviators. Flyers are now among the few persons positively declined as insurance risks.

Dr. Hoffman believes that aerial traffic as rapid transit for both passengers and freight will become a commonplace of the next decade. In his opinion, based on data procured from his investigations of rail and motor traffic, the accident hazard will decrease in ratio to the increase in the number of flying machines. There is no reason, as he views the situation, why women should not be permitted to qualify as pilots for the planes that carry freight, passengers or mail.

EMBLEM CLUB OUTING

The date of the beach outing at Salem Willows has been changed to Traders' Day, Aug. 5. The change was expedient on account of the two holidays being so near together.

For those who have not secured a seat in an auto, a bus has been engaged, and arrangements have been made for an early start as near 9 a. m. as possible. The bus and all autos available should be ready to leave Lyceum Building, Winchester square at that hour.

Members are urged to fill out and mail the cards that have been sent out by the Secretary as soon as possible, in order to obtain their dinner tickets. Dinner will be served at the Chase House at 12 o'clock. Each member is entitled to a $1 dinner free of charge. Extras and the cost of transportation are not included in the obligations undertaken by the Club.

The trip is open to members and their escorts or friends. For further particulars consult the chairman, Mrs. G. H. Lochman.

All members of the club are expected to report for "duty" at Leonard Field, at 10 a. m., July 29, Elks' Kiddies' Day. Over a thousand tickets have been given out by the Elks this year, which means a huge crowd of little ones to care for and serve, and of course every member of the club desires to promote the welfare work of the "Big Brothers." President Allie E. Davidson wishes it announced that the entire membership is needed to serve the lunch for the children at 12 o'clock. The committee appointed to prepare sandwiches includes Mrs. Anna W. Lochman, Mrs. Emily A. Scholl, Mrs. Katherine Fallon, Mrs. Sadie L. Meek, Mrs. Frances T. Dinnen, Mrs. Annie M. Harlan, Mrs. May Little.

Cards have been received by the Secretary from the Lochmans, Twin Mountain, N. H., and from G. T. Davidson, Portland, Ore., with greetings to the Emblem Club.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The business meeting scheduled for August has been cancelled and our next regular business meeting will be in September, at which time plans will be formulated for our winter program.

The whist party to be held under the direction of Sister Anna Kennedy has been postponed till cooler weather at which time Sister Kennedy will have returned from N. Y. York, where she is visiting.

Sister Elizabeth McLaughlin is receiving the best wishes of the sisters upon her return from the hospital.

STONEHAM WINS ONE SIDED GAME

Duran's Safety Robs Duplin of No-Hit Record

Stoneham took a lop-sided ball game from the Winchester Town Team last Saturday afternoon, literally running its players ragged while blanking the locals, 12-0. The boys from "up along" brought down a nice looking outfit and after the first frame the result was never in doubt. Winchester, as a club, does not hit hard enough to win many ball games unless it is getting good pitching out there. Last Saturday its hurlers apparently served up just what the opposing batters liked best, and the way they clicked off base hits was a caution.

"Crossy" McElhinney, late of Woburn High, started on the mound for Winchester and succeeded in getting by the first inning safely. In the second, however, the Stoneham sluggers began to get their range, and pushed over a couple of tallies which they followed up with three more in the third.

That ended the Woburn lad's occupancy of the rubber, and "Jack" Harriman was brought in to pitch, his place in right field being taken by "Flats" Flaherty. Harriman fared no better than his predecessor, but proved a glutton for punishment. He held Stoneham safely in the 4th and 5th innings but two in the 6th, three in the 7th, one in the 8th, and another in the 9th totaled seven runs off his delivery, and gave Stoneham a lump sum of 12 counts for the afternoon, just eleven more than they actually needed to win the ball game.

Just to show what a nice asset good pitching is in this man's game "Vic" Duplin, on the hill for the visitors, tossed very effective ball throughout the matinee. He held plenty of speed with a wide-breaking curve ball which the locals could do nothing at all with. Not until late in the game was his delivery hit safely, Woburn "Joe" Duran singling to break his no hit possibilities in the 7th. Duplin was given perfect support by his team mates while Winchester made four errors in the field. All in all, it was not a happy afternoon for the "Townies" though with Pearlstein on the pitching rubber a much tighter game would have been the result. No one could say Winchester would have won. A team getting only one hit in nine frames isn't going to be much of a threat, and the locals must strengthen this department of their game materially.

Winchester surely missed Pearlstein, its big all around star, "Pearly" had an engagement at Lowell last Saturday.

Duplin, who pitched so well for Stoneham, was a member of "Jeff" Terran's Big Green touring staff at Dartmouth the past year. He looks to have a good chance for a regular job another season.

"Touchy" Gray was among the missing. The little speed boy played centerfield for "Rafe" Bond's Medford B. C. His place on the Town Team was taken by "Joe" Duran.

Ralph Duplin, playing centerfield for Stoneham saved brother "Vic" from having an extra base hit registered against him in the second when he made a great running catch of Chamberlain's clutch "go far" right center. "Indian" hit the ball right on the nose.

All the fielding gems weren't in the Stoneham crown. "Bob" Walsh, at second for the locals, turned in a couple of nifty plays on hard hit ground balls. This boy is a real ball player, and it is seldom that he goes hitless.

The visiting club is said to be strictly a local outfit. They look to have some good material in Stoneham, if last Saturday's showing is any criterion.

ANOTHER TIE AT COUNTRY CLUB

The golf at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon was four-ball, best-ball handicap for members. Two teams were tied for first honors, R. S. Dunbar and H. P. Bond breaking 69 as did W. A. Jackson and P. A. Hendrick.

The scores:
R. S. Dunbar & H. P. Bond ..... 69
A. Jackson & P. A. Hendrick ..... 69
S. P. Nelly & A. M. Bond ..... 70
T. L. Freshburn & W. O'Hara ..... 72
C. A. Wheeler & R. F. Whiting ..... 75

WEDGE POND NOT A DESIRABLE BATHING PLACE

To the Editor of the Star:

In view of the steadily increasing numbers using the beach at the Palmer Street playground and Wedge Pond generally for bathing purposes the Board of Health feels that the bathers should be acquainted with the sanitary condition of the water. The following letters from the State Department of Health to Mr. Carl F. Woods, the previous chairman of the Board of Health and a member of the committee appointed by the town to investigate bathing facilities, and to the present Board of Health are self explanatory.

Very respectfully,
Maurice Dinsden,
Agent of the Board of Health
Boston, July 19, 1923

Dear Sir:

In response to your request for advice relative to bathing in Wedge Pond, Winchester, the Department of Public Health has caused the locality to be examined and samples of water from the pond to be analyzed.

The results of analyses of samples of the water collected recently from the pond show that in the southwesterly portion the number of bacteria present was not excessive and did not differ greatly at that time from the water of well operated swimming pools; but the watershed of Wedge Pond is thickly populated and the northerly end of the pond is subject to pollution from Horn Pond Brook, the main feeder of the pond. Within the watershed of this brook there are numerous manufacturing plants producing foul wastes, some of which escape at times into the brook. There are also considerable deposits of tannery refuse which have accumulated over a long period of years drainage from which at times of heavy rain affects unfavorably the condition of the waters of this stream. Wedge Pond is also subject to pollution by street wash from several surface waterdrains, the largest of which—a 15-inch drain—enters just north of the proposed bathing beach. A sewage overflow from the Metropolitan Sewerage System also has an outlet into the pond near the northerly end, but it is not probable that any pollution of the pond occurs from this source under present conditions at least during the summer season. The bottom of the pond appears to be muddy over much of its area, and upon the shores at the time of recent examinations were found extensive growths of organisms and water weeds of various kinds. The objectionable conditions can probably be diminished considerably by covering the shore and bottom of the pond in the neighborhood of the bathing beach with sand or gravel, though it is doubtful whether such a covering would prevent effectually the growth of organisms.

While the analyses indicate that the condition of the water in the southwest portion of the pond thus far during the present summer does not differ greatly from that of the water of well operated swimming pools, it is likely to be very different under other circumstances, especially after heavy rains. It is not practicable to control the condition of the water by the use of disinfectants at all times as is the case with the artificial swimming pool, and the pond, while safe enough as a bathing place under summer conditions like the present, may be objectionable when the flow of stream is greater than has been the case this summer.

In the opinion of the Department the pond is not a desirable bathing place because of the danger of sudden and possibly serious pollution to which it is exposed. If used for that purpose it should be subject to constant and careful inspection and its use prevented at times when the water is likely to be objectionable.

February 4, 1924

Dear Sir:
In response to your request, on October 25, 1923, following the heavy rainfall of October 23 and 24, the Department of Public Health collected samples of water from several points in Wedge Pond and from Horn Pond Brook at the point at which it enters Wedge Pond and has caused the same to be analyzed.

The results of these analyses show much more serious bacterial pollution of Wedge Pond in the neighborhood of the proposed bathing beach than at the time of the previous examinations. Water of this character if found in indoor swimming pools would be regarded as unsafe for bathing. The results of this test confirm the opinion of the Department as expressed in its communication of July 19, 1923, a copy of which is appended hereto.

June 11, 1925

Dear Sir:

Your letter of June 4, requesting this Department to make a survey of the shores of Wedge Pond and the streams tributary thereto has been referred to me.

Wedge Pond and its tributaries have been carefully examined several times and a number of samples of the water have been analyzed with a view to determining the suitability of this pond for public bathing. Communications containing the recommendations of the Department in this matter have been sent to the Committee to Investigate Bathing Facilities, Winchester, of which Mr. Carl A. Woods, chairman of your board, was a member; a copy of the most recent of these communications is appended.

There have been no important changes on the watershed of Wedge Pond since the examination referred to in the appended communication was made, so that a further investigation does not seem necessary at present, or at least until conditions on the watershed change materially.

Made Synonyms Only by Common Consent

In popular usage the words "thoroughbred" and "purebred" are practically synonymous. The dictionaries as a rule make no distinction between them. In fact the word "purebred" is not recognized at all by most dictionaries. Webster's International dictionary, which does not contain "purebred," defines the adjective "thoroughbred" as follows: "bred from two pure blood through a long line; pure-blooded; sold of animals." The same authority defines the noun "thoroughbred" as a "thoroughbred animal, especially a horse." According to this definition it is equally correct to speak of a thoroughbred horse, a thoroughbred dog or a thoroughbred cow. This undoubtedly is the general and accepted usage. But scientists and breeders usually try to make a distinction between the two terms. According to technical usage, "thoroughbred" is applied only to the breed of running horses eligible to registration in the standard stud books. On the other hand, "purebred" is applied to pure-blooded animals in general. This distinction is ignored by practically all the dictionaries and is not observed in popular usage.—Fathfinder.

Wind Force and Speed by No Means Identical

"How strong was the wind?" is the question asked after a destructive storm. The answer to this question is likely to be misleading, says Nature Magazine, because it is nearly always stated in terms of speed rather than force, and the two things are not identical.

The force of the wind can be indicated accurately by saying what pressure it exerts (in pounds per square foot, for example) upon a surface at right angles to its path. This pressure varies approximately as the square of the speed.

Thus a wind of 20 miles an hour blows about four times as hard as one of 10 miles an hour, and a wind of 30 miles an hour blows about nine times as hard as one of 10 miles an hour.

Father of Twenty-one Children Hears of New Protection Plan

For more than forty-six years James N. DeWitt has devoted his time to making good at his job and to being the proud father of one of the largest families south of the Mason-Dixon line.

There have been twenty-one little DeWitts and eighteen of them are still living, the oldest a son of forty-six and the youngest a toddler of just two.

DeWitt is a carpenter employed in the Louisville, Ky., coach yards of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and his general foreman, John Martilla, who is shown in the above photograph with him, will tell you that no more competent artisan is carried on the roster. But the elderly worker is, above all, a family man, and it is with no little pride that he discusses his large flock. Despite the fact that many of them have grown up and married and live in cities far distant from Louisville, he still finds time to communicate with them and to share their problems, when there are any.

DeWitt is seen here being notified by Martilla that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and two other southern roads had entered into an arrangement with the Prudential Insurance Company of America, whereby all of its more than sixty thousand men and women employees would be enabled for a small sum to carry life and accident insurance to an amount much greater than they could have obtained through individual negotiation.

People who live in glass houses should pull down the curtains.

A stitch at nine may prevent a rip at ten.

Silent threads of gold are self denials, little honesties, little words of sympathy; they are patterns of real life.

BAD TEETH, TONSILS, AND POSTURE GREAT DEFECTS IN CHILDREN

From a study of 500 "Well" preschool children made by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, bad teeth, tonsils, and posture were most prominent defects. The children were all supposed to be well, yet only 78 were found without defects. Two hundred and thirteen showed tonsils enlarged, 114 needed dental attention and better home care of the teeth, and 155 showed indications of rickets—flaring ribs, funnel or pigeon chest, knock-knees or bow legs. Poor posture was noticeable also among children who did not have rickets.

Fortunately most of these defects can be corrected. Right food, orange juice and cod liver oil, fresh air and direct sunlight work miracles with children who have rickets. Easy, amusing exercises, and proper shoes do much to prevent the simpler forms of bad posture.

Extent of Our Country

The land area of the United States proper is 3,700,000 square miles. The appurtenant waters have an area of 65,000 square miles. The area of Alaska is about 570,000 square miles. The insular possessions have a land area of about 125,000 square miles, of which about 100,000 belongs to the Philippines, 6,000 to Hawaii and 3,000 to Porto Rico. The total area of the domain of the United States is, therefore, in round numbers, 3,700,000 square miles.

Caring for Books

Books kept in glass-fronted bookcases are subject to attacks from bookworms, moths, etc., in greater degree than if on open shelves. To preserve your books from these pests sprinkle the shelves occasionally, say once every six months, with half an ounce of camphor, half an ounce of powdered bitter apple (well mixed together), do not keep books in a very warm room. Gas light affects them very much. Use a leather bindings in place of cloth.

SCIENTIFIC VALUE OF MacMILLAN EXPEDITION

Scientific information of high value will accrue from the exploration of the world's biggest unknown area by the MacMillan Arctic Expedition under the auspices of the National Geographic Society with the active cooperation of the Navy, according to a bulletin issued at the Society's Washington, D. C., headquarters recently. Data which will be collected by members of the expedition and observations made by the United States Navy flyers are of potential value to navigators, farmers and fishermen, the bulletin explains.

The major geographical fact is that the huge unexplored area, a million square miles, lies between two American flags, that which flies over Alaska and that which Peary planted at the North Pole. In this area, more than three times the size of Texas, there is the possibility of a new continent being discovered, and the probability of land of some kind.

Why Land is Expected

The existence of this land is postulated on reports of explorers who have skirted the edges of the unknown area, and of observations of tides and ice conditions along this fringe, which conditions indicate the existence of land.

Should land exist it will be of great future economic importance in view of the commercial flying that, in years to come, will be done across the Arctic regions.

The combination of aircraft and radio in Arctic exploration is a new feature of exploration, which not only adds romance and adventure to the undertaking, but which enhances the scientific value of the expedition.

New Era in Arctic Exploration

Hitherto our information about the Far North has been from explorers who had to penetrate it in winter, when the ice was continuous; summer flying makes possible observations of entirely different conditions, with 24 hours of daylight to aid the flyers.

This same daylight, however, as radio fans will realize, is a handicap to broadcasting, because night time is radio time. The use of the new short wave length apparatus, under these conditions, is an experiment which will be of value to the new science of wireless communication.

Upper air temperatures in the Far North are almost as little known as the million square miles which may shroud a long-hidden continent. Summer records of these conditions not only will have a value to future flying but may have a direct bearing on weather forecasting.

Forecasting weather consists largely in detecting new disturbances as they show up on the western and northwestern borders of the United States, learning their characteristics, and figuring out the paths they probably will follow because of prevailing barometric pressures and temperatures ahead of them.

Tracking Weather to its Lair

The great majority of what the weather forecasters call the lows—that is the areas of subnormal barometric pressure—seem to originate over the warm sea south of the Aleutian Islands in the winter, and over the interior of Alaska during the summer. But some of the conditions which cause these lows to be built up in those places and create highs to the east have their birth farther north in the Polar Regions, and a better knowledge of temperatures, pressure and wind changes there undoubtedly would facilitate weather forecasting.

In the search for the beginnings of its weather the United States is not concerned with the entire Polar Regions. It is most concerned, it happens, with the unexplored territory which lies north of Alaska.

Temperatures, pressures and wind conditions—the vital weather factors—are not known in the regions north from Alaska to the pole. Explorations of this area is a preliminary to making detailed observations of these conditions which directly affect farms and orchards of the United States.

Navy's Part in Exploration

Speaking of the Navy's part in the expedition Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, President of the National Geographic Society, said:

Two of the outstanding men of their generations in the history of Polar Exploration were the officers of the U. S. Navy—Charles Wilkes, who on January 19, 1840, and Robert E. discovered the Antarctic Continent on Peary, who attained the North Pole on April 6, 1909. Both were acting under the orders of the President and Secretary of the Navy.

It is a matter of pride to the members of the National Geographic Society that the monuments to Peary and Wilkes in the Arlington National Cemetery were placed there by their Society.

With these two names may be grouped other navy men whose enterprise and daring have added to our knowledge of the world. Among them are Charles Francis Hall, who pushed north from Thank God Harbor to within less than 8 degrees of the North Pole in October, 1871; George W. De Long, who lost his life in Polar work; William Francis Lynch, who in 1848 conducted a valuable official survey of the Jordan River and the Dead Sea; Matthew Calbraith Perry, who so diplomatically opened Japan to the outside world in 1853; and Thomas Oliver Selfridge who conducted surveys for a canal across the Isthmus of Panama in 1869-73.

BYRD TELLS OF FLIGHT PLANS

Lieut. Cmdr. R. E. Byrd, U. S. N., in command of the Naval detachment of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition under the auspices of the National Geographic Society, has forwarded to the Navy Department a definite plan of operations with the three Navy amphibian planes in exploring the Polar Regions, plans for the establishment of bases, and the difficulties and precautions necessary in airplane operations in that climate.

Spectacular dashes will be avoided and the unit will feel its way as it goes as the difficulties facing it are unknown, but as far as possible emergencies will be provided for.

The base on the Polar Sea will be either at Cape Columbi, Grant Land, or Cape Thomas Hubbard, Axel Heiberg Land, depending upon which seems to afford the best landing places enroute. It is known that there are landing facilities at the two above mentioned Capes, the communication says.

To load an airplane to the limit is hard on its engine as too many revolutions per minute are required to get the proper speed of the plane, causing lessened reliability of engine performance.

To Have Half-Way Base

Therefore an intermediate base will be formed between the main base at, or near, Etah and the base on the Polar Sea. This base should be midway between the two bases, or about 150 miles from Etah. Ammunition, firearms, engine fuel and food will be put at both bases and in addition the base on the Polar Sea will have a small tent, some food and spare parts, a radio operator and a radio set, smoke bombs, field glasses, a Primus (a blow torch) stove, kerosene, planes, stakes and lashing for bad weather and one Eskimo and dog. The Eskimo and dog are taken along as an emergency measure in case it becomes necessary to live on the country. At least two months' supply of food will be taken to the base on the Polar Sea.

If the Polar Sea base is put at Cape Thomas Hubbard the first long flight over the Polar Sea will probably be 319 degrees true course.

Sun Compass Main Reliance

All compasses will be checked by the sun compass and when the sun is bright this compass may be used directly as the other compasses are subject to the errors of the theoretical variation which will be out as much as 5 or 10 degrees from the actual variation.

As an aide in navigating a small amount of a solution of permanent iodine of potash will be dropped on the snow every 15 minutes. Compass radio bearings will also be used whenever possible.

At Etah the wings cannot be put on two of the planes on the steamship Peary on account of lack of space. Erecting the planes will therefore be a major operation. Approximately 10 days of steady work will be required to erect planes, make test radio flights, reconnoiter flights, etc. Another week (if everything goes well) will be required to form the advanced base. It will therefore be past the middle of August when the first flight is made out over the Polar Sea. The return to the main base should be about September 1.

No long flight over the Polar Sea will be attempted until short flights have been made to ascertain Polar Sea conditions.

All Planes to Have Radio

All three planes will be used to form the base on the Polar Sea. Two planes will go together on flights from this base and the third plane will remain at the base as a reserve plane. All three planes will be equipped with radio.

At least one of the two planes flying over the Polar Sea must have a mechanic on board to repair the engine if possible in case of a forced landing.

All members of the Naval unit are being required to learn to send and receive radio.

The plane left at the base should have assigned to it a competent navigator and before each flight he will be given all details relating to the course to be steered so that rescue work can be competently carried out.

Only two persons can go in each plane in the Polar Sea flight. On account of the extra gasoline tanks necessary there will not be room for navigation carrying a third person. Also a third person would cut down too much the radius of action of the plane.

"All Fools' Day" Legend

There is a tradition among Jews that the custom of making fools on the first of April arose from the fact that Noah saved the dove on the first day of the month corresponding to our April, before the water had abated. To perpetuate the memory of the deliverance of Noah and his family, it was customary on this anniversary to punish persons who had forgotten the remarkable circumstances connected with the date, by sending them on some foolish errand, similar to that on which the patriarch sent the "foolish bird" from the windows of his ark.

Midget and the Bible

My mother had a beautiful cat named Midget. Midget was not only fastidious when it came to eating, but would sleep nowhere but on the family Bible. My mother left the Bible on the kitchen table one night, and Midget, leaving her place in the parlor, where the Bible was kept, hunted around until she found it, and there she was found in the morning. Just to try out the old "tabby," my mother carried the Bible upstairs to her sleeping room, and the next morning, to her astonishment, there lay Midget. A dictionary the same size was placed in the Bible's usual place and the Bible moved to a small closet. Next morning Midget was found on the Bible as usual, and there she slept until one morning she was found dead.—G. B. Montgomery, in Our Doubt Animals.

Words Have Changed Somewhat in Meaning

If the words we use could bring up, like a cinematograph film, the pictures which lie behind them, conversation would be more entertaining than it is as a rule. For instance, when we say a thing is dilapidated, we bring up in our mind of an ancient temple crumbling to ruin, for the root meaning of the word is "crumbling away." Similarly, the word stunned means thunder-struck, and ardent formerly meant burning.

What a remarkable picture the word scandal calls up. Its original application was to that part of a trip on which the bait was placed and which, when the trap was touched, sprang up and caught the victim. Another old word is scruple, which originally meant a little stone, in weights means twenty grains, and in modern use means something which hurts or worries the conscience.

Irritate referred originally to the snarling of a dog. Perplexed brings up a picture of being tangled in miles of string, wound completely round and round; whilst the word eliminate denotes what the man did to his barometer when it continued to register "Set Fair" after it had been raining for a week, for it means "to kick out of doors."

Milk as a Food

Milk as a food for every one has been extensively advertised in the United States in the past few years, and apparently with convincing force. Statistics from 900 cities and 30,000 farms indicate that in 1923 the consumption of milk was 53 gallons to a person, as compared with 50 gallons in 1922 and 49 gallons in 1921. In Boston the consumption to a person has advanced in eight years from 35 to 64 gallons.

WHAT ARCTIC PLANES WILL CARRY

What will the planes carry that fly out over the unknown areas of the Polar Sea?

Lieut.-Cmdr. R. E. Byrd, U. S. N., commanding the Naval detachment of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition under the auspices of the National Geographic Society answers that question in the following equipment list:

Emergency tools.
Gasoline and oil to depend upon the length of the flights to be made. At least an hour and a half reserve should always be carried.

A month's food supply, primus stove and waterproof matches.
Two sleeping bags.
One air-rail (boat) with bellows and paddles.

Radio.
Anchor.
Ice axe.

Smoke bombs.
Chart and sextant.
Sun, earth induction and magnetic compasses. Also a small pocket compass for possible hiking.

Drift indicator and course and distance indicator.
Permanence of potash.
Sideral and B. M. T. watches.

Emergency medical outfit.
Revolver and ammunition.
Stakes and lashings for possible storms.

Marine glass.
Field glasses.
There will be two persons in each plane on every flight and two planes always will fly together.

WIRELESS, NORTH POLE

WNP calling, will you relay a MacMillan message to the National Geographic Society?

The sender is John L. Reinartz, amateur radio wizard, aboard the Bowdoin, just now somewhere west of Greenland.

On the receiving end is an amateur radio operator—one day in New Brunswick, Canada; the next day at St. Petersburg, Fla.; again out in Cleveland, and on some occasions in England.

For it is one of the interesting aspects of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition which is using the new instruments of aviation and color photography that its news transmission also is by a method so new that it is yet experimental.

Sending at Midday
But the experiment is working—nightly, and also at midday—which is one of the new things about the new short wave length sending.

Even to the listener in the name Reinartz may be strange; but to every amateur, code-using radio operator the world over, the name Reinartz, means a special hook up. And these amateurs' standing is attested and guarded by membership in the American Radio Relay League.

Year by year Reinartz became more actively connected with electrical work, and prior to his recent selection to have charge of radio communication on the MacMillan Expedition, he was in charge of electrical disposition in the mill.

When the crystal detector came in Mr. Reinartz was one of the first amateurs to make use of it. With home-made transmitting and receiving equipment he kept up his experiments with fellow amateurs until America went into the World War.

An accident at training camp incapacitated him and he spent the remaining period of the war teaching radio in a trade school, fitting men for the service which he had not been permitted to enter.

As soon as the war restrictions on radio activity were removed, Mr. Reinartz felt husily to work again at his radio experiments. By 1921 he had designed the Reinartz regenerative circuit, which he improved in 1922. This soon became popular with broadcast listeners because of its simplicity of tuning and its sensitivity.

At this time bands of wave lengths were being allotted for various uses. The amateurs of one country were given a band near 50 meters, but by special arrangement they exchanged this band for one of much higher wave lengths, asserting that it was impossible to get as low as 50 meters.

Reinartz believed that it could be done, and had been pegging away steadily reducing his wave lengths. Finally, in 1923, he reached 70 meters, the record at that time for amateurs.

He explained his methods to a French amateur, Dr. Ley, who had a station in Nice, and to officials of the American Radio Relay League in Hartford,

July 23-25

In October, 1923, the first two-way amateur communication between France and America was established with the equipment that Reinartz had designed.

After achieving 70 meters, Reinartz succeeded in August, 1924 in getting down to 40 meters and got the 40-meter signals through first to the Pacific coast and then to England, Scotland, France, Belgium, Sweden, South America and Australia. These were night signals. By October he was using 20-meter waves and at this remarkably short length or "high frequency" had established two way communication at night with Santa Monica, Cal. from his home at Manchester, Conn.

Until this contact Reinartz had the 40 and 20 meter field practically to himself. Since his pioneering, however, many other amateurs have followed.

To Try 3 Meter Band

The first daylight-transcontinental transmission between amateurs was accomplished by Reinartz last December, the signals going through clearly at noon on 20 meters. It is because of this success, since repeated many times, that the MacMillan Expedition in maintaining radio communication between the Arctic and the United States, day and night.

Reinartz has not stopped with his 20-meter accomplishment. He has even sent out waves as short as three-quarters of one meter. Confident of further reduction in length he has obtained from the Radio Division of the Department of Commerce a license to experiment with waves in the band from three-quarters of a meter downward!

The oscillations of the plate in a vacuum tube are so rapid at these low wave lengths that the metal of the plate becomes in part translucent while the waves are be-

Dressing up for dinner is not excluded to the class of people we call society. It should be a practice in every home, even though the dressing up consists of a clean gingham dress. And it should not be excluded to the wife and mother, but each individual should observe this rule as well. Children should be taught the habit in the high-school days.

ON BOARD SS. BUCKEYE STATE AT SEA

We left Havana about 9 p. m. on Wednesday last, under most perfect weather conditions, and a smooth sea, but lacking the witchery of the old tropic moon.

The next morning we had traversed a little less than half the length of the Northern Coast of Cuba which extends in a Southeastly direction. Being far out from shore there was practically nothing of interest to be seen; only a hazy view of hills could be had, and farther inland the mountains were so distant as to be barely distinguishable from faint cloud formations; occasionally a long, sandy beach with white breakers driven in by the strong Northeast trade wind, could be discerned by the aid of glasses, and in the afternoon the wreck of a very large mastless schooner was discovered high up on the shore. The general aspect of the coastline indicated that settlements were small and far between.

The next day (Friday) the Island of Hayti was visible but so far away as to appear but a rim of heavy cloud on the horizon; its contour is extremely mountainous but there was no opportunity for observations, although the land was in sight all day and at dusk we had not reached the Western end of the Island.

On the following morning (Saturday) the West Coast of Porto Rico was in view and the course was now Southerly between this island and Santo Domingo; but little sign of habitation could be seen, and the land was sufficiently close at hand to permit a very good view of vegetation and an occasional sugar cane. In the early forenoon Cape Rojo was passed and we now headed Easterly along the Southern Coast of the Island which extends in this direction for nearly 100 miles in a remarkably straight line for Island formation.

Ponce, our next stop, lies 40 miles East of Cape Rojo, and shortly before noon the port (called Playa) was reached and we drew into the open, unprotected harbor, dropping anchor at a distance of about two miles from the landing dock. On a tiny island at the Western entrance is a small lighthouse painted in a swirl of blue, and both the island and the light are so diminutive as to resemble toy structures, and it seemed marvelous that either could withstand the violence of Southern storms to which they are fully exposed.

From the ship we had a wide range of view and the entire city lay spread before us on a flat area between the foothills and the sea, and distant about three miles from the shore; behind those hills the mountains rise very sharply to an altitude of about 4000 feet. Large fields of young sugar cane growing on the plains between the sea and the town, were suggestive of our distance from them, of immense lawns of light green.

Porto Rico is singularly square in shape and has an estimated area of 3500 square miles, which, when compared with that of Cuba (41,000), gives one some idea of their relative areas; as is the case in nearly all tropical islands (excepting, of course, those of coral formation), a chain of rugged mountains crosses the island, extending from West to East, and possesses an exposed and exaggerated vertebrae. This island is especially favored with many streams. The total number being about 14; a very few are navigable for small vessels near their mouths.

After lunch we were allowed to stroll along, and again breakers lay eastward about the ship's stern, as at Havana, but here the ocean soon ceased them to rise and fall to such an extent that caution and quick action were necessary in order to make successful connections; no mishaps occurred and after an uneventful rap of about 15 minutes we were landed at the Custom House. Wharf and once more stood upon terra firma, this time in a possession of the United States. Boarding an American-made electric street-car I rode to the city of Ponce which is situated fully three miles inland from the seashore—far from the center. The road led thru scattering rude huts and dilapidated shanties of the poor people, but even in this neglected environment nature shows her impartiality, for beautiful flowers and fruits were plentiful, growing and thriving without apparent culture, or even any care. The gorgeous Poinciana Regia, called here "Flamboyant" with their huge arrays of scarlet flowers, resembling large bouquets, or clusters, of Nasturtiums or Orchids, lined the roadway as did our elms and maples, and would make wonderful subjects for pictures if photographed in colors. If one who had never seen this sight in its natural state should first see the photograph without explanation, it would be a perfectly natural thing to declare that the picture and coloring were a creation of the artist rather than that of a normal production of Nature.

After a pleasant ride of about half an hour, we reached the business and residential streets and I left the car to stroll about on foot.

Ponce has at least three pronunciations—the true Spanish is Pon-tha; the local and common is Pon-sa; at home we call it Ponce.

I saw nothing of any modern construction or familiar type of architecture; all the buildings were decidedly foreign in appearance, and to American eyes, rather peculiar, especially was this true of the residences in the city which seemed thoroughly unlike homes, and were fantastic and inhospitable in general appearance. I would have been glad to view the interior which might have corrected an unfavorable impression.

This city is second to San Juan on the Northern Coast, with which it is connected only by highway, a distance of approximately 50 miles. Public squares, or plazas, are frequent and attractive, with plenty of seats, grass plots, flowering shrubs, fountains with pools containing handsome fish, royal palms, and here again the poinciana regia with its glorious flowers.

I drank the liquid contents of a green cocoanut, preferring to use a drinking straw rather than a glass; bought mangoes at less than one cent each, fine limes at five cents a dozen, and some delicious nasberrys (Sapollia) which I had not tasted for many years; this fruit resembles, somewhat an ordinary russet apple, but has the delicate flavor of a fine juicy pear; the seeds are large, black and very glossy; the sap of the tree is often used as an ingredient in the manufacture of chewing gum.

Prices here were very much more reasonable than at Havana and the variety offered in the shops visited, was good and attractive.

As the afternoon waned, I rode back to Playa by street car, passing en route, a large enclosure in which were confined nearly 350 emigrants, the "barren" few of the human race, having no pedigree nor "pride of parentage"; these people were to occupy the steerage quarters on our ship during their voyage to Hawaii whither they were bound, with some women and children, as laborers in the cane fields of those Islands; I was told that these people had occupied the crowded enclosure for about ten days awaiting the arrival of the steamer which had been delayed in leaving Baltimore. In due course I arrived again on board the Buckeye State in ample season for dinner.

The temperature at Ponce was far more comfortable than I had expected to find it at 18 degrees above the equator in the month of August; the air was not too humid to be agreeable, and conditions were such as would have prevailed at home on an ideal June day; in the evening the breeze was cool, but balmy and delightful.

It was after 9 o'clock when three large lighters emerged from the darkness of the harbor, each bearing a full load of the laborers and their families, accompanied by a somewhat "wild" assortment of luggage consisting chiefly of nondescript bundles in variety; bulging old valises secured (?) by cords; small foreign-type metal boxes (we should call them trunks), and an occasional modern suitcase; all of which doubtless represented the owners' entire material possessions.

Captain Daves told me that this embarkment had been held back until well after dark to avoid, as much as was possible, any demonstration on the part of friends and relatives who were remaining behind; the men, with little emotion to cause some of the emigrants to change their minds and refuse to go at the last hour, and if such a movement should once start among only a few, the others would be liable to follow a leader and entirely disrupt the entire plan which had been worked out over a considerable period of time; therefore the late evening was chosen as being more propitious for success than during the afternoon, although the delay caused some loss of time for the steamer, but as the fares meant an income of about $100 each, or a total of $35,000 to the Company, they preferred to lose a few hours in time rather than any of the steerage passengers.

The transfer from barges to ship was not accomplished, however, with much labor and the use of considerable ingenuity on the part of officers and crew, and the poor travelers unwillingly, and probably unconsciously, furnished amusement and pathos to the passengers who were lined up at the promenade deck rail, and watched the proceedings in comfort and safety from this high point of observation; comedy and tragedy were mingled in the scene, and the actors who unwittingly furnished both, were sadder, if not wiser, before all were on board, as I will proceed to prove.

Ponce (Playa) has no protection from the sea, and long swells rolling in make the task of transferring passengers difficult and often exciting; one of the three lighters containing over 100 persons, men, women, and children, the latter varying in age from tiny infants to adolescence, was drawn to the foot of the ship's stairway, and the scramble of embarkation began. Officers stood at the foot of the stairs, and at intervals to the top, to assist the frightened and excited people; after the last one had ascended and their bundles and hand-luggage was being transferred, an extra heavy swell rolling in from the ocean, brought a corner of the heavy lighter down upon the broad base of the stairway, snapping off a section of it as easily as one would break a dry twig, throwing one man and some baggage into the water. Here was indeed a bad situation—the stairway useless, and still about 200 persons to be gotten into the steamer; the night dark, and the time 10 p. m.; to add to the discomfort of those still crowded in the remaining two lighters, many became seasick from the constant rise and fall in the heavy swell, and fear crept in at the sight of the broken stairway, and the smooth, high side which towered above them so inaccessible from their location at sea level. Growing excitement prevailed in the lighters; many were vomiting and coughing in their illness, others were prostrated by it and by the paralyzing fear of their strange situation; women were weeping and wailing, men were chattering with great earnestness and rapidly, gesticulating wildly, and calling loudly in unintelligible lingo; children bawled in their fright, and the barges continued to pitch and roll, while embarkation was at a standstill.

Finally after what seemed an interminable delay, an iron door was swung open about amidship and a rope ladder was let down nearly to the water—a narrow plank staging was hurriedly put together and lowered to within a few feet of the sea so that two of the crew could find a foothold there and assist the people struggling to climb the flexible, swaying rope ladder; many of the women were so weak from illness and fear that they were literally hauled up and alighted with little or no consideration for their sex or conditions; children were passed up from hand to hand by the crew, dropping under garments, etc., as they progressed, many of the younger arriving at the top practically naked. The greater part of the entire concourse had arrayed themselves in their best clothing and finery in consideration of the great event in their lives, and but little of the apparel escaped serious damage from the dirty barges, and the fouling by seasickness; the loss of the use of the stairway and consequent rough handling added the finishing touches to a general state of ruin of clothing, and mutilation and loss of hand luggage.

One family was refused passage and sent back to town; the father was crippled, the mother enfeebled, and three of the five children were tubercular.

No one witnessing such a scene as I have described, could fail to feel anything but genuine pity for these poor travelers when all was over.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

THE INSIDE STORY

Down at the gas plant these warm days our faithful employees are stoking the white hot fires and taking the ashes, dirt and soot out of coal in order that you may have a clean fuel service in your home.

Gas has been called coal with a college education. The fellows engaged in the educational work are the loyal men at the plant who are doing for you everything you would have to do for yourself were gas service to stop.

The product that comes to you without fuss or worry is the cleanest fuel on earth, made so by more than a century of engineering research, study and application. The story of its development into a dependable service on tap at all hours, is one of the greatest romances yet to be told by man.

"If It's Done With Heat, You Can Do It Better With Gas."

Leaving their native island home for the first time, and seeking to improve their condition by emigration to an unknown country 5000 miles away, strangers in a strange land, was a sufficiently trying experience even under favorable circumstances; but when the very first step was so fraught with terrible experiences and loss of property, their courage and optimism must surely have been subjected to the "acid test." In what a state of confusion and damage must their chattels been in. Tossed into the ship ad libitum; broken bundles, busted valises, and some of it lost entirely by falling overboard.

It was 12:30 a. m. before the third and last lighter had been emptied and we then retired for the night, but I doubt if any sleep visited the steerage that night; before I slept (about 1 a. m.) the ship began to move and we were off for Colon and the Panama Canal, about 800 miles distant.

Today (Sunday) is perfect in weather conditions, as all have been since leaving Baltimore. Our course is Southwest with a following North-east trade wind, which is of little benefit as a cooling influence because the speed of the ship is practically equal to that of the wind, and our flags hang limp and almost motionless, but this favorable wind is somewhat of an aid to the vessel's speed and in the 24 hours last posted we had made 401 miles, an average rate of nearly 17 miles an hour.

We are now all well acquainted and the days are passing quietly but pleasantly in reading, writing, conversation, deck games, etc.; many use the swimming tank which is filled each morning with fresh Caribbean water. In the evening there is music, dancing and "movies."

My next letter will be written after passing thru the Canal, and I will try to give some interesting items of our experiences supplemented by such facts and figures as I can gather.

Had Literal Meaning

The phrase "save your bacon" arose at the time of the civil war in England, when housewives in the country had to take extraordinary precautions to save their principal provision—bacon—from soldiers on the march.

Marvelous Voice

The English word stenorion is derived from Stenor, a Greek herald who took part in the siege of Troy, and who, Homer affirms, had a voice as loud as the combined voices of 50 other men.

Violin Varnish

Bart's "The Violin and Its Maker" contains the following: "The varnish of Borzani is often fully as resonant as that of Giuseppe Guarneri or Stradivari and shows him to have been initiated in the mysteries of its manufacture. It is sometimes seen to be extremely thick, at other times but sparingly laid on; often of a deep rich red color, sometimes of a pale red and again of rich amber, so that the variation of color to be met with in Borzani's violins is considerable."

First Called South Sea

Balboa gave the name of South Sea to the Pacific when he discovered it in 1513. At the point Balboa came upon it, the Pacific forms the southern boundary of the Isthmus of Panama.

Futile Fair

Was an exchange: "Besides being a talented singer, Miss Rogers possesses a magnetic personality and a manner that is entirely free from affectation."—Boston Transcript.

Disastrous Flood

The Dayton (Ohio) flood of 1913 was, in the main, caused by a record-breaking rainfall, which was due to the meeting of three opposing air currents, one from the west, another a cold stream from the northeast, the third a warm current from the south. The flood was accentuated by the conditions of the rivers flowing through the city and also by the bursting of reservoirs in central and western Ohio. Four hundred and fifteen lives were lost, and the property losses amounted to $150,000,000.

A NEW COMMUNITY CHURCH FOR THE HIGHLANDS

$8000 Needed This Summer

A worthwhile effort of an enterprising people. The campaign for funds is progressing for the building on a fine corner lot, Kenwin road and Washington street, of an attractive and adequate House of Worship in accordance with the Gothic style, to serve at least 200 families and to stand as a monument of faith in the living God, for generations to come. The building committee has just issued its second year's report. As a document it reads good and inspires to further effort. It is a record of the happening of unusual things. During the year many friends in Winchester and elsewhere have come forward and encouraged by cheerful words and liberal gifts. This support is appreciated by those who are doing and giving all they can to towards the new enterprise.

From the accurate and carefully prepared report of the Treasurer, the following items are of interest.

An appeal was sent to the Trustees of the Old South Society of Boston, who favored the project and in return came a pledge of $5000. During the months of winter and spring several substantial checks varying from $500 to $1000 have been received. Through the kindness of Mrs. Harrison Parker and the First Church, a fine pulpit set has been offered and received as a memorial. The Sunday School of the First Church has promised $100 worth of School equipment. Negotiations with several large organizations are in progress whose replies will be made known later.

Among the various activities are the opening campaign night in October 1924, at which Mr. Samuel Usher, formerly of Winchester and now President of the Congregational Church Union of Boston and vicinity, was the chief speaker, the people pledging $1000 to the cause, quarterly reports of ten, a rummage sale, a quiet after Easter campaign and the Annual Field Day, June 27 and cooperative service rendered on July 4, etc., all of which has netted about $3600.

The present objective is to build the church only, postponing till later, the building of a much needed Parish House which is on the original plans. The Church proper is to cost $40,000 of which amount through gifts, pledges and reasonable expectations there is now in sight $32,000 leaving only $8000 to secure before starting building operations.

Before another year rolls around the residents of the Highlands expect to witness the ceremonies of turning the first sod and the laying of the cornerstone of their new church. Therefore, in behalf of the residents and members of the congregation and the building committee, all of whom have labored so faithfully in conducting this campaign from the beginning two years ago, never losing faith, nor wavering, the Pastor at the Highlands is now ready to interview any interested person who wants to share with a deserving and loyal people the joy of such unselfish service. $8000 is needed this summer to bring to completion the present plans.

Rev. John E. Whitley
Pastor at the Highlands
507 Washington Street
August 1, 1925.

Miss Hazel McKenzie is leaving Saturday for Buffalo, N. Y., where she will visit her uncle. A feature of the visit will be the fact that neither one has ever seen the other. Miss Isabel McKenzie is attending the W. I. C. Camp at Vineyard Haven.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The eighth annual Troop One Boy Scout Camp closed last week at Rockport.

Nine scouts, Dana Kelly, Kenneth Kingston, Frank Kelly, Robert Livingston, Francis Montague, Linwood Brown, Stanley Roberts, John Robinson, Bobby Smith (with Buddy Smith as a baseball scout) were there.

All the scouts were second class or over, the first time such a high standard group has been at the camp.

The swimming was great due to unusually warm water and larger waves. John Robinson caught the first fish and also appeared with a sketch map that will be framed and preserved as a standard for the Troop.

All the boys made progress in their scout work, so that Linwood Brown, Kenneth Kingston, John Robinson and Stanley Roberts have but a few tests to pass in order to become full first class scouts.

The usual baseball series with the Rockport teams was unusually successful. Out of four games the scouts won three, and the remaining game which was protested was a win for the scouts according to the published baseball rules.

Francis Montague and Buddy Smith led the batting with an average of .500 or over with Dana and Frank Kelly following closely.

A TIP TO MUG HUNTERS

Two Irishmen were discussing athletics. Said Pat: "Did ye ever meet me brother Michael? He's a broth of a boy at running! He won a gold medal at Kilkenny last week in the half mile race."

Said Mike, racking his brains for some family exploit to better Pat's effort: "Well, shure that's fine about ye brother, but did I ever tell ye about me Uncle Dinis? It's a great man he is."

"I don't remember ever hearin' of him," replied Pat.

"Well, then," said Mike, "he's got a gold medal for a five-mile race, one for a ten-mile race, a set of carvers for a cyclin' race, a silver medal for swimmin', two cups for wrestling and badges for boxing and rowing and a gold medal for hurlin'."

"Belad, he must be a wonderful athlete," acknowledged Pat admiringly.

"Shure, an' he's no athlete at all," chuckled Mike, "he keeps a pawnshop."

WON "FISH CLASS" SUNDAY SERIES

Harry Worcester Jr., "Skate" won the deciding race in the first Sunday series for the "Fish Class" at the Annisquam Yacht Club, off Gloucester, last Sunday, coming from behind near the end of the race to win by a comfortable margin in 1:41:15, one minute and 50 seconds under the second boat, which in turn had only a five second advantage of the third. There was considerable interest displayed in the race.

BIRTHS

Twin sons, Robert and Richard, were born July 18 to Mr. and Mrs. Orazio Vozzello of 17 Spruce street. Mr. and Mrs. John J. McGoldrick of 54 Salem street are the parents of a son, Edward.

A daughter, Janice Elizabeth, was born on the 18th to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Hartwell of Salisbury road. Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Powers of 31 Canal street are the parents of a daughter, Emily Ruth, born Tuesday.

The Small Shoppe. We have made a final reduction on all summer silk dresses to $10 and $12.50, fancy crepes included. 532 Main street, tel. Win. 1848.

TAX RATE $28.00 Raise of $1.10 in Winchester This Year

At a special meeting of the Board of Assessors held yesterday afternoon the tax rate for 1925 was set at $28. This is an increase of $1.10 over last year's rate of $26.90.

Winchester's valuation has been raised over a million dollars this year, the actual amount of the raise being $1,326,450. This raises the total valuation of the town to $26,293,900. The increase in town appropriations this year over last was $31,276.55.

McGINN-HANLON

Miss Elena Nora Hanlon of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hanlon of 27 Garfield avenue, was married on Wednesday evening at St. Mary's rectory by Rev. Joseph H. Fitzgibbons to Mr. Edward Luke McGinn of Woburn. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock, the couple being attended by Miss Alice K. Hanlon, sister of the bride, and Mr. Edward Kenney of Woburn. The bridesmaids and matrons were Miss Loretta McGinn of Woburn, Mrs. Teresa Roche of Arlington, Mrs. Evelyn Hanlon of Cambridge and Miss Betty Costello of this town.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white georgette, trimmed with dutch lace. Her veil was of tulle and she wore a coronet of orange blossoms. The maid of honor was dressed in peach taffeta trimmed with silver lace. She carried a bouquet of Orphelia roses. The bridesmaids wore rainbow georgette dresses and carried old fashioned bouquets.

A reception followed the ceremony, being held at the home of the bride's parents. Decorations of palms and cut flowers made a fitting setting for the bridal party in receiving, they being assisted by the parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McGinn, parents of the groom.

They are now enjoying a motor trip through the northern New England states, and upon their return will make their home in Woburn.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES

Donations to the hospital are always deeply appreciated, not only for their intrinsic value, but for the spirit of thoughtfulness and interest which prompts the gift. During July the following donations have been received: Books from Miss Sawyer, Miss Mason and Miss Hill; towels, handkerchiefs, crutches and bottles, Mrs. Grafton Abbott; a valuable book entitled "American Homeopathy in the Great War" from Dr. Emery, and a beautiful new wool-bunting flag from Mrs. D. N. Skillings.

The superintendent, Miss McKaye goes for the month of August to her home in Upper Melbourn, Canada. Miss Urquhart, head nurse, being in charge during her absence. Miss Hayer, the surgical nurse, and Mrs. Gormley, visiting nurse, return to duty today.

Among the student nurses, Miss Williams is to have two weeks in Nova Scotia, Miss Conley also goes on Saturday. Miss Bangs, who has been ill, is now granted a three weeks' rest, and Miss Shannessy is returning from her vacation.

During the past week six births have been recorded.

Work is starting on the new building for laundry and heating plant.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

The Crystal Fount A. A. of Woburn will be here tomorrow for a game. We were booked with another team but through a misunderstanding it will not be here. The team from Woburn is equally if not better than the team we had in the game waged with them.

Among the backing of the 300 members of the Woburn Lodge of Odd Fellows and has played most of its games away from home with Rockport, Beverly, Danvers, Wakefield, Wellesley, Belmont and teams of such calibre. It has just issued a challenge to any team in Woburn, but up to the present the managers have seen fit to fight shy of it. The team has Branton of Salem pitching who was with the Twilight League of Malden for a time. Cummings of Malden is the catcher. Manager Johnson promises the Winchester fans a lively afternoon and with his large following from Woburn, fireworks may be expected. The local team will be about the same as last Saturday. This will be an opportunity for the Winchester Odd Fellows to see their brothers play ball.

NOTICE

The People's Fish Market has moved from 540 Main street around the corner to 6 Thompson street.

BERNARD R. MOULTON
Swimming instructor at Sandy Beach

SWIMMING CLASSES START AT SANDY

Announcement was made this week of the opening of swimming classes at Sandy Beach at Mystic Lake to be conducted through next week under the auspices of the Massachusetts Humane Society. Bernard R. Moulton of the Society will be in charge and give the lessons during the week of August 3.

In the last ten years there have been 38,423 deaths from drowning in the United States. The Society is conducting a campaign to teach every child how to swim and obtain confidence in the water in an effort to reduce this number of needless deaths.

The classes will be conducted next week are free. There will be no charge to those who desire the lessons, which are especially for beginners.

Classes will start at 2, 3 and 4 p. m., every afternoon during the week. Join these classes if you do not know how to swim and you will receive pleasure with profit.

Applicants should sign up at the bath house at Sandy or give their names to "Bill" Murray, senior life-guard at the beach.

MOORE-OKERHOLM

A wedding of local interest was celebrated Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Holy Family Rectory of Rockland, when Miss Alice Okerholm of Rockland, formerly of Woburn, was united in marriage to Edward P. Moore, son of Mrs. Susan Moore of 4 Pond street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Manning of the Church of the Holy Family.

The bride was attended by Miss Edith Kane of this town as bridesmaid and Albert Lawton also of this town, acted as best man. The bride was charming in a gown of turquoise blue georgette with a white picture hat. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was attired in a gown of pink flowered chiffon with a picture hat of the same shade and she carried sweet peas.

After the ceremony a reception was tendered to the intimate friends and relatives of the couple at the home of Mrs. Katherine Burke of 216 Green street, Rockland. A wedding supper was served and entertainment of a musical nature enjoyed. After a short wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be at home to their many friends at 7 Grove street, Woburn.

Mr. Moore is well known in both Winchester and Woburn and is very popular in both places, and his bride, who was a member of the Class of 1924 of St. Charles High School before taking up residence in Rockland, was also an ever-popular member of Woburn social circles.

FLAGS HALF-MAST FOR BRYAN

Several of the storekeepers about the centre have had erected some of the so-called sidewalk flags, they being flown to the breeze on Tuesday afternoon. As they were all at half-mast, their appearance gave rise to numerous rumors and many conjectures as to who was dead. The flags were half-mast in honor of the memory of William Jennings Bryan. These flags have been erected by ex-soldiers. They are placed in holes at the edge of the sidewalks. There has been considerable question regarding their erection, and it is understood that this town, in common with others, has taken a neutral position, neither issuing a permit nor forbidding them. The question of liability seems to be the stumbling block, and so far as can be learned the owners of the buildings are liable in case of accident.

Dr. J. C. Hinds will spend the month of August at Vergennes, Vt.

RESOLUTION UPON THE DEATH OF MRS. JOSHUA COIT

The Winchester Visiting Nurse Association with deep sorrow, and a profound sense of loss records the death of Mary L. Coit, its first president, and hereby expresses its gratitude and appreciation of her long faithful service.

Everyone who has worked with her has experienced the inspiration which comes from one who has a vision of the future, and who, with buoyancy, cheer, and a never-wavering faith makes her dreams become realities.

Her deep ability, her deep interest in all forward movements for humanity, her wisdom and patience, and above all her self-sacrificing devotion have endeared her to all her associates, and have truly made a very positive and permanent contribution to the development of our association and hospital.

"Bright stars of Faith and Hope, her eyes Shall shine for us through all the years. For all her life was Love, and tears Touch not the love that never dies."

And death itself, to her, was but The light opening of the door That had been opening more and more Through all her life, and never was shut— And never shall be shut. She left The dearer things you and me And looking after her we see The glory shining through the rift."

Voted that these resolutions be spread upon the records, that copies be sent to Mrs. Coit's sons, and to the Winchester Star.

MRS. TIMOTHY CALLAHAN

Mrs. Rose E. Callahan, wife of Mr. Timothy Callahan of 19 Oak street, passed away at her home on Monday after an illness of several months. She was 59 years of age and was a native of Ireland, having resided here for over 30 years. She was widely known and leaves a host of friends.

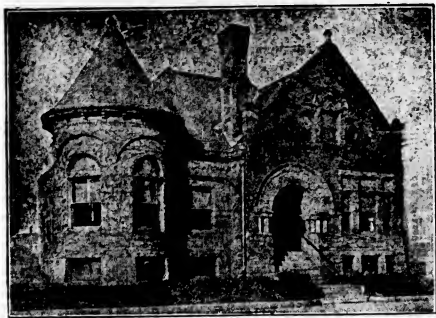

Mrs. Callahan leaves her husband and seven children: Bernard F. Callahan, a prominent Woburn and Stoneham merchant; James E., Timothy II, John, Edward and Joseph, and Mrs. John Styles. She also leaves three brothers, Daniel Haggerty of Chelsea, James Haggerty of Everett and William Haggerty of Charlestown, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Farron of Somerville. Ten grandchildren also survive her.

High Mass of Requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's Church on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of the church. Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons was deacon and Rev. Fr. Moynihan of Stoneham sub-deacon. Thomas Drohan and Walter Donaghy acted as assistants. The pall bearers were the three brothers of the deceased, Daniel, James and William Haggerty, two nephews, Bernard and Daniel Haggerty of Everett and Assist. Chief John Gorman of the local fire department. The burial was in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery.

A party of nine prominent business men of Great Britain, all Rotarians, were entertained by the Boston Rotary Club, of which President Arthur T. Downer of the Winchester Laundry is the head, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The program for the visitors, which included visits to places of scenic and historic interest about Boston, was in charge of Mr. Alfred P. Marchant of Rangleys.

NEW PLANE ENGINE INDUSTRY IS FORMED

Winchester Boy Heads $2,000,000 Corporation at Hartford, Conn.

The Pratt & Whitney Manufacturing Company announced Wednesday the organization of a subsidiary company, to be located in Hartford and owned jointly by the Pratt & Whitney Company and experienced personnel of the aeronautical industry and other manufacturing interests, for the designing and manufacturing of aeronautical engines. Offices and factories formerly occupied by the Pratt & Whitney Company on Capitol avenue, and now owned by the Pratt & Whitney Company, will be used by the new company which made application Wednesday for incorporation under the laws of the State of Delaware. The corporation papers provide for the issuance of $2,000,000 of preferred stock with a par value of $100, and of 20,000 shares of common stock with no par value.

The officers of the company are: President, Fred B. Rentschler; Vice-President, George J. Mead and Secretary and Treasurer, E. L. Morgan.

Pope Plant Being Renovated

The Pope plant, which has been vacant since the World War, is now being renovated and equipped with Pratt & Whitney's machines, and it is anticipated that the actual designing and engineering work will be commenced the early part of next month. All of the work for the next six months will be largely engineering work, and will be done by skilled mechanics whom the officers of the company are bringing to Hartford, according to Clayton H. Dart, general manager of the Pratt & Whitney Company who made the announcement. The company has made no plans, Mr. Dart said, for increasing its personnel in the near future, as the manufacturing of the engine will probably not be started for almost a year.

The engineering work will be directed by Mr. Mead, whose previous experiences includes positions as experimental engineer of the Simplex Automobile Company, experimental engineer with the Wright-Martin Aircraft through the period of manufacture of the French-Hispano aeronautical engine during the war, engineer in charge of power plants for the Army Air Service at McCook Field, Ohio, and chief engineer of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation of New Jersey for the past five years. His work includes the development of successful types of airplane engines—both for military and commercial service.

Reason Hartford Was Chosen

After careful consideration, Hartford was chosen for the location of the enterprise due to the splendid manufacturing conditions of this section, according to the announcement. The resources of the Pratt & Whitney plant and organization and its reputation for the development and manufacture of the highest grade machinery can be utilized to exceptional advantage in the specialized and exacting field of aeronautical engines, it is pointed out.

But it was Hartford's flying field and natural landing place for hydroplanes in the Connecticut river that finally decided the concern to locate in Hartford. "Hartford might well be proud of its foresight in developing the natural landing place it has in the south end of the city," Mr. Rentschler said yesterday. "Of course the engine is the most essential part of aviation in general, but it is the great lack of landing places that has been a serious draw-back in the promotion of both military and commercial flying."

To Feature Military Work
The development of airplane engines by the new company will be solely for military work at the present time, the officials stated. The company will not enter the commercial field immediately, since it is not sure that the time has yet arrived for commercial transportation by air. But the officials were unanimous in the feeling that that time is not far distant. "Were it not for the absence of emergency landing fields," Mr. Rentschler said, "we would anticipate commercial transportation by air to become an actuality almost over-night."

THE LITTLE HOME PAPER

The little home paper comes to me, As badly printed as it can be; It's ungrammatical, cheap, absurd. Yet how I love each intimate word! For here and I in the morning town, Where the sad, mad people rush up and down, And it's good to get back to the old hot place, And gossip and smile for a little space.

The weather is hot, the corn crop's good; They've had a picnic in Shodor's Wood. And Aunt Maria was sick last week; The Morrison's got a swollen cheek; And the Sudois was hurt in a runaway— More shocked than I could say, I'm glad they say. Bert Wells I used to play ball with him; He was working a farm with his Uncle Jim.

The Red Cross ladies gave a tea, And raised quite a bit. Old Sol Macree Has sold his house on Lincoln Road— He couldn't carry it like a load. The Methodist minister has a call. From a wealthy parish near St. Paul. And old Herb Sweet is married at last; He was forty-two. How the years rush past. — Charles Hanson Towne

Mr. Arnold Whittaker, vice president of the Massachusetts Trust Company with his family, have returned from a week's auto tour which took them as far as St. Andrew's, N. B., on their way back they stopped at Bar Harbor for a few days. During the Roxall convention in Boston last week, Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker were guests of Louis K. Liggett.

"ROSE-MARIE"

"Rose-Marie" Now Moved to Majestic Theatre

Official notice having been served that the Shubert Theatre be vacated for facade alterations in line with the widening of Tremont street, from Stuart to Arlington streets, "Rose-Marie" has moved without loss of a performance to the Majestic Theatre (Boston). It is planned to complete work on the Shubert Theatre front by Sept. 7, when the house will reopen with a reigning musical attraction. "Rose-Marie," with remarkably advance sale at present of $18,000, has indeed negotiated a wonderful engagement at the Shubert Theatre, a run which in box office takings, attendance and duration of popularity, completely overshadows all previous records at that house.

"Today," declared Mr. Hammerstein, "the American theatregoer demands melody, but it must be gracefully interpreted. It does not require an alert musical ear to detect the lack of intelligent, sprightly orchestration; the sophisticated theatregoer has a feeling for quality in music, even though unable to analyze that feeling. He is a critic, nevertheless, by absorption rather than by education."

"Of course, all theatregoers demand the first function of the theatre—entertainment—and all expensive scenery and draperies, overpaid and underpaid companies, do not cover up the bare fact that the entertainment is dull for lack of humor and good music. This analysis of current conditions of the spectacle branch of the theatre, to me, means a reversion of the type. The revue and broad musical comedy are receding. Today the plot is the thing in musical production, just as it always has been and always will be."

"MY GIRL"

The Snappiest Musical Play in U. S. A. Comes to Wilbur Theatre, Boston

Boston's theatrical season of 1925-26 will open auspiciously on Monday evening, Aug. 3, when "My Girl," the snappiest musical farce which concludes its ten months' run at the Vanderbilt Theatre, New York, opens at the Wilbur Theatre.

"My Girl" is a musical comedy of distinction in that it depends on a smart plot, speedy dancing, a crack jazz organization and farce humor. Its appeal, Harlan Thompson wrote the book, and Harry Archer the music, the same Thompson and Archer whose "Little Jessie James" of last season was a refreshing novelty.

Several of the "Little Jessie James" cast are in "My Girl." Frances Upton is the dancing star. Roger Gray is the chief comedian and among the specialty dancers are Amy Kelly, Barbara Grace and Marcella Kove, not to mention the irrepressible Lucia Mendez, star chorister of 1925.

The Archer jazz band which enlivens the course of "My Girl" is Mr. Archer's own organization, the same band which introduced such hits as "I Love You" last season and "You and I," "Desert Isle," "Rainbow of Jazz," and half a dozen other hits from "My Girl" this year.

In the cast, in addition to those mentioned, are Edna Morn, Jayne Auburn, Margaret Armstrong, Harriet Ross, George Sweet, Jo Wagstaff,

Patrick Rafferty, Harry Keenan, and the famous Vanderbilt Girls. FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Soldier and Sailor Welfare Committee report their work at the Chelsea Naval Hospital and the Veterans' Hospital at West Roxbury continues during the summer months through the kindness and interest of many friends. A car has gone to each hospital every week taking out four to six men for delightful rides. We are indebted to the following persons for help in this branch of the work. Mrs. Harold Simon, Mrs. F. W. Aseltine, Mrs. S. M. Carter, Mrs. A. S. Kilron, Mrs. W. A. Knowland and Miss Elsie Enman. So many members of the Fortnightly Club being away a special appeal was made to Mr. Fred Clement, Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks, who has driven his own car and obtained other drivers to assist in this work.

Entertainment and flowers were carried to the wards by the visiting committee. A special request came for bridge scores and were supplied by the Winchester Laundry. Mrs. Herbert Randall sent a most welcome gift of candy, and Mr. Patrick McGuire a generous supply of cigars and useful articles.

To continue this work we need the co-operation of all Winchester people. Anyone desiring to help please phone the chairman of this committee Mrs. Charles Hoeg, 0855-R.

Frank Vallyly and Charles McGowan of the local P. O. started on their vacation last week. Mr. McGowan will spend his at Sandwich, N. H. and Mr. Vallyly will be a constant attendant at the big league games in Boston as is his usual custom.

Here is the best pointer anyone can give you: SAVE.

We all travel down the same pathway in life. With the passing of the years, our earning power grows less. Poverty stands always ready to clutch us UNLESS we provide for the situation in ADVANCE.

Nobody holds a reserved seat in life's performance. Each person is subject to the same laws. Chance rarely plays but a small part.

Fact is: you can't afford the inevitable by DRIFTING. You must prepare by saving a part of your income OR you must suffer the usual consequences.

It may be hard to save now but it will be a lot harder just to live, when you have passed the warm roundly of life. There is but one sensible conclusion: SAVE.

THIS MAN A BRAVE "SUCKER"

Texas Spent Four Years Running Down the Crooks Who Had Swindled Him.

A man who should be struck in honor of the Texas man who spent four years running down a gang of crooks who had defrauded him. Besides showing unusual bravery—unusual for the man who has been a sucker—he rendered conspicuous public service, says the Milwaukee Journal.

Estimates say that the American public pays a toll of $1,000,000,000 a year to swindlers who use the mails to defraud. Then there are the fake stock schemes, the fake land selling and all other ways of separating a man from his money. The tribute to the thieves goes on despite the best efforts of the post office and the better business bureaus. For the lure of the chameleon, the offer of home employment in a field where the victim has no training and the chance to get wealth in the oil fields seems about as strong as the lure of the bait for an inquisitive unsuspicious.

The confidence man is aided by that trait in human nature which makes a victim look to admit that he has been a sucker. He is more likely to promise himself that he will win next time and pocket his loss. Many swindlers aim at collecting small sums only, on the theory that the loser will not make a row. But there is sense in the request of the Post Office department that every man lost by such schemes be reported, even though it be but 10 cents. If all who were defrauded went after the confidence man resolutely enough he would find things too lively for his prosperity.

FINDER OF THE MAGIC RING

Story of Gyges and His Romantic Rise to the Throne of Lydia.

Gyges, king of Lydia about 687 to 657 B. C., was, according to story, a shepherd. One day he found a ring which made the wearer invisible, on the body of a man discovered inside a broken horse.

The then king boasted of his queen's beauty to Gyges and surreptitiously introduced him into her chamber to convince him, says the Detroit News. Judgment at the propriety, the queen later sent for Gyges and gave him the choice of killing her husband and marrying her or of being himself murdered. Naturally Gyges chose the former alternative and, with the aid of the magic ring, he was enabled to enter the king's chamber unseen and to slay him.

Another version of the story says that Gyges fell in love with the queen and the king sentenced Gyges to death. The latter, under the king on the night before the day set for his own execution and seized the throne and married the queen.

Few Faced the Firing Squad.

Out of the many millions of men which comprised the British army during the late war only 346 officers and men so failed in their duty as to justify their execution by the firing squad.

Three British officers were shot—two for desertion and one for murder. One man was sentenced to death three times, each time for desertion. He was reprieved, but he could not stand the weight of blood and mud of the trenches so he deserted again and the third time he was shot.

Forty other men, after being sentenced to death, were reprieved only to offend again and be shot. In 263 cases the offense against the military code was desertion, though 37 men were executed for murder. Eighteen were shot for cowardice, three for mutiny and two for sleeping on duty. In all, 3,680 deaths were passed.

Both Tunes and Words.

A young fellow was trying hard to explain to the saleslady what he wanted.

"Now, haven't you this song? It goes zing-zing, zum-zum, zang-zang. You know."

And the saleslady was trying very hard to follow him.

"Sorry," said the saleslady, "but I don't seem to recognize the tune. What are the words?"

"Those are the words."

She Was Dead.

"Why, Mr. Herring; where is your grammar?"

"She's dead, ma'am, over a year last May,"-our Navy.

Norse Essay on the Frog.

A classic essay lately immortalized in type is about frogs and was written by a young Norwegian. The essay runs:

"What a wonderful life the frog are!" When he stand he sit, almost. When he hop he fly, almost. He ain't got no sense, hardly. He ain't got no tail hardly; either when he sit he sit so hard he ain't got, almost."

Wanted Chance to Speak.

Old Jones—Perhaps, my dear, she wasn't yawning—she might have wanted to say something.—London Answers.

Milk Easily Delivered.

The milkman at Nome, Alaska, does not worry about spilling his milk. He curls from house to house and delivers a block of frozen reindeer milk or cream equal to a pint or a quart. A while cold frozen into the block of milk serves as a handle to facilitate delivering. The backs of milk and cream are wrapped in oil paper and look like ice cream. As long as it remains frozen there is no deterioration in the quantity or quality.

Model Husband

The male ostrich is very domestic in his tastes. When he marries he marries for life. The ostrich makes his primitive nest with but little trouble. He lies on his breast and kicks the sand out backward and sideways, thus scooping out a saucer-shaped hole in the sand about four feet in diameter and ten inches deep in the center. In this the female deposits her eggs, usually about 10 to 15. One egg is laid every alternate day. An ostrich egg weighs between three and four pounds and contains as much food as two or three dozen ordinary eggs. It is said that 30 minutes are required to set both them. Incubation takes from 40 to 42 days, the male and the female sitting on the nest alternately. The eggs are regularly turned and are covered with sand and left during the day.

The Lowly Potato

It seems rather strange that the Irish potato, which is now such a common article of diet the world over, was once a pilgrim and a stranger, so to speak. When it was introduced into Europe in the seventeenth century it encountered bitter prejudice and had a hard struggle to reach popularity. Many people refused to eat potatoes even in time of famine; and at one time some farmers rejected potato soup, saying: "We will not eat this waxy stuff, that affords no nourishment; we will not be fed on meal and chopped potatoes like hogs." By 1783, however, it had become "a constant outstanding dish at every meal except breakfast, at the tables of the rich as well as of the poor."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

All Plants Need Light

All plants require some light. Sunlight supplies the energy which causes chemical reactions to take place inside the leaves. These reactions convert the raw food elements into the food elements available to the plant, says Nature Magazine. Therefore, such sun-loving plants as geraniums, roses and azaleas, when set away in a dark corner, do not thrive so well as when placed in a sunny window. On the other hand, plants which like a mild amount of sunlight, and this includes palms, aspidistras, ferns and many of the vines, do not thrive if put in a sunny location.

Euphemistic

Mrs. Newrich—"You've traced my family back to great-grandfather. How did he die?"

Genealogist—Well—he died of apoplexy, superinduced by penitential flagellation.

Mrs. Newrich—Oh, that sounds so aristocratic. Please write it down. I must tell my lady friends.

Genealogist—I don't think I would, madam. To tell the truth, it means that he was hanged.—Boston Transcript.

Leisurely Russians

No Russian "zavoshchik" or driver will ever wish to horse to make him jog along a little more briskly. No matter how important your appointment, you cannot make him understand that it is necessary to hurry. You must take your time and you will get there in a pleasant, leisurely fashion. Such is the way in Russia.—National Geographic Magazine.

Most People of Siam Pass Lives on Boats

The ordinary Siamese citizen may be said to possess a house at all.

He lives with his wife and naked babies on a boat in a canal, writes Lyman Bryson, in the Atlantic Monthly. Costumes are adapted to water living, and a people addicted to bathing run slip off their front porches, that is, their front decks, into water at any hour of the day or night.

Along the shores are the gilded, glittering, flame-like temple spires, and a blazing hot and dusty main street. Scattered about in compounds and palaces are the dwellings of princes, most of them in European style.

His majesty's throne room palace of Indian travail, which cost millions of dollars, began to settle in the mud when it was built hollow. It rides now in an understructure of concrete, an enormous boat which was put under it, and supports it as long as the chugging engines keep the water pumped out of the basement.

Scotch Sailor Made Immortal by Defoe

Alexander Selkirk was a Scottish sailor whose adventures furnished Defoe the basis for his immortal story of "Robinson Crusoe." Selkirk, having quarreled with his captain on one of his voyages, was left on the island of Juan Fernandez in 1704, with only his gun and ammunition, and a few other necessities of life. There he remained for more than four years, living on game, and clothing himself with the skins of goats. In 1709 he was rescued by Capt. Woodes Rogers, and became his mate. He afterwards attained the rank of lieutenant in the British navy. Defoe has often been charged with having surreptitiously taken the story of "Robinson Crusoe" from the papers of Alexander Selkirk, but the experiences of the real hero and those of the fictional one have so little in common that Defoe seems indebted for little more than the suggestion.—Kansas City Times.

"Corking Idea" Is Right

The Boston Transcript credits the following to a Texas newspaper:

"Milt Shimmer had a narrow escape yesterday. While working on his water tank his bolts slipped and he fell in. All he had to get out by was a rope, and with over-eagerness and oversight it was hard climbing. He worsened 'til he almost gave out and he desperatedly stopped, but failed to let loose the rope. In a very short time his hands froze to the rope which gave him a corking idea, he would reach as high on the rope as he could, hold a time 'til his hands would freeze to the rope, then blow his breath on the lower hand 'til it turned loose, then reach again, so finally reached the top. His feet are frozen, but he is able to be at his business."

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB AT ONSET

The American Canoe Association meet at Onset last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 24, 25 and 26, found six Winchester paddlers present: Captain Stafford Rogers, John Caldwell, Charles Sewald, John Pratt, Kenneth Pratt and Philip Hight. On account of vacations and summer excursions, Winchester Boat Club was unable to send down a war canoe of nine men, therefore by joining with Medford Boat Club which furnished three paddlers and the "Old Medford" war boat, a crew was entered.

The war canoe race undoubtedly was the feature event of all the straight-away races. The mile course started well up the bay, curved down by the head of the shore line, through a line of gaily decorated yachts, cruisers, and motor boats with the finish line off the long pier. Thousands of spectators lined the shores, crowded the piers and terraced the hillside which overlooks the bay. It was a setting truly picturesque and long to be remembered. Eight boats lined up for the start: Dedham, Samoset, Omoron Delta, Riversides, Winchester-Medford, Crescent, Lawrence and Pawtuxet. All the crews did the way to a good start. Winchester-Medford here made a mistake instead of keeping up a short quick dip for at least 40 or 50 strokes, they let right down to a long slow one at the end of 15 strokes, this allowed the Crescents, the O. D. and Dedham to draw away and soon after the Lawrence War boat fouled Winchester-Medford from the stern of "Old Medford" but the Mystic Lake boys dug on only to be hemmed in by Pawtuxet, closing in on the starboard and Riversides on the port. This allowed the three leading crews to clear away at a wide margin. The Crescents led all the way from the very start, closely followed by the Omoron Delta and Dedham was not beaten by much. The Samosets were fourth, with Winchester-Medford fifth and Pawtuxet Riversides and Lawrence following in order. The last five boats were all disqualified for fouling. Winchester-Medford crew paddled as follows: John Caldwell, stroke; John Pratt, No. 2; Clifford Vaughn, No. 3; Kenneth Pratt, No. 4; "K-9" Sewald, No. 5; Charlie Vaughn, No. 6; Philip Hight, No. 7; Captain Stafford Rogers, No. 8 and Arnold Carey, helmsman.

The races on Saturday afternoon were extremely difficult by a strong westerly breeze which blew broadside to the course. Charles Sewald of Winchester and Arnold Carey of Medford went into two of the single blade half-mile races, but neither were able to qualify. A club four made up of John Caldwell, Kenneth Pratt, "K-9" Sewald and Arnold Carey attempted to "do their stuff" in the half-mile race in which over 15 club fours were entered. The course they drew led them through shoal water and for a couple of lengths the craft had to be poled along. Stroker, John Caldwell experienced much trouble in keeping his balance and although Winchester kept well up in the field it finished only a good sixth.

The water sports on Sunday drew hopeful crews (named up as follows: Vally, Maunson and Abbie Wadkins, Charles Vaughn and Cliff, Lougee, John Pratt and Phil Hight and Kay Pratt and "K-3" Sewald. There were many exciting jousts in the tilting and canoe filling contests. Sewald and Pratt led off first in the tilting against Page and Daisy of Samoset, the International champions. A couple of good jabs put "K-3" and Pratt into the "drinks." John Pratt and Phil Hight put up a good fight against the two deaf mutes from Long Island, but the Winchester boys finally succumbed. Both Medford teams also lost out. The International Champions Page and Daisy kept their title, but only after a long, tough, even battle with the deaf mutes.

Philip Hight took the second prize in the tail-end race which was run off in a men's stern breeze. None of the starters kept a straight course. The bucket canoe filling contests were interesting to watch and both Winchester "hopefuls" slipped and fell out of their boats. The single hand paddle and rescue race were too much for Winchester boys. The rougher ocean water and tide runs were a bother to Winchester men and they were not exactly at home off of the lake water. It proved a good experience for them and they still hope to make a name in canoeing circles.

Mrs. Charlene Grant Locke, Chester Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Locke, Mr. A. W. Toppa, Clarence Russell, T. Price Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. L. LeRoy Pratt were among the Winchester spectators at the races.

SHANGHAI: MIXING BUT NOT MELTING POT

Activities of Chinese agitators in Shanghai, which is, with the possible exception of Cairo, the most cosmopolitan city in the world, direct attention to the picturesque setting of this exotic hybrid of East and West, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Approaching the city from Woosung, its port on the Yangtze River, the villages, graveyards and anchored ships of all kinds become more numerous as one nears the wharves. The humdrum war of factories and cotton mills belie the real atmosphere of this metropolis of Central China. It is not until the heavy, half-sickening smell of bean-oil, incense, opium smoke and of human beings penetrates the nostrils that the true Asiatic flavor of the city is revealed.

Motor Launches and Junks
Although the quaint Kiangsu junks are rapidly disappearing, the cargo junks, sampans, and speedy slipper boats still vie with the motor launches of huge steel and wooden vessels from every port on the globe.

Shanghai, like Venice, is a city built largely upon piles sunk far into the soft black sand and saturated clay upon which the city rests along the banks of the Hwang-pu River. Huge reinforced concrete rafts are buried in this clay, and the foundations of the buildings are laid on them.

The foreign settlements are delightful, fully modern, with plenty of space, light and air, and are as clean and orderly as occidental cities. The French maintain their own concession under a government separate from that of the other 20 powers, with their own language and the "rules," "quais" and other signs typical of the homeland.

The Old and New Shanghai
In striking contrast is the old Shanghai, where most of the Chinese live. Going through the gates of the native city one passes into another century. Old temples, cramped courtyards, where flowering peonies and chrysanthemums can be glimpsed in passing, and an endless succession of narrow streets, hung with red lanterns of Chinese characters, and filthy and reeking with a thousand odors, differentiate it at once from its smaller or modern cousins but a short distance away.

A tea-house set in the middle of a stagnant pond is one of the breathing places of the old city, where sellers of jade and cheap jewelry, letter writers, fortune tellers, cobblers, menders, peddlers, jugglers, and others of Shanghai's polyglot population gather over tea-cups or chatter endlessly in high pitched voices. The Chinese theater is another native oddity. The want of scenery, the din of the orchestra, and the piercing intonations and gaudy costumes of the actors furnish a spectacle, which, while not always pleasing to Western tastes, is always colorful and unusual.

Gay Social Center
Shanghai's sobriquet, "The Paris of the East" refers more to the gaiety of its social life than to any external resemblance to the French capital. It is not nearly so picturesque as Hongkong, or that queen of Oriental beauty, Foochow. Shanghai cannot set out a thousand lanterns on a dozen hills 1500 feet up into the night, as Hongkong can, but her more intimate house and garden decorations are famous. There are lanterns everywhere, and with their non-stop ring and fallow candles they shed a perfect light.

Bubbling Well road is the Riverside Drive, the Champs Elysees, or the Ringstrasse, of the foreign settlements. Along this winding modern thoroughfare a panorama of the city's life passes in review. Once the resort of closed bourgeois and fine cars of foreign dignitaries, it now rattles with anything that can go on wheels, and the rickshaws and wheelbarrows of the natives, darning in and out among the carriages, taxis and limousines, furnish a gay and motley spectacle all day long.

Foreign Quarters Attract Chinese
Although the settlements were first laid out for foreigners alone, the Chinese have come over to them in great numbers to enjoy the protection and advantages of foreign law. Rich Chinese often retire to the new sections to enjoy their wealth in safety, or to spend it in reckless dissipation. In the foreign settlements are white man's sports of all kinds, racing, golf, tennis, shooting, house boating, swimming, etc. Good libraries, magnificent clubs, theaters, hotels of all nations, and a spirit of co-operation between the foreign nations represented have made Shanghai one of the pleasantest places to live in the Orient.

Many of the railroads leading into the central part of the country have their terminals here. Shanghai is the Chicago of China in this respect. The first railroad in China was a 12-mile stretch connecting the city with its port, Woosung. Although the tracks were torn up by reactionaries soon after they were laid, the seed was well planted, as the many lines of steel throughout the country today bear witness.

Gateway For Western Ideas

Shanghai is not only a great commercial emporium, handling nearly half the foreign trade of China, but it has also become, in recent years, one of the greatest Chinese industrial centers, with a large laboring population. Cotton and silk cocoon winding mills employ thousands of workers. In addition there are a large number of smaller factories, manufacturing matches, paper, cigarettes, fireworks, wood carvings, jewelry, etc.

Much of the occidentalization that has come to China in the past half century has filtered through Shanghai especially through the great printing establishment there which has turned out excellent translations into Chinese, of the literature and ideas of the West. Shanghai also possesses several daily newspapers, printed in both foreign and native languages.

Roach, Pantry Pest, Is Native of India

St. Francis Drake, discoverer of three hundred years ago, once took as a prize a Spanish ship loaded with spices from India. It is recorded that on that ship was a strange "black bug" which the Spaniards called a cockroach, which strictly speaking, meant "wood louse." This creature became the modern cockroach.

It was a native of India, never until that time seen in Europe. These cockroaches, which were sturdy fellows, soon to be found in dark and narrow places, and therefore happy in the holds of ships that plied the seas. Thus these arachnids of commerce have served as a means of broadcasting the cockroach, and it is found in abundance wherever man dwells. Its bones have provided suitable breeding and dwelling places for these children of the warm countries.

New species, one in America and one in Australia, were found and distributed. So have world-circling multitudes of them appeared where before there were none at all or but local tribes. This increase in the range and numbers of cockroaches is typical of the man influence in the insect world.

Important Japanese Feast

The "Feast of the Banners" as celebrated in Japan is a holiday in honor of male children, celebrated on the fifth day of the fifth month, which is now May 5. On every house that can boast of a male child is affixed a pole of bamboo, and floating therefrom are one or more gaudy fish made of paper. The exact number is determined by the number of boys in the household. The child, blowing into the mouth of the fish, inflates them and makes them writhe with a curiously lifelike motion. The fish are supposed to be carp, which in Japan are recognized symbols of health and long life. Other staffs support pennants of every color while banners lined with heraldic devices float in the wind. Boys of all ages appear in the street in gala attire, some having little sabers in their belts, some bearing on their shoulders huge swords of wood, gaily painted and decorated, and others carrying miniature banners.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

OUR AIM

THE average merchant can pick his own customers and shut up shop whenever he pleases. The gas man must be on the job at all times. Gas service must be ready every minute of the day or night. It must be ample to meet all demands. And it must be supplied to all alike.

Few services rendered the public are as intimate as this one. And few thrive as well when the contact between the maker and the user is a friendly one, helpful, kindly and sympathetic.

To gain the respect, confidence and good will of our customers is the aim of the management and employees of this company. All other objectives are dependent upon the attainment of this one.

Truth Most Important

It is more honorable to the head, as well as to the heart, to be misled by one's eagerness in the pursuit of truth, than to be safe from blundering by the contempt of it.

Early Coffee Houses

Coffee houses were places of refreshment first opened in the sixteenth century in Constantinople. In London they were, so to speak, club houses, free to all who could buy a cup; and yet each was known for its special circle of visitors, literary, scientific, religious or political. In the absence of newspapers they were a great means of spreading news and of discussing public questions. Nearly all of the middle and higher classes attended them daily, and they came to exert so powerful an influence in politics that in 1653 Charles II attempted to suppress them, but in vain.

Mr. Courtenay Gendron returned from Europe this week on the Samaria.

Mr. Bruce Guernsey Bond paid a short visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Graves of Wedge Pond road on his way to Medomak Camp, Washington, Me.

Phil Hendrick says there will be at least four duds who will try to make the rounds twice next Tuesday at Winchester in the annual father-and-son tournament.

Passants appear to be very numerous in this vicinity this year. On Wednesday, when driving her car near the Henry estate on Highland avenue, Miss Helen Hall was obliged to stop, to avoid running over five of the young birds which had decided to cross the road.

Dr. J. Churchill Hines left this morning at 4:30 (at least we suppose he did, not receiving our customary call) for Lake Champlain. He is making the trip in his car and will join Mrs. Hines for a month's rest in the Vermont mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hollins have returned from Colebrook, N. H., to their home on Symmes road.

There will be no demand collected on Poll or Water Bills if paid this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kidder of Symmes road are at Hamilton Villa, Chebeague Island, Me.

Yesterday afternoon at 4:30 a collision of automobiles occurred on Main street near the Colonial Gas Station. A Hudson speedster, owned by Wilbert Pariseau of South Lawrence and driven by Mary Atkinson of Lawrence collided with a Ford coupe operated by Helen F. Ford of Woburn. Both cars received bent mudguards. Pariseau, who was riding in his car, had neither license nor registration with him.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning as officers W. Cassidy and Harrold were patrolling their beats on the West Side they heard a crash on Cambridge street, and upon investigating found an Overland car wrecked against a pole at No. 148. The occupants of the car had left the scene.

Efforts are being made to locate them. The car was badly damaged.

HELD UP ON HIS WAY TO WINCHESTER

Albert C. Hayden, 25, on his way from Paterson, N. J., to spend his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Hayden, 8 Glenary road, was held up and robbed of his wallet, $70 and two watches, early Sunday morning near Woonsocket, R. I., by two young men whom he had given a lift.

Hayden had stopped at a lunchroom in Providence early Sunday and was escorted by two young men who asked for cigarettes and matches. Upon learning his destination they requested a lift to Boston.

About 4:30 a. m., when they were 12 miles from Providence, where the Albion road joins the Cumberland road, his passengers endeavored to mislead Hayden onto the Albion road.

Being unsuccessful, one of the boys asked to get out. When the car stopped, the other man dragged Hayden out by the arm and he was assaulted and robbed of a pocketbook containing $70, a $10 gold watch and a cheap nickel-plated watch.

His assailants escaped in his auto. Hayden flagged a passing motorist and endeavored to give chase but to no avail.

Epictetus was a Greek Stoic philosopher who lived approximately between the years 50 and 125. He was born a slave in Phrygia, banished from Rome by Domitian and taught philosophy in Ephesus. The modesty and moral earnestness of the man and simplicity of his style have made him a favorite with many not otherwise interested in the subject which he taught and of which he wrote.

K. OF C. NOTES

Another week of activity among the members of Winchester Council, K. of C., has resulted in the further development of plans for the annual autumn festival of the council which will be held on the K. of C. clubhouse grounds, Vine street, Oct. 9 and 10. Several meetings of the committees in charge of the festival have been held and reports of continued progress in the arrangement of a program for the festival have been received.

Since the council started planning for the festival scores of members have joined hands with the committee in charge in suggesting events that will be of interest to all who attend this annual get-together of the Knights and their friends.

Enthusiasm which has been running high among the council members reached its zenith last night when announcement was made of the personnel of the tug-of-war team that will represent the council in a match to be staged on the grounds one of the nights of the festival.

A team that will register close to 1000 pounds in weight and plenty of muscle and courage has been selected for the time being. This team will consist of Eugene Sullivan, captain; Charles O'Connell, Anthony Cullen, Thomas Hanley and John Creamer. Many other candidates for places on the team have been mentioned and it is believed that during the coming week another team will be picked and practice pulls will be staged, with one team to be selected from both groups, this team to represent the council.

On behalf of his team of heavyweights, Gene Sullivan has issued a challenge to any team within a radius of 50 miles of Boston. Gene doesn't want the opposing team to come from a point too far away because he says they will be so tired when his team gets through pulling them all over the lot that they will want to get home within an hour or so. It is reported that a few of the old-timers around Woburn and Medford are anxious to engage in a struggle with the local team but no formal challenge has been received by Gene Sullivan.

Another feature that will make the program of attractions at the festival will be a scooter race for the children. Winchester children seem particularly adapted to the use of the scooter and it is believed that the entry list for this event will be large.

The second of a series of whist parties being conducted to raise funds for the festival was held in the clubhouse Tuesday night with the usual large attendance. This party was in charge of Michael C. Ambrose, Alfred Laforce, Henry McMahon and Luke Glendon.

The most largely attended meeting of the council in many months was held Monday night. Many members whose interest in council work has been lagging in the past year were present and displayed a desire to take part in the festival committee work. The report of the building association was heard and favorably received.

Two members of the council entered the ranks of the beneficiaries during the past week. John Drohan was married in Arlington and Edward Moore was married at Rockland. Both are now on their wedding trips.

The committee in charge of the autumn festival announced by Grand Knight Terence D. Cullen are: Harry Ferrula, chairman; Edward Dineen, Frank Dineen, Michael C. Ambrose, Edward Boyle, William Creamer, Edward Cullen, Arthur Day, Patrick Foley, Luke B. Glendon, Patrick Kennedy, Thomas Lileoyne, Arthur King, Adela Laforce, Alfred Laforce, John Lynch, Matthew McKoon, Eugene Sullivan and Henry Murphy.

IRISH: A LANGUAGE REVIVAL

A news dispatch from Dublin stating that the Irish language has been made a compulsory subject in the Irish schools indicates a very ancient branch of the almost extinct Celtic family of languages will again take a place in international affairs, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Although written or printed Irish looks, at first glance, more like Greek or Hebrew, or some word Eastern tongue, it occupies a philological position between the Italian and Teutonic groups of the Indo-European languages, a division known as the Celtic family. The Celtic family also includes Welsh, Breton, Scottish Gaelic, Manx and Cornish, the latter extinct, and Manx, the dialect spoken on the Isle of Man, reported fast dying.

The Irish alphabet has only 18 letters, many of them similar to English characters. However, there is no J, K, Q, V, W, X, Y, nor Z. When a letter is sounded softly, with an aspiration or breath, a dot is placed over it. This dot represents an "H" following the letter. When a vowel is sounded long an accent mark is placed above it, similar in appearance to the acute accent in French.

One of the peculiarities of the spoken language is that a consonant can be sounded only with a vowel, for by itself a consonant in Irish makes nothing but a whisper. "H" is neither a vowel nor a consonant. It is a breath. "A," "O" and "U" are called broad vowels. A broad vowel makes the consonant next to it broad. "E" and "I" are slender vowels and make the consonant next to them slender.

Seven Unlucky to Defense

There was a sequence of seven in an English court recently. Seven magistrates sat on the bench, seven cases relating to the lighting of motor vehicles came before them, seven policemen gave evidence, seven letters were read admitting the charges, seven defendants were found guilty, seven each and seven minutes were required to dispose of the cases.

Kelley Holds Visitors to Five Hits
While Fanning 15—Fitzzy Homers

Winchester Town Team took its second game in a row last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, defeating the Crystal Fount A. A. of Woburn in a well played game, 7 to 4. "Mex" Kelley, on the mound for the locals, had the visitors eating from his good right hand during most of the afternoon, accounting for 15 of them on strikes while allowing a measly five hits.

The Crystals as a whole looked very good out there, and compared very favorably with the other nines to be found in the tanning city. Peterson, the visiting pitcher had one bad frame, the 5th, when three hits, including a home run, mixed up with a base on balls, a fielder's choice, and an error resulted in an even five runs, but aside from this let-down he got along fairly well though apparently having little but a slow curve.

Winchester broke the ice in the third. "Fats" Flaherty was safe at third when Lombard flubbed his throw, and both he and Gray were safe when Wade missed up the latter's attempted sacrifice. Both runners advanced on stolen bases while Cummings was striking out, but Flaherty was out at the plate on Kelley's rap to Lombard. Gray moved up on the play, and was over a moment later when Fitzgerald singled over second. The inning closed when Tansey grounded to third.

The visitors made it even Stephen in the fifth. Wade drove a pass for a starter but was forced at second when Kelley handled McIntyre's bunt in lightning fashion. McIntyre advanced on Graham's hit to left, and scored when Norris busted one to the right past third. The ball took a mean hop for Francis Tansey causing him to juggle it for a moment before making a perfect peg to the platter. But for this he would have caught the runner standing up. With a man on third Kelley put on steam and fanned Craven for the third out of the inning.

The Townies broke the tie immediately. "Touchy" Gray walked, and was safe at second when McCullough threw widely to first on Cummings' near sacrifice. Gray stole third, and Cummings ambled to second before Kelley rapped to Lombard a high bouncer on which the speedy Winchester center fielder easily scored. With Cummings on third and Kelley on second big "Happy Fitz" belted one on the first hop into the creek for a homer and a grand total of three runs. Tansey immediately singled to left and stole second, going to third on Chamberlain's hit over the middle sack. Norris tossed out Melly but Francis scored with the fifth run on the play, the frame ending when Dolan and Flaherty skied to center and left field respectively.

This gave the locals a clean five run lead, but it was quickly reduced when Woburn put over three in the seventh. Wade worked Kelley for a pass, and stole second. He advanced to third and McIntyre was safe at first when Dolan flunged the latter's grounder. Still things didn't look so tough when "Mex" fanned Graham and Peterson, but Norris proved the man of the minute by smashing a clean safety to left to score Wade and McIntyre. Norris went to second on the throw in and was over himself when Craven hit safely to right field. Lombard ended the rally by striking out.

Winchester got one back in its half of the game stanza. Chamberlain rolled to Norris and went all the way round to second when the Woburn shortstop threw into the multitude. Melly fanned but "Zip" moved along while Peterson was throwing out "Jonma" Dolan, and he scored a moment later when Flaherty's hoist was allowed to fall safely in center field. Gray's foul fly to Graham ended the inning and the scoring for the afternoon, neither team getting a man further than first during the last two frames. Kelley singled to right in the eighth but a pretty double play, Norris to Craven to Wade put the skids under Winchester's hopes.

The crowd got a laugh at Cummings' expense in the first inning. The Winchester third sacker stopped a Peterson bender with his body and was on his way to first when the visiting catcher, in attempting to toss the ball to the same station, socked him again. Evidently wanted to make him earn his passage.

Lombard, the Woburn third baseman made a nice play on "Jonma" Dolan's foul fly in the second, taking the ball on the run with his back to the plate.

Big "Fitzzy" knocked in four of Winchester's seven tallies. "Happy" surely is clicking the agate in fly style. That lazy swing of his fools plenty of the wise ones who are surprised to see the rule he gives the ball.

Heuser, the Crystals' left fielder, turned in a dandy catch on "Fats" Flaherty's foul fly in the fifth, taking the ball after a hard sprint off the river bank. Peterson on the hill for the visitors also made a worth while play on Dolan's smash in the 7th, knocking down the ball with his bare hand and getting "Jonma" at first.

Cummings, the Woburn boy, got a hand from the crowd in the third when he ran from his position at third over in front of shortstop Dolan to scoop up Craven's slow roller and peg him out at first. His speed cut off a hit.

Francis Tansey showed the fans some nifty left field play. He was placed just right for Craven's line drive in the sixth which would have made the river had it gotten away from him. His pegging to the plate was a treat to watch.

Norris, at shortstop for Woburn, is the Dartmouth freshman player. He looked very good, notwithstanding that wild chuck into the crowd. He took an unusually sweet cut at the apple.

Jim Fitzgerald saved "Jonma" Dolan a probable error in the eighth when he dug the latter's throw out of the dirt. The big boy is looking better and better around the initial cushion with every game.

That double play engineered by Norris, Craven, and Wade was one of the snappiest seen on Manchester Field in some time. It cut off what looked like a budding Winchester rally.

The Winchester management seems entitled to better support at the games than it has been getting thus far this season. With almost no exceptions good teams have appeared at Manchester Field, and the resulting games have been well worth the watching. We have seen a much larger turnout at a poorer exhibition than was last Saturday's contest. The money too has come slowly. When an automobile containing four young men isn't even productive of one two-bit piece, the fans are certainly running into the piker class.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester Town Team will meet the Woburn Independents tomorrow on Manchester Field. The team is in second in the Woburn City League and is fighting it out with the Millingtons for the Rotary Cup which will be given to the winner of the league. There is much discussion as to which is the best team in Woburn and when the Millingtons and Independents met there was nearly 2000 people at the game. The Winchester fans have seen the Scholastics and Odd Fellows in action and tomorrow the Independents will be on hand. Many fans in Woburn think the Independents have the best team there. However, Winchester can judge for themselves. Monday night the team plays Reading.

No Profit in Lost Money

The government does not actually realize any profit from paper money which is lost, even though theoretically it does. The money is still held in the treasury vaults against outstanding paper currency and unless Congress passed such a bill that this money might be taken out of the reserve fund, no actual profit would be derived.

RARE TREAT FOR MUSIC LOVERS

Music lovers of Winchester and vicinity have a rare treat in store for them through the co-operation of the entertainment committee of the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church, and the horse show committee—but before we go further, let us tell the story of how these two groups combined.

The committee from the Men's Club, made enthusiastic by the success of their programs last winter, determined to secure the finest musical talent obtainable, hire the Town Hall, and give a public concert. With the assistance of the management of Symphony Hall they obtained the services of a world famous tenor. His Winchester appearance was to be the first in America after his return from his third great European tour. When it came time to inquire about the Town Hall, the Men's Club found that the horse show committee had engaged it. Further investigation showed that this group was trying to engage the same soloist. Obviously the wise thing was to combine forces and work for the success of Winchester's greatest musical event. So now let it be told that on Friday, Nov. 13, Roland Hayes, the illustrious negro tenor, is to give a recital.

The story of Hayes' life and musical development is too long to be told here except in brief. Born of ex-slave parents, brought up in great poverty, he was discovered working in a window-weight factory where his singing had attracted the attention of an outsider. His musical progress was slow, because it was made in the face of almost unsurpassable obstacles, but success beyond his fondest dreams now attends him.

Today, the mere mention of his appearance fills Symphony Hall to the last inch of standing room. Today he is acclaimed as the only negro ever invited to sing with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Today, he is summoned by royalty to sing before them. Today, he cannot find time enough to fill all the engagements where people are anxious to hear him sing. Yet in spite of all this he never forgets his mother's warning which she called to him when he was commanded to appear before the King and Queen of England, "Remember who you are." Roland Hayes never forgets that he is a negro, but the musical ambassador of his race, striving with all humility to interpret the deeper feelings of his own people.

This notice is written not by his press agent, for he has none, but by a music lover who has watched Hayes' progress from his earliest days in Boston and who knows that a rare treat is in store for us all. The co-operating committees are Charles Hadley Watkins, R. S. Vinal, H. E. Gardner, W. R. Marshall, and P. B. Sawyer representing the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church, and of the Horse Show Committee.

King Midas in Legend

There are many legendary and historical people whose names have been incorporated in our language as descriptive of certain attributes, and King Midas is one of them. Thus to say that someone is as greedy as Midas is to say he is miserly, or has the trick of turning into gold everything he touches.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT B. U.

Among the 1050 students attending the 11th annual Boston University summer session which closes on Aug. 15, are three from Winchester.

The student body includes 202 students from the 30 states represented besides Massachusetts, and 22 students from nine foreign countries. A summer faculty of 100 is giving the approximately 200 courses open to summer students, who have come this year from as far away as California, Texas, Alabama and Tennessee.

Those enrolled from Winchester are Miss Eleanor G. Hill of 3 Hillside Avenue, Miss Irene E. Murphy of 25 Marion Street, and Miss Hazel F. Paine of 40 Lloyd Street, a student during the regular college year in the Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters. Miss Hill is taking English courses, Miss Murphy is studying educational methods and English, and Miss Paine is studying shorthand and typewriting methods.

SAUGUS, GET $100

Four men, two armed with revolvers, held up Michael J. Flynn, formerly of Middlesex street, this town, dog fancier and owner of the Broadway Kennels on the Neponset turnpike, Saugus, early yesterday morning and robbed him of $100. The two armed thugs forced Flynn to stand against a stone wall, near the kennels, while one of his companions took the money from his pocket. The robbers left the scene in a touring car in the direction of Newburyport.

TRADERS DAY PASSED QUIETLY

Traders' Day, Wednesday, was a particularly quiet day in Winchester, the "Gone for the Day" sign being hung out generally around the square. There were the usual last minute purchasers who had forgotten that the stores were to be closed all day scurrying about trying to replenish the family larder, but with the possible exception of an occasional outlying shop they experienced scant success in finding a merchant open to satisfy their wants.

There was no organized Traders' outing. For the past few years this has been the case, the merchants having preferred to spend their holiday in individual merrymaking. Several private outings were planned, and the Emblem Club enjoyed a successful trip to Salem Willows. The proposed auto excursion of Winchester Lodge of Elks and local business men was called off.

The day was unpleasant in Winchester, being sultry and oppressive. Toward noon the weather gave promise of clearing, but this hope was short lived, and early in the afternoon rain began to fall at intervals continuing into the evening. A typical "Dog Day."

Few Real Intimacies

There is a wide difference between general acquaintance and companionship. You may salute a man and exchange compliments with him daily, yet know nothing of his character, his inmost tastes and feelings.

Maple's Fine Color

A great recommendation for the red maple in your tree-planting plans lies in its all-the-year-around beauty, says the American Tree Association of Washington, which will send you tree-planting literature. Even winter does not rob this tree of its attractiveness.

Clarinet's Probable Origin

The clarinet is an old instrument. It was invented by L. C. Deumer, a German, in 1824, and has been a permanent member of the orchestra since then. It may possibly have some connection with the ancient shawm, because the "English shawm and German schalmey are closely related.

Perfect Loyalty

True loyalty consists not in bowing the knee to earthly greatness, or in heroic deeds to "glad the kindly knave, or carnal lust the lowly peasant," but in noble, generous acts of honest purpose where truth, honor, and virtue, and a nation's welfare are dearer than life.—James Ellis.

Grammatical Slips

"Educated men don't say 'don't,' remarked a great mayor of New York, now gone to rest. But they do. They did, even then. They also say 'ahnt' when they are not thinking about it, and may yet come to saying it deliberately. While they are about it, they may even take 'it's me' under their prectecting wings.—New York World.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

An evil thought does little harm, if you do not express it to listening ears.
Bronze compliments, embossed even on a tombstone, never yet thrilled human hearts like loving words in life.

How fickle some people are. A man cursed the waiter because dinner was not ready, and after it, he lighted a cigar and told funny stories for an hour.

When in doubt, lead trump, this refers to business and life as well as cards.

If your object in life is nickle chasing, your garden of thought will grow full of weeds.

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH

By W. L. Gordon

Word often misused: Don't say "from hence" or "from thence." "Hence" and "thence" mean "from here" and "from there." The use of "from" is redundant.

Often mispronounced: Culinary. The "u" is pronounced as in "duke," and not as in "cut."

Often misspelled: Pneumonia. Note the "neu."

Synonyms: Relieve, alleviate, mitigate, palliate, soothe, assuage, ally.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Emulate; to strive to equal or surpass. "We must emulate the example he has set for us."

PAID $5 FOR FIGHT AT "SANDY"

Owen Dukelin of 19 Williams street, Cambridge, appeared in court Monday morning charged with drunkenness after having been arrested by Officer Arthur Kelley of the Metropolitan District Police following a fist fight with Arthur Doten, also of 19 Williams street, at Sandy Beach on Myrtle Lake Sunday night.

What caused the trouble between the two men is not known, but there was evidence that a lively tussle had been waged before the arrival of the policeman put an end to hostilities. Officer Kelley discovered the two men evidently exhausted by their pugilistic efforts, and resting up with a view to further activity. Doten, who is 56 years of age, was found to be in need of medical attention, and was removed to the Winchester Hospital for treatment while Dukelin was taken into custody. The former was found to have received a broken rib, with possible punctured lung, as well as numerous abrasions. Dukelin was fined $5 on the drunkenness charge.

MISS GORMAN SHOWERED

Miss Annie Gorman, popular Winchester young lady, was pleasantly surprised last Wednesday evening when she was tendered a novelty shower by 50 of her friends at the home of Mrs. William A. Novell on Winchester place. Guests were present from this town as well as from Woburn, Malden, Medford and Prince Edward's Island, Can. Miss Gorman, who is to be married in the early fall, was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts. During refreshments were served by the hostess while music and games helped to round out a pleasant evening.

INTERESTING MUSICALS

Miss Therese Verlin, daughter of Mr. Louis Verlin, was hostess for an interesting musicale at the home of her father, 12 Synnare road, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Madeline Verlin, daughter-in-law of Mr. Verlin who has just returned from an extensive concert tour sang several operatic selections accompanied on the piano by Mrs. F. McGonigle of Winthrop. Flute selections were played by Dr. Robert Vance and piano solos rendered by Mrs. A. Burdette. Among the out-of-town guests were several from Winthrop, the former home of the Verlins.

It is reported that many bathers have availed themselves of the opportunity to get expert swimming instruction from the representative of the Massachusetts Humane Society who has been conducting regular courses for beginners at Sandy Beach this week.

PACKARD COMES TO WINCHESTER

An event of considerable interest to the motor public of Winchester, was the opening on last Tuesday of the Winchester branch of the Packard motor car by Mr. Victor Anderson of Malden. Mr. Anderson has made a huge success with automobiles in that city and is now devoting all his energy to the establishment here of a place which will uphold the high standard demanded by Packard sales and service.

The single six and straight eight models on display at the showrooms on Main street opposite the Gas Company's office are a delight to the eye, a fact borne out by the many prizes won by Packard for beauty of design at exhibitions in France and Italy. This is true not only of the exterior and by the graceful way in which the mass is treated, but it is also true of the interior appointments and the general blending of the component units into a harmonious whole.

The new six, both eight and six are the most advanced type of engineering on the road today. Designed and built by Packard, they give the same reliable service as do their giant brothers which tirelessly drive the huge propellers of the Shenandoah and which were built by Packard. And yet, they are the acme of simplicity and accessibility. The oil rectifier, an exclusive Packard feature and the well-known fuelizer and Packard carburetor are two of the best reasons for exceptional gasoline and oil mileage. The chassis lubricating system makes the greaseman an antique. The chassis and all points formerly greased in the arduous fashion are now lubricated by one pull of a handle. The new spring shackle mounting eliminates dangerous steering-wheel spinning on rough roads.

The Packard policy of foreseeing every need is brought out when one notices the front and rear bumpers, snubbers or shock absorbers, automatic windshield wiper, spot light, cigar lighter and ash trays, over time and wheel, winter front and rear view mirror, all standard equipment and included in the purchase price, leaving nothing to be bought later.

To complete the ideal in service, Mr. Anderson is assisted by Virginia Birgefeldt, by Messrs. T. W. Brashers and William Boyle, who were until recently with the Packard Motor Car of Boston and by Mr. Theodore Elliott of Winchester, who comes directly from the same firm. These men have had wide experience with Packard cars and Packard service and Winchester is indeed fortunate in having such an organization and such a car so well represented here.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

Over 50 members and their friends enjoyed the outing to Salem Woods last Wednesday, the bus arriving home with many of the merry-makers just in time to avoid the annual Traders' Day showers. All enjoyed the special dinner at the Chase Hotel and those who indulged in the boat trip along the North Shore more than appreciated the wonderful scenery. A bowling match staged between two of the officers resulted in the winner having to pay for the string as the loser complained that the faulty alleys were the cause of her unusually slow score. Some of the party spent considerable time at the merry-go-round, (there must have been something very attractive there to fascinate the horses) and two of the party took in the circus in Salem and were advertised as "lost, strayed, or stolen." But on the whole, the outing was a huge success and must be repeated next year, when it is hoped, the entire membership will respond. The committee in charge of the affair included Mrs. Anna W. Luchman, Mrs. Ailie E. Davidson, Mrs. May E. O'Neil, Mrs. Harriet C. Cleary, Mrs. Josephine Power and Mrs. Frances Sullivan.

A monster whist party will be given on the Club Wednesday evening, Aug. 26 in Lyceum Hall, in aid of the Elks' Field Day scheduled for Labor Day. The affair will be in charge of Mrs. Ella Halligan and her chosen assistants who are numbered among the best workers of the Club. A $5 gold piece has been donated by Mrs. Lochman, general chairman of entertainment, and loads of other whist prizes have been promised.

President Ailie E. Davidson announces a special meeting of the Club at Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening, Aug. 12 to discuss ways and means of aiding the Elks' Field Day Committee. All are urged to be present as the matter of serving refreshments on this occasion is more or less of a women's job. Of course every member of the Club is out to make a record affair of this big day.

Mr. David W. Gurney and daughter Josephine of Hingham street have returned home from a two-month tour of the Pacific Coast on which he went as far north as Vancouver.

THE POTATO: THE WORLD'S MOST IMPORTANT FOOD VEGETABLE

Ireland had a poor potato harvest last fall, and as a result parts of the island are reported to be on the verge of famine.

It takes such tragic occurrences as Ireland's food shortage to bring home to the average man the tremendous importance of the potato, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Half a dozen other countries of Europe would be in a similar plight if their potato crops failed, continues the bulletin, although a few centuries ago potatoes had not even been heard of in any of these lands.

One of America's Valuable Gifts
The potato is one of the many valuable gifts of America to the world. Most histories, busy chronicling wars and elections and perhaps inventions, fail to emphasize the introduction of the potato from America to Europe, or else maintain it quite incidentally. Economists and sociologists, however, could make a good case for the potato as the New World product which has most deeply affected life in the Old World.

When Spanish and English explorers and settlers found the potato it was grown in a desuberty sort of way along the Atlantic coast of parts of North America and the Pacific Coast of South America. It had probably spread to those regions from Peru, for it is believed to have been developed into a domestic plant in the mountain valleys of that land some thousands of years ago by pre-Inca farmers. The world did not take to the potato first either in America or Europe. Not until well after the American Revolution did it become a crop of major importance in North America; and about the time of the French Revolution a Parisian philanthropist, Parmentier, found it uphill work to induce the poor of the French metropolis to eat the tubers in free soup kitchens.

Created Agricultural Revolution

The popularity of this "apple of the earth" grew with a rush when its virtues once became known. Ireland was converted early, so much so that a knowledge of the tuber spread from that island to other European lands and it thereby acquired the misnomer, Irish potato. The potato created an agricultural revolution in northern Europe and soon became the dominant crop. It even made possible an increase in population in a number of European countries. Now it is to that part of the world that rice is the Orient. It is more truly the staple of life in large areas of the West than wheat itself. But for the potato Germany probably could not have remained in the Great War more than a year or so.

Europe has made much greater use of the potato than the land of its discovery. Approximately six billion bushels are now grown in the world each year. If this production could be brought to one place it would fill a gigantic bin ten miles long, a mile wide and 25 feet deep. If a partition were placed across such a bin at the nine mile point the potatoes in the larger compartment would represent the production of Europe and Great Britain. Seven-tenths of the potatoes in the smaller division would represent the contribution of the United States to the world crop; and the remaining three-tenths would represent those produced in the rest of the world. Germany, Russia (it had a greater acreage than Germany before the Great War), the lands that made up Austria-Hungary, and France, each produces more potatoes than the United States.

Leads Bath Rice and Wheat

One of the outstanding virtues of the potato which has made it the leading vegetable product in northern Europe and northern United States is that it grows to perfection in regions too cool and too moist for satisfactory wheat culture. Another advantage is the tremendous amount of material per acre contributed by potatoes. A hundred bushels per acre is an average yield in the United States, but in Germany the average yield is nearly twice as great. The greatest yield in any country is in the Netherlands where 140 are 250 bushels per acre are produced. Under exceptionally favorable conditions a single acre has been known to produce 600 bushels.

As a world crop the potato, the upstart vegetable from the New World has shouldered its way ahead of both rice and wheat. More pounds of potatoes are now produced than of any other single domestic vegetable product. Potatoes have won first place in the world, too, in the matter of diffusion. They have become an important crop in the temperate and cool portions of every continent—from France to Scandinavia, in Siberia, the Americas, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand.

Play Important Part in Industry

Potatoes are not alone a food vegetable. They already fill an important place in industry and undoubtedly will become more important in that field. Starch, flour, glucose, alcohol and cattle feeds are some of the important products made from potatoes. The starch finds an important function in the textile industries in sizing yarn, in sizing the woven fabrics and in thickening colors.

Germany has gone farther than any other country in the utilization of potatoes. The surplus portion of that country's billion and a half bushel crop goes to factories where the tubers are cooked, mashed into flakes and dried. The dry flakes, not unlike American corn breakfast foods in form, are sacked and kept perfectly in dry storage. The flakes may be prepared for human consumption as a vegetable, may be milled into a flour for combination with wheat in bread-making, may be incorporated into feeds for domestic animals or may be used as a basis for the preparation of alcohol or whiskey.

If it becomes profitable to drive farm machinery with alcohol it is probable that in most agricultural countries potatoes will furnish the best source of the fuel.

UNITED STATES LEADS IN TELEPHONES

There are nearly twice as many telephones in the United States as in all the rest of the world put together.

Out of a total of 24,576,121 telephones in use throughout the world on Jan. 1, 1924, there were 15,369,451 or 63 per cent, in the United States of America. Europe had 6,359,765 telephones on that date, or 26 per cent of the world's total. The remaining 2,857,902 telephones, comprising 11 per cent of the whole, were scattered throughout Asia, Africa, Oceania and the eastern Hemisphere outside of the United States.

While we had in this country one telephone for every seven people, in all other countries combined there was but one telephone for every 183 inhabitants. The telephone systems of the world showed a net growth of 1,517,291 telephones during 1923. Of these, 873,610, or well over half, were added to the telephone systems of the United States.

These figures are taken from a compilation just made public of the telephone and telegraph statistics of the world. The work of collecting authoritative data from every quarter of the globe has taken considerable time, and the published statistics therefore reflect conditions as of Jan. 1, 1924.

On that date there were 13.7 telephones for every 100 population in the United States, as compared with 3.8 in Germany, 2.5 in Great Britain, 1.5 in France and 1 in Italy. The countries approaching nearest to the American record in this respect were Canada, with 11 telephones per 100 people, and Denmark, with 8.7.

These figures take on added significance when it is recalled that most of the telephones both in Canada and in Denmark are owned and operated by private enterprise, as in the United States, while the relatively underdeveloped telephone systems of Germany, Great Britain and France are under government ownership.

The Japanese telephone service, which is also a government monopoly, showed a development of only 8 telephones per 100 population. Many thousands of telephones were destroyed in the earthquake of Sept. 1923, but even prior to that disaster Japan never attained a development of as much as one telephone for every 100 people.

This survey also shows that Americans use the telephone much oftener than Europeans. In 1923 the average American had 184.5 conversations by telephone, while the average German had 31.1, the Frenchman 20.8, the Englishman 29.4 and the Italian 9. In this respect the Scandinavians made a much better showing than other Europeans, with 123.7 telephone conversations per capita during 1923 in Denmark, 103.6 in Norway and 95.8 in Sweden, but even these figures are far behind the record of 184.5 for the United States.

Telephone development abroad is largely concentrated in the more important cities. London and Paris, for instance, each have over one-third of all the telephones in their respective countries. In comparison with American cities, however, they make a poor showing. On Jan. 1, 1924, London had 5.4 telephones for every 100 people, Paris 7 and Berlin 9.8. Stockholm was the only European capital which had attained a telephone development comparable to that of several American cities. Even Stockholm's record of 24.6 telephones per 100 people was surpassed by such cities as San Francisco with 28.8 telephones for every 100 inhabitants, Omaha with 25.3 and Minneapolis with 24.8.

New York City alone, with 1,186,573 telephones on January 1, 1924, had more telephones than the whole of Great Britain—more, in fact, than any foreign country except Germany.

Yet a comparison of the number of telephones per 100 people in large and small communities shows that in the United States the telephone facilities of the smaller cities and rural districts are much better developed than they are in any European country. Farmers' telephone lines, in fact, are extremely scarce outside of North America.

HANDS ACROSS THE CARIBBEAN

Hands across the sea, which usually means the Atlantic, has its counterpart in "Hands across the Caribbean," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

One of the recent acts of neighborliness which is helping to cement the historic friendships between the United States and Latin America, continues the bulletin, is the loan by the United States to the Republic of Chile of a public health expert, Dr. John D. Long, Assistant surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service to aid in developing Chile's recently created ministry of Hygiene.

International Conference Leads to Creation of Ministry

The ministry was created following the 5th International Conference of American States held in Santiago, Chile, in 1923, when the data presented in regard to prevention of disease and reduction of the death rate greatly interested the Chilean authorities. Later, diplomatic channels were used to request Dr. Long's services, and he was assigned by the Surgeon General, Dr. H. S. Cummings, to be a sort of American "Health Ambassador." Dr. Long has made several visits to Chile and Latin American countries in his capacity of Vice Director, an American Sanitary Bureau, and as a delegate to international conferences. He speaks Spanish fluently.

During more than 25 years of experience in the Public Health Service, Dr. Long has served as chief quarantine officer for the Philippine government. He reorganized the health service there, introduced a visiting nurse system and accomplished much in bettering water supplies by means of artesian wells, in improving sewage disposal methods, especially in the rural districts, and in initiating improvements in housing and living conditions.

The request for an expert to help build up the Chilean public health service is only one of several steps being taken by Chile toward development of its governmental agencies with the help of American specialists. The Republic recently engaged a financial and economic commission headed by Prof. Kemmerer of Princeton University to make a survey and recommendations in regard to the public finance of the country.

Famous Delhi Gardens

Laid Out by Monarch

The Kudsia Bagh or the Kudsia Gardens in Delhi, India, where tennis tournaments are held, were originally laid out in 1748 by Quirk Begum, the mother of Ahmed Shah, emperor of Delhi.

They have been well looked after, and although they cannot compare with the more ambitious pleasure grounds of the earlier Mughals, are well worth a visit. No wall adorned with serrated battlements encloses the grounds, nor is there any imposing entrance gateway which is a great feature of the larger pleasure parks.

In the center of the gardens, however, there is an old gateway. Now in a picturesque ruin, it was a writer in the Montreal Family Herald understands, the gateway to Quirk Begum's palace, of which nothing now remains. To the southeast of this gateway there is another picturesque ruin—an old mosque which, though attached to the palace, was not included in it. In many ways the mosque is the more interesting of the two monuments which give the gardens an air of bygone times.

MISS MARGARET WINN'S TALK ON CHINA

It is good to be at home again and to see your faces once more and hear real singing and worship in a quiet church; emphasis on the quiet for in China dogs and children are to be heard during the church service. I shall never forget how one Sunday we were favored with a violin solo, an unusual thing as the strings cannot stand Swatow climate, but the selection the violinist chose was "Jingle Bells."

Today I thought you would be interested just to get a glimpse of my experiences and impressions since I last saw you, almost five years ago. The train trip was interesting but a lonely one and in the big city of Chicago I felt so very strange. I was glad when I reached San Francisco and met the missionaries, Ruth Hall and Helen Ritter. The Nanking, the boat we traveled on, I cannot praise highly and I am glad to say it is no longer in use. We all three were wearily sea-sick and I could not sleep in the room assigned us as it smelt of ether; so I slept in the living room.

Fujian! I shall never forget the peak I got of it at sunset and sunrise. It is wonderful and shows God's majesty. Then dear old Japan! How the school girls entertained us as we listened to their clacking shoes. The shops of Japan are fascinating and the Imperial Palace imposing, but it was in Japan that we began to realize how terrible it was to be dumb for we tried to tell the chauffeur that we wanted to see Japanese Gardens, but he kept driving around the Imperial Palace.

Shanghai! How it surprised me for it is such an American city. This was Helen Ritter's destination. Honolulu! Never shall I forget that evening seeing the high hills rising from the water, so brilliantly illuminated. It surely looked like a place where the fairies dwelt. Honolulu is quite English but many Americans live there, too.

Swatow! At last we had reached our destination and the missionaries came out in sampan to greet us and to take us across the bay to Kachieh where the Baptist Compound is, which is also the prettiest compound in the Orient.

I shall never forget the lines of girls and women at the entrance which leads up to the Compound. I was told to greet them with a "Pheng ang" and they asked, "How does she know that?" They soon found out that that was all I could say in Chinese. But their faces were so friendly and the entrance to the compound made me feel I was entering the Garden of Eden. Really people, pictures or words cannot show the beauty of Kachieh. You will have to see it yourself.

Now for work, and it was work! It worries me to think of it. Heng Sin Se and Tang Pek Po were my first teachers. Heng Sin Se had taught the foreigners for 18 years and she was sick of her job and I cannot blame her yet it was hard for me to have her go to sleep in the absence of teaching me. She taught me three hours in the morning and used a most old-fashioned method which has since been discarded. Tang Pek Po taught me two hours in the afternoon and his pronunciation was different from Heng Sin Se's. I was given an Ashmole's Grammar, a Chinese dictionary, a Gibson's Manual and the Bible. Shall I ever forget how I struggled with my teachers and how to get things out of Chinese language? How I strained my ears and how I tried my throat in endeavoring to convert those Chinese tones that they claimed had different sounds but to me they all sounded similar. Here is a sample of my first lesson. Teacher—A a-a-a-a-a. Then I would say it, but my high tone or low tone would not be correct and she would say it again and I would repeat and so day after day the struggle would go on. It is a wonder that this teacher and I are still the best of friends. Of course I made many funny mistakes. For instance, I told the cook to put soap in the peanut boat and I told the students that I had left my black mother, or the tennis court and had lost her. The word for mother is Bo and for hat is Bo.

My first summer was spent among the hills of Thaiyong. Here I had one of the students for a teacher and we both worked hard. One day we went for a walk and at Thaiyong one must have his eyes constantly on the path as the paths are only one foot wide and if one makes a misstep, he falls into a watery and muddy rice field. By the way, several of the missionaries have had this experience and it is far from comfortable. I assure you, even if it is amusing to those who see you fall. But this day I was lost in talk with my teacher and did not notice the big grey water buffalo come near by and I put up my umbrella and how that cow did run across the field and the Chinese after her chattering and scolding. Then the crowd returned and surrounded us. They talked a different dialect from the one I was struggling over but, fortunately, my teacher knew it and when she informed the head man that I would pay for damages done, the uproar quieted and we walked on in peace, but that walk cost me 50 cents. The people in Thaiyong live on a lower plane than those in Swatow. Their homes are very filthy and the relatives intermarry. The moral tone of the whole village is poor. Every summer there are missionaries that hold services and endeavor to leave the stamp of Christianity but it is a long slow process when a people have got to go so low a degree. But how I wish you could all see the waterfalls, the rivers, the canyons and varied-shaped mountains and the wooded places of Thaiyong. Surely, God has done His best through nature to draw these people to Him. May they soon lift up their eyes unto the hills and find Him.

When I returned to Swatow, the Language Committee advised me to go to the country where I could hear only Chinese, and so to the country. The process of getting there was strenuous. Rejoice, you who live in the U. S. A., that travel is made so simple. In China one must take bed, bedding, kitchen utensils, silver, dishes, food supplies and clothing. My traveling bed consisted of two long poles, a piece of canvas and a phoe, similar to a mattress; and when I got to my destination, the boy put the poles in each side of the canvas and then put it on two wooden horses and then the pole is put on top and then the bedding and I must not forget the mosquito netting which has to hang over the bed. It is good no longer to be obliged to have a net! Everything has to be transported in lances, which are big baskets and carried on poles by coolies. One considers himself fortunate if he gets to his destination safe and sound. Getting into a Chinese steambath is a stunt in itself. It is just one push and am to get on and then when one is on, one has to walk over or step over several Chinese before one gets a place suitable to sit. The place I finally arrived at was the chapel of Pauthai, and two small rooms over the chapel I occupied for about a month. I was a real sacrificing missionary that month and I felt like a martyr. I assure you, but now I can look back on that experience as one of my most valuable, for it showed me real Chinese country life that I could have seen in no other way. Of course, I am like you in not enjoying the rats by night or being awakened early in the morning by screeching birds, but I did enjoy visiting the Chinese people and watching their daily occupations. I still have a vision of those dirty, naked children with matted hair and boils and staring eyes and their eager faces as they belied me and my postal cards. How they love postal cards, especially the red flowered ones! The Chinese so love red. The women—shall I ever forget their inquisitive faces or their questions? I pitied the Bible woman as she tried to tell the true message for they were too interested in me to listen to her words and they would break in and say, "My, she must be old for her hair is white!" And others would say, "But look at her face! It is very white and young looking. She must be about 18; she is very beautiful. Let's see married? Hasn't she any children?" Hasn't she any other home?" Now was the Bible woman's chance and she told them if I was beautiful, it was because of God and Jesus Christ, His Son, who came to save us and to make us beautiful and that they could be beautiful, too. Then she told them my family history—that I had a mother, four sisters, a brother and five nieces and three nephews and that I loved them dearly, but I loved Jesus Christ and what He had done for me, that I came to China so that they might hear about Jesus.

Sometimes one gets discouraged because one cannot see immediate results, but Christianity is so high that it takes a long time for any of us to reach it. But let me relate here the story of one of the Christian families in Pauthai that I met. Of course you know that many of the baby girls are thrown away and if a woman has no sons, she is despised by her husband. But this Christian family had five girls and then the sixth girl came and yet neither of the parents complained if that was God's will. But you can imagine my surprise two days later on visiting her and behold, two wee babies instead of one, and so she told me that the wife of one of the neighbors had died and he gave his baby boy to her and her face was just radiant for she had her boy at last. Her home was such a contrast to the others, for it was so very clean.

Christianity succeeds wherever it is accepted. The cigarette merchant won't accept Christianity, neither will the worldly wise and so it is natural that they try to make the world believe that the Chinese do not accept it, but many do, and I just wish time would permit me to tell you all about some of my Christian Chinese friends. Some of them taught me more about the kindness of Christ.

While at Pauthai I saw them threshing their rice and pounding it into flour and I also watched them make their little dough cakes which I never had the courage to eat—my excuse being a weak stomach—but I did drink their tea they offered me. They were so hospitable. I never tired of watching them, early in the morning, wend their way to market, carrying all kinds of baskets filled with varied products such as geese, fish and vegetables; and the poor pigs were roped and hung from the pole, their backs toward the ground, and they squealed most of the way. The shops were most interesting. They had no glass windows and they faced narrow, dark, muddy streets. But a lady could find many things to buy in these stores. One day I watched a Chinese chiseling a Chinese character on a tombstone and I asked him how long it took and he answered, "Two days." Oh, the patience he showed as he pounded, with a steady, slow motion, that character!

At Pauthai I also saw a Christian wedding. The bride was one of our school girls. The church was decorated with lovely red embroidered hangings and the wedding seats had red embroidered pieces over them. The minister had them put their hands on the Bible and after he married them they bowed to each other, then to their relatives and then to their friends. After that a delicious feast was served. Red flannel covered the tables. Red is the happy and festive color of China. Then, I saw a heathen Chinese funeral. The mourners looked so hideous in their sackcloth and their wails were so loud. It was so different from the Christian funeral of one of our teachers that I attended just before leaving Kachieh.

Just a word about the worship places of Pauthai. All of them are dirty and run down. The gods need painting; none of them look as attractive as the one I fixed up for you to see Thursday night.

End Johnson, another missionary, wanted me to go to Kheh Khoi with him to visit another struggling country church and I found conditions in that church worse than those at Pauthai. The spiritual life there seemed dead. Miss Johnson ministered to their bodily needs and I showed them Bible pictures and the two Chinese Bible women talked to the people. Here at Kheh Khoi I saw a heathen bride, and oh people, how my heart ached for her as she stood before me with her head bowed and I could not get her to smile or to lift her head. Poor Chinese bride. How I pity you and what you believe and what you have to stand from your mothers-in-law and husbands! The Chinese heathen girl believes that marriage is a disgrace and therefore in shame she bows her head and speaks to no one for days. One can not blame the mothers for throwing their baby girls into the river as that they may escape a life such as women have to endure there. Here we visited some of our school girls in their homes and their homes are such a contrast to the others. They took us to see how sugar is made and some day I will tell you all about it if you are interested to hear about it.

My next country experience was at Tng Lim. That was my very hardest experience, but now I look back on it as one of my most valuable. Here at Tng Lim I saw some beautiful Chinese homes as well as some very poor ones. The sewer system and smells at Tng Lim I shall never forget. Neither shall I forget the night times, being lulled to sleep by two fighting Chinese women. How they yelled at one another, and by their tones I thought they would come to blows and the result would be the death of one, but nothing like that happened as night after night they scolded each other in shrill tones. Then at midnight the barking dogs would awaken me and I would hear some one throwing pails of water at them. Here I saw so much sickness and so much evil and I visited places where they worshipped idols and ancestors. I saw Buddhist priests doing their rites and I saw, also, a large idol temple. Such faces as those idols had! There were black-faced ones and red-faced ones and red bearded, black bearded and white bearded ones. All the heathen temples are dreadful and there is nothing uplifting in any of them but, rather, they are degrading. The Baptist churches at Tng Lim and Tng Leng are more alive than the one at Kheh Khoi. On my walk to the Tng Leng church, I met many blind and lame beggars and lepers and many of them were children. At the time I was at Tng Lim they were celebrating the fire festival. They had very spectacular floats. The gods came out in very beautiful conveyances. There were several groups carrying varied colored banners and their faces were hideously made up. One float has remained in my mind more vividly than the others and it was made entirely of cigarettes. The music and everything about that Fire God Festival was horrible. Is religion like this good enough for them? I stayed two weeks at Tng Lim and I returned to Kachieh more grateful than ever for what the missionaries have accomplished.

Then in the summer I went to Kuliang and there I pegged away on the language. Here I had my first attack of malaria. Soon after that I received news of the typhoon. Thanks to Marjorie Fleming and the Chinese boys' all night labor of blocking up doors, our living quarters were not damaged. But I wish you could have seen some of the school buildings and some of the missionaries' homes. The sight would have made your heart sick. Roofs ripped off, sides of houses blown down and poor Mr. Page's fruit orchard, the work of years, practically ruined, and so many trees which beautified our compound broken down; but all this was small loss compared to the 50,000 souls that were lost and to the suffering that followed the typhoon. Out of a family of 17 only two were left. But the courage of the Chinese is amazing; they rapidly cleared away the debris and rebuilt their homes and even the broken trees seemed to recover in a short time. These trees reminded me of the phrase "If a thing die, shall it not live again?"

The last three years I have spent most of my time teaching. One term I taught arithmetic to women between 20 and 50. It was hard work, for the Chinese hate arithmetic and it comes hard to them. Then I taught English to two classes training to be Kindergarten teachers, and then I taught gymnasium to the entire class and that was the hardest of all to limber up those arms and legs that had so long been unused. I often thought the Moving Picture man would like to get a picture of those women as they struggled through Dr. Camp's setting-up exercises. Then in the Girls' School I taught several classes of English and had one Shakespeare class and finally a class in Bible. I helped in the Cradle Roll Department and gave Chapel talks to the girls every other week. I enjoyed planning those Chapel talks more than anything else, for at this time I was at liberty to speak on spiritual things. I ting the Chapel periods they profited by most were the ones where they learned a Bible verse for each letter in the alphabet. I wish you could hear them say in English: "Always be glad in the Lord," "Be of good cheer," "Come unto me," "Do not lead me into temptation," "Every word of God is pure," "Fear not for I am with you," "God is love" and so forth. I had to choose very short verses for, remember, they are Chinese students and of course each verse had to be translated for them and they also looked each verse up in their Chinese Bibles and so, in this way, they were learning English and also getting the Word of God impressed upon their minds in two languages. Some may ask the question: Why teach the Chinese English? Well, it is this way: if the Chinese want to go to college they must know English. In China there are about 200 or 300 distinct languages and no human being can be so great a linguist as to learn them all, for, believe me, one is bad enough. So the college students get their studies through the medium of English or Mandarin, the official and northern language of China. One can not help admiring Chinese women who will leave their homes and go to college where perhaps they will not meet any other Chinese who can talk their native tongue. Most of them, when they enter college, possess a poor command of English and Mandarin and yet they will struggle on and graduate from college and return to their home villages and be a power in every way.

Last summer I had the opportunity to go to Peking and on the way I stopped off at Nanking and stayed three days at Giling College, the sister college of Smith in Northampton. One of our former school girls, Alice Cheng, was going to graduate and she is a young woman to be proud of. At present she is doing splendid work at our woman's school. The women and teachers all love her. Miss Pao, who has helped me so much in my work, also graduated here. I wish you all might see the compound of Giling College. The dormitories, church and recreation buildings are built after Chinese architecture and are most attractive. The chapel is adorable with its shelled window-panes. Here again it is impossible to describe; you must see it for yourself. The bird collection that the students have themselves got and mounted is one of the best bird collections I have ever seen. But what impressed me most was the play the girl gave. It was given all in English and it was Isaiah. The whole book of Isaiah is better understood by me since seeing this play. The setting, the costuming, the English pronunciation, all were excellent and showed hard work on the part of both teachers and students. How those teachers did work at Giling and how conscientious and earnest they were. They saw greater results from their labors, however, than we who teach primary, grammar or high, but those stopping stones are all necessary and so I left Giling much encouraged for I could see how my work, after all, was worth while even if it was discouraging. While at Nanking we visited the Ming tombs. The Ming tombs are huge stone men and horses and they started in the Ming Dynasty and are believed to guard the departed spirit and their treasures to them. We also visited two fascinating Tea Gardens.

From Nanking Miss Sallman Alice Cheng and I went to Chufou, Confucius' burial place, and everything exists there as it did when Confucius was alive. Miss Sallman thinks she rode in the cart Confucius rode in. It was the dustiest, bumpiest ride I ever experienced, but it was worth it all. The statue of Confucius is not so repulsive as the idols and, in fact, rather attractive. The whole place had a charm about it and one can not help reverencing Confucius' teachings. They have helped, to a certain extent, the morals of China, but they have not aided China to progress, rather have kept her looking back to the land of her Ancestors.

The next place was Tai Shang where the high and holy mountain stands and where the Chinese pilgrims, for four thousand years, have climbed up 6300 stone steps to its top in veneration to their gods and to the God of Heaven. You can not imagine how awed I felt when I was carried up this mountain and how my head grew dizzy thinking back so many thousand years.

The next place was Peking. Oh, how I love that place, and how my eyes were opened to the wonders of the Chinese race and to their long civilization! When I stood on the top of the Altar to Heaven, that wonderful work of art, those exquisite carved marble pillars and heard the story of how the Emperor used to go twice a year and pitch his tent on the lower round of the altar and as he felt colder, he would go to the second round, but never did he feel holy enough to go to the top, and the people used to come and throw in bolts of silk into the burners near the altar as sacrifice to the God of

STOVE STYLES

Thousands of housewives who have modern gas ranges equipped with oven heat regulators are going to have a good rest this summer and yet do more cooking of fruits and vegetables than ever before. The heat regulators makes this possible. Will your wife be able to do it? Or is she a slave to cooking equipment 10 to 15 to 20 years old? Gas stoves aren't the only ancient cooking equipment. Gas stoves of the early years are in that class, too. Some of them are as much out of date as the automobile of 1910. How about yours? You will be amazed to see the progress that has been made in gas range construction in recent years. Look into this. No obligation on your part—just ten minutes of your time.

You can see a washing machine that works while you jazz, wash dishes or loaf and read a novel. Come up, we will tell you how to save money by letting Edison do it. Easy payments.

We also have on exhibition what we really believe the best oil heater made. Why worry about coal, break your back shoveling coal and ashes, last but not least take the chance of having hot air pumped into you by a coal man when you really need coal. Let John D. have a chance. Easy payments.

We can do plumbing and heating. Our motto has always been easy payments. Come you ungrateful ones if your bill is more than three years old, have a heart, just send it in, we really need cash.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson of Wilson street are entertaining a party of friends from Reading, Pa.

The Water Department has completed the laying of mains in the Dunster road section and the Town of Arlington is now connecting this service with its main. Dunster road people will therefore have their long sought-for water within a few days. This section, laying within the bounds of Winchester, is not in any way connected with our water system. The town of Arlington will place a meter on the connection and charge the water used to Winchester.

The work of grading the land about the new school buildings is progressing rapidly and by the opening of school all of the new buildings will be provided with proper settings. It is to be hoped that the broken tar concrete walk on the west side of the High School, together with the drive and south end gravel space for the fire escapes, be also relaid in granite, thus completing the work for all of our schools.

A new "stop" and "go" sign has been placed in the centre, with letters large enough to be read by the impatient motorists across the railroad tracks. No excuse now of bad eyesight if you cross the tracks!

Mr. Stanley G. H. Fitch of Oxford street suffered the death of his father, Mr. Robert S. Fitch, at Canandaigua, N. Y., Monday. Mr. Fitch was 70 years of age. Funeral services were held at Cedar Grove Chapel, Dorchester, on Wednesday afternoon.

Winchester motorists have been enjoying the fine new road to Melford over Winthrop street this summer, making a new route to the city and being a great improvement over the former mountainous conditions. This street was rebuilt by the city of Melford largely through the efforts of Mayor Coddige, and he is now co-operating with the Boston & Northern and the County in arranging for the relaying of the pavement inside the electric car tracks. This paving is particularly rough and is the only bad feature to travel over Winthrop street, now that it has been rebuilt. The work of relaying it will begin in a few days.

Mr. Stanley G. H. Fitch of Oxford street suffered the death of his father, Robert S. Fitch of Uphams Corner, Dorchester, who passed away Monday, Aug. 3, in his 79th year at Canandaigua, N. Y., following a long illness. The late Mr. Fitch was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Dorchester, and was for many years a member of the vestry. He was a charter member and for a number of years treasurer of the Dorchester Driving Club, and was prominent in Masonic and Odd Fellow circles. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Cedar Grove Chapel, and the interment was in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

James Sheely, custodian of the High School has returned home from a two weeks' vacation spent at Gloucester.

Fireman Everett Kimball of the Winchester Department is claiming the blueberry picking championship of the local station. On his day off last Monday, he journeyed to Burlington where he gathered 64 quarts in nine hours flat. Looks as if "Biscuit" could extend that title to include the town at large.

Fireman "Ray" Hanscomb has so far recovered from his injuries received on the evening of July 4, as to be able to get down to the square without his trusty cane.

"Joe" Mathews of this town pitched some nice ball for the Woburn City Club last week winning two games via the shutout route. Last Saturday he turned back the strong Lever Bros. nine, 7 to 0, being on top all the way. "Tom" Davies, old Cambridge Latin star, pitched for the factory boys.

All eight cases of violations of the motor vehicle laws which the Winchester Police prosecuted in the District Court at Woburn Monday were found guilty by Judge Maguire.

WHAT IS YOUR NAME? COMMITTEE APPOINTED ON HOSPITAL

This office is glad to send the Star to its subscribers, wherever they may be. But if you do not receive the paper, don't blame us until you make sure your name and address were properly given. This week we have received three orders for changes in addresses where no name of the subscriber is given. There will, therefore, be three of our customers who will not receive their paper. If you do not receive your paper, make sure that you send in your name as well as your address when writing about it.

Miss Dorothy Horne of Loring avenue is spending a month at Nahant.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dennison of Brooks street are at Pocasset.

AUGUSTA-BARBARO

Miss Julia Cantida Barbato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Barbato of Oak street and Salvatore Augusta, a World War Veteran and the son of Mr. Colagero Augusta of Boston, were united in marriage last Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Rectory, the ceremony being performed at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. Joseph M. Fitzgibbon.

The bride was attired in a wedding gown of white satin having a pearl embroidered overdress and wore a veil caught up with orange blossoms.

She had a her maid of honor her sister, Miss Constance Barbato of this city, who wore mauve and yellow crepe and carried a yellow rose.

The flower girl was Miss Pauline D'Ambrasi, Ralph Pannetta of East Boston was groomsmen.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents which was largely attended by Winchester and out-of-town guests. The young couple were assisted in receiving by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James V. Barbato and Mr. Colagero Augusta. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and potted plants.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Augusta left on a wedding trip to New York and Atlantic City.

MRS. JEFFREY RICHARDSON

Mrs. Jeffrey Richardson of 191 Balcroft street, Brookline, died Friday night, Aug. 7, after a brief illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George E. Kimball, 17 Gleanery, this town. Mrs. Richardson who had been visiting her daughter for a month was ill only one day. She was a native of Newton, and had made her home in Brookline for 28 years. Besides Mrs. Kimball she is survived by another daughter, Miss Louise Richardson of Brookline, and by one son, Jeffrey Richardson of Cambridge.

Funeral services were held at the Kimball residence on last Monday afternoon at 2:30, and were conducted by the Rev. Abbott Peterson of the First Parish Church, Brookline. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

MESSINGER-SUTHERGREEN

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Parker of Oosterville have announced the marriage of their only daughter, Edna May Suthergreen, to Mr. Guy Holmes Messinger of this town.

The ceremony took place on Saturday afternoon and was performed by the Rev. Everett Farnsworth, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Dorchester. Owing to the illness of the groom's mother, the wedding was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall Messinger, Washington street, this town, and was private.

The groom is widely known among Winchester's young people. The couple will make their home in Agawam in their new house just purchased. Mr. Messinger is in business in Springfield.

EUNICE T. HART

Mrs. Eunice T. Hart, who died Sunday morning, Aug. 9 at Brookline was the mother of Mr. Waldo L. Hart of this town. She was 78 years of age and the wife of Joseph H. Hart.

For many years previous to living in Brookline she had made her home in Lynn and later in Canton. Besides her husband Mrs. Hart is survived by two sons, Waldo L. of Winchester and Henry J. Hart of Bangor, Me.; by a brother, Waldo L. Abbott and by a sister, Mrs. Francis A. Gaskill, both of the Hotel Somerset of Boston.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of her son, Waldo L. Hart on Bruce road and were conducted by the Rev. Allen Evans Jr., Rector of the Church of the Epiphany. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

GETTY-BROWN

Mr. Forbes Getty of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Getty of Warren street, was married on Thursday, August 6, to Miss Elizabeth Cheek Brown, daughter of Mrs. Lydia Brown of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Getty is widely known among Winchester's young people, and his wife also has many friends here. He is now located in Detroit, and the couple will make their future home in that city.

UNION SERVICES

The Union Services of the Congregational, Baptist and Methodist Churches will be held, beginning Sunday, Aug. 16 in the Methodist Church, with the pastor, Rev. H. W. Hook, preaching.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

At a special meeting called by the president, Mrs. Allie E. Davidson, last Wednesday night, it was voted to place the entire working force of the club at the disposal of the local lodge at the coming "Elks' Frolic" scheduled for Sept. 7 and 8, at the K. of C. Hall and grounds on Vine street. Mrs. Emily A. Scholl was appointed general chairman, with Mrs. Katherine Fallon assistant. All present were made members of the committee, which has been left open to volunteer workers who were not present.

As outlined by the Elks' committee of the joint meeting which followed the special session, the affair will include a varied program of entertainment, featuring dancing every evening and a special fund-raiser for the children. The matter of refreshments was left to the discretion of the ladies and it was the sense of the meeting that one of the club's famous home-cooked suppers be served in the hall on Labor Day, a welcome departure from the regulation order of sandwiches, etc., of the general run of field days. Of course there will be a hot-dog booth, but there is no reason why those who wish a good wholesome supper on the holiday may not be able to get it on this occasion.

As the club ceased activities during July and August, Mrs. Anna W. Lochman, chairman, explained that the hope chest being filled by the members would not be ready for the festival. Doubtless she is planning to make this a drawing card for the Elks' Charity Ball and is going to take time enough to add a house and lot and a few other small items to the contents thereof. There is one thing we may be pretty sure of, this general lady is going to get that chest well stocked before she lets it go, so we might as well dig down and send in our contributions first as last before she adds an automobile to her budget.

The whist party in aid of the festival is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Aug. 26, in Lyceum Hall. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Ella Halligan, chairman; Mrs. Josephine M. May E. O'Brien, Mrs. Nellie Moffett and Mrs. Goro Horn. The advance sale of tickets assures us a record attendance, and of course the prizes will be well worth while as they include a five-dollar gold piece and many other beautiful gifts.

CALLAHAN-McGOLDRICK

Many Winchester residents were interested in the wedding of Miss Alice Theresa McGoldrick of 16 Eaton street and Edward John Callahan of 188 Washington street which took place last Sunday afternoon at 4:30, the ceremony being performed at St. Mary's rectory by the Rev. Fr. Joseph M. Fitzgibbon.

The bride was attired in a gown of white Canton crepe with white picture hat to match and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was accompanied by Miss Nora Dowling as bridesmaid. Miss Dowling's gown was of turquoise blue georgette with picture hat to match and her bouquet, of pink roses.

Following the ceremony the bridal party motored to Boston where a supper was served at the Hotel Brunswick. After a wedding tour to New Brunswick Mr. and Mrs. Callahan will make their home on Eaton street. Both are well known here, the bride having been a popular member of the staff at Randall's while the groom as Custodian of the Town Hall and a member of Winchester Lodge of Elks enjoys a wide circle of friends.

ITALIAN RESIDENTS START CELEBRATION TONIGHT

The opening of the annual festival held under the auspices of the Italian residents of Winchester in honor of the Feast of the Assumption is set for tonight on Manchester Field. For some weeks a committee has been hard at work perfecting the many details necessary for the celebration and it is expected that this year's effort will eclipse all others of the past, time though many of them may have been.

Since their inception some years ago these "Italian Days," so called, have come to be the big feature of the summer season in town. And that they have become famous far beyond the bounds of Winchester has been clearly demonstrated by the huge crowds which yearly attend them, lining the Parkway from the Unitarian Church to Mystic avenue, while filling Manchester Field to overflowing.

This year's celebration is to be for the first time a two day affair, commencing Friday evening, Aug. 14, with a band concert on Manchester Field, starting at 7:30 and calling for a small display of fireworks at 9 o'clock. Saturday's program for Assumption Day is much more elaborate and for the Italian residents, is an all day affair opening with special masses at St. Mary's Church in the morning.

In the afternoon arrangements have been made for a parade through the Italian section and the principal streets of the town with Manchester Field as its destination. At 7:30 in the evening a second band concert will be held on Manchester Field with the feature display of fireworks scheduled for the same evening beginning at 9.

It is in this fireworks display that the public is chiefly concerned, the Winchester pyrotechnics having become famous throughout the entire district. The committee in charge this year has promised a display which will be unsurpassed for excellence by any previous which is saying much, if we recall last year's aright. The "Roma" Band of Boston has been engaged to furnish the music for both evenings, the complete programs following:

Friday Evening, 7:30 O'clock
Marcha Sinfonica ..... Allora
Sinfonia, 1. Valse ..... Rosini
Fantasia, 1. Valse ..... Rosini
(The Pearl Fisherman) ..... Biet
Fantasia, 2. Valse ..... Verdi
Fantasia, 2. Valse (Merry Whims) ..... Biet

Saturday Evening, 7:30 O'clock
Marcha Sinfonica ..... Rosini
Sinfonia La Gazza Lutra ..... Rosini
Fantasia, 1. Valse ..... Verdi
Fantasia, 2. Valse ..... Verdi
Suite 2, L'Arlesienne ..... Biet
Fox Trot - Titina

The committee having the entire celebration in charge includes James V. Barbato, Chairman; Pietro Sciascia, Vincenzo Gigliotti, Enrico Fiore, Joseph Rania and Gaetano Sciascia.

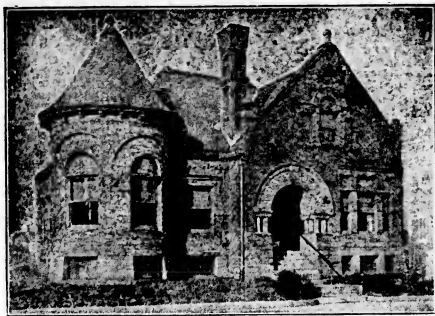

NO BASEBALL TOMORROW

Due to the parade and celebration here in Winchester tomorrow there will be no game on Manchester Field. However, on Saturday, Aug. 22, the Town Team with a strong lineup will meet some strong team yet to be selected. The Town Team will play every Saturday from then on until Labor Day when the final game of the year will be played.

Short legs of genuine Spring lamb, 29c; fore quarters, 22c; fresh killed fowl, 39c; chickens, 42c; yellow corn, fresh from Russell's Farm, 40c; summer squash, 5c; marrow squash, per lb., 5c; cucumbers, 5c; spinach, 30c; Kentucky wonders and wax beans, 3 qts. for 25c; lettuce, 75c. Blaisdell's Market, lot. 1271 and 1191.

WINCHESTER MAN APPOINTED VALUATION EXAMINER

Mr. Lionel A. Norman of this town, has been appointed a Senior Railway Valuation Examiner in Washington at an initial salary of $5200 a year. The duties substantially consist in presiding at hearings in disputed cases upon the fair valuation of railroad properties as a basis for fixing aggregate earnings, or rate totals, to the respective systems, under the provisions of the Transportation Act.

The purpose of this is in the interest of economical and efficient management, without destroying the competitive principle, or existing lines. It is believed that in this way great economies may result and rates ultimately be lowered. This is in line with the President's well known hostility to extravagance and waste.

In connection with this work, Senior Examiner, Mr. Norman is said to be particularly well equipped. His father and mother will continue to reside in Winchester.

WOMAN HURT AS FORDS COLLIDE

Mrs. Minnie Rossler of 123 Salem street, Woburn was injured as the result of a collision between a Ford touring car owned by Lawrence H. Collins of 119 Salem street, Woburn, and operated by her daughter, Lydia E. Collins of the same address with whom she was a passenger, and another Ford touring car operated by Albert E. Pratt of 11 West street, Stoneham, the accident occurring at the junction of Church and Fletcher streets. The left rear wheel was knocked from the Collins machine, and Mrs. Rossler was shaken up and cut. She was removed to her home and treated by a physician.

The Silver Kettle Candies will be closed during the last week in August. aul-12t

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS FRIDAY

Two auto accidents occurred within a few minutes of each other and less than a quarter of a mile apart Friday afternoon when one car struck a pole at Washington and Mt. Vernon streets and two cars came together at Myrtle street and the parkway. Mrs. John McCallum of 1 Winter street was the only person injured, she being cut on the lip and treated by Dr. Burroughs at the Winchester Hospital.

The Mt. Vernon accident is said to have been caused by a defective steering gear. A lodge coupe owned by Harding's Garage, Levere, was being driven up Mt. Vernon street by John McCallum, accompanied by his wife and child. He failed to turn into Washington street north, and ran head-on into an electric light pole. The front of the car, springs, radiator and lamps received the impact, and it was badly damaged. Sgt. Rogers took the injured woman to the hospital and the Central garage took the wrecked car away.

A few minutes after a Ford touring car owned by Ima M. Burgess of Methuen and operated by Albert S. Pleashaw of the same town was in a collision with a Ford sedan owned by Charles Meek of Myrtle street and driven by his wife. The touring car was proceeding east on the Parkway and the sedan turned out of Myrtle street. No one was injured in either car, but both were somewhat crumpled up.

Riley Leach Company tied with the Crescents of Woburn in the city sandlot league last Monday evening, 3 to 3, with a Winchester boy, "Yiddie" Sherry, on the mound, and another local player, "Flats" Flaherty, at the keystone sack. The "Rollies" haven't dropped a league game since Ernest H. Roberts, late high school coach at Winchester took over the management of the team.

A. M. BOND AND MILEY LOW AT COUNTRY CLUB

One of the largest fields of the season turned out for the four-ball round at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. A. M. Bond and E. A. Miley turned in the low card of 69, two strokes under the figures turned in by the second team, S. T. Hicks and P. A. Hendrick, who in turn were one under the 73 turned in by the next three teams.

The scores:

A. M. Bond & E. A. Miley ..... 69
S. T. Hicks & P. A. Hendrick ..... 71
L. W. Boria & H. B. Wood ..... 72
E. H. Bovey & E. B. Badger ..... 72
E. A. Anderson & P. L. Dineen ..... 72
W. W. O'Brien & R. H. Bennett ..... 73
R. T. Dineen & J. E. Dineen ..... 73
J. M. Tattle & H. V. Bovey ..... 75

HOLDUP MEN CAUGHT IN PROVIDENCE

A news dispatch from Providence last week states that two young men were arrested in that city charged with the holdup of Albert C. Hayden, son of Mr. A. K. Hayden of Glenbury, who was on his way to visit his father from Newark, N. J., Sunday, Aug. 2. Mr. Hayden was being motored to Winchester was held up in Woonsocket, R. I., and robbed of his gold watch, $50 and his automobile. According to the report the young men detained were identified by their victim last Friday. They were turned over to the Woonsocket authorities.

WINCHESTER GIRLS ON WINNING TEAM AT ANDOVER

The Misses Joy Adriance and Deborah Gilbert of this town were members of the winning tug-of-war team in the water sports at the annual field day of the young girls of the Greater Boston Churches, held last Saturday at Camp Andover, Andover. The suit-case race was won by Gladys E. McMillan.

JUDSON HANNIGAN TELLS A STORY

In Will Rogers column in the Globe, under the head "The Worst Story I Have Heard Today," the following contribution from Judson Hannigan of Wolcott terrace appeared Saturday:

The worst story I heard today was told to me by a lawyer of Boston. His name is Judson Hannigan. He was lost in New York, and I happened to be the one who directed him back to his hotel. So out of what he thought was gratitude he told me this story:

When the New England Division went away to France there was one very tall old boy with them who was round-shouldered. All the lads home used to kid him, and when they got over there a British Tommy—a little bit of a runt—thought he was privileged to do the same thing, so he looked up at the long, old Yank and said:

"I say, what have you got on your back?" The Yank looked down at him and, in his best Gollidge accent, said: "Bunker Hill! Do you want to try and climb it again?"

By the way, these war stories have about played out. We will have to get some more new stories. This Chinese War ought to produce some good war stories, if we could just understand them.

WINCHESTER BOYS PLAYED WITH MEDFORD ON MAINE TRIP

Three local ball players made the trip during the past week-end to Maine with the Medford City Club: Mark "Mex" Kelley and Francis Tansey, pitchers, and Harold "Touchy" Gray, outfielder. The trip was fairly successful, the invaders tying their first game with the Bridgeton Green Sox at Bridgeton, Me., last Thursday, 1 to 1; losing to the Texaco at Rockland, Friday 1 to 0, and having the last game with the Camden team on Saturday called by rain during the fifth inning while in the lead 2 to 0. Big "Mex" Kelley was on the pitching rubber at Bridgeton, and the star right hander was never in danger. Francis Tansey started the game against Rockland, but gave way to Kelley early in the battle. The kid outpaw was working very smoothly at Camden, and seemed destined to win his game when old June Plavins entered the lists. "Touchy" Gray played centerfield in all the games and as usual showed to good advantage.

BANKERS FROLICKED AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Winchester Country Club was host last Monday afternoon to an enthusiastic gathering from the Boston Financial district which took in everyone along the line from presidents, bankers and brokers, down along the line to clerks and office boys, the event being the mid-summer outing of the Bankers' Athletic Club. Matches were played in both golf and tennis and a general good time was enjoyed. P. W. Stanley of the Old Colony Trust Co. won the golf tournament in the Class A competition with a card of 77—8—68. Messrs. Bowen Tufts and W. A. Jackson of Winchester were among the competitors. The mixed tennis doubles was won by Miss Helen Brine of the Federal Reserve Bank and Bob Hazel of the D. F. Gallagher

WOBURN INDEPENDENTS WIN FROM TOWNIES

The Independents of the Woburn Sandlot League defeated the Winchester Town Team last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, 6-4, in a game which was chiefly featured by three double plays, all made by the losers.

It was a hard game for the locals to lose, and especially when the score is analyzed a bit. When a winning team is able to score six runs on four hits, and the losers are only able to get together a poor four tallies on 11 safe blows it is easily apparent that things are not all that they should be. In last Saturday's instance the answer can be found in the error column, the locals having made five mistakes, nearly all of which were costly, while their opponents made but two. With all due credit to the Woburn nine which was on its toes all the way, Winchester should have taken the game with something to spare. Only two of the visitors' runs was earned while the locals put over three of this variety, enough to win the battle comfortably.

The locals failed to show as good advantage as in past games, and some of their play could only be characterized as indifferent. "Joe" Brown, a right hander of parts, was on the mound for Winchester, and pitched plenty good enough ball to win. He was accorded rank support by his mates, particularly in the second frame when the Independents put over five large un-earned counters when they should have been turned back in order without a run. "Bunker" Carroll, pitching for the tanners, was his hard enough by the Townies, but in all but the third stanza managed to keep the blows rather far apart.

The Independents may thank Umpire Doherty for one big break when the latter called one which "Flats" Flaherty hit to left in the third foul, the hit looking good a couple of feet. Since "his umps" didn't even turn around to watch the ball Winchester's protest seemed reasonable enough, but like most protests in this game of baseball it changed things not at all.

Woburn put the game away in the second. "Tony" Colucci, first man up, tapped an easy one to short, a routine hopper that should have been handled with ease. "Doc" Doherty came in to meet the ball on the run and tried to grab it with his glove hand. Instead he batted the pill away and the runner was safe. Nolan fouled to "Fitz" and Sweetser rolled to "Jimmie" Dolan as second base. The latter let the boulder trickle through his legs to right field, Sweetser making first and Colucci getting around to third. There were two on and one away when the sides should have been changing places. Coakley hit to Fitzgerald at first, and the latter made one of his rare miscues. In trying to get Colucci at the plate the big boy tossed the ball into the crowd letting both "Tony" and Sweetser tally while the batter ran all the way to second. Call scratched the first hit of the inning through the box sending Coakley to third. Brown seemed to be affected by the errors of his mates and walked Carroll, following this with a wild pitch which got away from Melly allowing Coakley to score and moving up Call and Carroll to third and second respectively. Farry fanned for the second out, but Quinn bunted a safety to center bringing in another two runs. The latter was caught at second when Brown intercepted Flaherty's pop to the plate and tossed to "Doc" Doherty who made the putout.

This inning decided the ball game, but the Townies gave the fans some encouragement in the third when they put over three runs. Brown singled to right for a starter and went to second when Cummings singled to centerfield. Dolan shoved both runners along with a sacrifice and "Joe" scored when "Doc" Doherty belted a long sacrifice to center. "Fitz" beat out a hit to third and with Cummings on third worked the double steal, the latter counting. "Harpy" made third and "Nip" Chamberlain was safe at first when Colucci threw into the dirt on the latter's grounder. Flaherty, next up, hit what looked like a clean single to left field on which both "Harpy" and "Nip" counted, but Umpire Doherty ruled the ball foul, and the runners had to return to their starting places. "Jim" called when Carroll uncorked a wild pitch, but "Flats" ended the frame by striking out with the locals still two runs shy.

The visitors added to their lead in the fourth. Sweetser walked for a starter and was sacrificed to second by Coakley. He stole third and scored on Call's hit through shortstop, a ball which should have been knocked down with ease. Carroll ended the inning by hitting into a double play, Dolan to Doherty to Fitzgerald.

Winchester scored its last run in the sixth. Harriman banded out a hit to short. Melly fanned, but Harriman advanced on Brown's hit to right. Cummings popped to short, but Dolan slapped out a lusty single to centerfield bringing Harriman home and sending Brown to third. With two on the crowd yelled for a tie score and "Doc" Doherty tried hard to accommodate. He hit one a mile-a-minute but it went right into Colucci's hands for the third out.

Not often will you witness a game in which three double plays are made. Both Harriman and "Nip" Chamberlain turned in nice catches on fly balls on which two of the plays were engineered. The other was a routine infield affair. "Nip's" clutch was one of the best made on Manchester Field this season or any other season.

Both third basemen turned in good plays. Cummings on a slow roller from Sweetser's bat in the 6th which he grabbed with his bare hand and pegged to "Fitz" while on the run; and Farry on a hard hit ball by Harriman in the 4th.

Snyder, behind the bat for Woburn, surely takes a vicious cut at the apple. He almost tore Brown's arm off in the 9th with a belt at the box. The Winchester pitcher saved himself injury when he knocked down the ball and retired the man at first.

Umpire Doherty didn't make much of a hit with the crowd. While it is hardly good sportsmanship to blame an umpire for the loss of a game, that decision on Flaherty's blow in third sure did hurt.

What a pity it is that big "Doc" Doherty can't take baseball seriously. He has everything that a player needs yet apparently would rather clown it than play the game of which he is capable. He should have been made to take his free ticket to first in the 9th. As it was he insisted on being allowed to take a cut at the ball and struck out. Had he gone to first, it might have meant a run as "Fitz" followed him with a hit.

Don't crab "Jimmie" Dolan too much for those errors. The kid was out of position and they don't come down there on the left side of the diamond as they do on the right.

BENEDICT LOST TO WINTHROP

The Benedict Club of this town lost its match in the Old Colony Tennis League on its own courts at Governor's Avenue to the Winthrop Tennis Club, five points to two. The visitors won three of the four singles matches played and were successful in two of the three doubles. Wallace Blanchard was the only local player to meet with success in singles, winning his match from Swan of Winthrop after dropping the first set, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4. This was the only match in this division to go to odd sets, the same being true of the match which the Benedict players, Riley and Blanchard, took from Swan and Young of Winthrop in doubles, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. All the matches which were won by the visiting racket wielders went in straight sets. The real feature set of the afternoon was that which Young, of Winthrop took from Riley, Benedict, after a hard fight, 11-9.

The scores:

Singles
Blanchard, Benedict, beat Swan, Winthrop, 3-7, 4-6, 4-1.
Young, Winthrop, beat Riley, Benedict, 11-9, 6-2.
Sylvia, Winthrop, beat Carr, Benedict, 6-2, 4-0.
Savin, Winthrop, beat Lowden, Benedict, 6-3, 6-1.
Doubles
Riley and Blanchard, Benedict, beat Swan and Young, Winthrop, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.
Sylvia and Savin, Winthrop, beat Lowden and Grinnell, Benedict, 6-3, 6-3.
Waldfield and Belovs, Winthrop, beat Carr and Oliver, Benedict, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

Woman--the World's Greatest Walker

THOUSANDS of women walk the equivalent of a cross country hike from Seattle to Boston every year without leaving their homes!

This startling fact has just been determined by a leading college. This institution equipped women with pedometers and discovered that they walked from 2½ to 15 miles each day doing their housework.

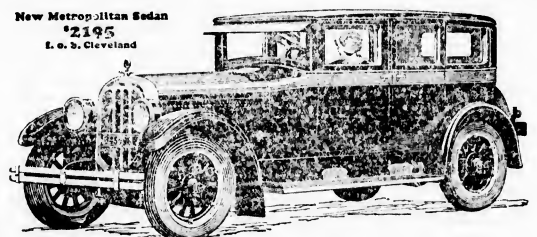

It was shown that a woman must travel a great many more miles every year when she is in bondage to a coal stove than when she has a gas range and other modern gas burning equipment in her home.

"A woman," it was said, "is a slave to a coal stove; a gas range is a slave to its owner. Where gas is the fuel there is no lagging of coal or ashes and there is no dirt or other inconvenience."

"This is my idea of a fine motor car"

All talk about the new 1926 Chandler reveals a warmth of enthusiasm seldom encountered in discussions of automobiles.

The public is impressed with Chandler's new beauty—won to admiration by the style and good taste of its design.

People are singling it out on the streets with admiring eyes—recognizing and remembering it by its distinctive new radiator design.

People who previously owned higher priced cars—people who previously owned lower priced cars—people who perhaps never before considered Chandler are today swelling Chandler sales.

The fine ease of handling—quiet, effortless shifting of gears—smoothness—the great mountain-taming power of its Pikes Peak Motor—everything about the car makes the owner glad he owns it!

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

When a boy gets his first job and tells his father he is doing the real work at the office and the boss is getting the credit, just play a tattoo on the rotunda of the boy's jeans. That's what he needs.

A boy may get his foolish traits from his father, but names like J. St. Claire Jones are usually given by Mamma.

Many women would spend less time watching their husbands' morals, if they paid more attention to his meals.

If everything everybody wanted would happen, we would certainly be in an awful mess.

The Aberjona appears cleaner this summer than it has during the past 10 years. We hope it is permanent, and nothing temporary, engineered for the benefit of the current investigation by the District Commission.

Some people eat just the right things, but never can get up to normal weight; sleep long hours, but never feel rested; take plenty of exercise, but never feel pepped up. Perhaps the trouble is lack of regularity.

Even though the food is of the right kind, the body will rebel if it isn't eaten at regular times. It doesn't do to snatch a cup of coffee and dash off to work with no breakfast, courting an making up the lack at dinner time. The body rebels against a vacuum for four hours, then an overclouded stomach. To work well the body machine should have attention at regular intervals. The same is true of other health habits. It doesn't do to dance all night for two or three nights, and try to make up sleep the next two nights. That sleep is never made up. Hours of sleep and rest should be regular.

One driver wonders why it is that the big busses run unmolested at a rate of 35 to 40 miles an hour, while some poor touring car driver gets held up by a motorcycle officer hiding behind a tree because he drives a light car at 25 to 30 miles an hour. On the other hand, the majority of drivers are content with a maximum speed of 30 miles and are more than willing to let the busses go into the distance ahead of them. All-in-all, it is a mixed up state of affairs. One automobile driver obeys the law, and keeps his headlights down; most of the others set their lights to throw the farthest distance. Ten to one the man with the legal lights is the one (out of hundreds) held up and fined for some unintentional violation, while no one knows who had the car with the dazzling lights which caused the accident last night. Talk about a "state of flux!" Under today's conditions it takes a pretty level-headed officer to handle things—and he realizes fully that he is but one against a multitude. Walking clubs may come back into style again yet. What would you do about it if you were boss?

AND WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THIS?

Dear Mr. Wilson:
Here is my check for one dollar in payment. In view of prompt results obtained, my conscience will not let me pay less.

W. L. P.

Thanks, Mr. Parsons! We seldom have pur advertisers pay us more than our regular rates, although we do have some who are pleased with results.

By W. L. Gordon

Words often misused: "Jewels" and "jewelry." These two words are often misused. Speak of "a lady's jewels," of "a jeweler's jewelry."

Often mispronounced: Gratitude. Pronounce the "u" as in "tube," and not as in "rule."

Often misspelled: Souvenir. Study the "ou" and the "ir."

Synonyms: Ridiculous, ludicrous, comical, grotesque, whimsical, laughable, fantastic.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is ours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: IMPREGNABLE: proof against attack. "The walls of the city were impregnable."

A FEW NEEDED INVENTIONS

A berry box that will prevent all the best berries from staying at the top.

A telephone ring that will tell us who is on the other end of the wire before we answer it.

A golf ball with gramophone attachment that will sing out "Here I am!"

An adjustable ring that will fit the usual number of girls you become engaged to during the summer.

An angler's scales that will corroborate the fisherman's story.

A piano that will sound the same to the girl playing as it does to the neighbors.

WINCHESTER TEACHERS AT HARVARD SUMMER SCHOOL

Several members of the town's teaching force have been doing special summer work this year in the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Among them are Principal Waide L. Grindle of the Winchester High School and Principal Arthur F. Crowell of the Wadleigh Grammar School, Miss Camilla Moses of the Latin Department of the High School and Miss Ella M. Emerson who conducts a private school here. Miss Ethel Knowlton of the High School, Modern Languages Department has been doing special work in French at Middlebury College, Vermont.

SYDNEY BEGG'S NEW YACHT RACED THIS WEEK

Former Commodore Sydney A. Beggs of the Corinthian Yacht Club raced his new yacht, Ruweida IV, in the races held by the Eastern Yacht Club off Marblehead this week, it being one of the 207 craft which made up the largest entry list which the Eastern has ever had for a "racing week." Mr. Beggs' boat arrived on this side of the Atlantic from Denmark only last week. She was built by Thornecraft from the lines of Burgess, Swasey and Paine, and while not at all tuned up gave a good account of herself in last Monday's racing, though withdrawing before the finish of the course was reached. Wednesday the Ruweida IV started in the race for the Class R-20 raters, and made a fairly good showing, finishing sixth in a fast field. It is rather too soon to learn definitely just how fast a racer she is going to prove herself, but yachtsmen everywhere are tremendously interested in the boat.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

WINCHESTER BOYS WITH C. M. T. AT DEVENS

Among the many young men who are in training with the C. M. T. C. at Camp Devens, Ayer, are four from Winchester including Ronald Simonds, Henry Knowlton, Alexander Lake, and James Halvartz. Simonds who is a member of Company G in the 2nd Platoon and is a first year man at the camp. He has already been promoted to a corporal in the second squad of his company. Knowlton who is a first year man is attached to Company I while Lake, also a plebe, is with the 3rd Platoon of Company G. Halvartz is serving his second year at the camp and is attached to Company D of the engineers. The boys report plenty of hard work, but claim to be enjoying and thriving on the vigorous exercise. Halvartz and Knowlton are veterans of last year's football team, and with Simonds will be candidates again this fall. Their out-of-door activities at the camp should put all three into the very best possible condition for a strenuous campaign on the gridiron, and they should land berths with the varsity.

Mr. Maynard Wheeler has taken over the interest of E. T. Coleman in the Winchester Sales Company, occupants of the former Metropolitan Garage. He has moved to Winchester and is making his home at 178 Cambridge street.

NOTICE

The Committee on Historical Records wishes to announce that its book "Winchester's War Records" is now completed. Sufficient copies have been published so that every soldier whose name may appear therein and every family in Town desiring a copy, may be supplied therewith without cost, in accordance with the original vote passed in Town Meeting.

Delivery of the books is expected on Monday and after that time copies may be obtained at the Town Clerk's office at the Town Hall, or they may be obtained from Mr. Harris, Chairman of the committee at the Winchester National Bank during banking hours.

NEW TRAFFIC BEACON IN CENTRE

The Selectmen are considering the installation of an automatic beacon for traffic in the centre. All of the modern types are being investigated, and one similar to that in use at Cambridge has been sent here for inspection by its manufacturers, it being at present at the rear of the Town Hall. It is very probable that some special type of beacon may be installed; such as four separate beacons—one on each of the four entering streets. The idea in using such a signaling system has the advantage of holding cars back of the railroad tracks, which the single, four-way beacon would not possess. It could be used either as an automatic signal or controlled by an officer stationed in front of the Beacon Company. The installation of some such system is certainly needed, and the proposed type appears to fill the requirements better than any other idea yet presented.

The Winchester Fire Department was called out at 4:30 last Tuesday afternoon when the platform of the Highlands Station on Cross street was set afire by a spark from a passing train. The firemen found it necessary to rip up about 15 feet of boards before completely stifling the blaze.

The Winchester Police were notified at 10:20 Tuesday night that five young men had left a Ford sedan on Sheridan circle north, and that the machine had been standing since 9 o'clock. Investigation disclosed the fact that the car was registered to Daniel S. McElaney of Woburn, and the police of that city were notified. They got in touch with the owner and reported that the car had not been stolen.

Shortly before midnight Tuesday police headquarters was notified that suspicious noises had been heard about a house on Wedgemere avenue. Officers Noonan and C. Harold were hurried to the spot but were unable to find anything wrong.

Two inspectors from the Registry of Motor Vehicles paid a visit to Winchester last Tuesday evening, and with Sgt. Cassidy and officer O'Connell inspected about 300 cars on North Main street for lights, brakes, etc. Many motorists remarked about the gentleness in which the inspectors went about their business. It is reported that the inspectors found the most fault with defective tail lights, and that the high priced cars suffered by their examination fully as much as did the machines of humbler vintage.

The Selectmen have received a letter from the Stoneham Playground Committee asking for information on certain playground matters. The letter was referred to the Park Board.

Thursday morning at 4:30 the Winchester Fire Department received a phone call stating that an automobile was afire on the Border road in the Fells. The call was answered but when the local apparatus arrived it was found that three pieces from Medford were already at work on the blaze. The car was a Ford sedan, the property of Michael Chapputo of Bates street, Revere.

WINCHESTER'S WAR RECORDS

Historical Book Ready For Distribution Next Month

Advance copies of "Winchester's War Records," the historical record of Winchester's sons in the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars, have been received by members of the committee in charge of its compilation, and will be ready for distribution next month.

The committee in charge of the compilation and publication of the book includes Henry B. Harris, ex-Secretary James W. Blackman, Helen B. H. Emerson, Harriet C. S. Hildreth and Thomas Dreier.

The book, which is substantially bound and which contains many photographs of Winchester soldiers and war scenes, is a substantial volume of 184 pages. It gives the names and records of every Winchester man who served in the wars, so far as available, and represents much time and labor by numerous interested citizens.

In its preface, the committee offers the following summary:

THE STORY OF THE BOOK

Your committee, working under instructions of a vote passed by the town at its annual meeting in March, 1919, and by a supplementary vote in 1922, has now completed as far as possible the task assigned to it. During the six years that the work has been in progress, the personnel of the committee has changed entirely.

The original committee was composed of George S. F. Bartlett, chairman; Harry J. Dore, secretary; James Hinds, Roland H. Sherman, Miss Dorothy Wellington, then historian of the Winchester Post of the American Legion; and our late postmaster, John P. O'Connor.

The committee did much preliminary work, but encountered difficulties which caused the members to feel that they did not have the time to carry the book through to completion. They recommended, therefore, that typewritten copies of what had been prepared should be placed in the Town Library and with the records of the Winchester Post of the American Legion.

The recommendations of the original committee were not accepted by the town meeting, and in March, 1922, a substitute vote was passed in which the opinion was expressed that the work should be carried on as originally planned.

A new committee was appointed, with Henry B. Harris, historian of the American Legion Post, as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Helen B. H. Emerson, first chairman of the town's war affairs committee; of the Fort-nightly; Miss Harriet C. S. Hildreth, who, while president of the Fort-nightly, inaugurated the soldier welfare work of that organization; James W. Blackman, member of the Legion and former selectman; and Thomas Dreier, editor and writer.

The committee took up the work where the first committee had left off, and the present book is the result of many weary hours of labor on the part of both committees.

Only those who have actually been concerned with the work itself can realize the difficulties which had to be overcome in securing adequate and reliable records.

The work again started in the fall of 1924. Almost at once it became apparent that, even with the co-operation of town clerks and other officials, satisfactory records could not be obtained. Therefore a house-to-house canvass was carried on by Mrs. Emerson and Mrs. Hildreth in obtaining records heretofore unavailable.

William F. Emerson, experienced in the compilation of records, worked for months straightening out records that were tangled, and our Town Clerk, Miss Mabel W. Stinson, and her assistant, Miss Edith M. Lewis, contributed generously of their time and energy in providing vital statistics.

The committee wishes to express its thanks to Fred W. Cross, expert in charge of the Military Archives of Massachusetts, who compiled the personal records of Winchester soldiers and sailors of the Civil and Spanish-American Wars; to Herbert S. Underwood, who compiled and transcribed the rough records collected by the original committee and who did much painstaking editorial work; to Major Eben Putnam, National Historian of the American Legion and chairman of the Commission on the History of Massachusetts in the World War; and to his secretary, Miss Anna Martin, who never failed to assist the committee when called upon.

George Barbara also earned the committee's thanks by the splendid work he did in helping get the records of the Italian soldiers, Arthur S. Harris did special work in Washington, securing many of the pictures which are used as illustrations in this book. Vincent P. Clarke assisted in proofreading and compiled the table of abbreviations for the chapter devoted to the navy, and Miss Frances Leydon did the major part of the work in preparing the manuscripts for the printer. The thanks of the committee must also go to Rev. Howard J. Chidley for assisting in the selection of memorial verses. In a record of this sort there must necessarily be some inaccuracies, but no effort has been spared to keep these inaccuracies down to the minimum.

In addition to giving permanent, adequate and reliable records of the work done in our three great wars by Winchester men and women, the committee has provided other material in the form of extracts from letters, pictures, and descriptive chapters. This work has been done for the purpose of making the book more colorful and to give in a compact way information which will enable the readers of the distant future to share in some degree the emotions which stirred our people during the World War.

WHAT IS A HORSEMOBILE?

If a crossword puzzle enthusiast were to ask anyone outside of New England the meaning of the word "Horsemobile," he would be answered with a vacant stare and a dubious shake of the head. For here is a word that cannot be found in the dictionary.

In New England, however, the reply would be prompt and conclusive. Any bright schoolboy would say that it is a synonym of a word of five letters, meaning a cool and satisfying drink.

Frank Archer, of "Moxie," has originated a very ingenious advertising device which he calls the Horsemobile. It is one that always attracts attention and that never loses its novelty. In Boston and other leading cities of New England, this unique vehicle can be seen winding its way in and out of the crowded traffic. It is well in the van of the procession, as unfailing as the steam calico of a circus.

This curious device consists of a completely equipped automobile chassis on which is erected a life-size statue of a horse. The driver or "rider" of this unusual vehicle sits on the back of the "horse" guiding it with a steering wheel. Shifting levers and brakes are conveniently located and function much like those on an ordinary automobile. It is a combination of the old and the new method of transportation—literally a horse on wheels which, by the way, is the true meaning of the word "horsemobile."

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Soldier and Sailor Welfare Committee

A delightful concert was given recently in the wards of the Chelsea Naval Hospital. The following artists gave their services: Mrs. H. H. Emerson, violinist; Miss Jean McEllan, soloist; Miss Hattie Snow, pianist.

Visiting in both the Chelsea Naval Hospital and the Veterans' Hospital at West Roxbury continues weekly. At the last named hospital, candy and smokes are carried to the shut-ins each week.

Through the generosity of Mrs. William Kneeland, Mrs. H. F. Simon, Mrs. H. W. Godfrey, Mrs. Annie Stearns, Mrs. F. M. Carter, Mrs. F. M. Aseltine, Mrs. Albert Sells, Mr. Malcolm Jones, Mr. E. K. Miller and Mr. Frank Johnson, the men have enjoyed auto rides.

On Aug. 8, the Jerry O'Neil Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, held a bazaar on the grounds of the Veterans' Hospital at West Roxbury. An appeal for donations was met with generous response on the part of friends. The gifts consisting of large quantities of flowers from the Winchester Conservatories, Mrs. A. F. Woodside and Miss Hattie Snow, both were very valuable.

Mr. James Russell and Mr. Samuel Symmes, melons from the Washington Cash Market and cake and candy from Mrs. S. Emerson, Mrs. H. W. Godfrey and members of the committee.

To Mr. Leonard Waters we are indebted for the use of his auto in carrying these gifts to the bazaar.

Among those who enjoyed the bazaar were several from Winchester, whose presence and patronage was very much appreciated by the men.

ENTERTAINED AT MELROSE

On Thursday evening of last week the Music Garden gave a concert at the New England Sanatorium at Melrose, a number of Winchester artists participating and rendering a most delightful program. Among those who contributed were Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lochman, Mr. and Mrs. T. Parker Clarke, Mrs. Amette Symmes Hughes and Miss Elsa Johnson.

POPULAR TELEPHONE GIRL SHOWERED

Miss Anna O'Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Doherty of 103 Garfield avenue, Woburn, a popular telephone operator at the Winchester Exchange, was pleasantly surprised last Monday evening when a large number of her friends gathered at her home to tender her a shower in honor of her approaching wedding to Edward E. Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Doherty of Salem street, Woburn, which is to take place on the 6th of September.

Miss Doherty was completely surprised by the affair, but managed to express her thanks in a most pleasing manner for the array of handsome and useful gifts which she received. Among those present were several talented guests and an impromptu entertainment helped to make the evening pass all too swiftly. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Rose Lynch, a dancing sketch given by Miss Eileen Morgan while songs and readings by Miss Helen Manning of Groton completed the program. Refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed until a late hour.

A LANDLUBBER ABOARD THE BOWDOIN

There is no place on board a small schooner bound for the Arctic for a landlubber, writes Maynard Owens Williams, a representative of the National Geographic Society, from the Bowdoin, flagship of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition. With Liberty engines on the deck, steel barrels of gasoline lashed to the rail and boxes of gasoline and oil making a false floor which brings a man's head at the exact height of a swinging boom, a landlubber must get over being a landlubber at the first possible moment.

The minute we got outside Monhegan, Commander MacMillan said: "Williams take the wheel. Keep her on 120°," and immediately turned and left the Bowdoin to me. Both he and Mate Robinson do all they can to explain everything but don't talk technical language in order to appear imposing. I found out for instance that a sheet is not a sail, as I thought, but a rope which serves to hold a boom down toward the point where it can but a man on the car.

Our watch is midnight to six and noon to six. Dick (Salmon) interrupted my dreams (if any) with a large hand in the sun of my back and one of the first annoyances was that there are little pantalettes inside a suit of oilskins and sticky rubber boots don't slide into the trousers as easily as a landsman would like. I did everything but play my hand on the galley stove. Putting stork and tugging at reluctant garments that have become fast friends is not easy in a rough sea even if that sea is what a seaman calls moderate.

When I went on deck we were in a fairly thick fog. Under the red and green lights the pretty curve of bows reached up to the prow above which the jib was furled into a spirally mass with the rope meandering along its back like the Potomac in its most undecided mood. In the sea there were phosphorescent flashes and the black water lurled into a creamy mass under her prow.

We eat very well. Pickles and hard-tack on deck seem to appeal to the seafaring ones who, on the table below, would have to face fish chowder, a huge tray of lobsters and many other things including mince pie for which one is ill prepared when the world is adrift and won't settle down.

A passenger on a big steamer thinks he has his sea legs when he can walk down a twenty-foot promenade deck without becoming a Laplander. But the landlubber in oilskins has a different task. The rail on the Bowdoin is just the height of the decoration of my golf stockings. There are halyards and sheets, dory tackle and all sorts of other lines which coil their serpentine around where one least expects them. The flukes on the anchors are as eager to grab a foot as they are to seize on a footing or a holding or whatever it is they grab in the bed of the sea. To add to the confusion there are all the casks and cases of gasoline and the three huge cases of Liberty motors. A landlubber must get over lubbering soon or else become a lubberly or a corpse.

At we have a lagaret which is a storage space behind the Captain's cabin. This room is shared with the Mate.

From Captain MacMillan's room one enters the engine room with its 60-horsepower, Fairbank's-Morse semi-Diesel oil engine and its various generators for electric light and radio equipment.

The hold has become a radio room and its fore quarters are occupied by a dark room and an electric ice box. Spoiled meat has not only cost every other Arctic explorer dear but has deprived the men of something fresh.

Our bushel of cucumbers are crisp as the phrase they gave birth to.

The pantry, galley and forecabin are all together, though some lady visitors did install some crotone curtains which have gone the way of all beauty. A crotone curtain is no support to a man who rolls out of a top bunk in a hurry. I know!

So this is our little boat. She's a beauty and every seaman envies us our place in her. The crew is wonderfully fine. In all it's a place for a man even if he starts as a landlubber. He may never return a first-class seaman but if he can't learn to hold her helm steady when a huge sail with a 40-foot baseball ball tied to it is trying to Babe Ruth a few heads, he is better off the boat than on it.

There is no question of the ability of Commander MacMillan. Seamen and explorers testify to that. But the safety of the whole ship may depend at times on whether a landlubber can steer, raise or lower sail or pick a tiny light out of a deep fog on an horizonless sea. This is no training cruise for midshipmen. By force of circumstance the man of the sea, who knows its moods, must trust to landlubbers at times. All hands will be on deck when the need arises and MacMillan and Robinson are able men. But sooner or later the landlubber has to face it. So perhaps it is not as surprising as it seemed to me that with fair weather and a smooth sea, our Captain left out the A. B. C. theory and handed the wheel to a landlubber on his first water with a "Take the wheel! Keep her on 120°."

NEPAL'S SLAVES FREED; BUT CASTES SURVIVE

The Maharajah of Nepal has released some 50,000 slaves—an amazing event in an amazing little country, which the National Geographic Society describes in the following bulletin based on a communication from John Claude White to its Washington, D. C., headquarters:

The Kingdom of Nepal lies among the Himalayan Mountains, of which it owns a fair share. It is one of the least known Asian States.

The road into Nepal is purposely kept in a bad state of repair and runs over unnecessarily difficult country. The Nepalese are a people of very great energy and activity, eager to make the most of any opportunity which offers itself. The population is increasing so fast that outlets have to be found, and the trend of emigration now is to follow the foothills along Bhutan and into Assam.

Festivals Are Numerous They also are a fighting people, have an excellent army and organization, and are fond of show, both in military display and in their religious festivals. The latter are very numerous and in fact seem to be interminable. The women take a prominent part in most of them.

Some of the semi-military pageants end in the massacre of hundreds of buffaloes and indescribable scenes of blood and dead animals. In one such ceremony, known as the blessing of the colors, the commander-in-chief dips his hands in a bowl of blood and claps each banner in turn, thus imprinting on each the mark of bloody hands. The scene is somewhat revolting, but probably has its use in keeping up a martial spirit in the army.

Women Dress in Riotous Colors The Nepalese women wear yards upon yards—sometimes as many as a hundred—of fine muslin plaited to form a huge fan-shaped bunch in front, the back being quite tight. When a lady of rank drives in her barouche she completely fills the carriage with her voluminous skirt of brilliant hue. Above the skirt a vivid little tight-fitting jacket, usually of velvet, is worn; the hair is dressed in a peculiar knot in front, above the forehead and fastened to one side by an enormous gold plaque with a jeweled center. A heavy gold necklace and gold bangles complete her jewelry.

Every imaginable shade is used—purple, pale blue, green, carmine, orange, white, yellow, turquoise, and deep red—and the effect is wonderful.

Though slavery is abolished the castes remain. The inhabitants of Nepal are collectively known as "Brahmins" or "Dwellers in the Hills." The principal castes among the Gurkhas, now the dominant race, follow in order of social precedence:

The following are known as high castes:

1. Brahmins, who eat rice cooked only by members of their own caste. They drink water from the hands of members of castes Nos. 2 to 19.
2. Surmagasi, who eat rice cooked by Brahmins, Thakuris, and Khas only. They drink water from the hands of all castes up to No. 19.
3. Thakuri, who eat rice cooked by Brahmins only. They drink water from hands of all members of all castes up to 19.
4. Khas or Chitli, who eat rice cooked by Brahmins and Thakuris only and drink water from hands of all members of castes Nos. 2 to 19.

Middle Class Castes

The intermediate castes run from 5 to 19, inclusive, and the lower castes from 20 to 24, inclusive. The five castes from 20 to 24 do not have Brahmins as priests. Their priests are members of their own castes. They have no dealings of any kind with castes 1 to 20. They must leave the road on the approach of a member of castes Nos. 1 to 19 and call out to give warning of their approach. They may not enter the courtyards of temples.

The Bantors, Danuars, and Pratries belong to the plains, and no one knows how to classify them in respect to social precedence. Recruiting for the British and Nepalese armies is carried on only from certain of these castes. In addition to these, there are among the Newars, or conquered people, 41 castes and subcastes.

Then all trades are subdivided into castes—such as masons, carpenters and potters.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The last regular meeting of the Court was held on Thursday evening, Aug. 6. This meeting was one of the best this summer.

A complete report of the State Convention was given by Vice Grand Regent, Frances Conlon.

Plans were completed for the annual outing which was held last Saturday at Salem Willows. This outing proved about the best ever conducted by the Court. Everything was taken care of in detail, including the transportation, which was attended to by Sister Mary O'Neil, who left nothing undone to make the trip as comfortable as possible. The dinner was taken care of by Sister Mary Smith, who deserves much praise for her skillful preparations. One of the features of the outing was the sail down the harbor. The most interesting event in the sail was the visit to the President's Yacht which was the Mayflower anchored in the harbor.

A fine entertainment was furnished by some of the more talented members including Sisters Mary O'Neil, Molly McGuire, Mabel City, Mary McGrath, Mary O'Leary and Mary O'Melia.

The buses arrived home at a very late hour and everyone voted it the most enjoyable time ever had for some time.

Sister Katherine O'Connor of White street will spend part of the month of August at Green Harbor. On her return trip she will visit the Millinery Fashion Show at New York to select some new fall models.

Sisters Della and Winifred Kelley and Charlotte Smith and William Kelley of the local telephone exchange will be at the Byron Cottage, Hampton Beach, N. H., for the next three weeks.

Sister Alice Daly is spending a few weeks with her father enjoying the sea breezes at Swampscott.

Sister Nellie Moffett and family have returned from Providence, R. I., where they were visiting Mr. Moffett's mother.

Sister Emily Schell and family are among the Winchester people summering at Hampton Beach.

Sister Dorothy Keen with her brother will tour Canada for the next two weeks via the Mohawk Trail.

The Lawn Whist held on the grounds at the home of Sister Annie Scott last week was certainly a great success. It was without a doubt one of the best of its kind ever conducted by any individual member. There were approximately 60 prizes of unusual value. It is needless to say that Sister Scott spent a great deal of time to make this party a success, and we should all give her unlimited praise and credit. The whist prizes were distributed to the winners and the initial prizes were won by the following:

First Whist prize, Mr. Hugh Skerry; Live Rooster, second prize, Mr. DuBois; Reading; Lucky ticket, $25.00 Gold piece, Mrs. Ella Kennedy; Good street, Electric Pattern on chance, Mrs. Francis Dolan, Broad street.

The fifth in the series of home whists was held at the home of Sister Anastasia Skerry of Clark street, Monday evening, Aug. 10. This, too, was a very successful party and the members and their friends are certainly turning out in large numbers to attend these parties. Mrs. Skerry must also be commented upon for her unusual ability in directing the affair. She certainly put it across big!

The winners were as follows: Mrs. James Maguire, John Smith, Mrs. Mary Kelley, George McElhinney, Mrs. Henry Haley, Mrs. P. Quill Mrs. M. Walters, Mrs. John Mawn, Mrs. Frank Price, Marion Connolly, Mr. Joseph King, James A. Cullen, Mrs. John Murray, Isabelle Rogers, Mrs. Noble, Timothy Callahan, Mrs. W. Thompson, Mrs. M. Ambrose, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. McGowan, Esther Langren, Mrs. Beaton, Mr. William Thompson, Mrs. Minnie O'Connor, Luke Glendon, Mrs. Mabel City, Mrs. John Cullen, Mrs. Frances Smith, Mrs. Mary O'Neil. The consolation prize, a box of cigars, was won by Mr. McIsaac of Main street. The $25.00 gold piece on chances was won by Mrs. Nora O'Melia. Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. John Murray each received prizes for scoring seven points.

The next in the series of parties will be announced later.

Comedy of Claimants

When it was announced that a "read" of treasury notes, the number of which was not made public, had been found in a train at Spalding, Lincolnshire, England, sixty people claimed it. All mentioned different amounts, and no one gave the correct train, time or date.

Snow Awaits in Jerusalem

Snow is so rare in Jerusalem that whenever it falls it is the occasion for dire exclamations and expressions of awe. A real snowfall is so rare, in fact, that when the elements visit the holy city in this way the native residents look upon it as nothing short of disaster.

The Morning for Work

Spill not the morning (the quintessence of the day) in recreations. For sleep itself is a recreation; and not therefore snore to snore; and he cannot properly have any title to be reposed who was not first fatigued. — Thomas Fuller.

Where Swallows Winter

The common barn swallow visits the West Indies during migration and winters in Central America and South America. The tree swallow winters from South Carolina and the Gulf states to the West Indies and Guatemala.

Bloodstone's Composition

The bloodstone is a species of chalcedony and is a green siliceous stone flecked with red. Jewellers as with blood, hence the name. The stone is also known as hematite, which word comes from Greek words meaning the sun, and to burn.

Reducing London's Fog

That London fog is a real scourge this season is due to the fact that the increasing use of electricity in the place of soft coal. London fog is dry fog due to the condensation of aqueous vapor upon the fine particles of dust floating in the air in the smoke from soft coal fires.

Making Beds Easier

An "electric" bedstead which has resulted in an increased output of tonies is patented and tested by electricity during the winter with the result that the bedstead will collect tonies earlier in the spring than usual.

Effects of Praise

Praise has different effects, according to the kind of it. It moves with it. It is a wise man's modesty, but a fool's more arrogant, turning his weak brain to dizziness.

Considerable interest was caused last Saturday by the appearance in town of two large buses such as have been used by the Massachusetts Street Railway Company and such as were refused a license to operate through the town by the Selectmen. Considerable conjecture was rife as to whether new licenses had been granted, and particularly as one of the big buses was parked for some time at the Town Hall. It turned out, however, that the buses were not being run as such, but were serving in place of trucks to take a picnic party from Woburn to Salem Willows. The conference in the square between one of the bus drivers and Officer Farrell was over a no more important matter than the handiest route to the former's destination.

ITALIANS STAGE TWO-DAY CELEBRATION

Big Crowd Attends Band Concert and Fireworks Saturday Evening

With a band concert and big display of fireworks on Manchester Field this year's observance of "Assumption Day" by the Italian residents of the town was brought to a successful close. For the first time the celebration was made a two-day affair, and to all appearances was bigger and better than ever.

Friday's arrangements were somewhat dampened by the uncertain status of the weather which continued threatening well into the late afternoon. Finally it was decided to go through with the program as arranged, calling for a band concert on Manchester Field with a small display of fireworks at 9 o'clock. Despite the threatening weather a fairly good sized crowd was on hand at 7:30 when the Roma Band of Boston started the concert of the evening which comprised largely concert and operatic selections. Probably the gathering would have been larger again by half had the night been pleasant. Shortly before 10 the fireworks were set off, but the display was not elaborate, serving merely in the nature of a reminder of what was to come the next evening.

The arrival of Saturday morning found weather conditions ideal, and the day's program was carried out without a hitch. For the Italian residents of the town it was a long day starting at 6 o'clock with special masses in St. Mary's Church. During the morning, and much of the afternoon a group of men were busy at Manchester Field getting ready the fireworks, but the next event upon the formal program was the big parade which started shortly before 3, and which was heralded throughout the town by the firing of three heavy bombs from the playground.

The roster of the parade included the police escort which was made up of Sgt. William Rogers and officers John Hogan and Charles Harrold, followed by the committee of six men who were in general charge of the entire affair. Next came a large group of school children, gaily bedecked and carrying banners, who were followed by the statue of the Virgin, born upon the shoulders of four men, and guarded by a good sized escort. Next came the band, and then the line of march including many of the Italian citizens of the town in costumes. A detachment of decorated automobiles completed the turnout. The parade started at St. Mary's Church, and followed a route along Washington street west to Main street, and thence to the square, returning past the church by way of Mt. Vernon street. At Swanton street the parade turned to the left and marched through the principal streets of the Italian section before dispersing.

The evening's program commenced at 7:30 when the Roma Band began its second concert which like the first consisted for the most part of the heavier operatic airs preferred by the Italian lover of real music to the lighter, jazzier numbers which undoubtedly would have been more enjoyed by the crowd as a whole. And speaking of the crowd, police officials who had it in charge were unanimous in naming it the largest ever to attend an "Italian Day" in Winchester. Long before 6 in the evening the automobiles were beginning to pick out advantageous parking spaces along the boulevards, and by starting time there was not an available space for a machine between the Unitarian Church at Main street and Mystic avenue. Before the band concert had been in progress an hour the machines were stretched as far south as Bacon street with all side streets off the parkway crowded to capacity.

The band concert this year continued until just before 10 o'clock when the first of the fireworks was set off. The announced schedule had the display carried for 9 p. m., and the crowd was growing impatient long before the first aerial bomb interrupted the blare of the horns. The delay has been explained by the fact that the Italians wished to hear more of the band before starting the fireworks, the musicians of necessity stopping as soon as the display begins.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage Intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Sunita Giogliotti and Alphonse Lambiasi, both of 2 Tremont street; and by Elizabeth Milligan of 101 Swanton street and Rizio Riggs of 20 Spruce street.

BUSY WEEK-END FOR OFFICER SHEA

Mounted officer "Ned" Shea who with his handsome mien is familiar to all who frequent the beautiful Middlesex Fells Reservation had rather a busy time during the past week-end, making with the assistance of his brother officer Harry Dotten, five arrests, one on Saturday morning, and the other four Sunday evening.

His first catch was one Frank Kiezow who gave his address as Boston. Officer Shea took him into custody near the peninsula between the South and Middle Reservoirs when he discovered him making away with a coil of flexible wire used for making connections. In the District Court Monday morning Kiezow was found guilty, and was fined $25.

Everything then remained quiet for the mounted police until the evening of the Sabbath when one might well suppose all would be serene in the woods. Everything did seem to be quiet until officer Shea approached the North reservoir where he heard sounds which led him to believe that the pond was being used for illegal purposes. Sure enough as he got nearer he found that the sheet of water was being occupied by four youths who were apparently enjoying themselves to the utmost while swimming in its clear depths. Now such is distinctly against the well known law that the waters of the reservoirs shall not be used for bathing so officer Shea rode forward to remonstrate with the youthful revelers. When the boys saw the officer's uniform they quickly left the water, and scattered into the woods in the general direction of Bear Hill. Summoning officer Dotten with his police whistle officer Shea gave chase, and soon rounded up the swimmers, removing them to the Winchester Police Station. There they gave their names as Joseph Petronio, aged 17; Rocco Frenda, aged 13; Guy Leno, aged 13; and Ralph Frongillo, aged 15. Their homes, they stated were in East Boston, and their parents were notified of their predicament. Monday morning in the District Court their cases were placed on file, and their next swim in the Winchester Water Works is likely to be an expensive one.

SOMERVILLE GIRL BADLY HURT WHEN MOTORCYCLE UPSET ON PARKWAY

A young lady giving her name as Virginia Brown and her address as Somerville was badly injured last Saturday afternoon on the Mystic Valley Parkway near Lloyd street when a motorcycle on which she was riding with Michael Cantwell of 62 Bristol road, Somerville, upset as its operator tried to avoid striking a dog. According to the police account of the accident Cantwell was forced to apply his brakes very suddenly as the dog ran into his path without warning. In doing so the motorcycle, a Harley-Davidson owned by the driver, was overturned, throwing both riders to the ground. Miss Brown was removed to the Winchester Hospital where she was found to have sustained a concussion to the brain. She was treated by Dr. F. E. Brown.

HOSPITAL MAY GO TO WALPOLE

It is reported that there is a strong probability that the so-called Veterans' Hospital for the treatment of mental diseases may be erected in Walpole, and much interest is reported in Walpole relative to the proposed site. According to report the Walpole site is on the Wrentham road, where the old East Norfolk Hospital was situated. The buildings are vacant and are available for the purpose required, and the site is said to have many favorable features.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S OUTING AT SALEM WILLOWS

Republican Women of Essex and Middlesex Counties will hold their outing at Salem Willows, Tuesday, Aug. 25, from 12 noon to 5 p. m. Special guests of honor will be Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mrs. William M. Butler, Congressman Florence Nourse Rogers, Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, Secretary of State of New York, Mrs. Curtis Guild, Representative Harriet Russell Hart, Mrs. Charles Shulman.

Music will be furnished by the Salem Cadet Band. Of a Fashioned luncheon. All Winchester's Republican women are cordially invited.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell was sent to Stone avenue at Washington street, police headquarters having received complaints about boys throwing gravel at the electric cars.

MAN INJURED WHEN AUTO STRUCK GRANERY

One young man escaped injury while his companion was badly hurt when an automobile in which they were riding left the road on upper Main street, and crashed into the front of C. H. Symmes grain mill early last Saturday morning. The accident was apparently caused by the driver losing control of the machine.

Officer John Noonan of the Winchester police was on duty in the square at the time of the accident, and hearing the crash, hastened up Main street in the department's automobile. Arriving at the Symmes mill he found the automobile, an Oldsmobile touring car, smashed against the front of the building while its occupants were in the roadway, the driver unhurt, but his companion bleeding profusely from injuries about the head. Officer Noonan rushed the injured man to the Winchester Hospital where his wounds were treated. It was at first feared that he had sustained a fractured skull, but subsequent examinations proved him not so seriously hurt, and he was later discharged.

The operator of the car was arrested charged with drunkenness. In the District Court Monday morning he pleaded guilty to this charge and was fined $10. The touring car had evidently struck the grain shed with terrific force as it had dislodged the heavy stone steps at the front of the building, and knocked them several feet besides damaging some of the cladding and the front door. Both of the forward wheels of the car were smashed, and the entire front end badly damaged by the force of the impact.

WINCHESTER PEOPLE INTERESTED

Many Winchester people are interested in the campaign organized by the United States Bureau of Education in co-operation with the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, to send children 100 per cent perfect in health to school in September.

In outlining the idea, the campaign director states as follows:

1. How many first-grade children in your school district must repeat the grade next year?

2. That repeating discourages the child.

3. That repeating is often due to physical defects that are easily remedied.

4. That each repeater costs the school district from $72.50 to $80 per year.

5. That parents can save this waste by correcting the defects of their children before they enter school.

Winchester has two parent-teacher associations, the members of which are interested in the proposed campaign. Full information regarding it may be obtained by applying to the United States Commissioner of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., or of the Campaign Director, 5517 Germantown avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

LIFE SAVING LESSONS AT SANDY

Next Monday afternoon, August 24, for one week only a series of free lessons in life saving will be given daily at Sandy Beach on Mystic Lake by Captain Jack Wallace and Dave McSweeney, life saving experts of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, American Red Cross. Any swimmer of ordinary ability of either sex, 12 years of age or over, who can swim a distance of 100 yards may register for the course of instruction. Classes will be divided into two groups, boys 12 to 17 years meeting for the junior course at 2 p. m., daily, with girls between these ages at 3 p. m. and everyone over 17 years of age meeting at 4 p. m., for senior lessons. The lessons offered will be the Standard Red Cross Life Saving Course taught all over the United States by the Red Cross Chapters. At the conclusion of the lessons at Sandy, tests will be given and those who qualify will be enrolled as full-fledged Red Cross Life Savers, and will be permitted to wear the Red Cross emblem upon their jerseys.

BUS DRIVER FOUND GUILTY ON RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE

After two continuations the case of Cecil LaFlamme, bus driver, of Nashua, N. H., who was arrested at 1:15 on the morning of Aug. 5 by officer William Cassidy of the Winchester Police and charged with speeding and operating his machine on Cambridge street so as to endanger the lives of the public, came up in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning.

LaFlamme, it was alleged by the police, driving one of the big Interstate buses along Cambridge street when he was noticed by officer Cassidy. The big vehicle was going at a terrific speed which the local patrolman estimated at between 45 and 50 miles an hour. Blowing his police whistle and throwing his flashlight on the bus, officer Cassidy attempted to stop the machine, and it did slow down some distance from where he had his try, but upon his approach, immediately started off again towards Arlington.

Just at this time a Hudson touring car driven by William Casey of Billerica arrived upon the scene. Casey with other occupants of the car registered a complaint with the police officer, saying that the big bus had very nearly crashed into their machine at the Burlington-Woburn line, and that they were chasing it to secure its number.

Commanding Casey's car officer Cassidy gave chase to the bus, and when at a point on Cambridge street near the Winchester Country Club ordered his driver to pass the big machine. As Casey attempted to do so, the bus pulled sharply across the road making it necessary for the touring car to go well up onto the sidewalk to avoid ditching. The patrolman again blew his whistle, and this time the bus came to a stop, officer Cassidy placing its driver under arrest.

The patrolman's story was substantiated by Casey, and other occupants of the Hudson car at the trial Tuesday. LaFlamme stated that he was taking the bus from Manchester, N. H., to Boston, and that when he first saw the Hudson car at the Burlington-Woburn line he suspected a hold-up, and still felt such was the motive when the touring car attempted to pass him at the Country Club. When he heard the police whistle he stopped the car. He claimed to have seen the officer when the latter had signalled him to stop the first time, but upon slowing down and seeing that the car chasing him had stopped, had continued on.

After listening to the various testimony Judge Norton found LaFlamme guilty on both counts. He imposed a fine of $30 for driving so as to endanger the lives of the public, and ordered the court of speeding filed.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Two weeks ago tomorrow the Town Team lost to the Woburn Independents 6 to 4 in a game that should have been a win for Winchester. Since the game many hot arguments have arisen in regard to the ability of both teams. The Winchester fans claim that Woburn was lucky to score a run let alone win a game and the Woburn fans claim that the Independents can beat Winchester seven days in the week. Be that as it may the Midgate and Independents battled last Wednesday for the lead in the Woburn City League before a crowd of 2000 people, and the understanding was that the winner of the game would play here tomorrow. The Independents through some good baseball won the game giving them a clear lead in the fight for the Rotary Club trophy and Manager Clark will bring the same team here tomorrow for a game. Many Woburn fans will journey down to see this game. Kelley or Tansey will do the pitching for Winchester with Melly behind the bat and a new second baseman.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ramsdell of Summit avenue are the parents of a son, Robert Charles, born August 12 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callahan of Richardson street are the parents of a daughter, born August 15 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Connolly of Richardson street are the parents of a daughter, Mary Florence, born August 18 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fenton of this town are being congratulated on the birth of a boy, who is to be named Clifford Edward.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The public schools will open Wednesday, Sept. 9.

Pupils entering the kindergarten must be at least four years and eight months of age on Sept. 1.

Pupils entering the first grade must be at least five years and eight months of age on Sept. 1.

All pupils must be vaccinated previous to entrance or present a physician's certificate stating that they are not fit subjects for vaccination. Parents of pupils not of school age, but who believe their children have matured faster than their age would indicate, may if they so desire, arrange at the office of the superintendent of schools for an appointment for a mental test to be given Sept. 3 and Sept. 4. Appointments may be made for either day.

High School Notes

All High School students who have studied during the summer will have an opportunity to make up examinations in any of the regular High School subjects in which they have failed, on Sept. 8. The examinations will be given in the High School building at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A student will receive a full year's credit for any subject in which he passes the make-up examination.

In order to be eligible to take examinations, students must notify the High School office before Sept. 3, what examination they wish to take, and submit evidence of summer study in preparation for the examination. auct-31

WINCHESTER MAN WINS NAVY RADIO SCHOOL HONORS

George R. Mitchell of 6 Park avenue, this town, a seaman, second class, in the navy, has been admitted to the ranks of the honor men, graduates of navy trade schools.

Mr. Mitchell, according to advices received yesterday from the Navy Department by Commander George N. Barker, chief of the Navy Recruiting Station, 66 Hanover street, has just been graduated from the Navy Radio School at Hampton Roads, Va. as honor man.

Formerly an automobile mechanic, Mr. Mitchell enlisted in Boston Dec. 9, 1924, and was transferred to the Naval Training Station at Newport, thence to the radio school, where his aptitude for the service, together with his close application to study and military appearance, merited the distinction awarded him.

He is the son of Mrs. Annie I. Mitchell.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday Aug. 20 as follows:

George Smith, Winchester, new dwelling at 48 Wildwood street.

Walter Chamberlin, Winchester, addition to present dwelling on Wildwood street.

Mary E. Downer, Boston, new dwelling off High street.

F. Henry Pierce, Winchester, new dwelling and garage on Marshall street.

POPULAR PARK OFFICER RETIRED

Winchester residents, especially motorists or those who for one reason or another have had occasion to frequent the Parkway along the Abenja River and Mystic Lakes will regret to learn that Officer William Maglone who has patrolled the beat from High street in Medford to the Fish Hatchery in the Middlesex Fells will be placed upon the retired list, and pensioned upon the expiration of a two weeks' vacation. For the past 20 years "Billy," as he is known to the many friends he has made throughout this district, has been a patrolman upon the Metropolitan Park reservations. Of late years he has been exclusively attached to the Mystic Lakes beat where his genial personality and ready smile endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. Always a gentleman, few have had cause to complain of the treatment accorded them by "Billy" Maglone, and it is with regret that the Star sees him leave the beat which he has patrolled so long and faithfully.

Mrs. D. W. Hawes, Miss Edna Hawes and Mr. Loring G. Hawes and family are at Hyannis where they will be joined by Mr. Hawes over the week-end.

COMING EVENTS

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester Boy Scouts are encamped on the shores of Penobscot Bay at North Port, Me. Ten boys made the trip by boat in charge of Scoutmaster James Fitch while the remainder of the party came over the road in the camp truck with Assistant Scoutmaster Dwight Hill and Scout Executive Arthur Butters.

The boys are housed as follows. In the "Wigwag" in charge of James Fitch are: John Black, Harfield Capron, John Robinson, Bill Brown, Harold Smith and Henry Doucette. In the tent are Allan Wilson, George Byrne, Gordon Gillette and Andy Skilling. In the lodge are Bradford Hill and "Bill" Higgins. In the annex are Donald Higgins, "Red" McKee and William Russell.

The first day's program was as follows:

6:45—Reveille.
7:00—Morning exercise.
7:30—Flag raising.
7:45—Morning dip.
7:45—Breakfast.
9:00—Inspection.
9:30—Class in signalling, first aid, nature study and fire building.
11:00—Swimming Period.
12:30—Dinner.
1:00—Rest hour.
2:00—Ball game.
4:00—Boat tests.
5:45—Retreat.
6:00—Supper.
6:15—Fishing.
9:00—Taps.

As features of the camp the Scouts will climb Mt. Battie in Camden and take an overnight trip around the bay by motorboat camping on Pleasant Island.

The "tent" won the first two inspections and "Andy" Skilling was the individual winner for both days. The boys found the salt water cold the first day but as they became used to it, are enjoying it greatly.

George Byrne has been appointed Camp Supply Officer.

The track party are very grateful to Mr. Bradford of Wiscasset, Me. for the splendid camping privilege he extended to them on the way down.

Asst. Scout Master Hill, a former member of the Harvard varsity swimming team is in charge of the water work.

A clam bake and marshmallow toast was held Tuesday night.

All scouts are to spend a part of Thursday morning in construction of a raft for swimming.

WINCHESTER ENTRIES IN NORTH SHORE TENNIS

Several of Winchester's youthful tennis enthusiasts who play much of their tennis on the town's courts at Palmer street participated in the North Shore tennis tournament at the Tedesco Country Club Monday. A large gallery watched the play. Among the local entries in the girls' and junior girls' play were Gertrude and Louise Packer, Nancy Bradley, Virginia Merrill, and Frances Pettigrew. Both Gertrude and Louise Packer survived the first round in their division, the latter by defeating her sister "townie," Virginia Merrill, 6-4, 6-1. Louise was put out in the second round after what was described as the feature match of the girls' play, by Virginia Rice in two well contested sets, 6-2, 6-2. Herbert Rowe was the only Winchester entry we noted in the boys' half, and he was successful in getting by the first round of play, winning his match in straight sets.

Rowe finally advanced to the semi-final round of the singles, being put out by A. J. Huxley, Jr. 7-5, 6-4. In the mixed doubles Miss Louise Packer and J. Richardson got as far as the third round while in the girls' doubles Janet Smith paired with Elsie Jansen got safely by the second round by defeating Priscilla Crosby and Ethel White, 6-2, 6-0.

ELKS' WHIST LARGELY ATTENDED

One of the largest turnouts of the summer was on hand Tuesday evening in Lyceum Hall when Winchester Lodge of Elks conducted its mammoth whist party for the benefit of its Frolic and Lawn Party which is to be held at the K. of C. House and grounds on Labor Day afternoon and evening.

More than 250 were present with an even 50 tables enjoying cards until a late hour. There was an attractive list of prizes for the evening which was topped by four awards of shining $5 gold pieces. The fortunate winners of the "cartwheels" were Mrs. John Connors, Mrs. Maurice Dinnick, Sr., Mr. Hugh Skerry, and Mrs. Charles Doherty.

Other prize winners included Mrs. B. Davis, Mrs. Frank Nagle, Mrs. C. Peterson, Mrs. J. E. Turpin, Miss Nellie Sullivan, Mrs. F. F. Noble, Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. Catherine Kean, Mrs. D. F. Sullivan, Miss Ruth Kean, Mrs. Fred H. Scholl, Mr. H. C. Bond, Mr. Jack Halligan, Mr. Patrick White, Mr. Peter Cullen, Mr. Tim Hannon, and Mr. Luke Glendon.

Special prizes were awarded as follows: Most losses, Mrs. Fughskall, first seven, Mr. Newell Furrington; and $250 gold piece on chances, Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald.

The committee of Elks in charge of the whist included, Fred H. Scholl, ELK, chairman; G. H. Lockman, ELK; William Vayo, John D. Coakley and James J. Fitzgerald.

Remarkable Island.

One of the most remarkable islands in the world is Patmos, where St. John wrote the Book of Revelation. It was always the destination of thousands of pilgrims, and in the old days the rich man who wished to expiate his sins usually did so by building a church. The result is that this tiny island contains the ruins of no fewer than 300 churches.

FELL FROM HORSE IN FELS

Early Tuesday evening while riding near the log cabin in the Middlesex Fells a young lady had a narrow escape from injury when she was thrown from her horse. She was discovered by mounted officer "Ned" Shea and taken to the police cabin where the local headquarters was notified. The police find was dispatched, and the unfortunate rider taken to the police station where she gave her name as Miss Agnes Cullen and her home address as Somerville. She was found to have escaped injury and was allowed to go to her home.

WINCHESTER BOY ON TWO WEEKS' CRUISE

Robert S. Woodbury, as a member of the U. S. Naval Radio Reserve, is on a two weeks' cruise aboard the U. S. Destroyer "Breck." Mr. Woodbury who has successfully completed a two year course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, since his graduation from the Winchester High School, is planning to attend Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa., this fall. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Woodbury of Manchester road.

Punctuation Quite Modern.

Aristophanes of Alexandria used punctuation to some extent in 250 B.C. There was no system of punctuation, however, until about 1500 A. D. Aldous Manutius, a learned Venetian printer, noted for the beauty of his style, employed it at this time.

Change Their Coats.

In cold countries where snow prevails during a long winter many animals change the hue of their coats to a white tint. The case of the weasel is especially curious; it retains its brown coat until the first snow appears, and then whitens in a few hours.

ITALIANS STAGE TWO-DAY CELEBRATION

Whether or not the fireworks display this year was better than, or as good as those of previous seasons we shall not attempt to prove. Suffice it to say that the showing was good including as it did several elaborate set pieces, that depicting the king of Italy being especially fine, and considered one of the best ever shown in town. Another fine piece was that announcing the carnival to be held by the Winchester Lodge of Elks on Labor Day, and still another was a particularly beautiful fountain. On the whole the rockets are more popular than the set pieces owing to the ease with which they can be seen by everyone, and surely last Saturday's rockets and bombs were easily up to the mark. The fact that there was little or no wind during the evening made it even harder than usual for those on the Parkway or at some little distance from the fireworks to see the set pieces, as the smoke hung low about them throughout.

Everyone was waiting for the grand finale, and when it arrived no one was disappointed. The most ardent lover of pure and unadulterated noise could find no fault with the barrage which closed this year's display while the blinding white flashes lit up the sky so as to easily be visible for miles around. The program closed with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, and the crowd prepared to leave for their several homes. To the writer the handling of this huge mob of people and automobiles is one of the big features of the whole celebration, and this year things were very smoothly taken care of. The Metropolitan District Commission had a detachment of six patrolmen in charge of Sgt. Leonard S. Pearl on the job, and in an incredibly short space of time the Parkway was cleared, and ready for nearly normal traffic conditions. Co-operating with the Metropolitan officers were the Winchester Police who handled the crowd on the field, in the square, and upon the various side streets leading into the boulevard.

The local officers were in charge of Sergeants Cassidy and Rogers, and everything was taken care of in an orderly manner. The press of traffic through the center both before and after the celebration was the worst which the town has seen for some time, and it is distinctly to the credit of the Winchester Department that no accidents were reported.

The committee of citizens having the entire two days' celebration in charge included Messrs. James V. Barbato, chairman; Pietro Scascia, Vincenzo Gigliotti, Enrie Fiore, Joseph Rania, and Gaetano Scascia.

Following are the complete programs for both evenings as played by the Roma Band of Boston:

Friday Evening, 7:30 O'clock
March Sinfonia ..... Alberici
Sinfonia, William Tell ..... Rossini
Fantasia, 1. Puccini Di Peri (The Pearl)

Sinfonia, La Garza Lactra ..... Rossini
Fantasia, Asia ..... Verdi
Sinfonia, Castiglione ..... Verdi
L'Arlesienne ..... Bizet
Fox Trot, Titina

Probably Is.

Everybody is probably concealing a great deal more than he is telling you; and isn't it better so?

ANOTHER CRASH AT CHURCH AND WILDWOOD STREETS

Mrs. E. B. Badger of Wedgemere avenue was injured Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Buick sport model touring car in which she was riding with her daughter, Nancy, and a maid was struck by a Buick touring car owned and operated by Edgar Graham of 87 Bedford street, Burlington. The accident occurred at the corner of Church and Wildwood streets where many bad motor mishaps have previously taken place. Mrs. Badger was driving her machine west along Church street while Graham was coming out of Wildwood street, his car striking the Badger machine about midway between the front and rear ends. Both cars were damaged by the collision, and Mrs. Badger was found to have sustained minor injuries as a result of the crash. She was taken to her home by officer John Hogan in the police car, and treated by Dr. R. L. Emery. The other members of her party escaped unhurt.

A Rare Amulet.

A Jade amulet discovered at the San Juan de Teotihuacan pyramids, near Mexico City, had the following engraved Chinese inscription: "The golden fish that passes by the Dragon's gate is converted into a dragon." The Chinese inscription, readily interpreted by the inscription, which is a quotation from a very old Chinese lyric.

Clinton's "Folly."

The Erie canal has been known both as Clinton's Ditch and Clinton's Folly. The reference is to Governor Clinton's interest in the promotion of the Erie canal project. The canal became a political question and on this issue Clinton was elected governor in 1817.

Facts About Compass

The angle between the true north and the magnetic north is called the "magnetic variation," and has to be allowed for in navigation. Thus, when the song says "True as the compass to the star," it is taking nonsense because, although the star is fixed, the compass is not. Nevertheless, its variations are well known, so that the compass remains the seaman's most valuable possession.

Origin of "Blue Blood."

Blue blood is a translation of the Spanish "sangre azul," attributed to some of the oldest and proudest families of Castile, who claimed never to have been contaminated by Moorish, Jewish or other foreign admixture. The expression probably originated in the blueness of the veins of people of fair complexion as compared with those of dark skin.

The Homeless Little Ones

The Toledo Journal says: "A Toledo woman reports that out of eight homes for rent she answered in the Journal, she was asked seven times if she had children. Four landlords wouldn't consider such a hazard and three just happened to remember that the house had been rented no hour before."

DRESSER IS NAMED VERMONT COACH

Was Instructor of Physical Training at High School Past Season

Henry A. (Hank) Dresser, director of physical education in the Winchester schools last year and former athletic coach at Tech High School in Springfield, has been appointed a variety line coach at Vermont University.
Dresser also will be assistant director of physical education and athletics and also may coach basketball.

The appointment of Dresser is part of a general reorganization of athletics at Vermont. Dr. A. K. Aldinger, for the past 20 years physical education supervisor in the New York city public schools, is head of the recently created department of the physical education and holds a full professorship.

Dresser made a name for himself in athletics at Springfield College and gained more fame as a coach at Tech High. During three years of coaching baseball, basketball and football his Tech teams lost but one victory, championship. He developed several athletes that have since been prominent in college athletics. His Tech baseball team of two seasons ago was rated as a par with the best in the state.
Dresser resigned at Tech a year ago last June to take the position of instructor of physical education and faculty manager of athletics at the local high school. He did not do any active coaching. While at Winchester he also took a post-graduate course at Harvard. This summer he attended the football school at Springfield College where Knute Rockne of Notre Dame and Bill Rorer of Princeton were the featured gridiron teachers.

EMBLEM CLUB WHIST

Next Wednesday night, Aug. 26, in Lycium Hall, a whist party will be given by the club in aid of the annual field day of the local lodge, B. P.
O. E., scheduled for Labor Day.

The committee in charge includes the following well-known ladies: Mrs.
Ella Halligan, chairman; Mrs. May E.
O'Neil, Mrs. Josephine Power, Mrs.
Nellie M. Moffett, and Mrs. Gordo Horn. As this committee is making every effort to make the club's quota towards the expenses of the field day, every member should take it upon himself to help in some way—give a prize and buy one ticket.

To create additional interest in the affair Mrs. Anna W. Lochman, general chairman, has donated five dollars in gold to be distributed as prizes, and the management reports several other donations well worth while, including a boudoir lamp, a 25-pound bag of sugar, a bag of flour, towels, dishes and other desirable articles. In all it is estimated that over 60 prizes will be on display, which ought to prove an attractive feature for every whist fan in town.

For those who like to take home something good to the "stay-at-homes," there will be a cake sale.
This will be a good opportunity of sampling the wares of the famous caterers of the club—than whom there are none better. If you can't take home a prize, then take home a cake and everyone will be satisfied.

There is not much time left between now and Labor Day—the "Bike" field day—the committee on refreshments are to meet this Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Scholl where plans will be submitted for feeding the multitude.

The committee in charge of the apron and novelty booth held a get-together meeting the first of the week. Mrs. Margaret E. Sharon, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Edna Gilchrist, Mrs. Ethel Horn, Mrs.
Mildred Hobbey, Mrs. Cecelia H. Ford, Mrs. Frances T. Dinnien, Mrs. Nellie Moffett and Mrs. Mabel Larson.

HALE WON AT WINCHESTER

Last Saturday's golf at the Winchester Country Club was a handicap medal play for members. F. L. Hale with a net of 68 turned in the low card for the afternoon, one stroke under the 69s shown by H. T. Bond and H. A. Norton. Bond had the best gross of 79. The scores:

F. L. Hale, 88—68; H. T. Bond, 79—
69; H. A. Norton, 82—68; C. A. Bean, 82—70; H. W. Stratton, 92—73; W.
O'Hara, 88—74; P. Hart, 99—75; F. F.
Nazo, 85—76; A. M. Bond, 85—79.

Loose Door Knob

When a door knob remains loose for some time the set screw threads in the spindle are likely to become so badly worn as to be worthless. Instead of retapping the spindle and fitting a round-headed brass screw, simply turn a round-headed brass wood screw of suitable size into the old hole.
The iron will cut threads in the brass and bind the screw so that it will not work loose.—Popular Science Monthly.

Lapps Famed in Witchcraft

The Lapps at one time had a great reputation for witchcraft and it was said English seamen used to go to Lapland to "buy a wind" from the natives.

NEW ALASKAN NAMES ADOPTED

The decisions announced by the United States Geographic Board after its last meeting of the summer include the adoption for use on all Government maps the last 10 names bestowed by Dr. Robert F. Griggs, leader of the National Geographic Society's Alaskan Expeditions on natural features explored and surveyed in the Katmai National Monument region.

These names, which have already appeared on the maps published by the National Geographic Society but which now are to appear for the first time on Government maps of Alaska, are:

Lake Grosvenor, Lake Coville, Mt.
LaGorce, Bay of Islands, Brooks Falls, Lake Brooks, Fultons Falls, Hagelbargers Pass, Martin Creek and Mt. Martin.

Two Noteworthy Lakes

Lake Grosvenor and Lake Coville, named for Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, President of the National Geographic Society and for Dr. Frederick V. Co-ville, chairman of the Society's research committee respectively, lie to the northeast of the Katmai Monument.

Lake Grosvenor is 28 miles long and has been described by surveyors as the most beautiful body of water in this part of the Alaskan peninsula.
It is shut in on all sides by high, forested mountains, but may be reached by an easy portage of a mile and a half from the Bay of Islands or by ascending Savoniski River, which flows into Iluk Arm.

Lake Coville is also surrounded by mountains which rise to 3,000 feet.
It is connected with Lake Grosvenor
by a short, swift stream.

Mount LaGorce, named in honor of John Oliver LaGorce, Vice President of the National Geographic Society, is an imposing peak rising to a height of 3,315 feet just within the limits of the Katmai National Monument, and overlooking Iluk Arm to the south.
Bay of Islands to the north and Lake
Grosvenor to the east.

Studded With Granite Islets

Bay of Islands is an arm of Naknek Lake lying to the north of the Katmai National Monument. It is a beautiful body of water studded with more than 100 forest-clad granite islets.

Lake Brooks lies to the south of Naknek Lake and is separated from the latter by a high mountain. It drains into Naknek by a short, swift river which tumbles over a ledge about seven feet high forming Brooks Falls. It was at this fall that members of one of the Society's expeditions observed the salmon leaping upstream over the ledge at the rate of 1200 an hour. It was estimated that a million fish were breeding above the falls. Both the lake and the falls are named in honor of the late Dr. Alfred H. Brooks, chief Alaskan geologist of the U. S. Geological Survey, and a pioneer in Alaska exploration.

Fultons Falls, which occur on a tributary of Katmai River, have been so named in recognition of the work of Bentley B. Fulton, entomologist of the Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oregon. Mr. Fulton, formerly a student under Dr. Robert F. Griggs, leader of the Katmai expeditions, did especially valuable work during the season of 1915.

Found Geographic Harbor Route

Hagelbargers Pass was found by Paul Hagelbarger, who was a member of the 1917, 1918 and 1919 expeditions. In 1919 Dr. Griggs detailed him to try to find a feasible route from Geographic Harbor (the natural haven for future visitors) to the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes. He and one companion not only found the pass which now bears his name (at an elevation of 1,000 feet), but with William N. Hemming surveyed all of the peninsula lying between Geographic Harbor and Kinak Bay. It is hoped that some day an automobile highway will go over this pass, opening up the natural marvels of this region to the outside world.

Martin Creek and Mt. Martin (a conic volcano near the southwest corner of the monument) were named by Dr. Griggs in honor of George C. Martin, who led the National Geographic Society's first expedition to the Katmai Region shortly after the cataclysmic eruption of Katmai Volcano in June, 1912.

SYDNEY: AUSTRALIA'S METROPOLIS

Of all the ports at which American Blue Jacks call in their journey in the Pacific, Sydney, Australia, probably seems least like a foreign city, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Sydney is big and bustling, continues the bulletin. It has business buildings on the American plan; wide awake newspapers (printed in English, of course); fine shops; theaters offering London and New York hits; and restaurants that serve roast beef and potatoes and "ham-and." In a word, Able Seamen Tommy Taylor of St. Louis and Dick Martin of Atlanta
—as well as Ole Anderson of Minneapolis and Juan Gomez of Los Angeles—will find pretty much the same atmosphere here they are used to back home. Citizens of other Australian cities are constantly chiding Sydneys with having become Americanized.

In Many Ways Like San Francisco

Specifically, Sydney is most often compared with San Francisco. The similarity begins at the harbor mouth where the Sydney Heads stand in place of the Golden Gate, marking the doorway to a great land-locked bay with a huge city climbing the hills from its shores. The streets of Sydney, however, are neither so broad nor so steep as those of the golden Gate city. Another point of similarity between Sydney and San Francisco is the existence of thriving suburban communities across the bay and the busy shuttling of ferries back and forth.

Its excellent harbor has been one of the big factors in making Sydney, with its population of about a million, the great city which it is today. The Heads stand about a mile apart—great, pink sandstone cliffs, one 240 and the other 270 feet high. From the Heads the harbor winds inland for 13 miles, varying in width from a quarter to two miles. Its importance is greatly enhanced by the existence of innumerable arms and bays and coves, nearly all with deep water to the shore, making them admirable for the handling of shipping. The harbor has been compared to a huge fern leaf with its many convolutions.
Nearly 2000 miles of water front is available in Sydney harbor. The people of Sydney insist that theirs is the best harbor in the world; and certainly it is among the finest.

Circular Quay City's Center

Most of the peninsulas and points are wooded and stand high above the water and have been used as sites for handsome villas and more modest bungalows.

The city had its birth on Sydney Cove, four miles inside the Heads on the southern shore of the harbor.
There Governor Phillip, the father of Australia, landed in January, 1788, and about this cove the city, small and great, has ever since centered. Along the shore of the cove is the well-known circular quay on which passengers from the great ocean liners land, and to and from which most of the ferries ply.

On the land side, the chief streets lead from the circular quay. The street of streets is Pitt. On it and George, Elizabeth and Castlereagh streets near-by are shops that bear comparison with the best in London or New York, the principal theaters, banking houses and insurance offices.
The older buildings in Sydney are of British architecture, but the newer business buildings are built with the steel frame construction so popular in America, and are, in fact, modest skyscrapers. Since early days the height of buildings has been limited to 150 feet, and the limit is strictly adhered to.

An Out-Door City

Sydney is approximately in the latitude of Valparaiso and Buenos Aires, a comparable latitude to Santa Barbara, Cal. The climate is delightful and Sydneys are enthusiastic out-door advocates. Most of the residences are provided with sleeping porches used the year round. The provisions for sports and recreations are abundant.
Three fine beaches open to the ocean are in easy reach, and almost in the city is a race track. The larger parks are provided with golf links, football fields, cricket pitches, and tennis courts, while small parks in the heart of the city make available bowling greens, covered howling alleys, and croquet grounds.

Sydney is growing faster than most of the large cities of the world. Within the past year it is believed to have passed the million mark. Already one-sixth of the population of the huge Australian continent is concentrated in Sydney and its growth goes rapidly on.

THANKS FROM NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY

The National Geographic Society
recently issued a statement thanking amateur radio operators for their cooperation thus far in relaying news dispatches from the MacMillan Arctic Expedition and calling attention to the way these messages are to be handled.

One of the interesting phases of the MacMillan National Geographic Expedition is the fact that the world is getting its news of the explorers through the co-operation of a thousand or more American amateur radio operators, adepts at short wave length reception and sending, the statement says.

The further co-operation of these amateurs is requested in a careful observance of the arrangements for forwarding these messages to the National Geographic Society by relay, telegraph, or mail, according to the instructions given with each message by the WXP operator, John L. Reinartz, aboard the Bowdoin.

Through misunderstanding on the part of some operators some messages have been delivered to persons other than to the National Geographic Society or the Navy Department to whom they are addressed.

The American Radio Relay League, which has extended much helpful cooperation in the transmission of the messages is sending out nightly a special broadcast, calling attention to the fact that radio messages have the same confidential status as telegrams and letters so far as their delivery to the addressee is concerned. The Radio Relay League's broadcast says:

Amateur stations are warned to observe strict secrecy messages in according paragraph 19, U. S. radio laws and regulations. Messages from MacMillan Expedition must be mailed, forwarded by radio, or telegraphed collect to National Geographic Society or Navy Department when requested in messages.

Watch Children

Motorists are urged when approaching children to use the horn, but not to depend upon it to blow the kiddies off the street or to replace the brake.
When the children are trying to cross the street motorists are asked to give them a chance and wait for them as the average parent would like to have another motorist wait for some one who is near and dear to him.

Prana Defined.

Prana is from the Sanskrit. The primary definition, the breath of life, is sometimes personified in the Vedas.
In this philosophy the word means industrial principle, as contrasted with Jiva, meaning the personal soul.

Frequently.

Men survive many things that are not good for them and live to defy those who are aggravated about it.

How Do You Heat Your 15 Gallons?

THE average American family uses 15 gallons of hot water daily for all purposes. This has just been computed by a research laboratory. If you had to heat that much water all at once, of course, you couldn't begin to lift the bucket to the stove. Yet, you lift and strain and tire yourself just as much heating your 15 gallons a little at a time, in buckets, teakettles and wash boilers.

The easiest way to heat water is with GAS

Why "get along without one" any longer when our terms are so low and we install your heater so quickly and skillfully? Gas Water Heaters of all types. Come in and see them.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Read this twice that you may not forget it. Spend your wealth keeping health, instead of spending your health getting wealth. Money doesn't make the man go, but it certainly is an inducement to incidental effort. If you make a mistake and offend a friend apologize at once, it will make you bigger, better, and happier. Beware of the many pet schemes for making money. Remember that suckers swallow the bait without much investigation. Fate is really very kind, for every worthless man gets along far better than he deserves.

SCHOOL TIME

Do you realize, mothers and fathers, that the summer is nearly over and that it will soon be time for Johnny and Mary to go to school? Perhaps this September represents the beginning of school life for them; perhaps it does not. In either case, it is of the greatest importance that the opening of school finds the children well prepared to take full advantage of the education opportunities that Massachusetts offers her children.

As in the case of all other good things, getting an education means work and good work calls for physical fitness. Are your children physically fit or do they suffer from ailments, diseased tonsils, bad teeth or some other remediable defect. Perhaps you do not know the true state of your child's health. In that case it is your duty to give him the benefit of a careful examination by a competent physician and then to carry out whatever measures the doctor recommends.

Won't you give your little school boy and school girl a chance to do their best without being held back by physical defects?

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH

By W. L. Gordon

Words often misused: "Dozen" and "dozens." Use "dozen" when preceded by a numeral, otherwise use "dozens." "Five dozen apples were consumed by the dozens of people present."

Often mispronounced: Mercantile. Pronounce the "i" as in "ill" or as in "file," not as in "policy."

Often misspelled: Bicycle. Study the positions of the "i" and the "y." Synonyms: Obnoxious, odious, repulsive, abominable, offensive, disgusting, hateful.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Imperative; not to be avoided or evaded. "It was an imperative command and she obeyed."

A LESSON IN TATTLING

By Anna G. Sterling

She was just a beginner at tattling. That good little daughter of mine, And auntie had brought her a pattern, Perfect and daintily fine. Shuttles and thread were all ready, Workbox stood handsly by, And to copy that wonderful sample Small hands were eager to try.

There was silence for more than a minute, Measured by grandfather's clock, And in its snug nook by the window Her chair had forgotten to rock. Puckered her brow with the puzzle, Poised was her shuttle in air, As my wife daughter studied her pattern Closely, with scrupulous care.

A sigh, and the problem was ended. 'Tis lovely as lovely can be, But I think I will keep all I look at, Until I grow up to it, see? 'Cause, you know, when upstairs I am climbing I take just one step at a time, That's the way when we're learning to do things.' Explained my wise daughter, aged nine.

And I smiled as I thought that the lesson in one we should all understand, One step at a time on life's stairway, One duty, one task, next at hand, Lead up to the goal where perfection Shall crown all endeavors in one. As we stand on the heights with the victors, And the beautiful pattern is done.

Punishment to Fit the Crime

Gazing at the young woman before him, the judge inquired what the charge was. The policeman answered, "Running across the street costumed like 'September Morn,' your honor." "Thirty days hath September," said the judge tersely.—Boston Transcript.

ANOTHER LINK IN THE "PAN-AMERICAN RAILROAD"

"Limited train for Mexico City, Panama, Quito, Lake Titicaca and Buenos Aires only! Train on track for!" It may still be some time before the official train caller at the Union Station in Washington recites this line every day, but with the completion of a 124-mile stretch connecting Bolivia and Argentina last month, the long-cherished dream of uniting the Republics of North and South America with bonds of steel, has been brought another step nearer realization.

The new line, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, is entirely within the Republic of Bolivia, extending from the Argentine border city of La Quiaca northwest through tortuous mountain districts to Atocha, well up on the lofty plateau of Bolivia. At its southern terminal the line connects with the railway systems of Argentina, and through them with the lines of Uruguay and Brazil. At Atocha it is possible to make rail connections with Pacific coast ports, central Bolivia and to continue as far north as Cuzco, Peru.

Second Trans-Andean Route South America's newest railroad, despite its comparative shortness, is one of the most important internationally south of the Rio Grande. It offers a new outlet to coastless Bolivia, which is the Switzerland of South America in this respect. Its connections farther north with lines leading to the Pacific at Antofagasta, and at Arica, in disputed territory, presents a second Trans-Andean railroad, no slight accomplishment when it is considered that railroads must scale the Andes at altitudes equal to those of the peaks of Switzerland's loftiest mountains.

When the mythical "Pan-American Railroad," the Cape-to-Cairo route of South America, is completed, this short stretch of track will convey freight and passengers from the United States over the last hard climb before descending into the fertile rolling fields of northern Argentina. More than half of the 10,211 miles separating Washington and Buenos Aires have already been paved with steel, while several hundred additional miles have been surveyed or are now under construction.

Whatever its importance in a Pan-American sense, however, the new railroad is welcome to Bolivia. This stalwart, land-locked, mountain-ribbed Republic, which beyond its borders is too little known except for its mines of gold, silver, tin, copper, and other metals, sought only gold and silver, abandoning other metal ores which today are in demand.

La Paz, seat of government and distributing center for this inland empire, greater in extent than the States of Missouri, Texas, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania combined, now has direct rail connections with a larger Andean territory than any other city. At the crossroads of a continent and at the terminus of great international railroads, La Paz bids fair to become the Chicago of South America, although it is the highest capital of the world and its surrounding snow-capped peaks and labyrinth of precipitous canyons were for many years the despair of the railroad engineer.

Cure, the official capital, will also soon be linked by a branch line to the new route, for Bolivia is at the present time making greater progress in railroad construction than any other South American country.

New Line Engineering Triumph The new line itself is a triumph of engineering. For many years its advantages had been recognized. Ten years ago the contract was given to a European company, but the work dragged until 1921, when the Bolivian Government turned it over to an American firm.

The entire line lies between an altitude of 9500 and 14,000 feet. Excepting the valley lands, of comparatively slight extent, the route is through a virtual agricultural waste, precipitous canyons, many lofty bridges and bold rock cuttings, however, present a gorgeous array of wild and colorful scenery to the traveler.

As a link in the "Pan-American railroad" the new line directs attention to the fact that the traveler can now journey with speed and comfort from Buenos Aires northward through Bolivia (with a boat connection across Lake Titicaca), as far as Cuzco, the ancient Inca capital, Peru. Throughout Peru, Ecuador and Colombia are vast stretches of completed line. Central America is also doing its part. At Guatemala City it is possible to board a train that affords direct connections with Washington, 3769 miles away.

The Winchester Fire Department was called out shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by an alarm from Box 45 for a fire in a pile of sawdust behind the Chapman Spindle Factory on upper Main street. The blaze was put out with chemicals.

THE SCHELDT: RIVER OF TREATIES AND WARS

By one of the most important treaties signed since the group of international agreements that followed the World War, Belgium is again officially given the right of free navigation on the Scheldt River, the European waterway which probably has figured in more treaties and wars than any other, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The Scheldt to the economic jugular vein of Belgium, continues the bulletin. On it, 50 miles from the sea lies Antwerp, Belgium metropolis, and one of the best equipped ports in the world. Up and down the stream flows traffic worth tens of millions of dollars; and almost every penny's worth of it goes to or from Antwerp. Yet the river is not under Belgian rule. It reaches the sea through Dutch territory, and so the Netherlands has ultimate control.

Dutch Open Mouth The Dutch acquired the right to close the Scheldt to commerce by the Treaty of Munster in 1648 and continued to exercise the right for more than two centuries. When the territory of the old kingdom of the Netherlands was divided in 1839 and Belgium was formed, the Netherlands held on to the territory on both banks of the Scheldt and had its right to control the river traffic reaffirmed. Tolls were levied against Antwerp shipping until 1863, when Auguste Lambrmont, a Belgian statesman, raised a fund of more than $3,000,000 which was paid to the Netherlands to free the river of tolls. Lambrmont induced a number of countries interested in the Antwerp trade to chip in toward this fund. In appreciation of his labors, Antwerp has erected a statue to his memory.

The portion of the Netherlands that lies on the south bank of the Scheldt and so gives the Dutch control of the mouth of the river, is Dutch Flanders, a strip of territory 40 miles long, varying in width from 10 miles to less than one mile. Belgian territory does not begin until the head of the delta is reached and the estuary narrows down to a width of less than a mile. This is about 12 miles below Antwerp. Hereafter, Belgium has had to pay part of the cost of lighting and buoying the entire estuary. Under the most recent treaty each country will be responsible for marking the river along its territory.

Antwerp Has Admirable Port The Dutch port of Flushing lies at the mouth of the Scheldt. From there through the 50 miles up to Antwerp the navigable channel takes a winding course among sand bars so that careful piloting is necessary. Buys must be shifted frequently. At Antwerp the river is about 500 yards wide and has a depth at high water of 42 feet. The broad river there forms an admirable port. There are about four miles of quays along the river and good anchorage in mid-stream. Numerous basins and docks entered from the river by locks furnish additional berths for ships and barges. Railways paralleling the quays and docks, batteries of power cranes, and commodious warehouses help to furnish the modern equipment which Antwerp is famous.

Geography often figures in wars, but in the case of the Scheldt the situation has been reversed: a war has affected its geography. So, incidentally, has a severe storm. As early as the 11th century the people of the country bordering the Scheldt began erecting embankments to reclaim scores of thousands of acres of rich lands. In 1385, during the bitter siege of Antwerp, the dykes were broken up and all the landly won lowlands were again flooded. Many of the old polders have been again freed from water since, but large areas which were surrendered to the Scheldt 340 years ago still remain submerged.

A great storm reshaped the Scheldt in 1173. Prior to that time a dyke of sand hills stretched across the present mouth of the river between Dutch Flanders and the island of Walcheren, the river flowing to the sea through the Eastern Scheldt. The mighty waves driven by the storm washed away the sand hills, and ever since the main flow of the river has been through the Western Scheldt, so formed.

THE SANTA BARBARA EARTHQUAKE

To the Editor of the Star:

While I fully appreciate Mr. Blaikie's desire in his letter of July 1, to uphold California, and not let any eastern papers give you a false account of the earthquake, and subsequent suffering in Santa Barbara, for I am a most enthusiastic admirer of the state after having lived here for four years, and would urge you all to come and see the many advantages of living where one can snap their fingers at coal strikes—although you might wish for a steam heated apartment on rainy days—I do feel that your letter written without personally going up to Santa Barbara, and seeing for himself the many who have been made homeless, the condition of the hospital and the orphanage, should be answered by some of the Winchester people who are living there. For his letter might prevent any outsider from aiding those suffering from having their homes made unfit to live in although not entirely done. I have been up there and seen the ruins personally. While the business section suffered mostly, the stores, churches and hotels being a mass of ruins, on many streets some distance of houses are down. Indeed as you approach the city, as far away as ten miles you will see chimneys down and roofs bare from shingles. A store keeper at Summerland, about six miles away, told me that three hundred dollars worth of goods in glass cases were broken in his store. I asked them in Ventura (20 miles south) at the service station if it was felt there, the answer came quickly "You can bet on your life we were well shaken!"

Of course the small boys and girls do not mind having their schools ruined, but it will be a serious tax on the people to rebuild at a time when there are so many calls for help. The new ones like yours will be better ones, but you would be surprised to see the fine buildings that went down. Santa Barbara has always been noted for its interest in education. The many small store keepers do not belong to the wealthy class who have longed Santa Barbara into a beautiful place, and having their business wiped out brings much suffering to their families.

The old landmark, the Mission, beloved by all, stands at the head of the town, the towers with their tongs gone, but the bells still hanging as hung by the Indians, the huge hand held beams hold the building together. All that was breakable belonged to the old Padres with their historic value are wiped out, the pictures cracked beyond repair. As the Protestant churches of Los Angeles have said, this is not time to consider the difference of creeds all want to aid in restoring as far as possible the old building so filled with the history of early days of the state. The Catholics are first trying to look after their hospital and orphanage. Santa Barbara and the whole state are doing their best to build a better city, but there are many cases of real suffering that Santa Barbara alone cannot do for as Mr. Blaikie's letter would lead you to feel in that they could.

I was much interested in the description the Padre told me of the sensations caused by the shock as I think you will be. Of course it only lasted a few seconds while your thunder storm held you for an hour. He said that at first it was like being swung up and down then the motion changed and you felt as if whirled around and around, then flung into huge waves of the sea and you were made seasick, then came shocks of lesser severity. When I was there July 30, the slight shocks were still continuing. A few years ago when

MILK CHART FOR JULY 1923

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

Dealers and Producers	Destination	Fat Content per 100 lbs.	Total Solids per 100 lbs.	Pa- sturi- zed	No. of Bacteria per C. C.	Where Produced

D. Whiting & Sons, Charlestown, Mass.	Grade A	3.90	12.58	Yes	700,000	Wilton, N. H.

The above names are arranged alphabetically, not in order of quality of milk. Certain brands are not listed in this chart because they have been analyzed by competent authorities or are sold in Winchester in negligible quantities.

Inglewood, about five miles from Los Angeles, had a similar experience for the town, the towers with their tongs gone, but the bells still hanging as hung by the Indians, the huge hand held beams hold the building together. All that was breakable belonged to the old Padres with their historic value are wiped out, the pictures cracked beyond repair. As the Protestant churches of Los Angeles have said, this is not time to consider the difference of creeds all want to aid in restoring as far as possible the old building so filled with the history of early days of the state. The Catholics are first trying to look after their hospital and orphanage. Santa Barbara and the whole state are doing their best to build a better city, but there are many cases of real suffering that Santa Barbara alone cannot do for as Mr. Blaikie's letter would lead you to feel in that they could.

I wish some of the Winchester people who live in Santa Barbara would write and give you all of the inside facts that Mr. Blaikie's letter so lightly passes over in regard to the real suffering from the disaster. We living 90 miles south can only write of the impression gained by one day among the ruins. If in an earthquake do not run to the window but stay in the center of the house as far as possible from the fireplace.

I am not in the real estate business and have no fear of frightening you by the truth about Santa Barbara. I cannot say too much about the advantages of this open life. Can I not make you envy us when I tell you that for almost half of the year our umbrellas and rubbers are peacefully resting? That we can plan our outing with no proviso of "if pleasant," no anxious watching of the sky so to rush home ahead of the shower. Our wonderful Symphony concerts are given in an open amphitheatre, seating 20,000 under the stars. Our impressive Pilgrimage play was enacted on a wooded hillside. Our mountains reach to the ocean, so that in one day you can have both mountains and seashore.

With best wishes,
Mrs. William W. Holt

DIED IN IRELAND

Friends and members of St. Dominic's Circle will be grieved to learn of the sad death of Mr. Joseph Guidara who passed away, following an operation for appendicitis which became necessary while he was touring Ireland with his father, Mr. Guidara, who was a brother of Sister Dominic, now in China, underwent the operation in Dublin last week. It proved to be too late as the appendix had burst, and a cable received here stated that he died on Monday of this week. Arrangements have been made to have the body shipped to his late home in Corona, N. Y., from which place the funeral will be held.

"FITZ" SWINGS HEAVY MAZE

The big bat of "Happy" Fitzgerald, local star first sacker, proved the decisive factor in the Sand Lots League victory scored by the Riley Shop Team of Woburn over the "Cubs" last evening on Library Park, Woburn, 4-2.

Winchester followers of baseball have been interested in the fortunes of the "Rileys" because of the fact that three former High School stars have been playing regularly for the Woburn club. Last night a big crowd from this town made the trip to Library Park to watch "Happy," "Flats" Fikerty and "Nip" Chamberlain help the Riley team to a well earned victory. Fitzgerald starred at bat, belting out a triple, a double and a single in four times up. Next Monday night the "Rileys" play the Independents and a win for the former team will place it in a tie for the league leadership.

HOBART: IN AUSTRALIA'S NEW ENGLAND

Hobart, capital of Tasmania, which ships of the United States Navy visited after leaving Sydney and Melbourne, is in what climatically might be termed Australia's "New England," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Sydney roughly corresponds in latitude with Charleston, S. C., and Melbourne with Richmond, Va., continues the bulletin. Hobart is 600 miles farther south than Sydney and 400 miles farther south than Melbourne; but in the topsy-turvy antipodes the usual condition of affairs is reversed, so the ships left the balmy northland and sailed far into the bracing South. Hobart, near the southernmost part of the island, is in a latitude corresponding to Portsmouth, N. H.

Gobs Get Taste of Winter

Climate does not slavishly follow latitude changes, however; Tasmania has a much more temperate climate than our New England because of the moist "westerlies" that blow over it from the Indian Ocean. Old England gives the best idea of Tasmania, for its temperature and atmosphere is remarkably like that of the southern portion of the British Isles. It is climatically more pleasant, however, for while having an ample rainfall it lacks the clammy mistiness of England at certain seasons. Just at present it is mid-winter in Tasmania and the American "Gobs" are no doubt finding snow on the uplands and light ice on the small streams.

Hobart, like its sister capitals, Sydney and Melbourne, has an excellent harbor. The city lies on the estuary of the Derwent River a few miles from the sea. Ships of ordinary tonnage can utilize the city quays, and just outside the estuary is huge, protected Storm Bay in which the largest battleships may find ample water.

City of Cheap Electricity

The city, which is the capital of Tasmania, has a population of 52,000.

across Smith Sound, carrying gasoline and supplies from the ships.
The coast line of Ellesmere Island which the planes reach, after crossing Smith Sound is little less jagged horizontally than the interior is vertically.

This coast line is a succession of firs, some of them biting so deeply into the island that they almost meet other firs from the west coast. It was one of these west coast firs, Cannon Fir, in direct line between Etah and Cape Hubbard, for which the planes set out on their first reconnaissance trip; but fog and unfavorable ice conditions in the firs which they passed over made it necessary to turn back.

Day Ford, looked upon by the explorers as a likely site for a base, is not shown on any map of Ellesmere Island, and it is probable the message referred to Day Ford, a large tongue of water extending inland from the west to within about 30 miles of the head of Flagler Fjord, which strikes in from the east coast just back of Cape Sabine, and almost due west of Etah.

New Knowledge of Interior

Although Ellesmere Island has been known at its southern point for several centuries, and although in the last 35 years several of its firs and inland valleys have been explored by dog teams—first by Greely and his party, and later by Peary, MacMillan, and Sverdrup—little is known of the mountain masses of the interior. In their initial flights over the interior, MacMillan and the other observers in the planes have gained a new impression of the extreme ruggedness of this region.

The failure to find a landing place on the first flight does not mean that the entire island is too rough to afford a satisfactory site for a base. Well north of the Etah-Cannon Fjord route, General A. W. Greeley in 1882 found an open, grassy valley. Other such valleys may exist near the route first reconnoitered, while by flying at first due west, a landing field probably can be found on Day Ford. This field is not 730 miles from Etah, as an error in transmission stated, but more nearly 130 miles. The entire distance from Etah to Cape Hubbard, the northwesternmost known land is only about 330 miles.

Creating Appetite

The sight, smell or thought of food may be very effective in making "the mouth water," in which case the result is a so-called psychical secretion. The impression is sent to the brain and in turn the brain acts the salivary glands in action.

WHERE THE NAVY PLANES ARE FLYING

A maze of jagged, snow-clad peaks; deep, narrow glacier-filled valleys; and huge ice-covered firs—such is the section of Ellesmere Island over which the Navy planes of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition have been making their initial flights in the Far North, seeking a site for their first advanced base, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

This is the terrain to which radio dispatches from the expedition are now referring.

Etah, the main base, at which the two ships are anchored, lies on the westernmost tip of Greenland, continues the bulletin. From this point the shore line of Greenland turns back toward the east and runs in a general northeastern direction for some 600 miles to its most northern point.

Smith Sound Ice-Filled

The projection on which Etah lies is at the very head of Baffin Bay. Ellesmere Island bulges eastward at the shore line of Greenland opposite Etah helping almost to close Baffin Bay. The narrow neck of water so formed is Smith Sound over which the planes first fly in striking westward from the ship base. This sound has been found to be filled with ice. After the first advanced base is established the planes will shuttle back and forth

THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS GETS MODERN ATTACHMENTS

The recent promotion of Madame Alexandra Kollantai to be the full-fledged envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Soviet Russia to Norway at the same time that Professor Timothy A. Smiddy is given a similar position in Washington from heretofore envoy Ireland, makes diplomatic history, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Madame Kollantai is the first female "minister plenipotentiary" to enter the diplomatic corps, continues the bulletin, "since, that specific position and body were recognized by the Congress of Vienna in 1815 and the follow-up Congress of Aix-la-Chapelle in 1818; and she is one of the very few women ever to become an envoy of a sovereign state. Catherine of Aragon is the most famous predecessor of Madame Kollantai, and she hardly deserves a similar classification. While she was Princess of Wales, her father, Ferdinand the Catholic, named her an ambassador to the court of Henry VII. It was a hollow honor, largely to increase her prestige with the English.

Woman Minister Real Worker
Madame Kollantai is considered to have won her laurels by real work on behalf of her government while serving for the past two years as charge d'affaires in Norway. She successfully negotiated recognition of the Soviet government by Norway, settled the controversy between the two countries over Spitzbergen, and obtained an official Norwegian guarantee of Soviet credit in purchasing huge supplies of fish for Russia.

The appointment of Prof. Smiddy is somewhat less precedent-smashing. From the 16th century until the beginning of the 19th the component states of the so-called Holy Roman Empire sent envoys to foreign courts. The situation was not entirely parallel with that of the modern British Empire, however, for the "Holy Roman Emperor" was never represented by envoys—the theory that his dignity was too great. The simultaneous existence now of an ambassador from an over-state and a minister from one of its component parts, sets a true precedent.

First Ambassadors Were Messengers
The growth of the diplomatic corps as an institution has been slow. Special envoys undoubtedly were sent from court to court of the earliest historic empires such as those of Egypt and Babylonia. Later in Grecian, Roman and Byzantine days the practice was fairly common. But in all such cases, as far as history discloses, the messengers were sent to transact specific business and returned as soon as possible to report the results of their mission.

In the west the Republic of Venice seems to have been the pioneer in the establishment of embassies. In the 12th and 13th centuries the terms of Venetian envoys were limited to two or three months. Strict rules held them round. Any gifts received from courts visited must be turned over to the Republic and written reports had to be filed with the Senate. In the 15th century the ambassadorial term was extended to a maximum of two years and in the 16th century, to three years.

First Permanent Embassies in Italy
The earliest record of the appointment of a resident ambassador—though probably this was not the first ambassador so appointed—was in regard to the sending in 1455 of an envoy from the Duke of Milan to reside at Genoa. One of the first permanent embassies outside Italy was created in 1494 when Milan sent a minister to take up his residence at the court of France. In the same year a Spanish ambassador went to reside in London. This is believed to be the oldest surviving diplomatic post in existence. By the second half of the 16th century resident embassies had become the normal means of intercourse between important countries.

The term, "ambassador," was given to the world by Venice where it first appeared in the form, "ambasciatore" in a decree of 1298. At first there were no degrees among the envoys of states. The ambassador was considered the vicar of his sovereign and received with royal honors and had to maintain a sort of little court. This became embarrassing both because of the expense and because it was a handicap in attending to business. The custom grew, therefore, of sending less important individuals as envoys or messengers. These, not lodged about pomp, proved much more efficient agents. Later again it became customary to accord the rank of the envoy to the importance of the country sending or receiving him, and up.

FINDER OF LEPER CURE BE-SIEGED BY BANDITS

Within a few days after the U. S. Public Health Service announced the release of lepers as cured by a treatment which included the use of chaulmoogra oil, word came from Joseph F. Rock, who located the chaulmoogra tree in Burma, telling of his narrow escape from Chinese bandits.

Mr. Rock was leader of the National Geographic Society Expedition to Yunnan Province, China, which found blight-resisting chestnut trees for transplantation in the United States. After a few months in this country he returned to Yunnan to seek plant specimens for the Arnold Arboretum, at Cambridge, Mass.

Night Among Coffins
Mr. Rock spent one night in a dilapidated village temple, full of coffins. His native guard deserted him; outside the town the heads of native victims, captured some days before, were hanging from poles.

"From Tungehwan to Chaotung is five days' journey, and two days out of Tungehwan I had the most terrible experience of my life," Mr. Rock writes.

"With much misgivings I left Tungehwan. The first day passed without incident, but the second had much in store for us. After lunch under an old walnut tree we made our way over the mountains with my 12 Nashi men, 26 mules, 40 soldiers, and all the followers who took advantage of my going and joined on for the sake of protection which the soldiers gave.

Robbers Pursue Caravan
"We had not gone very far when my head muleteer came and said that robbers were behind the caravan. I waited for the mules to catch up with us, and as they came in sight, I rode on, but not for long, as my boys yelled 'Robbers are coming,' and at that moment they opened fire on us. My native soldiers behaved rather bravely. I must admit, climbed to the ridge and opened fire on the brigands, but we soon found that the brigands outnumbered us considerably and that the battle was to be a one-sided affair. "We pushed on under fire as best we could through a pine covered slope while the soldiers engaged the brigands, the latter pursued us, and we retreated, all of us, soldiers included, under the fire of the brigands down a deep ravine which we had to cross and up the other side over a most terrible rocky trail. The fire continued the rest of the afternoon. Thanks to the bad timing of the brigands we lost only one soldier. We reached the small plain of Yichesun, on the edge of it being a small hamlet called Pangiapiang. As we reached the plain, I thought, 'Thank God, now we were safe,' but, alas, the brigands followed us, they looted the small hamlet, captured three soldiers with their guns, and while they were busy there we reached the village of Yichesun, where we had to stop for the night.

Brigands Chase Guards
"Just as we arrived and passed through the dilapidated old gate (but no wall) there also arrived 35 brigand guards sent to us from Chaotung. As I was talking with their officer one of the Tungehwan soldiers came running into the village to tell me that 200 robbers were only one and one half miles from this village and that they could not hold them back. I sent the Chaotung soldiers to help the Tungehwan soldiers, but soon they all retreated with the robbers at their heels. "I was quartered in a miserable old temple full of coffins in the center of the village. The brigands came to within one half a mile of the hamlet where there was a large temple and of this they took possession. Darkness came on. I never spent such a terrible night in all my life. At midnight the officers of the soldiers came and announced that the brigands were outside and that they could not hold the place and that they could not protect me. I had opened my trunks and distributed $400 in silver among my men, wrapped up some extra warm underwear, a towel, condensed milk and some chocolate, besides ammunition for my two 45 Colts. I sat fully clad waiting for the turn of events. Every minute I expected the firing to commence. The soldiers said that they could protect me but not my boxes, and that the best thing would be to retreat and hide if the brigands pushed into the place. The people of the village began burying their few valuables and great excitement ruled the hamlet. It was a terrible wait and a long night.

"Outside of the hamlet were hanging from poles heads of brigands that had been captured some days before. I was informed that 600 brigands were outside the village and that capture was irresistible. I cannot tell you how I felt. However, at 4 a. m. they were still outside and no shot had been fired. At dawn there was no one to be seen. They had vanished."

SAMOS: ISLE OF MANY MASTERS

The Island of Samos, where a brief regime of brigand dependence has been overthrown by the Greek government, has known many masters since the time of its earliest recorded settlement by the Ionians, although few traces of the civilizations they represented are visible today, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Athenian Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Arabs, Venetians, Genese and Turks have in turn held sway over this little island in the Aegean Sea not far from Smyrna, and separated from the Asia Minor mainland by a channel only a mile wide at its narrowest point. Once the home of hardy men and beautiful women, and with its shores and hills graced with picturesque and beautiful cities and temples, today it is a region of barren and denuded hills, and an occasional village and ruin. It is hard to realize that here a part of the foundation of modern stratigraphy, philosophy, science and art was laid.

Land of Vines and Windmills
Like its near-by neighbor Chios, Samos is a land of vineyards and windmills. The latter are squat round stone towers with wheel-like sails, each spoke holding a bit of canvas. They are not as large nor as picturesque as those of the dike countries of western Europe but they manage, somehow to catch the brisk winds that sweep along the coast and put them to useful purposes—such as to drive the galleries of Samos' great field of merchantmen and ships of war to every port in the known world.

The island has a good harbor at Vathy, the modern capital, but the chief things of historical interest are at Tiganis, the site of the ancient town of Samos. Here are the remains of the great aqueduct built under a mountain by Eupalinos, the long harbor mole, an immense theater with bleachers cut out of living rock, and the Temple of Hera, which is described by Herodotus as the Greek Bacchic of his day, as the largest structure he had seen. But the temple, like the island, is a mere shadow of its former glory. Only a single column remains upright, and the top of that has been knocked off. Goats graze where Pythagoras, the philosopher, once taught his pupils.

Fortifications Like Small Chinese Wall

The city of Samos was fortified with walls which twisted and climbed over the surrounding hills like the Great Wall of China on a small scale. A moat and two large stone watch towers, one near the sea and the other on the mountain top overlooking the town, made Samos almost impregnable in ancient times. Traces of both works are still visible.

In the marts of the world today Samos is noted chiefly for its cigarettes and its wine. The production of these two articles furnishes employment to most of the 77,000 people on the island. Several varieties of food fish, figs, melons, grapes, and nuts are other products which are lighted to ships in its harbors and sold in Mediterranean and other ports. The wine is of an excellent flavor, very sweet, and is largely used as a mixing liquor. The highly flavored tobacco grown on the island is made into cigarettes which are much esteemed in the Levant.

Ideal Yachting Region

The little harbors and coves of the island offer good sport in yachting and fishing during the summer months, while there are also several sandy beaches ideal for bathing. Yachting is not without its thrills in Samos, however, for the treacherous winds of the locality often arise from a dead calm, while on other occasions the direction and velocity change with surprising suddenness.

Under the wisdom, skill, and, some say, luck of Polykrates during the sixth century, Samos won first place in the Ionian Union. Polykrates was one of the first believers in a big navy as the first line of defense and offense as well. His fleet of 100 galleys of 50 rowers each, and 1000 archers—a veritable armada of that day—was faster and better equipped than any other on the Aegean Sea. It not only protected the extensive commerce of the island, but lightened the tedium at intervals with plundering expeditions that were invariably successful. Many a Persian or Spartan galley was relieved of its rich burden of treasure by the fleet-sailing ships of this island tyrant.

Part of Greece Since Balkan War
In 522 B. C., however, Polykrates was deposed to Magnesia and murdered by the Persian satrap of that place. Since his death Samos has fallen into many hands, and has gradually declined into an obscure little island that dreams of past glories while its inhabitants go busily about the very practical and lucrative business of making wine and cigarettes. The island has been under Greek rules since the Balkan war, when a force of Greek insurgents, Samians and Cretans, forced the Turkish garrison to capitulate, and issued a manifesto declaring their union with Greece. Although the island formerly was tributary to Turkey, paying annually $15,000, it was permitted to be practically an independent principality, governed by a prince of Greek nationality nominated by the Porte. The inhabitants of the island today are largely of Greek origin and most of them follow the Orthodox Greek religion.

RHODES: GREENWICH OF THE SECOND CENTURY

"Rhodes—the city and island of the Colossus."

So, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, ideas follow one another in men's minds whenever Rhodes is mentioned; proving that one of the greatest of modern industries, advertising, has its roots in antiquity. For this civic monument of Rhodes stood only 56 years, yet it advertised the city so well that it has identified Rhodes for the 20 centuries since it fell.

The bulletin goes on to describe this island in the eastern Mediterranean Sea, scene of a recent concentration of Italian troops.

At Marine Cross-Roads

One way of orienting Rhodes geographically is to describe it as the largest of the Dodecanese Islands. It is the most easterly of the great group of islands and islets that pepper the Aegean Sea. Further eastward in the Mediterranean lie only tiny coastal islets, like Kastellorizo, and the one big island, Cyprus. Of all the islands east of the Grecian peninsula only Cyprus and Crete exceed Rhodes in size.

Rhodes was in the favored location of its day, at the crossing of the marine highways between Byzantium, Greece and Italy on the one hand, and on the other Egypt, southeastern Asia Minor, and Syria, gateway to the East. Inevitably a great maritime and commercial community grew up on Rhodes; it took the torch of Mediterranean commerce from Phoenicia to pass it on later to Byzantium, Rome, Genoa and Venice. It seems natural enough to find old Greek and Roman historians referring literally to the Rhodes of the third and second centuries before Christ as "the distributing center" of the Levant. It would hardly be surprising in view of this familiar phraseology to find letterheads of the Rhodian Chamber of Commerce of that day with the truthful-enough slogan: "Rhodes' trade territory is the world." Rhodes was a world center in still another way, for in the days of Ptolemy the geographer, it was taken as the initial point for longitude as Greenwich is today.

As a result of Rhodes' dominant commercial position, its laws and coinage were the standards of their day throughout the Mediterranean. The Rhodians, too, were colonizers and planted their stations on the shores of Asia Minor, Africa, Greece, Italy and even Spain.

Rebuilt By Ancient Relief Fund

Incident after incident crops up in Rhodian history to tie Rhodes to the ways of today. Like Washington, the city of Rhodes was laid out, on its establishment in 408 B. C., according to an ordered plan, by an architectural engineer—Hippodamus of Miletus. The new city was given a sort of commission form of government consisting of a group of six executives. When Rhodes was destroyed by earthquake in 227 B. C., it received the practical sympathy of its world as Tokyo did in 1923; relief funds were sent from all the Hellenic states to repair the damage. Even the Great Colossus was a "victory statue," made of enemy catapults and other war engines—the gun-metal of the day.

Perhaps the most picturesque era in Rhodes' history was from 1309 to 1522 when it was the stronghold of the crusading Knights of St. John and the bulwark of Christendom against the Moslems. The old Greek city had practically disappeared when the Knights came and they built anew: great moats and walls, bastions and towers, and staunch stone dwellings. They evacuated the city to the Turks in 1522, but the deep marks their two centuries of occupancy left remain today. It is doubtful if in all Europe is to be found a more perfect example of a European fortified city of the 15th century than is to be seen in Rhodes geographically and climatically the quintessence of the Near East.

Junk Man Got Colossus

In the city's main thoroughfare, the Street of the Knights, are the same fine old windows, even if most of them are disfigured by superimposed lattices to shield harem ladies from unauthorized view. Built into the walls of the old knights' residences are the coats-of-arms of some of the most famous noble families of Europe. No trace of Rhodes famous Colossus remains today. This bronze statue, more than a hundred feet high, which ranked as one of the seven wonders of the world, was toppled over by an earthquake in 221 B. C. The pieces lay where they had fallen for nearly 900 years when a more ignominious fate overtook them. They were sold to a junk dealer.

Niagara Falls

The water that flows over Niagara has flowed from the four great lakes and the hundreds of rivers that flow into them, more than one-half the fresh water of the world, according to one authority. The fact that evaporation and precipitation in the form of rain and snow are continually going on in the enormous area of the great lakes region renders it unlikely that the Great Lakes will ever be drained in this manner.

Mozart's Untimely End

Mozart died of malignant typhoid. The funeral service was held in the open air, as was the custom with the poorest class. The strictest economy was observed in the funeral arrangements. Mozart was buried in a common pauper's grave, the site of which was soon forgotten. Vienna erected on the probable spot, a handsome monument.

"Fool's Gold"

The material commonly called "fool's gold" is iron pyrite, a combination of sulphur and iron in almost equal parts, which is used in making sulphuric acid. Iron pyrite can be distinguished from gold by the odor of sulphur which it gives off upon application of heat.

Sassafras in Medicine

The roots of sassafras very early in American history became an important article of medicine. It is sometimes called the "ague tree" as a decoction of its bark was supposed to cure that disease. Sassafras tea, an infusion of the young shoots and roots, has long been a favorite remedy for colds and a tonic, being a sudorific and a stimulant.

Huge Silver Nugget
A silver nugget weighing 8,300 pounds and assaying 75 per cent pure ore, was found by a cobalt miner while doing assessment work on his claim on the Montreal river. The nugget is worth about $20,000.

If You Want Him to Know
Treat a stranger with kindness and politeness, and he will take pains to find out, who you are.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

PULLING TOGETHER

Good gas service for a community requires the co-operation of three groups of citizens. In the first place, those who are managing the business must do a good job. Next, the entire community served by gas must see to it that the company is given fair play and the opportunity to grow. Finally, the customers of the company must understand its affairs so well that they will help maintain a high standard of service. It takes all three groups working together to make ideal service conditions. And when there is real co-operation among them you can be sure that the company will be rendering excellent service to a wide-awake community in which progress is a by-word with every inhabitant.

Children Need Sunlight for Their Development

Recent experiments on chicks demonstrated the importance of sunlight in human health, particularly as a factor in the physical development of young children.

The chicks were divided into three groups. All were given the same diet, but one group was kept in natural sunlight, the second in natural sunlight passing through window glass, while the third was kept in natural sunlight and exposed at intervals to strong ultra-violet rays.

The first group of chicks developed normally. All of the second group—those that received the sunlight through window glass—developed rickets. Those of the third group reached in ten weeks the same stage of physical development that those raised in natural sunlight attained in twelve weeks. The rickety chicks were cured when subjected to ultra-violet ray treatment. Between 50 and 100 per cent of the children born in the summer and autumn develop rickets in some degree by the following spring. Through the winter the mothers fear to subject them to the bitter cold; hence the babies receive their "sunshine" behind closed windows.

Of Course Minister Had to Heed Flock's Opinion

The late Adam Wagnalls, the New York publisher, represented a magazine editor one day for never printing translations in his magazine.

"Here are Anatole France and Knute Hunsen and Gorky and a dozen other wools of genius for you to draw from," he said. "Why don't you draw?"

"Because," said the editor coldly, "the public prefers native talent."

"You remind me," said Mr. Wagnalls, "of the country minister who never used the Lord's prayer."

"Why don't you use it, man?" a friend from the city asked.

"Well, you see, we don't need it," said the minister.

"A suitable prayer like that?"

"No, no, no. I come, now, and even a chap as gifted as yourself can hardly equal a prayer like that can he?"

"Ah, er—no," the minister smiled. "But my book thinks otherwise."

Scientific Sherlock

The most office department was faced with a mystery in the continuing riddle of registered letters in the Southwest. The theft was narrowed down to one of six post offices, but the question as to which one was hard to solve. A few weeks later an important letter of the letter that had been rifled and revealed, held it to his nose and calmly announced that the thief would be taken within a week. He was. The inspector had prepared six sets of mailbags, each having a different perfume. This was distributed among the six offices under suspicion. The thief used the perfumed mailbag to return the letter and gave away the location of the office. The rest was easy.

Simple Explanation

This joke which was recently forwarded to prove that scientific men can be witty as well as wise, should be read aloud: A Cambridge professor of chemistry, once came to him concerning an Indian medical student whose English was defective.

"We cannot guess this man," he said. "He is quite illiterate; he himself cannot spell. Why, he has spelt proceed with one 'e'."

"From what place does he come?" asked Doctor Brown.

"From Ceylon."

"At once Doctor Brown flashed back: 'That explains it! That's the land of the Cingalese!'"

MORTGAGE SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John M. Farrell to Carrie V. Emerson dated May 11, 1925, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4892 Page 270, and assigned by said Carrie V. Emerson to Louis F. Miller, by instrument dated June 9, 1925 and recorded with said deeds Book 4852 Page 200 for breach of the conditions contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Monday the fourteenth day of September at four o'clock in the afternoon, all the regular premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Winchester in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being lot No. 13 on plan of Wedmore Park made by D. W. Pratt, Engineer, dated June 1891, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of plans, plan 49 bounded and described as follows: Southerly by Church Street, eighty-nine (89) feet, Westerly by lot No. 12 and by highway, said plan one hundred seventy-nine and 21-100 (179.21) feet; Northerly by lot No. 22 on said plan eighty-nine and 54-100 (89.54) feet; Easterly by lot No. 14 on said plan one hundred seventy-nine and 71-100 (176.71) feet, containing 15,888 square feet of land more or less subject to a first mortgage of $11,000. All said premises are conveyed subject to any restrictions of record so far as now in force and applicable.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, municipal liens and assessments, and tax titles if any. $360 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale and the balance within ten days thereafter. Other terms to be announced at sale.

"Chaffing"
In some English countries, when a man has been guilty of inflicting personal chastisement upon his wife, it is customary for neighbors to empty a bucket or two of chaff in front of the offender's door to signify that a "thrashing" has been done there. This is called "chaffing." The general term may have had its origin in this curious custom.

The alertness of the Winchester Police averted what might have been a real tragedy last Saturday afternoon while the parade in honor of the Feast of the Assumption was en route along Swanton street. The line of march had just reached a point east of the main line bridge of the B. & M. railroad when a pair of horses hitched to an ice team which was standing at the side of the road became frightened by the band. The driver was not with his team, and his helper was unable to quiet the animals who headed directly for the line of march at whose head was a large company of children. Had they gotten among the marchers it is probable that several of the latter might have been injured or worse. Sensing the danger officer Hogan who was one of the police escort to the parade seized one of the horses by the bridle, and aided by Sergt. Rogers and offcer Charles Harrold succeeded in stopping and holding the team until the arrival of the driver. Officer Hogan was dragged several feet, and but for his promptness, and that of his brother officers the affair might have been a sad sidelight on the celebration of "Italian Day."

The old tractor which formerly hauled the hook-and-ladder used by the Fire Department before the arrival of the new Ahrens-Fox truck left the Central Fire Station Wednesday morning for storage at the House 3 house on Swanton street.

Frank Duffy, who handled the old tractor for many years, drove his former charge to its new resting place.

News from Francis Taussey, who has been spending the week at Freedom, N. H., as the guest of Mr. Arthur Black of Everett avenue is to the effect that the crack little southpaw is going along in good shape on the rubber. As the Star went to press he had won three games for the Freedom team, including the big contest which featured the Old Home Week celebration at that place. Tuesday he beat the Madison nine with last season's Dartmouth Freshman pitcher on the mound for his opponents.

BILLINGS-KELLEY

A wedding of much interest to Winchester's youngest set took place Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Dorothy Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hawes Kelley of this town, became the bride of Roger Billings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Milton Billings of Tewksbury. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents on Wildwood street by the Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church.

The bride was given in a wedding dress of white chiffon and crepe satin trimmed with pearls, and having a chiffon train lined with pale pink, and bordered with crepe satin. Her veil, which was formerly worn by her cousin, was of rose point lace caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, pale pink roses and orchids.

Mrs. Charles Phillip Merwin of New Britain, Conn., a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore blue and pink, flowered and beaded gowns with picture hat to match, and her bouquet was of pink roses. Little Miss Jane Pinches and Master George Corbin Noble, both of New Britain, Conn., and also cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, the former wearing a frunk of pale pink crepe de chine with a blue bandeau. Edward Roland Noyes of Marlboro was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, the young couple being assisted in receiving by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hawes Kelley of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Milton Billings of Tewksbury. The house was attractively decorated with palms, gladioli, roses and asparagus ferns. Music, both for the reception and for the wedding march was furnished by Mr. J. Albert Wilson, organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Epiphany, who was assisted by a violinist.

The bride is well known in Winchester musical circles, and has appeared in several amateur theatrical performances here. She is a graduate of the Whittier School in Merrimack, and is a member of the En Ka Sorority. Mr. Billings is an Exeter and Dartmouth man, class of 1922, and is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. He is associated with his father in the insurance business in Boston.

Following a wedding trip to the Great Lakes which will include a stop at the West Baden Springs Hotel in Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Billings will make their home in Tewksbury.

ENTERTAINED TUESDAY EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Callahan, who have recently returned from a honeymoon trip to New Brunswick, were at home on Tuesday evening to a party of 50 relatives and friends at an informal reception held at their residence on Eaton street. Guests were present from Melford, Woburn, Stoneham and Stoughton as well as from Winchester, and the evening was one long to be remembered. Among those who attended was the entire staff of "Randall's," the local caterer, with whom Mrs. Callahan was employed before her marriage.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, including some beautiful hollyhocks and roses. Mr. and Mrs. Callahan were assisted in receiving by Miss Elizabeth Downing of Stoughton, and Mr. Timothy Callahan of Winchester.

A musical program was rendered by Creighton's Orchestra of Woburn interspersed with selections by St. Mary's Mandolin Circle and vocal solos by the Misses Morgan and Carroll of Woburn, and Miss Downing of Stoughton. Mr. "Ned" Perry of this town assisted at the piano. Mr. and Mrs. Callahan were remembered with many handsome gifts of silver and cut glass, including a splendid silver service from Messrs. P. H. and D. W. Randall of the Randall Co. The evening passed all too quickly, and at a late hour the guests departed after congratulating their host and hostess while wishing them every happiness for the future.

REAL ESTATE

Cummings and Matherson, 50 Congress street, Boston, of which Mr. H. Milton Cummings is a member, have sold for Elizabeth C. and Elsie C. Locke, 13 acres of land on Westland avenue to F. R. and G. M. Vail of Arlington for development in bungalow sites.

The Red Men of Stoneham lost a baseball game Tuesday evening at the Pompanoth street grounds, Stoneham, to the Colored Giants of this town, 8 to 2.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The second week of the Winchester Council Boy Scout Camp on Ponobscot Bay at North Port, Me. began with the same fine weather that they enjoyed during the first week. The campers have seen no rain since they left Winchester and consequently have been able to put every minute of their time into out-of-door activities.

After the clam bake Tuesday, the next trip was to Knight's Pond on Wednesday, an all-day trip and a fine fresh water swim.

Thursday was spent in camp where the regular program outlined in last week's Star was faithfully followed. The afternoon game on this day was tag football.

On Friday all went to Camden and climbed Mt. Battie and also visited the fish hatchery there.

Saturday was spent in Camp and Saturday night four plays were given in the mess hall, the various tables competing for double ice creams at Sunday dinner. James Fitch's table was adjudged the winner with a play written by John Blanks called "The Shadow." Mr. Butler's table put on a shadowgraph moving picture, Mr. Hill's table a scene in a dentist's office and Donald Higgins's table a magical stunt.

Sunday the summer camp issue of the "Good Turn," the scout paper, was published. Other activities this day were Sunday School conducted by Mr. Butters and a treasure hunt.

The boys left Monday noon in a large motor boat for a trip to Castine camping that night near the upper end of Islesboro Island. Tuesday morning they continued their trip down the bay to Flat Island for some deep sea fishing arriving back in camp Tuesday noon.

Kenneth Kingston and "Bob" Livingston visited camp last week as they were on a walking trip through Maine. Kenneth decided to remain at the camp, making 21 in the party.

Herbert Brooks is camp mail officer. The boys have enjoyed two opportunities for high diving at Bayside.

In the camp statistics recently published, Andy Skilling was voted the nearest boy in camp having won most times at inspection. Harold Smith was voted the most popular and Donald Higgins the best all-around camper.

LOCAL MAN ACTED AS BROKER

Mr. Howard S. Cosgrove of Woodside road, is named as the broker promoting the recently announced sale of the Colonial Garage in Arlington, known as one of the largest and best equipped garages this side of Boston. Located just opposite the Arlington Town Hall and extending from Massachusetts avenue through to Bacon street the structure is 200 feet long by 70 feet wide, and has with three two family houses and one single house in addition to 30,808 feet of land, a valuation of $90,000. It is reported that the purchase price greatly exceeds this figure. Title was passed by William V. Taintor to John M. McDonnell of Boston who will continue the business.

BOAT CLUB ENTERED

The Medford Boat Club on Mystic Lake was again broken into on Wednesday night or Thursday morning. Lockers were broken open and their contents scattered about, and two of the fine model yachts which are kept there were taken out and red attired on the lake. Fortunately neither of the boats were injured in any way. The large boat of Commodore John Black, the finest craft in the fleet, was fortunate in that it ran ashore where overhanging bushes cushioned it, while a smaller yacht went into the sandy beach near the club. This is the third break at the Medford Club within a fortnight, money, store goods and a canoe and fittings having been taken previously.

WANT MOVIES HERE

It is reported that the matter of running moving pictures here is again being agitated. According to the tale which is circulated about town a petition is underway requesting movies in the old Chapin School building on Swanton street.

Many residents are remarking these days upon the cleanliness and improved conditions of the Aberjona. Some say it has not been so clean in years. It is hardly possible that the investigation by the District Commission has done so much to do with the situation, but if Winchester people wish to see what our river can really look like when it is in its best condition, they should see it now.

MORE WILD GAME AFOOT

It seems that Winchester is becoming more and more a place where wild game abounds, even to the extent that it may become necessary to band the citizens of the town together for mutual protection. On the heels of the story that residents in the vicinity of Cross street had found it necessary to seek police protection from a voracious polecat, comes the report that the Highlands, or at least, portions of that district, is being overrun by a group of particularly carnivorous foxes. We have the word of Mr. Thomas F. Fallon, well-known local milk dealer, and a member of Winchester Lodge of Elks for the above.

According to Mr. Fallon, his father's farm at Marble Ridge, Stoneham, was the first place, to his knowledge, to receive a visit from the animals in question. One hundred fancy young chickens were the toll which three foxes took at Marble Ridge Farm, two weeks ago, getting away with the prey unscathed. Having apparently developed a liking for the Fallon poultry, and deeming it imprudent to call again at the farm of Fallon senior, the foxes next turned their attention to the place of the son, Thomas, on Highland avenue, paying a successful visit there last Sunday morning somewhere about 4:15 o'clock. Twenty chickens were the toll this time as far as Mr. Fallon was concerned, but several fowl from the coops of Mr. "Ed" Goggin, a near neighbor, helped to bring the total well above that figure.

Monday evening from indisputable evidence the foxes again visited the Fallon home on Highland avenue, but the chickens being well guarded behind lock and key, their foraging was not unproductive. As matters now stand the foxes are well ahead of the game, and the chicken owners are in somewhat of a quandary, inasmuch as it is at present the closed season for the animals, and the latter will not hang around to be dispatched on the properties of any of those who for one reason or another might care to take their life. When the law is off on Mons. Reynard we feel that fox cruises might command a very fair figure from either W. J. or T. F. Fallon or from Mr. Goggin. At least that was our idea after hearing their opinions expressed.

WINCHESTER JUNIORS IN CAPE ANN NET TOURNAMENT

Several of the town's junior tennis players participated in the Cape Ann Junior Tennis Championships which were held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Bass Rocks Golf Club. Included among the Winchester players were Gertrude and Louise Parker, Janet Smith, Nancy Bradford, Virginia Merrill, Constance Williams, Francis Smith, Stillman Williams, and Herbert Rowe. On the whole the local entrants did very well with both Gertrude Parker and Janet Smith advancing to the semi-final rounds of the Class A girls' singles while the same pair as a team got into the same round of the Class A girls' doubles. Louise Parker and Virginia Merrill survived the early rounds of the Class B girls' singles, and Louise paired with Betty Pope was a finalist in the same class of doubles play. Francis Smith got into the semi-finals of the boys' Class A singles with Herbert Rowe surviving the early rounds in the same class.

Such a showing should provide distinct encouragement for those who are sponsoring tennis among the town's young people. Winchester has been playing real tennis comparatively for only a short time, and its players have consequently lacked the experience which comes from continued participation in worth while tournaments. The experience which is absolutely necessary if one is to advance far along the tennis highway. This experience many of the younger players are beginning to get, and the fact that in so doing they are able to advance beyond the first rounds of tournament play speaks very well for the future of Winchester's tennis. We will yet have champions playing on the local courts.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Faulkner of 635 East Colonial drive, Orlando, Fla., formerly of 310 Main street, Winchester, are at the Brookline General Hospital, Corey Hill, Brookline, for a few weeks. Mr. Faulkner having his second blood transfusion and being treated for pernicious anemia. Their old friends wishing their address will find them by addressing 31 Lee street, Cambridge, or Onset, P. O. Box 249. They will be glad to hear from their neighbors and friends in Winchester, and will remain north until Thanksgiving. Use Onset address after Aug. 27.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The public schools will open Wednesday, Sept. 9. Pupils entering the kindergarten must be at least four years and eight months of age on Sept. 1.

Pupils entering the first grade must be at least five years and eight months of age on Sept. 1.

All pupils must be vaccinated previous to entrance or present a physician's certificate stating that they are not fit subjects for vaccination.

Parents of pupils not of school age, but who believe their children have matured faster than their age would indicate, may if they so desire, arrange at the office of the superintendent of schools for an appointment for a mental test to be given Sept. 3 and Sept. 4. Appointments may be made for either day.

High School Notes

All High School students who have studied during the summer will have an opportunity to make up examinations in any of the regular High School subjects in which they have failed, on Sept. 8. The examinations will be given in the High School building at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A student will receive a full year's credit for any subject in which he passes the make-up examination. In order to be eligible to take examinations, students must notify the High School office before Sept. 3, what examination they wish to take, and submit evidence of summer study in preparation for the examination. auz1-3t

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE NOTES

The Directors of the Home for Aged People, are glad to announce that the work of joining the two homes at No. 2 Kendall street and No. 110 Mt. Vernon street and all improvements and repairs connected therewith are practically completed. This will double the capacity as well as greatly improve the entire plant, adding materially to the safety and convenience of both the management and the members of the Home. It is expected that within two weeks all the former members, ten in number will return to the Home and that five or six new members will be provided for. The Home will hardly be ready for visitors before October 1, due notice to the public will be given as to the date when the Home will be in good condition throughout. The Directors wish to publicly express their thanks to all who have co-operated in this undertaking. The generous donors, the architects and contractors. All have striven earnestly to the end that the work be done efficiently and promptly. Further recognition of their efforts will be made in a later announcement. Mrs. Edith J. Moore, the Matron of the Home, has rendered very important service by intelligent and practical suggestions during the progress of the work having taken only a few days off for rest or vacation.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday, August 27 as follows: Dr. Henry C. Houghton, Boston, now dwelling at 300 Arlington street. Mrs. Mathilda Anderson, Winchester, addition to dwelling on Lot 69 Dunster Lane.

Giovani Tranfaglia, Winchester, alterations and repairs to dwelling at 62 Swanton street.

R. F. Lybeck, Everett, new dwelling on Everett road.

Charles A. Burnham, Winchester, remodel dwelling at 33 Everett avenue.

Stockton Raymond, Winchester, new garage at 19 Kenwin road.

Probably more people have remarked this summer upon the good work and excellent influence of our Boy Scout training upon Winchester youths than ever before. There has never been any question of its desirability for growing boys! Winchester Scouts have grown in numbers each year, and they now number nearly every boy of Scout age in town. Much of the training is due, however, to the excellent leaders our boys have. Scout leaders are always picked men, and men whom parents are glad to have over their boys, but this town has been particularly fortunate in its leaders and Winchester Scouts are showing results of their fine training. The STAR might name a few of these leaders, but it picks no favorites, and they are all so good it would be idle to enumerate them. Their influence and training has been very noticeable here in the character-building and manliness, and their work is receiving due recognition.

"VOLUNTEERS" TO RUN TAG DAY

The Volunteers of America founded by General and Mrs. Ballington Booth in 1896, a national institution having one or more headquarters in every state, has been given permission to hold a "Children's Heart Tag Day" in Winchester on Saturday, Aug. 29.

The affair will be sponsored by the following well known leaders in civic and clerical circles: Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, Rev. L. B. Swensen, Rev. John E. Whitley, Rev. William H. Smith, Mrs. Walter H. Dutten, Mrs. Alonzo H. Woodside and Mr. George T. Davidson.

The Volunteers of America have many activities especially in the larger centers where the needs are greater—children's homes, day nurseries, employment bureaus, homes for working girls and the aged, rest camps and hope halls.

Mrs. Booth's many years of voluntary service in the prisons of the United States as well as her work in Europe is generally known. Her's were the first systematic efforts ever made to help the men spiritually behind prison walls or to look after his family often left destitute while he served his sentence.

The enterprise on Saturday will be a children's drive to help children in the state, little ones less fortunate than themselves, for the work will be done entirely by the young people of the community.

As a "motivation incentive" as well as a reward for their good efforts Winchester merchants have generously offered some pretty and useful prizes for those securing the most for their tags.

The first prize will be a three-piece toilet set, mirror, brush and comb, given by the Mills Store; second, a pair of roller skates, given by the Hersey Hardware Store; third, a handbag, given by G. Raymond Bancroft; fourth, a bead necklace, given by M. A. Sheriff, fifth, a box of candy, given by Hovey Drug Store. Headquarters will be at the Winchester News Company where the leader, Miss Mary Brown will meet the children at 9 o'clock to give them their final instructions.

The committee urges all the children to aid in the worthy drive, and for one and all to "do their bit" to make it a success. So on Saturday have two hearts, one of your own and one for the Volunteers of America!

Many public men endorse the work—among others Gen. John J. Pershing, Hon. Charles E. Hughes, Hon. William H. Taft, Justice U. S. Supreme Court and last our President, Calvin Coolidge who says: "I have so long been familiar with the work of the Volunteers of America and can testify to a personal regard for General and Mrs. Booth and their associates that I have a special satisfaction in expressing the hope that their fine endeavors may continue to be amply supported by the public."

TWO SMASHES THIS MORNING

Two smashes this morning opened the week-end according to schedule. At 3:35 a. m., a new Locomobile Junior s ran onto the sidewalk in the centre at the corner of Main and Thompson streets, breaking a window in the Winchester Fruit Market and spoiling some of the woodwork and paint. The car was driven by Frank Whitney of Allston, who is reported to have gone to sleep at the wheel. Officer Dempsey, however, held him until he had out for failing to produce his license or registration. The car was not damaged much, the right front fender being bent.

Shortly before 8:30 the parcel delivery Ford, driven by carrier William F. Carroll of Lincoln street, went through the window of Ames store on Mt. Vernon street. The truck came out of Winchester place, where it was left. Possibly it became impatient at recent delay in the mail. At any rate it gained nothing by its impetuosity, for a considerable delay began to show itself there. Either the brake failed to hold or else the car jumped into gear—no one knows exactly, but the damage amounted to one large plate glass window.

TOMORROW'S BASEBALL GAME

The regular Saturday game will be held tomorrow on Manchester Field, with a strong attraction facing the local team. If the local boys get the one bad inning out of their system the team should return a winner. The game last Saturday for eight innings was the last seen on the field this year and then the lid blew off and the game was gone. However, the boys promise to be on their toes tomorrow and beat anything that comes along.

NOTICE

In the hopes of clearing up what seems to be a misunderstanding in connection with the distribution of the book containing Winchester's War Records it was announced at the Town Hall yesterday that the volume is free to any World War veteran, his family, or other citizen of the town. The idea has prevailed in some quarters that there was to be a charge for the record. Such is not the case. The books may be obtained at either the Town Hall or National Bank. To date comparatively few have been called for.

OFFICER O'CONNELL TO THE RESCUE

"It's all in a day's work." So quoth motorcycle officer Edward O'Connell of the Winchester Police Department when we inquired about the report that he had quelled the ravages of a particularly active pole-cat in the environs of Cross street and the neighborhood adjacent thereto on Tuesday morning. It seems that police headquarters received an S.O.S. call from a resident of Cross street, stating that a skunk was abroad in that district, and had kept everyone within a radius of some little distance awake during the whole of the night previous by engaging several dogs in noisy debate. The dogs were all anxious to dispatch the pole cat, but lacked the moral courage to approach the animal near enough to carry out their design. All they had been able to do was bark, and that they had done to the best of their several abilities. Would the police do something? The neighborhood craved a night of rest, yet none of the two legged inhabitants seemed any more desirous than the canines of closing with the skunk. Headquarters said it would see what could be done, and officer O'Connell was dispatched to Cross street, not any too well pleased with his assignment. Having had a long and varied experience with the ways of pole-cats the big policeman stalked his game with extreme caution, and dispatched the skunk quickly and at a discreet distance. He has now made a third notch in his trusty gun, and will be just as well pleased if some brother officer is given the distinction of riding the community of its next dangerous visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lafayette Hall of the Charlesgate Hotel, Boston, sailed on August 27 on the Samaria for a three months' motor tour in England, Scotland and on the continent.

FORD BADLY BUMPED

The dangerous corner at Wildwood and Church streets, the scene of so many automobile accidents, was again the setting for a bad crash Friday noon at 12. Fortunately no one was hurt, although a sedan containing three ladies and a touring car with two men were concerned.

The touring car, a Ford, was entering Church street. It was driven by its owner, William L. Tutin of Cambridge. The Buick sedan was travelling west on Church street and was driven by Mrs. Francis E. Smith of Winchester and Rockport. She had with her, her daughter Janet and Miss Elise Jansen of Washington, D. C., a guest.

The two cars came together with sufficient impact to drive the Ford onto the sidewalk and wreck it generally, a rear wheel coming off and the body being badly twisted and bent. The Buick also suffered considerably around the front end.

IMPERSONATED POLICE OFFICER

The Winchester Police were notified Monday of this week by Inspector Crawford of the Boston Police that a motorist driving his car on the Lowell road last Monday at 2 a. m. was stopped at a point near the Winchester line by a man who claimed to be an officer. As the officer acted rather queerly, and seemed interested only in "fixing things" with the automobilist whom he had stopped, the latter became suspicious, and making a note of the number of his car he reported the whole matter to the Boston Police inspectors who in turn got in touch with local headquarters. Upon tracing the number of the machine it was found to belong to Theodore H. Eyne of 31 Poole street, Brockton. The police are further investigating the affair.

COLONIAL THEATRE, BOSTON

Again has the inimitable Douglas Fairbanks brought forth an example of photoplays that raises the standard of this newest art to a lofty pinnacle. With consistent and consummate artistry Mr. Fairbanks as a producer has made a picture that possesses a swiftly marching story of dramatic incidents of steadily mounting interest, and with the cheery, dashing personality of the star there is a worth added that magnifies the production to true greatness. For this reason Boston theatre-goers have been thronging the Colonial Theatre for the past two weeks to attend upon the delights of "Don Q." in which Douglas Fairbanks is pictured as the hero of romantic adventures in the land of old Spain.

In "Don Q." Mr. Fairbanks departs from the realms of fantasy which invested with such sublime charm his previous production, "The Thief of Bagdad," and reverts again to the fields of romantic melo-drama. He is seen as the son of Zorro, the principle of whose house is that the eldest son shall go from their adopted land, America, to the family homeland, Spain, to be educated. Young Don Cesar, energized son of Castilian blood through life among the active Californians, adept in the handling of the bull-whip and with the sword, falls in love at first sight with the strictly chaperoned daughter of a Spanish General. His impetuous pursuit of her brings him into adventures that develop into quick complications that fairly dazzle the mind with their speed.

Here is a condition truly Fairbanksian, and it is treated true to type. There is the unctuous comely identified with the ebullient Doug, and there is the employment of his athletic prowess and skill in performing heroic deeds. It is the combination of all these attributes that has made "Don Q." the most popular of all this star's productions. Only three weeks remain for the stay at the Colonial of this production. Showings are given twice daily, 2 and 8:30 p. m.

Ford touring car in some way became stalled under the crossing gates in the center, and was struck a glancing blow by the engine of a through train. Beyond a damaged mudguard and a flat tire no harm came of the incident but for several moments bystanders held their breath.

TOWN TEAM HAS ONE BAD FRAME

Weaver Pitches Great Ball For Woburn All Stars

Winchester Town Team lost its second in a row last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field when it was defeated by an "All Star" aggregation from Woburn 5-0.

For eight innings the game was an interesting pitcher's duel between "Mex" Kelley, star right hander of the locals and George "Kiko" Weaver, venerable orthodox hurler of the visiting club. Both pitchers went along nicely, but it must be admitted that the chunky Woburn boy had what'ever edge there was. He held the locals to six well scattered bingles, and while he hit a man, issued no passes, and all in all pitched just about the best game shown on Manchester Field thus far this season.
Kelley, if you bar the eighth, pitched a masterly game, fanning nine and walking three while being nicked for but seven safeties. Up to the 4th stanza Woburn had been unable to find his slants for a single hit. The grand total of blows off big "Mex" through the seventh was only three so you can easily figure he had something on the pill.

Winchester was billed to play the Woburn Independents, and a last minute cancellation by Manager
Clark of that club left the Town Team Management in somewhat of a pickle.
John Walsh, head of the Sandlot League in the tanning city, was appealed to by Manager MacKenzie, and the former promised to bring a team to Winchester fully as good as the team originally scheduled to appear here. In this he was as good as his word, and no one could find any fault with the resulting game.

The visitors drew first blood in the 4th, after it began to look like the game might develop into one of those extra innings goose-goose affairs. Far-ry first man up in the fourth was thrown out by Kelley and Deberry looped one to "Toothy" Gray in center field. Selecting his bat with care
"Ed" Walsh, veteran of many a campaign, strode to the rubber and hit one hard and on a line between center and left not more than four feet off the ground at its greatest height.
The ball rolled like a sailor with Bull Durham, and before "Toothy" Gray could relay it in to Dolan in short left center, big "Ed" was puffing into third. The runner never slowed down a bit but strided home, and any kind of an accurate peg would have nipped him standing up. As it was, however, "Jomma's" throw went far wide of the mark, and before Melly could recover the pill Walsh was over with the run that could have won the old ball game. It was a mighty swat and a triple in any man's league, but with all due respect to the big Woburn boy he hardly rated a circuit on the club. Be that as it may he touched all the sacks and retired from the game thereafter, his place in right field being taken by C. Nolan, a kid in civilian short trousers who looked all right in the field and at bat.

The "Townies" had two dandy chances to tally in both the 2nd and 3rd frames. In the former instance hits by Chamberlain and Flaherty put runners on second and third with only one away. With any kind of a safe hit meaning a run and possibly two Weaver bore down sharply to fan both Melly and "Punk" Cummings.
In the 3rd Winchester had a man on third with two out, but the best Kelley could produce in the pinch was a near Texas leaguer to short left field on which Farry, the visiting shortstop, made a sweet running catch.

Woburn nearly scored in the 7th.
With one down Dunnigan slapped a safety to center. He went to second when a none too good throw from Kelley, attempting to catch him off first, got away from Fitzgerald and kept right around to third when "Harpy" turned in a wild heave to the middle cushion. With McDonough it looked like a run but Halwartz took his rap at third and threw to Melly nipping Dunnigan at the plate.
McDonough died stealing, Melly to Flaherty.

Then came the slow music. After Keating had been thrown out at first by Halwartz, Nolan worked Kelley for a pass and went to second when Weaver's rap got away from Dolan.
Once more Kelley pitched to the runner advanced when Farry banged a real single past Fitzgerald. When Cummings fumbled the ball in right field Nolan counted and Weaver was over a minute later when Doherty looped one to short right center for a hit, Gray losing the ball after a hard run. Farry made third on the play, and both he and Doherty counted when "Mex" Kelley threw hard and into the dirt at second base trying to get the latter runner going down. Little C. Nolan was the next batter and he showed his displeasure with Kelley's treating him lightly by busting a lobbed up offering for a double to right field. The kid, however, failed to touch first base, and thus was robbed of his hit while making the final out of the inning.

This ended the game's scoring, though "Bart" McDonough doubled mightily in the 9th with one away, only to see Kelley fan the next two batters. "Mex" himself got a hit in Winchester's half but there was one down, and the next two batters were easy outs.

Notes of the Game

There was just about the smallest crowd of the year present, and those who stayed away missed one of the best exhibitions of pitching which Manchester Field has seen this year.
We never saw "Kiko" Weaver show more stuff. Always a heady pitcher he has had the experience to make all his ability tell. He was a hard High School pitcher to beat back in 1912 and '13, and he still is going strong.

One reason the younger members of the Town Team looked so bad against Weaver was due to the fact that thus far this year they have faced little or no curve ball pitching and nothing at all like the hooks the venerable "Kiko" threw at them.
The stout boy had a beautiful curve ball last Saturday.

It isn't often big "Fitzy" will go hitless and he made a great bid for an extra base blow last Saturday in the 9th. Nolan was camped very deep in center field for "Harpy's" prodigious swat.

This same Nolan is known as the "Babe" Ruth of the Woburn Sandlot League. He did little with Kelley Saturday.

Melly did some pretty pegging to bases, throwing out both runners who attempted to purloin second.

Keating turned in a sweet play in the 7th on a hard hit ball from Melly's bat, trapping the ball cleanly and robbing the big backstop of a hit.
All in all this "All Star" crowd turned out to be a better ball club than the Independents.

RILEY'S IN TOP TRIPLE TIE

The Riley Shop Company team went into a triple tie for first place in the Woburn Sandlot League last Monday evening when it defeated the Independents of the same circuit, 5-3, in a game that kept one of the biggest crowds of the season at Library Park on edge from start to finish. There is considerable local interest in the fortunes of the Riley team, and a large delegation of Winchester fans made the trip to Woburn to see the game.

Four local boys have been playing since mid-season with the shop team and have been largely instrumental in the good showing which the team has been making lately. "Harpy" Fitzgerald at first, "Flats" Flaherty at second, with "Indian" Chamberlain and "Yiddie" Skerry in the outfield are the Winchester boys with the Sandloters and all have been going very, very well. In last Monday's "crusade" battle big "Fitzy" produced the big thump for the "Rileys" when he belted out a mighty triple well over the automobiles in left field to bring home Chamberlain who had reached first on a safety. The latter got himself a couple of nice blows while turning in one of the best outfield catches seen on Library Field this year. "Flats" Flaherty went along nicely at the keystone cushion and figured in two double plays. All in all Winchester has been able to do with the Riley victors and especially in view of the fact that the team is being managed by Ernest H. Roberts who for the past two years has been teacher coach at the Winchester High School.
Since Roberts took charge of the team at mid-season the "Rileys" have risen from well down in the standing to the head of the heap and now have an excellent chance for the league flag.

THREE MOTOR ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

The past week-end saw three motor accidents in Winchester, only one of which entailed serious results to the people involved. The trouble started Friday evening just before 7:30 when a Hudson speedster owned by Ralph Luongo of 7 Florence street and operated by Carmino Frongillo of Irving street, while coming out of Swanton street and turning to go south on Washington street, collided with a north bound electric car of the Mass.
Eastern Street Railway Co. The collision was not a sharp one, and little damage was done. No one was injured.

Both of Saturday's accidents occurred on Cambridge street, the first during the afternoon when a Ford runabout owned by Ralph Jones of Dorchester, and operated by Emmet Gouldie of 13 Jordan street, Cambridge, was struck by a large truck driven by Andrew Couter of 67 Branch street, Lowell. Both cars were going north and had reached a point in front of the Robinson estate on Cambridge street when the truck struck the Ford and pushed the small car to the side of the road and into a stone wall, breaking its front axle, both wheels and spring. No damage was done the truck, and no one was reported injured.

The second of Saturday's accidents was more serious and occurred at 8:45 in the evening near the Winchester Country Club. Kenneth and Ernest
Lukes, brothers, of 38 Ferrin street, Charlestown were injured when they were riding in a collision with a Ford touring car owned by the Norwood Garage Co., and operated by Manuel R. Branco of 16 June street, East Walpole. According to the police account of the accident the motorcycle was headed toward Arlington while the Ford, containing five-men besides the driver, was going in the direction of Winchester. In attempting to pass another car Branco was unable to avoid colliding with the cycle, the impact causing the latter to overturn, and throw its riders to the ground. They were picked up and taken to the Winchester Hospital where they were attended by Dr. R.
F. Brown for numerous cuts and bruises. Kenneth sustained a broken leg.

The free lessons in life saving at Sandy Beach on Mystic Lake this week, given by Capt. Jack Wallace and Dave McSweeney, life-saving experts of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, American Red Cross, attracted many bathers from this section. The hot weather aided considerably in securing a record attendance. Classes were given instruction during each afternoon, followed by a practical demonstration of the various methods of saving drowning persons and rendering first aid.

Her Kitchen's as Cool
as Her Porch

That's no exaggeration! When you use an old cook-stove in summer-time you heat the kitchen to unbelievable temperatures—100, 110, 120 degrees Fahrenheit. If it was that hot outdoors you'd declare it was dangerous to venture out of the house, and yet women spend hours walking around in such heat preparing meals.

When you cook with gas, the heat is concentrated under the cooking, where it belongs. The kitchen can be kept pleasantly cool—always cooler than it is out in the sun.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A man who spends half his time in making promises, will consume the other half in excuses.
Deposit frequently in your bank of life, a lot of pleasant things, you will find them very valuable to look back on in later years.
If a man is determined to succeed, I'll bet on him. If he isn't, brace your back bone, and forget your wish bone.
Do right today and repeat it every 24 hours and the tomorrow will take care of themselves.
The two most troublesome words in the English language used together are "They say."

EMBLEM CLUB WHISTS

The Club whists are taking on like wild fire chiefly, no doubt, on account of the very worthy object in view—the success of the Elks' festival scheduled for Sept. 7 and 8 at the K. of C. Hall. The whist workers are in the arena, seeking laurels for the Club; the prizes are simply wonderful and everything is certainly coming our way.

Next week on Friday evening, Sept. 4, at the K. of C. Hall, the second party of the series will be conducted by the refreshment committee of which Mrs. F. H. Scholl is chairman and Mrs. T. F. Fallon assistant. The proceeds of this affair will be used to stock up on "cats" for the festival and much will be needed to supply the multitude that is sure to flock to the aid of the R. P. O. E. A good piece has been donated to this party also, and a costly lustre tent set will be awarded to some lucky individual. The prizes will be of the best quality and numerous. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Scholl or any member of her committee.

As was predicted, the whist given Wednesday night by Mesdames Hallahan, O'Neil, Power, Moffitt and Horn scored a success little short of miraculous for such a warm night. But with "our lilla" at the helm as starter, good square workers and speedy players, how could the affair fail to "go over big." Mr. John Lynch was the lucky winner of the gold-piece donated by Mrs. Lochman; Mr. E. Murphy carried home the cake. The array of whist prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Boylen, $2.50; Mrs. P. Quill, Mrs. D. Lydon, Mrs. E. Phiberty, Mrs. Davis, Ben. Jamieson, Mrs. B. Roberts, A. Hunnewell, Elizabeth Shinnick, Mrs. Keane, Ed. O'Connell, J. Fitzgerald, S. F. Fitzgerald, Miss Foley, Wm. Garbin, Miss Annie Dowd, Mrs. C. Peterson, Mrs. Frances Sullivan, T. F. Fallon, Mrs. J. Conley, Mrs. Connors, Wm. Bond, Mrs. J. Murray, Mrs. Chas. Farrar, Mrs. M. Little, John McCarron, Miss Nellie Sullivan, Al Horn, Mrs. Flanagan, Mrs. Lilla B. Green, Mrs. Mary Roach, Maurice Dinneen, John Crowley, Mrs. Mary Halwartz, W. Gibbons, Jas. Halligan, M. McCue, Mrs. M. McCue, Mrs. F. Smith, Ed. L. Powers, Jas. McKenna, Mrs. G. Neele, Mrs. Hammon, Mrs. G. Prue, Miss Frances Dunneen, Mrs. E. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Ivan Nash were awarded the prizes for lowest score.

Mrs. Margaret E. Sharon, in charge of the fancy article booth, announces candy for sale. Anyone may stock up on very good candy at a small cost, and thus aid Mrs. Sharon and her committee in stocking this booth. Some small article from each member would go far towards furnishing the material needed, and would be greatly appreciated by Mrs. Sharon and her helpers. At her committee meeting set for Monday night it is hoped everyone will respond generously.

CHASE AND BUNNER WIN COUNTRY CLUB FOUR-BALL

A small field turned out for the four ball tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. The best net was made by A. P. Chase and H. B. Bunner who had a 70, three strokes under the 73 of R. W. Wilson and W. W. O'Hara who in turn had an one stroke advantage over H. E. Merrill and R. P. Whitney. The scores:

- A. P. Chase and H. B. Bunner ..... 70
- R. W. Wilson and W. W. O'Hara ..... 73
- H. E. Merrill and R. P. Whitney ..... 74
- P. A. Hendricks and A. M. Bond ..... 76
- F. L. Hale and P. A. Hart ..... 77

K. OF C. NOTES

The annual Autumn Festival of Winchester Council, K. of C. which is to be held at the council clubhouse grounds Oct. 9 and 10, continues to be the paramount subject of discussion among the council members. Since the council decided some weeks ago to conduct this annual event, the council members have taken hold of the tentative plans and rapid progress is being made in the construction of a definite program of events for the occasion.

Scenes reminiscent of the days when council activities were booming are expected when a joint meeting of the festival committee and representatives of the various women's organizations in the town is held at the clubhouse Thursday night, Sept. 1. Invitations to attend this meeting will be sent to the women's clubs and it is expected that many will attend to assist the council members in their endeavors to make the festival this year a greater success than ever.

In years past the women friends of the council have always played an important part in the success of all projects undertaken by the council. To the women is delegated many of the tasks that prove uninteresting to men but which are essential to the financial success of the affair.

The whist parties that are being held at the clubhouse every Tuesday night in aid of the festival are proving a major attraction for scores of ardent card players and friends of the council. Excellent prizes are being donated and the winners are given many surprises as they receive them. As an added attraction and as a token of hospitality, the whist committees are serving hot coffee and doughnuts for the players at the conclusion of each night's play. This little collation served as it is prior to the departure of the players to their homes adds to the spirit of geniality as they talk over the plans of the council and the prospects of a successful festival.

While the festival is, in general, the major subject of discussion, the tug-of-war that will be conducted on one of the two nights is creating much talk among the strong men of the council. Gene Sullivan is telling the world that he has a surprise for the patrons of the festival when he brings forth his heavyweights. Negotiations are now underway for the arrangement of several matches with teams from the suburbs of Boston.

Council members who have been vacationing in the mountains or by the seashore find that the clubhouse situated upon the hill and close by the shores of Walden Pond is almost as pleasing as the beaches at elsewhere during the warm weather. The pool tables provide opportunity for those who believe themselves proficient as cue artists to demonstrate their ability.

Much favorable comment and care that has been given the clubhouse during the summer.

Harry Ferraro, chairman of the festival committee asks that any members or friends of the council desire of assisting in the festival work, communicate with either him or members of the committee.

WINSOR WINS OLD COLONY TITLE BY DEFEATING BENEDICT

The Winsor Club of Watertown won the championship of the Old Colony Tennis League last Saturday afternoon when it defeated the Benedict Club of Winchester, 9 point to 0, on its own home courts. The local players were completely outclassed by the Winsor racket wielders who have been in the league lead for some time. Blanchard of Benedict made the best showing for the losers giving Drake, No. 1 man of the Watertown team, a good battle while losing a two set match, 6-1, 6-4. The feature of the doubles play was the first set in the match played by Blanchard and Oliver of Benedict against Bruster and Jamieson of Winsor, the latter players finally winning after a hard fight, 8-6. One doubles match went to the victors by default. Several new faces were in the Benedict lineup. The summary:

Singles
Drake, Winsor, defeated Blanchard, Benedict, 6-1, 6-4.
Jamieson, Winsor, defeated Damon, Benedict, 6-0, 6-0.

Doubles
Bruster and Jamieson, Winsor, defeated Blanchard and Oliver, Benedict, 8-6, 6-1.
Drake and Foristall, Winsor, defeated Fernandez and Damon, Benedict, 6-1, 6-0.

CHARLES LANE TELLS A FISH STORY

One evening several weeks ago A. W. Kysek, the announcer at WNAC, told Thomas Dreier a fish story which Mr. Dreier immediately retold to his radio audience. Other listeners began pouring in fish stories of their own, and here's the one that Charles Lane sent in and which was retold by Mr. Dreier last Wednesday night:

"When I was in Maine one winter some years ago I made mention in a lumber camp that if there was any pond in the State of Maine that would yield good pickerel fishing through the ice, I didn't know of it. Almost instantly several lumbermen with much excitement, responded.

"Well," said one toothless old man, I can tell you just what you want to know about pickerel fishing in Maine. Two years ago we had quite a lot of snow and our crew was laid off for a few days. Some of us went on a snowshoeing trip. Getting up on the side of a small mountain in Sapling County, we looked off toward Jackman and right down under us in a valley was a small pond.

"The next day we went back there and out to the middle of the pond, cutting a hole about a foot in diameter and clearing the snow away several feet around it. We tied a large jack-knife on the end of the line to make the sounding. I noticed that it took some time for the knife to get to the bottom, which proved to be about five feet below, and wondered why it was so slow going down. The man I was with said it was because the fish were so thick. He took from his pocket a small cube of salt pork, dropped it into the hole and drew it up slowly.

"Just as the pork reached the surface a large pickerel, about three pounds in weight, made a lunge for it, coming right out of the hole. He was followed by another and then by many more in swift succession. My friend stood perfectly still and as they began to come up faster he kicked them to the left and to the right until the cleared space we had made around the hole was literally filled with these large pickerel. I never saw such a sight. Finally we had to run ashore, cut down an old stump of a tree, carry it back to our clearing and then jam it in the hole to stop the pickerel from coming.

"After we had succeeded in plunging the hole securely my friend sat on the stump for as much as ten minutes and we could still hear them thumping their noses against the stump, trying to force it out.

"Well, mister, you want to know a place where they are, do you? Well, that's what I call fishing and you can put that down in your book as one pond in Maine where pickerel fishing is good."

EVENTS AT SANDY SEPT. 12TH

The annual water sports at Sandy Beach will take place this year on Saturday, Sept. 12, and Lifeguard Bill Murray is busy making plans and arrangements for the event. He has decided this year to have the program feature a popular swimmer contest.

Such a contest will be a decided novelty for this section. There will be the usual sports and contests, and the winner in the various classes will be judged upon his or her popularity as a swimmer by a committee of judges selected from the towns and cities represented.

The sports will be open as usual to boys and girls from Winchester, Woburn, Stoneham, Medford, Arlington, Somerville, Melrose and Cambridge.

The program will also include a life saving demonstration under the auspices of the Red Cross, which organization has been conducting classes at the beach during the past month.

Lifeguard Murray has his hands full making the arrangements, and will have hard work to escape winning the popularity prize himself, judging from the esteem and affection in which he is held by the hundreds of bathers who frequent the beach. This summer has seen the far the largest attendance ever recorded at Sandy, the daily crowds being even larger than the former throngs attending on Sundays and holidays.

BOY STRUCK BY CAR AT SANDY

Carroll Lamb, of 51 Sterling street, West Somerville, was slightly injured Monday evening shortly after 7:30 o'clock when he was struck by an automobile on the Mystic Valley Parkway near Sandy Beach. The machine which was driven by Ralph St. Clair Johnson of 387 Somerville avenue, Somerville, was going out of the old Canal road onto the Parkway when it struck young Lamb, knocking him down. The boy was picked up and taken to the Winchester Hospital by Mr. Johnson in his car. There it was found that his injuries were not serious, but consisted of bruises to head, face and hands. After treatment by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne he was taken to his home.

MIDNIGHT BATHERS COULDN'T BATHE

It isn't a free country. At least, it isn't insofar as indiscriminate bathing in Winchester is concerned. Not so long ago four young men were interrupted while enjoying a swim in the limpid waters of the south reservoir, and escorted to the local lockup by Mounted Officer Ned Shea, and at five minutes after midnight Thursday morning a bathing party which had decided to make its headquarters at the Winchester Boat Club was given the right about by Officers from local police headquarters.

It seemed that the Steward in charge of the Boat Club objected to the aquatic revels of the Mystic Lake bathers, but was unable to make the crowd desist from their determination to swim in the lake at all costs. He communicated with the Police and Sgt. Rogers with Officers Donaghey, W. Cassidy and Regan repaired to the club, urging the swimmers to depart hence and at once. Their arguments were evidently more forceful than had been those of the steward for the crowd left without aid. No arrests were made.

AUTOMOBILE STOPPED IN SQUARE PROVED STOLEN FROM BOSTON GARAGE

Frederick Jones, colored, of 1 Burbank street, Boston, appeared in the District Court at Woburn Wednesday morning as a result of having been stopped in Winchester square the day previous for violations of the Motor Vehicle laws.

Tuesday afternoon while traffic officer James Farrell was at his post in the center he noticed a large Perless sedan approaching from the direction of Woburn. The car contained five women, a child, and the driver, all colored, and officer Farrell felt that the speed at which they were traveling was excessive.

Upon signaling the machine to stop he found that the operator had neither license nor registration in the car, and consequently arrested the man. At police headquarters he gave his name as Jones, and stated that he had been to Lowell to pick up his employer, the latter having his (Jones') registration and license in his possession. Unfortunately upon his arrival in Lowell Jones had found his party had returned to Boston which accounted for his being on his way thither without the proper credentials for being on the road. The police listened to his story, and booked him for speeding, and operating without either license or registration. Upon investigating the car which Jones was driving, the police learned that the vehicle had been misappropriated from the Park Street Garage in Boston, and was the property of a Brooklyn, N. Y. party.

The owner of the car proved unwilling to prefer charges against Jones for taking his machine, and it was arraigned in the Woburn court only on the auto violations. He pleaded guilty to all three charges of speeding, and operating without a license, and operating without a registration. His case was put on file.

BOSTON BOY SUSPECTED OF LOCAL BREAKS

During the past month or six weeks several breaks have occurred in various parts of the town upon which the local police have been at work in the hope of apprehending the guilty party or parties. Last Sunday the Newton police arrested in Boston Gunnar Anderson, aged about 15, charging him with several "breaks" in Newton as well as with others in other cities and towns including Waltham and Watertown.

Chief McIntosh of the local police was a witness of the arrest and Tuesday of this week took a trip to Newton where the boy was being held. Immediately upon seeing Anderson the Chief recognized him as a young fellow whom he had seen in Winchester on Cambridge street during the time when some of the breaks in town occurred.

At that time Chief McIntosh with Sgt. Rogers was driving the police car along Cambridge street north, and passed the boy near the entrance to the Sanborn estate. Thinking the latter was acting in a suspicious manner the chief turned into a side street, and returned to question him, only to find that he had disappeared. A search of the surrounding neighborhood failed to locate the youth, but the police have since been on the watch in the hope of seeing him again.

When Chief McIntosh saw the boy at Newton Tuesday he was wearing the same trousers which he had on the morning he had been in Winchester while in other ways he tallied with the description of the youth wanted here.

Anderson, when questioned, denied that he had ever been in Winchester, but the local authorities are rather sure such is not the case. He is a particularly large boy for his age while his complexion and appearance are such as to make him rather easy to remember and identify. Another thing which makes Chief McIntosh feel that he has had something to do with some of the local breaks is the fact that several of those laid to him by the Newton authorities have practically all the earmarks of the jobs done here in town.

At present the Winchester Police are attempting to recover some of the articles taken from Winchester homes in Boston pawnshops in the hope of gaining fresh evidence in the case. In the meantime Anderson will go on trial today charged with 14 breaks in Newton in addition to others elsewhere. He gave his home address as Shawmut avenue in Boston.

SEOUL: KOREA'S ONE-STORED CAPITAL

Seoul, or Keijo, as it is called by the Japanese, scene of recent disastrous Korean floods, lives at once in the luxury past and the bustling present, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The city is the administrative center of Chosen, the Japanese official name for Korea.

Seoul was the capital of the old kingdom of Korea which had its roots as deep into the past as Japan or China, continues the bulletin. "It was not a glorious past. Class distinctions, bureaucratic oppressions and official apathy and general stagnation made the Korea of a generation or so ago anything but an admirable country. A reminder of the past is the huge palace group in Seoul today occupied by the deposed Prince Yi, a pensioner of the Japanese Government.

Modern on Main Street; Medieval Off

The present is working marked changes on the old city. Along two or three main streets modern buildings have been erected, and these thoroughfares are well paved. Electric street railways operate, waterworks and gas works have been installed, and an electric generating plant furnishes power and light. Even a sewer system is making slow headway.

Off the main thoroughfares, however, one finds himself in a medieval Korean city of narrow alleys with open drains, and one-story wooden dwellings.

In the old days common people were forbidden to build houses more than one story high, for no one must have a building from which he could look down on the king.

Old Class Distinctions Persist

Seoul is in a valley, with mountains hemming it in. About the city is a wall built in the 14th century. It is from 10 to 20 feet high and about 20 feet thick, and makes a circuit of seven miles. Within this wall, now falling into disrepair, are included some of the smaller mountain peaks.

The population is about 277,000. Of this total the Japanese, most of whom have come into the country since the annexation to Japan in 1910, number about 40,000. Europeans and Americans resident in Seoul probably do not number 100. Most of these are missionaries. Two mission hospitals and several schools are maintained in the capital.

The Japanese inhabitants of Seoul are active and their business methods, their shops, and their costumes are leavening the Korean lump. Even today, however, the street scenes in Seoul are strongly reminiscent of old Korea. Officially the old class distinctions have been abolished by the Japanese, but they persist. Among the common people are classed the farmers, artisans, laborers. In the middle class are the doctors, priests, scholars, mathematicians, interpreters and artists. A big quarter of Seoul is given over to the middle class. Above them were the nobility and some of these have been given a new status by Japanese patents. Many things were forbidden the common people. Among other things, they could never under any circumstances wear spectacles. The very crude spectacles worn by Korean gentlemen are not to improve the eyesight, but rather are badges of respectability.

Gentlemen Dressed Together

Most Koreans dress in white, a custom said to have resulted from the fact that white was the official mourning habit, and that the populace was constantly being compelled to go into mourning for several years at a time on the death of members of the royal family. Few costumes in any part of the world are more bizarre than that of the Korean gentleman with a straight face.

The white clothing requires frequent washing; and to the casual observer laundering seems to be Korea's chief industry. Along every brook near the cities—and even along the open drains of the streets of Seoul—one will see a bevy of women continually rubbing and thumping garments. Because of the necessity for frequent washing, many of the Korean garments are not sewed, but instead are pasted together, and are pulled apart for each cleansing.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

"What Ails Prohibition?"

A significant article in a recent issue of the "Outlook" by Samuel Wilson of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey calls for serious and intelligent consideration. Mr. Wilson outlines the past history of the prohibition enforcement, showing why the saloons came to be restocked, what gave the bootleggers their start and where the looks have been in the prohibition dike. Prohibition made an excellent start in 1919 and 1920 and was undoubtedly responsible for the improved conditions reported everywhere by all social agencies.

An outstanding fact usually overlooked is this: Beginning with the advent of war-time prohibition, July 1, 1919, every wholesale liquor dealer went out of business because he could not get a license, and saloons went dry because there were no legitimate sources of liquor supply, and as yet no organized illegitimate sources of supply.

Then came the reaction; and the reason therefor is a shameful one.

In New Jersey the Prohibition Unit did not begin to function until May, 1920; but in the meantime the Collector of Internal Revenue for the Fifth District, Charles V. Duffy, had issued a very large number of permits to sell liquor at wholesale, which number increased under the Prohibition Unit to 225 in New Jersey and nearly 4000 in the Nation. Personal investigation of the New Jersey list showed practically all of them to be "undesirable citizens," such as saloon-keepers, professional gamblers, toughs, and gunmen. Anybody or everybody who could furnish a bond could get a permit.

By such means the thirsty saloons were restocked and vast quantities of liquor was stored for release in days of drought, and the movement was started that has grown into the powerful and rich syndicates of protected run-runners and bootleggers.

There was not a word of authority in law for the Prohibition Unit or the Internal Revenue Bureau to issue those permits to wholesale liquor dealers.

The only authority granted by the National Prohibition Law is for manufacturers and wholesale druggists to be issued permits to sell liquors at wholesale to other permit-holders; and only three of the 225 New Jersey permits were lawful.

The outcome was a protest addressed to John P. Kramer, Federal Commissioner of Prohibition by Samuel Wilson, dated July 28, 1920, which resulted in a ruling by Atty-Gen. Mitchell Palmer that Mr. Wilson's contention was right and ordering the cancellation of those thousands of irregular permits. The mischief had been done however; the saloons were restocked and big caches of liquor were available for future stock. Another mischievous condition in those wholesale permits was that they were inter-state in character. A California permit might be honored in New Jersey, one wholesaler might sell to another, and so on until no inspector could follow the trail. Permits were counterfeited and forged and there were no safeguards for identification or for protection. The Internal Revenue Bureau is responsible for this gross mismanagement of the Prohibition Enforcement Law. No discharges or prosecutions arising from such irregularities have taken place.

When a protest was made against the innumerable stills in private homes, calling the attention of the Prohibition Unit to Section 18 of the Volstead Law prohibiting such traffic the reply was "We must have evidence that these stills are made, sold, or installed for the purpose of making intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes before we can confiscate them."

No attempt was made in New Jersey to conform to the law, to assess taxes or collect penalties which amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars in that state alone.

Of course manufacturers, dealers, and moonshiners interpreted this doing nothing policy as immunity, with the consequent harvest of contempt for law.

A remonstrance made to Commissioner of Internal Revenue David H. Blair was ignored; a later appeal to the Secretary of the Treasury, July 12, 1922, brought an answer from Commissioner Blair that instructions to act had been given to the two collectors in New Jersey. Another year intervened, with no action whatever to levy taxes and assessments, whereupon, on Sept. 5, 1923, a letter was written to President Coolidge reciting the facts and inclosing copies of correspondence, closing with this suggestion:

The Department is exceedingly punctilious in exacting "even to the uttermost farthing" all assessments for income tax; and the people have a right to know why these criminals—most of them aliens—who are, in New Jersey alone, owing millions of dollars to the Government, are permitted to go untaxed and unpenalized.

Within a few weeks after this letter reached the President the lethargic Commissioners "got busy," and Collector Ferguson, who was eager to do his duty, rounded up several hundred stills in the Fifth New Jersey District and levied assessments and penalties amounting to many thousands of dollars—and stills disappeared from New Jersey's shops.

Another vast leak in the administration of the Internal Revenue Bureau has been due to the almost unchecked release of industrial alcohol, which has become the main source of supply for contraband liquor. Basic permits for withdrawals of specially denatured alcohol have increased from 1761 in 1921 to 6621 in 1924, not because of any legitimate increase in the production of perfumery, lotions, barbers' supplies, and toilet preparations, but because it is so easy to get basic permits and withdrawal permits, and then to redistill the alcohol that has been denatured by non-poisonous formulas. It is interesting also to note the enormous increase in the use of denatured alcohol, as indicated by Government records. In the year 1914, before the war, the total consumption was 17,110,787 proof gallons, which increased in 1917 to 93,762,422 proof gallons because of the demand for munitions. In 1924 the consumption was 121,574,196 proof gallons.

Finally, the negligence of the Internal Revenue Bureau in not collecting taxes and adequately inspecting breweries has been largely responsible for the great amount of intoxicating beer that has flooded the bootleg markets, especially Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York.

Under the license regime deputies of the Internal Revenue Bureau have had under their personal control every gallon of manufactured beer in every brewery, and have held the key that has released the beer in the tanks, enabling it to flow into the bottling plants. Not a gallon of beer can legitimately leave the brewery until it has been released after the payment of taxes.

The Prohibition Law in no sense relieved the Revenue Bureau of this responsibility; and a tax of $1 per barrel was collectable on denatured malt beverages. The tax of $6 a barrel on intoxicating beer remained unchanged.

Nevertheless the inspection and surveillance of breweries ceased, and the Bureau generously left it to the brewers to make their own tax returns and remittances. With honest men this might be safe, but enormous quantities of high-power beer got away from some breweries tax free because of this courtesy to the brewers and official indifference to duty.

It might be well to explain that in the process of faking "near beer" it is first fermented to an alcoholic potency much above the lawful limit, and later is dealcoholized.

The law permits the sale and transportation of this strong beer for the purpose of dealcoholizing, and, taking advantage of this privilege, which I believe to be unconstitutional, many brewers have, with immense profits, emptied the contents of their vats into the channels of bootleg trade; and the Internal Revenue Bureau made very ineffective efforts to inspect or to assess and collect the $6 a barrel tax due to the Government.

The Bureau is vigilant in collection of revenues due from tobacco, oleomargarine, automobiles, theatres, and chewing gum, and as for income tax, the pursuers keep on the trail until the uttermost farthing is exacted; and the public has a right to know why there has been such laxity or, in reality, contemptuous indifference in the collection of revenues due from makers of and dealers in intoxicating liquors.

Now that the Prohibition Unit, the Coast Guard, and the Customs Service are all under a single head, there will be less reason for negligence in the collection of taxes and for lack of cooperation in the various services which must work together if prohibition is to have genuine enforcement.

The foregoing is adequate proof of the need for just such a reorganization as the President has authorized. If the tax provisions of the revenue law are applied, prohibition can be made to pay for its own enforcement. There seems to be no reason, in law or justice, why a bootlegger should not be made to pay for his own conviction.

Introducing a NEW AUTOMOBILE FUEL.

NO-NOX is a new automotive fuel that increases fuel efficiency, increases power, lessens waste, eliminates fuel knocks and the poor operating conditions that such knocks indicate, and prevents all harmful effects of carbonization.

With NO-NOX in the tank of your car you may step on the accelerator without a motor knock thus accelerating quicker, handle your car in traffic better and go over the hills with greater power and ease.

For an extended period of time, extensive experiments and research work have been carried on in the Gulf Refining Company Laboratories, and test cars driven thousands of miles to develop this more efficient fuel for internal combustion engines—we know it is right—but

The only way to realize the benefits of this new fuel is to make an actual trial of it in your car. Drive to a Gulf Service Station or Gulf Dealer today, and ask the attendant for NO-NOX.

NO-NOX is guaranteed to be no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline and is priced only three cents per gallon higher than That Good Gulf gasoline.

GAS SERVICE LEADS

Whenever there's trouble in the coal industry, attention is centered on the gas business. This is only natural because gas service is now a stronger competitor of solid fuel than ever before.

Think of five thousand separate uses for gas—with more being developed every day. People everywhere are casting their heating burdens on the gas companies, secure in the knowledge that gas service is always on tap—clean, efficient and, best of all, economical.

When a home is fully piped for gas service, fuel worries depart forever, and so do ashes, smoke, soot and dirt. These facts are becoming known to thousands who have never thought about them before, and the results are seen in better cooking, more efficient heating of rooms and homes, and running hot water at every faucet.

About 50 tenements, occupied by a democratic crowd, all for sale. I need the money.

Several to let after Aug. 31st. If I can't sell. We have a lot of used, "Kindly used" plumbing and heating equipment for sale today. Easy payments. But we need the price.

We sell real nice plumbing goods when we get the chance. Have sold more than all other dealers added and multiplied by two or three since we hung out our shingle many, many years ago. Had we charged the profit some really have to get the old man would be playing golf with John D. instead of working 21 hours per day.

There was quite a little doing in the square last Friday afternoon, when an extra freight, hauled by two big locomotives of the 2600 and 2300 type, was obliged to stop and drop off a car with a hot box. The train reached considerably below Wedgemore, and the car was about in the middle. The delay held up the 3.06 passenger train, which in turn, gave an inward freight a chance to go through, it being followed by another long freight. By the time the smoke and shifting had cleared away it was 3.30, and the gate tenders, electric car switchman, traffic officer and a few others were ready to call it a day.

A motion picture company of Boston appeared on the Mystic Valley Parkway at the entrance to the Medford Boat Club early Sunday morning, accompanied by directors, camera men, actors and much property.

The intention was to film several scenes for a forthcoming production. Unfortunately no permit had been secured from the District Commission for such use of the location, a permit for working on Sunday within the limits of the City of Malden being the only license produced when the officials were questioned by officer Kooncy, who appeared on the ground just as the first act was ready for filming.

Metropolitan officials were appealed to, and there was much apparent activity among the company's officials during the forenoon and early afternoon, during which time the huge pile of stage fittings and the large group of actors and actresses attracted much attention from passers-by. As the matter could not be properly handled on the Sabbath, the deadlock continued until a resident near "Little Sandy," at the West Medford end of the lake, offered the use of his residence and property, whereupon the whole company adjourned to that location and pictures were filmed until dark, much to the interest of a horde of autoists and others who were attracted.

Navarro was headed across Cambridge street into High street, and was taking eight laborers to a construction job over the hill. He was just passing the police beacon when the rear of his truck was struck by the Essex which was headed for Arlington along Cambridge street.

One of the rear wheels of the Reo was broken, and a laborer whose name was not learned was injured by the collision and taken to his home. The Essex escaped with slight damage.

FRED VINAL WOOSTER

Fred Vinal Wooster, a widely known resident of this town for the past 36 years, died Sunday morning, Aug. 30, at his home on Lebanon street following a long illness with paralysis. He was 71 years old, and had been in poor health for nine years.

Mr. Wooster was born in 1841 at Brewer, Me., the son of Benjamin and Drusilla A. (Perry) Wooster. He was a direct descendant of Commodore Perry and Benjamin Franklin. His early life was spent around Brewer, his education being received in the public schools of Bangor. As a young man he came to Boston where he was engaged for some years in the business of hardware manufacture. Later he entered the insurance field specializing in fire insurance in Boston and Winchester for more than 30 years.

Since his arrival in Winchester Mr. Wooster had always taken an active interest in the affairs of the town. He was one of the Board of Sewer Commissioners, appointed by the town to plan and install its present system of main sewers. He served for ten years on the commission from 1894 to 1904, and was chairman of the commission which finally built the sewer system. In 1903 he was elected to the Board of Assessors, and served continuously as an assessor for 18 years. For 15 years from 1904 until 1919 he served as Chairman of the Board of Assessors where his expert knowledge of property values and the law relative to the assessment of taxes led him to be regarded as a local authority on matters pertaining to the administration of his board. In 1919 failing health forced his retirement from public life.

As his interest in the civic life of the town Mr. Wooster also took a prominent part in the social and religious life of the community. For more than 25 years he had been a member of the First Congregational Church and was one of the organizers of the Y. M. C. U. of that parish. He was an honor member of the Calumet Club, and was affiliated with William Parkman Lodge of Masons, June 12, 1873. Mr. Wooster married Miss Adah C. Martin of Bangor, Me., who passed away Feb. 8, 1904. He was married a second time to Alice E. Crane of Somerville who survives him.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the First Congregational Church and were conducted by the Rev. Howard C. Chidley, D. D. Selections were sung by Mrs. Cora Wellman of Melrose accompanied on the organ by P. Perrygo. Burial was in the cemetery. Mrs. George Arnold and Ernest Eastis of Winchester, representing William Parkman Lodge of Masons, were in the procession. Ernest Hubbard of Somerville; and William Dobinson. The interment was in Willowood Cemetery.

VOLUNTEERS THANK YOU

Winchester folk opened their hearts and purses on Saturday to help the destitute women with children and other unfortunate in the city by contributing the sum of $114 to their worthy cause. Every one connected with the affair was deeply grateful to all who in any way helped make the day successful.

A statement issued by the organization's representative says: "To the town officials, the newspaper, the merchants who furnished the incentives for the children's efforts as well as to Miss Mary Brown's capable leadership full credit should be given; neither must the public's generosity in patronizing the youthful workers be omitted. From early in the morning until late in the afternoon each of the girls and boys played the merry game of "competition" for the prizes and at the close of the "contest" it was found that Barbara Locke was entitled to first prize, having collected $13. The second was won by Virginia Farrar who had $7. Wallace Fay had $6 and received the third. The fourth and fifth prizes were won by Donald MacAdams and Priscilla Jones.

Wednesday morning at 10:25 or just five minutes after a part of the local Fire Department had left for Andrews Hill a telephone call dispatched another squad to put out a brush fire in the rear of Town Engineer Hind's residence on Forest street.

ELKS PROMISE BIG TIME AT FROLIC

Everything is in readiness for the big Lawn Party and Frolic which the Winchester Lodge, 1445, B. P. O. E. is running on the afternoon and evening of Labor Day, with a second performance Tuesday evening, and from every indication this latest party will be one of the best which the local Elks have yet sponsored. This should mean much to Winchesterites who are already familiar with the high quality of the Elks' previous entertainments, and it is expected that a large crowd will be present both on Labor Day and the next evening.

A hustling committee has for some time been at work on the details of the frolic, and Chairman Fred Scholl promises everyone who climbs the hill to the Knights of Columbus House and grounds, where the party is to take place, a good time with no lack of interesting things with which to occupy himself.

As no Elks' justification would be at all complete without something designed especially to give the children pleasure, Labor Day afternoon at the lawn party will be devoted to a program of particular interest to the kiddies. Starting at 2 and continuing until 6 the young folks will reign supreme and while the nature of their entertainment is not being divulged in advance it is safe to say that it will be one in which they and their parents may revel.

At 6 in the evening and continuing until midnight the real frolic will commence. Many features have been arranged by the committee, and the merry-making will center about a huge midway on which will be attractions of interest to all. Announcement has been made that the grounds will be electrically illuminated through the courtesy of the E. C. Sanderson Co. while the Knights of Columbus Hall will be gay with decorations of bunting and flags. A concert program has been arranged with instrumental selections by Culen's Orchestra assisted by many well known local artists as well as professional talent from Boston. Many novelties in the way of entertainment are promised, and there will be dancing in K. of C. Hall from 8 until 12 o'clock.

Tuesday evening will be a repetition of its predecessor, though as a big added attraction the drawing for the ton of coal donated for the frolic by Mr. John D. Coakley will be held over until that time. It is announced that admission tickets, entitling holders to participate in the drawing.

The committee of Elks in charge of the lawn party and frolic which is functioning under the supervision of Exalted Ruler Dinneen of Winchester Lodge includes Fred H. Scholl as chairman, George H. Lochman as treasurer, William H. Vayo as secretary, and John D. Coakley, James J. Fitzgerald, Frederick Croto, and Andrew J. Flaherty. Co-operating with the Elks in the running of the affair is a committee of ladies from their auxiliary, the Emblem Club, under the direction of President, Mrs. Allie E. Davidson.

WINCHESTER GIRL TO APPEAR IN PHOTO-PLAY AT TREMONT TEMPLE

Winchester movie fans will be glad of an opportunity to see one of their own local girls upon the screen in Boston when Channing Pollock's celebrated play, "The Fool" opens at Tremont Temple Monday. Brenda Bond, formerly of this town and a graduate of the local schools, plays one of the feature parts in the production and doubtless many of her Winchester friends will avail themselves of the opportunity to see her in her latest success. Miss Bond has already created a favorable impression in the musical comedy field. She makes her home with her mother, Mrs. H. T. Bond, in New York.

A Cadillac touring car and a Mack truck figured in a collision Wednesday morning at 11:25 o'clock at the junction of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets. The Cadillac was being driven by Miss Barbara Begien of 21 Ridgefield road and was going West on Mt. Vernon street. The truck was being driven by Robie H. Brown of 62 Pine street, Stoneham, and was hauling a load of crushed stone along Washington street, southbound when it was bumped by the touring car on the left side at the rear wheel. The Cadillac's front end and right front wheel was damaged, the truck unharmed. No one was injured.

MCKENZIE-MEEHAN

Miss Rose Meehan, daughter of Mr. James Meehan of Porter street, Woburn, and John Myles McKenzie, son of Mrs. Edward P. McKenzie, 12 of Hemmingsway street, were quietly united in marriage Wednesday evening by Rev. John P. Gorham in St. Charles Church, Woburn. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Scholl of this town.

The bride is popular in Woburn social circles while Mr. McKenzie is well known here. He is a graduate of the Winchester schools, and while in high school distinguished himself in athletics. Upon his graduation he attended Boston University, leaving college to enter the sugar business. He is at present located with a large sugar concern at Preston, Cuba, and with Mrs. McKenzie will sail from New York for that place on Sept. 15.

CARRIE F. VINAL

Carrie F. Vinal, youngest daughter of Charles P. and Margaret R. Vinal of Boston, died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. John G. Hovey, 24 Fletcher street, Winchester, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 2. The public schools will open Wednesday, Sept. 9.

Pupils entering the kindergarten must be at least four years and eight months (if age Sept. 1).

Pupils entering the first grade must be at least five years and eight months of age on Sept. 1.

All pupils must be vaccinated previous to entrance or present a physician's certificate stating that they are not fit subjects for vaccination.

Parents of pupils not of school age, but who believe their children have indicated, may if they so desire, arrange at the office of the superintendent of schools for an appointment for a mental test to be given Sept. 3 and Sept. 4. Appointments may be made for either day.

High School Notes

All High School students who have studied during the summer will have an opportunity to make up examinations in any of the regular High School subjects in which they have failed on Sept. 8. The examinations will be given in the High School building at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A student will receive a full year's credit for any subject in which he passes the make-up examination.

In order to be eligible to take examinations, students must notify the High School office before Sept. 3, what examination they wish to take, and submit evidence of summer study in preparation for the examination. auzt-31

MRS. LEWIS J. BIRD

Mrs. Elizabeth Eaton Bird, widow of the late Lewis J. Bird, for years the foremost architect of the City of Boston, passed away suddenly at the home of her son, Mr. Lindsey E. Bird, of Highland avenue on Wednesday, Sept. 3. She was in her 87th year and was a native of Boston.

Mrs. Bird was the daughter of William Easton, who was formerly a well known builder of South Boston, and Sarah Elizabeth Lindsey. She spent most of her life in Roxbury, marrying the late Lewis J. Bird of that place. Her husband died five or six years ago, since which time she had made her home here with her son. She was a member of the Phillips Church of South Boston, the Congregational Church at Clarendon Hills, and the Church of the Resurrection of Emmanuel Walnut Avenue Church, Roxbury.

She was also prominent in the Episcopal Church during the life of Bishop Vincent, founder of the movement.

Mrs. Lindsey E. Bird is the only surviving child. During the time she had been in South Ashfield, where the family has a home, and had but recently returned. She passed away peacefully in her 87th year. Services are to be held this Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, where the Rev. Herbert L. Cox, while again at St. Charles Church, will officiate.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY ON ANDREWS HILL

The Winchester Fire Department put in a busy day at Andrews Hill Tuesday and the fun continued during much of Wednesday. At 12 o'clock on the first named the firemen had a hard fight with burning brush in the rear of the residence of Mr. Herbert L. Cox, while again at 3 another run was made for a ground fire near the residence of Mr. Thomas M. Vinson. The latter fire broke out again at 4 o'clock on Wednesday morning and once more the Department responded to a still alarm. Later at 10:20 the same forenoon another fire was started in the rear of the Vinson residence, this time it is thought by a spark from a steam roller. The latter fire was not extinguished until nearly 2 o'clock in the afternoon, proving as most ground fires, particularly stubborn. Wednesday evening the firemen made a run over the burned area on the hill to satisfy themselves that all was likely to be quiet during the night, as a faint noise was heard. In all about 15 acres of brush land were burned over.

"HAIL TO JAZZ" SAYS TOMMY MARTELLE

"I may seem overly ambitious to those who have regarded the subject casually, but I claim for jazz, that it is the one purely active art created in America. It is the folk song of our nation. Thus affirms Tommy Martelle, star of 'Some Girl', the musical comedy which is to open at the Auditorium Theatre, Malden for one week only Monday, Sept. 7 with a special matinee Monday.

"I know full well" continues Mr. Martelle, "that for years, jazz has been a thing outside the pale, a stroller in the realms of music. And a good reason why—with the blare, the blatancy and the clowning antics on the part of the performers in its earlier days.

"But now, in its present stage of evolution, I claim for jazz the recognition and respect, according to the other forms of musical expression. And why not? There are the same thirds, sixths, augmented fifths, arpeggios, runs, etc., as combine in the harmony and counter-point of classical music. It is merely that the constructive arrangement, the pauses, the timing, are different in jazz."

"More and more, orchestra and band leaders, are giving serious attention to their jazz orchestrations. Frequently they have scored as many as six arrangements of one particular number, before obtaining just the nuance they wished, and often have interpolated passages from classic compositions to round out the number, and make it even a little different from the ordinary arrangement. To my mind, jazz, which is so free of conventions, technicalities, and musical laws, gives the widest opportunity to present actual drama in musical form. It affords the most subtle tone changes, the most intense effects. It is the embodiment of evolution, of life, which is the soul of an drama, and hence of real music."

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB NEWS

The boys of the Winchester Boat Club performed a unique stunt last Sunday when, piloted by their Fleet Captain, "Staf" Rogers, they paddled their war canoe from the club house down to Boston harbor. The boat had to be taken from the water twice on account of dams, one at the Medford Boat Club and the other at Medford square. From the latter place the big boat plowed its way steadily down the winding Mystic River, entering the harbor at the Chelsea Bridge. Down past the Navy Yard and the ferry slips the boat continued as far as Commonwealth Pier and the Fish Pier. After resting a bit the adventurers made the return trip. Although many small canoes have made the harbor trip, this is the first time that it has ever been attempted in a war canoe.

STRAND THEATRE, WOBURN

With the opening of the full and winter season next Monday (Labor Day), the management of the Strand Theatre, Woburn, will offer the theatre going public one of the most delightful comedy-dramas that the screen has reflected in many months, in which the "high hat" comedian, Raymond Griffiths who co-stars with Miss Betty Compson does the best work of his screen career. "Paths to Paradise" is the vehicle in which this noted pair will thrill the audience.

On Wednesday and Thursday, lovely Colleen Moore in "Sally," the Ziegfeld stage sensation in which Marylyn Miller starred will be the feature and on Friday and Saturday Tom Meighan will appear in what is said to be the crowning success of his screen work, "Old Home Week."

It will interest the patrons of the Strand to know that daily matinees will be given starting next Monday.

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY OCCUPIES PORTLAND PULPIT

Laurence Tracy Nutting, a former Winchester Highlands boy, well known to a large circle of Winchester friends, who occupied the pulpit at the Warren Congregational Church at Portland, Me., last Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. R. A. Macdonald who is on his annual vacation, will again occupy the pulpit in next Sunday. At this time Mr. Nutting will take for his subject, "Do-Wack-a-Do Morals."

Mr. Nutting is a Winchester man and was graduated from Bates College with an A. B. degree. He next attended the Theological Seminary of Rochester, N. Y. From this theological seminary he was graduated with a B. D. degree. He next did graduate work at the Chicago University. For the past three years, Mr. Nutting has been doing graduate research work in the Department of Religious Education at the University. For the past two years he has been engaged in developing the High School department in the week day community church school for boys. This is a bit of pioneer work, this particular branch of religious work never having been tried before. Mr. Nutting is an assistant dean at the Chicago College of Science. At the present time he is in candidacy for a Ph. D. degree from the Chicago University.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The season's activities will begin with a luncheon, given by a large committee of the Mothers' Association to the teachers—all of them—on the first day of school, Sept. 9 in Mrs. Parker's barn, 408 Main street.

The Fathers' Night is appointed for Nov. 3, Tuesday, in the High School Assembly Hall, 8 p. m. Mr. Quinn will conduct a program arranged by himself, the Lincoln Players and the Music Committee will entertain; followed by an informal reception to teachers with refreshments. Please save this date, fathers and mothers.

PUPILS TO RECEIVE PRIZES

Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis will meet her pianoforte pupils, socially, in her home, 131 Washington street, Saturday, Sept. 12 at 3:30 p. m. On this occasion, pupils will receive the prizes won for the best records made during the past season and will engage dates for their lessons for the coming season.

New pupils will be assigned dates after Sept. 12. For information address Mrs. A. S. Lewis, 131 Washington street, Winchester, Mass., tel. 0701-J. s4-2t

STOLEN CANOE RECOVERED

After three breaks within a fortnight, members of the Medford Boat Club took a hand in doing a little detective work last week and as a result a Medford Hillside youth, holding a criminal record of some 19 counts, was sentenced to the Concord Reformatory for four years on Monday for the theft of a canoe at the lake.

The Club's store was entered on two occasions, when money, cigarettes and other articles were stolen. On another occasion a canoe and fittings were taken, including a silver trophy cup. In losing the club on the third entrance, two of the valuable model yachts were set adrift on the lake and only escaped destruction through running ashore at points where overhanging shrubs cushioned them from rocks.

For over two weeks members of the house committee at the club kept a close watch of the property, meanwhile reporting the theft of the canoe, together with its description, at all places where it might be used. Their vigilance met with fruit on Sunday forenoon, when the keeper of one of the public boat liveries on the Charles River reported that the canoe was occupied near his place and agreed to keep the attention of the canoeist until club members could go there and handle the matter.

Four members of the Medford Club at once rode to Waltham where the canoe was identified and the young man taken into custody. In the Roxbury Court Monday morning he was sentenced. Practically all of the outfit was recovered and returned to the owner.

The boat club was entered by breaking a window in the store, the canoe being taken out and sunk for two days in the lower lake, after which it was taken to Waltham by a truck.
A close watch is being kept at the club and will be maintained through the remainder of the year, and in this connection an interesting story was told last Saturday involving two prominent members. The club maintains two canoe houses separated by a considerable distance. In keeping watch the group at either house agreed to summon their companions in case of need by firing two shots.

On Friday night, or rather Saturday morning about 3 o'clock, a belated freight train left two topcoats on the track near the club. Being exploded by a following train, they were taken by one of the watchers as the signal for assistance, and he responded at once, only to find the main house dark and without a sign of disturbance. The first watcher he came upon was sound asleep and he started to awaken him by grasping his arm. It was fortunate for him that he was of an athletic and agile build, as he escaped the swing of the hilly and succeeded in keeping out of harm's way until the watcher could be made to understand the situation.
Explanations followed, together with hot coffee, and an extra sharp watch followed until daylight.

K. OF C. NOTES

Active work in the completion of plans for the annual autumn festival of Winchester Council, K. of C., is expected within the next week. Several of the committee members who have been enjoying vacations or have been otherwise engaged will be ready to enter into the work with a vim soon.

Individual members of the general committee have many novel ideas in connection with the plans which will be discussed at a meeting in the near future. Many hitherto untried features are expected to be introduced this year.

The weeks preceding the dates of the carnival, Oct. 9 and 10, will be busy days for the council members.
Decoration of the home in brilliant colors is one of the tasks that confront the committee.

Many women who in past years have been invited by K. of C. undertakings have been in communication with committee members which has given an optimistic outlook to the affair.

The whist parties which have been conducted each Tuesday night at the club house continue to be well patronized. The sixth party of the series was conducted Tuesday night, Sept.
15, Lake P. Glendon, one of the council's most faithful workers is directing this party.

Recent visitors to the clubhouse were George R. Brine and family of Washington street. In the visiting party was Mr. Brine's son, James, who is now a resident of Atlanta, Ga., where he is at the head of the Atlanta Traction Co.

The winners of the Tuesday night
whist were Mrs. Eleanor Farrell, Mrs.
Elizabeth Powers, Mrs. Lila Greene,
Mrs. Mary Robt. H. Coover, Mrs.
Annie Humphrey, Miss Anna Dowd,
Thomas Fallon, Mrs. Sarah Quill, Edward Dineen, Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald.

SANDY CARNIVAL TO HAVE NEW FEATURE

Considerable interest is being manifested by local followers of water sports in the "Popular Swimmer" contest which is to feature this year's aquatic carnival at Sandy Beach on Mystic Lake one week from tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 12. If the weather is aright this will be the third swimming meet to be held at "Sandy" under the direction of the popular Lifeguard in charge, "Bill" Murray, and judging by the turnout which its predecessors have enjoyed, there should be a good size crowd on hand to watch the fun.

There is something behind these carnivals besides giving those who frequent the beach a good time. Life-guard Murray is very desirous of developing really good swimmers in this district and is a firm believer in competition as a means to that end. "Bill" can see no reason why the young folks who swim in Mystic Lake should not excel in water sports, and he should receive the backing of the community in his efforts to realize his ambitions for his young charges.

Sandy Beach has never been more popular than at the present time. The day crowds frequently assuming the proportions of those only attained on Sundays or holidays in previous seasons. It is expected that a greatly enlarged list will be ready for the start-er's pistol on next Saturday, and those who attend in the role of spectators may look forward to some real excitement.

The sports will be open as usual to boys and girls from Winchester, Woburn, Stoneham, Melrose, Arlington, Somerville, Melrose and Cambridge.

To add variety to the program of races, arrangements have been made for a life saving demonstration under the auspices of the Red Cross which organization has been conducting classes in this important phase of watersmanship at "Sandy" during the past month.

The "Popular Swimmer" contest will be a distinct novelty for Mystic Lakes carnivals, and its winner will depend for his prize upon the decision of a committee of judges.

At exactly five minutes before 1
o'clock on Monday morning Police Headquarters received a phone call from a resident of Highland avenue,
whose home is near the Forest street
extremity of the thoroughfare, stating that a party of motorists were creating considerable of a disturbance
on the highway in front of his dwelling and making it difficult for him to obtain the sleep so necessary for the efficient performance of his morrow's duties.

At exactly five minutes before 1
o'clock on Monday morning Police Headquarters received a phone call
from a resident of Highland avenue,
whose home is near the Forest street
extremity of the thoroughfare, stating that a party of motorists were creating considerable of a disturbance
on the highway in front of his dwelling and making it difficult for him to obtain the sleep so necessary for the efficient performance of his morrow's duties.

Officers Reegan and Dempsey were sent to straighten matters out, and found upon arrival that the auto party was made of two young men and two young women, all colored, who seemed to be engaged in some sort of altercation involving the use of considerable loud and bellicose language not calculated for repetition.

The policemen asked the reason for the party's stopping as they had and were told that they had run out of gasoline, and were awaiting some that was due to arrive any minute. As soon as it arrived they would move along.

Satisfied the officers departed, but the gas was long in coming, and with the departure of the police the motorists' fuel broke out afresh with no lack of fireworks. Once more the local householder besought the police to see if arrangements could not be made for a cessation of hostilities or at least a change in the base of operations.

This time Sgt. Rogers and officer Reegan answered the call, and the gas-less automobile was taken where fuel could be obtained. Following the replenishing of its tank the party of motorists were offered the choice of leaving town promptly or of remaining for a somewhat indefinite period. The former course was chosen by the rioters, and they departed at once leaving to the residents of the northerly end of Highland avenue
the remainder of the night in peace.

CHILD PAINFULLY INJURED

Albert, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thorne of 755 Main street, was painfully injured Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when he fell from the back steps of his home striking his face upon a stick of loose lumber which was lying in the back yard.

The boy, it is thought, tripped in going down the steps, and plunged forward, hitting the sharp end of the stick with great force. His cheek was punctured, and three teeth were knocked out by the blow. Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne was summoned and at once ordered Albert, who was lying profusely, removed to the Winchester Hospital where the physician found it necessary to take three stitches on both the outer and inner side of the cheek to close the wound.

While the injury is not thought to be dangerous, it is particularly painful and one which will not be forgotten for some time to come. Following treatment at the hospital young Thorne was removed to his home.

Six members of the Winchester Boat Club paddled down the Mystic River Sunday morning, laying a course to the Fish Pier in the harbor.
The crew used the war canoe and had little difficulty in making a record run, the only delay being a short period necessary to pass through the Medford locks. The canoeists included Messrs. Stafford Rogers, Phil Hight, Gleason Buckley, Norman Begon,
Edward Sandberg and Allan Hovey.

THOMAS DREIER HEADS PRESS PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

The chairman of the press publicity committee, which is in charge of all newspaper copy and stories sent out regarding the big Direct Mail Advertising Convention and Exposition to be held October 28—30 in Mechanics Building, Boston, is Thomas Dreier of 1 Curtis circle.

The Direct Mail Advertising Association is a non-profit organization for educational purposes, affiliated with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and comprising about 1200 firms and individuals.

New England wants this convention because the quality of New England's products has long been famous. But the country is growing, competition is keen, and there is great danger that New England's goods will be overlooked unless the same effort which keeps their quality on such high level can also be applied to modern methods of selling.

Speakers representing the largest manufacturers and distributors in the country will tell in detail how they have made effective use of printed matter in marketing goods. All persons in New England interested in the distribution of all kinds of products, from the small retailer up to the national distributor, are invited to attend this convention.

Judging by the attendance at previous conventions held in different parts of the country, more than 3000 persons are expected to register at the big Mechanics Hall meeting in October.

GEORGE W. BLANCHARD MAR-RIED AT PORTLAND

Miss Irene Mildred Abbott of Falmouth Foreside, Me., was married on Tuesday, Aug. 25, at Portland, Me. to George W. Blanchard, formerly of Winchester, and now making his home at Cumberland Foreside, Me. The ceremony was performed by the Rev.
Burton A. Lucas.

The news of Mr. Blanchard's marriage came as a distinct surprise to his many friends in town. For many years he conducted a coal and lumber business in Winchester which is now being carried on by his sons, Sydney and Dean. His Winchester home was on Washington street, but for some little time previous to his marriage
he has been living at Cumberland Foreside on the farm where he was born, and which is to be his future home. Mr. Blanchard's former wife died six years ago, and three years following her death he retired from active business.

His bride is a native of Falmouth Foreside, Me. and Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard are at present on a wedding trip at Poland Springs, and expect to spend their winter in the south. Their future home will be in Maine.

To Tell Age of Fish

The halibut rests on its left side, which is white. The other side is dark. The side uppermost, toward the sun, is actually dark brown, and it is this part of the fish's body which bears two large eyes. A Toronto scientist contributes another interesting observation, to the effect that the age of a fish can be told by looking into its ear.

Lancaster Facts

THE LANCASTER GREATER MOVIE SEASON starts September fifth. During the following weeks a remarkable series of notable pictures will be screened for Lancaster patrons.
Among these may be mentioned John Barrymore in "The Sea Beast," Charles Chaplin in "The Gold Rush," Douglas Fairbanks in "Don Q, Son of Zorro," Sydney Chaplin in "The Man on the Box." Other favorite screen artists to appear during the next few weeks include such familiar names as Harold Lloyd, Gloria Swanson, Rudolph Valentino, Richard Bartelme, Mary Pickford, Corinne Griffith, Milton Sills, Colleen Moore and Conway Tearle.

If you are not familiar with the quality of the projection, and the comfort and quietness of the Lancaster, this is your cordial invitation to call and see high grade pictures under the most favorable conditions.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Has it ever occurred to you that no one ever repeated a scandalous story with a good purpose in view.

When you place your nose above the possibility of want you remove the greatest source of inspiration from his life. The men of this world who have figured most prominently on history's pages, were poor boys. Wealth is a handicap to effort.

Agreeing they used an owl as a symbol of wisdom for the reason that he never expressed his thoughts in words.

An honest man has a good chance of success, but a dishonest man has no chance whatever.

The question is—who is in charge of our "sunk garden." This beautiful mud hole, with its untamed growth of grass and weeds, formerly known as the Mill Pond, needs attention. Surely "Alex" is not cultivating it!

Many residents have remarked on the insect pest which has attacked the willows at Wedgemore between the river and the railroad tracks. It is our old friend the gypsy moth—a little belated or a second crop as it were, but the same pest which ravaged this section so badly in years past. There appears to have been a reincarnation of the moth all about the east shore of Mystic Lake, and the Metropolitan Commission has a force of men at work cleaning the section up.

An appreciated gift reached the Editor's desk yesterday, probably through being delivered personally by the donor, Mrs. Mary E. Wadsworth. Had it been sent otherwise it surely would never have reached the intended recipient, for it consisted of no less than two tumblers of her delicious apple jelly. Clear and beautiful, of the most exquisite goodness, it made one wish at once to set down to a repast of humming birds' tongues or whatever nectar it is such a delectable accompaniment. Good?—we know it is; we've had it before, and now that our cold is all-in-come on you old winter!

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for Winchester to follow suit with some of these other towns who are armed with stone trucks sprinkling their roads over the streets, and make the drivers gather the kavings up after them? We have had this loose stone nuisance here for several years, and so far as can be ascertained it is just as bad today as it was three years ago. If some of the drivers had to get down off their trucks and pick up the loose stones they spill, they would see to it that their loads go through without droppings.

Owing to the accumulation of surface drainage our Mill Pond and the upper Mystic Lake are rapidly being converted into dry land. The water is so shallow at the present time that weeds and grass are covering the entire surface, and at the Winchester Boat Club the bay is so filled up that the members are now towing the swimming float which has been kept there, out into the big lake to get sufficient depth for diving. The lake has been more popular this year than for a long time, the foliage, relieved of the insect pests, rapidly coming back to its former beauty. If the water can be cleaned and the mud dredged out, this beauty spot will once again come back to the position it held when this section was first settled. Its worth is being realized more each year by the residents of this vicinity, and a concerted action towards this end may not be far distant.

READY FOR SCHOOL

Complaint was made to the police yesterday that a boy working at one of the farms had thrown a pear at Homer G. Davidson, son of George T. Davidson, who was driving a truck on Washington street. The pear struck Davidson in the throat, almost causing him to lose control of his auto. Another complaint charged boys with throwing stones and using indecent language during a party at the Second Congregational Church, while a third complaint charged a boy with threatening two other boys, giving the names of Carroll and Flaherty, with a revolver. The latter two took the revolver away and left it at the police station.

NEW METHOD OF VACCINATION LEAVES NO SCAR

Vaccination can be performed without a disfiguring scar. The Kinyoun method, approved by the United States Public Health Service, advises that the drop of vaccine virus be put on the skin and a number of minute breaks in the skin be made with the needle through this drop. If there is a take, the resulting scar has been described as a "sanitary dimple." If you look at the big scar in some of the old vaccinations you will see small pits around the edge about the size of a pin head. These are what give immunity. The large scar by disfiguring the center was due to secondary infection and had no relation to immunity. This is all avoided in the new method. Articles by Dr. White and Dr. Hooker on the subject of vaccination are being sent to all doctors in the State.

WINCHESTER SCHOOL NEWS

The School Committee have elected the following new teachers for the school year 1925-1926:

Marion Thurg, Drawing Supervisor, Wendell Mansfield, Coach of major sports and teacher of physical education in the High and Wadleigh Schools.

Marion Davis, Teacher of Domestic Science in the Wadleigh School, Dorby, Houston, Fifth Grade teacher, Mystic School.

Bertha Chapin, First Grade teacher, Mystic School.

Gecilia Freeman, Teacher of French and English at the Wadleigh School. Mrs. Florence T. Royal, Teacher of Mathematics, Wadleigh School.

Gladya Hubbard, Third and Fourth grades, Highland School. Beatrice Lemay, Fourth and Fifth grades, Washington School.

Helen Blanchard, Fourth and Fifth grades, Lincoln School.

All teachers appointed are teachers with excellent training and with several years of experience in their respective fields.

The School Department is very pleased with the results of the college board entrance examinations. There were eight new-plan candidates and only one of these failed to pass the examinations. There were 44 old-plan examination papers, of which 34 received passing grades. This is a very high percentage of successes. The following is a list of the pupils who are to enter college by successful examinations, with the college of their choice: Barbara Bourne, Wellesley; Caroline Drisko, College of the Holy Cross; Ruth Gifford, Tufts; Jeanette Smith, Vassar; Shirley Billings, Smith; Mary Brown, Vassar; Francis Bonney, Harvard; Elizabeth Jacobs, Vassar; Malcolm Jones, Harvard; Frances Lowell, Vassar; Thomas Lydon, Harvard.

Miss Elizabeth Jacobs is to be commended for entering Vassar on a competitive basis. Miss Frances Lowell is likewise to be congratulated on her admission to Vassar on the competitive basis and her success in winning a $200 scholarship.

The renovating of the High School interior has been completed during the summer and the school now presents a very attractive appearance. Old electric light fixtures have been replaced by new ones in the corridors and assembly hall. The work of the Wadleigh School exterior has been painted and the two front rooms have been completely renovated. The other buildings have had certain minor repairs in order to keep them in excellent condition. The grading work is progressing rapidly. The Lincoln School has been completed and the grading has added materially to the general appearance of the building.

BASEBALL LABOR DAY

The Winchester Town Team will swing into action Labor Day, playing two games with the Woburn All Stars who made such a favorable impression while taking the local nine two weeks ago. Arrangements have been made to have a "Bart" McDonough Day at Woburn on the holiday and as an especial feature there will be a ball game at Library Park in the forenoon between the Winchester Town Team and the All Stars, for which outfit "Bart" does the backstopping. The husky catcher is returning soon to Lake Forest Academy and his many friends in the tanning yard are planning to give him a royal send-off. There should be a large crowd at the game in Woburn as it is expected that quite a local delegation will show up the "Townies" to Library Park.

In the afternoon of the holiday the same outfit will cross back on Manchester Field in what will probably be the last game of the present season for the Town Team. The boys are out to win both games with the Woburn Club which already holds a victory over their own nine. Manager McKenzie expects to put a strong club on the field Monday, and two brothers-in-law should result.

There will be no game here Saturday, the local management having deemed it unwise to run a game on Oct. 3, as the Riley-Midgert game which will be played at Woburn as the opening gun of the Sand Lot League World Series. Fitzpatrick, Flaherty and Chamberlain all play with the Riley Club and the Town Team would be sadly handicapped.

Miss Angie Connolly, formerly of this town who now makes her home in Woburn, was a guest at a novelty show on Tuesday evening of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Callahan on Eaton street by her sister, Mrs. George T. Davidson. Miss Connolly is to marry Mr. George McCafferty of Woburn, Sept. 16. She was the recipient of many handsome and novel gifts.

TO ISSUE HIGH SCHOOL HANDBOOK

With the opening of the Winchester school next week the new Winchester High School Handbook will be put in circulation. This little volume, compiled and edited by the pupils of the school is something distinctly new, and contains much worthwhile information with reference to high school life.

It contains, in addition to a foreword by Principal Wade L. Grindle, a complete list of the faculty, school committee, honor roll of the class of 1925, as well as those who have been awarded the school letter in the various branches of athletics. There is a comprehensive history of the school as well as an outline of the various courses offered. The various phases of extra-curricula activities are explained, and the several rules governing the conduct of pupils while under school supervision are clearly set forth. In addition there is much information of particular value to the student starting upon his high school career.

All in all the book is somewhat patterned after the so-called college "bible" which is the one big help to the incoming college man. The Winchester High School is one of the first in similar school ranks to issue such a book and it is to be congratulated upon its step forward. Parents will find much in the little volume to interest them and the information which they may obtain from its perusal may go far toward obviating many a misunderstanding between them and the school officials.

The committee which had charge of the publishing of the handbook included George R. Corey, Avarad L. Walker, Wellington Simmons and Freeman D. Miller.

LOCAL BOYS ANSWER FOOTBALL CALL

Roger "Ty" Sherman, Joseph "Muggins" Tansey, and Clarence "Lucky" O'Donnell left last night in response to a telegram from Coach Nelson Laird of the Norwich University football team, bidding them report for preliminary work. Sherman, a sophomore at Norwich, is a veteran of last season having barked signals in all the important games for the cadets a year ago. He is expected to prove one of the threats of the Norwich backfield this year. Tansey and O'Donnell are two of the best all-around athletes which the local high school has produced for some time, and both were three-letter men at Goddard Seminary at Barre, Vt., last year. The former is a linesman with O'Donnell playing in the backfield and both are big and rugged enough to be quite a little help to the V-men on the college squad. Their wary friends in town wish the trio the very best of luck.

WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE AND HOSPITAL NOTES

The monthly meeting of the directors was held at the Health Center on Tuesday at 8 p. m. All the reports showed unusual activity both on the district and at the Hospital. During the month 140 patients were admitted and on one day there were 57 including the Cambridge cases. Last week nine new babies were recorded. Miss MacKay, the Superintendent has returned from her vacation, the assistant Superintendent, Miss Crumhart having carried the responsibility during her absence with marked success. The new training class will start their lectures on Sept. 15, four probationers having been accepted so far. Miss Hope has had her experience in the Montreal General Hospital and will now go to the Shriners Hospital for special training in children's work.

The Hunter's Moon.

"Hunter's Moon" was the name given to the lunation immediately following the harvest moon. Owing to the small angle that it made by this moon's orbit with the horizon it rises like the harvest moon, at the same hour for several days. It is so called, however, not because it enables the hunter to pursue his game at night, as is generally supposed, but because the crops having been harvested in September, there is nothing to interfere with the sportsman's pleasure.

FAILED TO STOP

A touring car headed north along Cambridge street in the direction of Woburn last Tuesday, side-swiped and slightly damaged the Ford roadster of William J. Cahalan of 832 Main street, Woburn and continued upon its way without stopping to ascertain the extent of the damage done.

This was the story which Cahalan told the Winchester Police at local headquarters. His car was being driven by his wife, Mrs. Grace Cahalan, and was also going in a northerly direction on Cambridge street, the accident occurring opposite Arlington street. Cahalan stated that he followed the touring car until he succumbed in taking its number which was turned over to the police. Investigation disclosed that the French coffee is filtered or percolated coffee. The coffee is placed in a strainer, strained in coffee-pot, and put on a range. Add gradually boiling water and allow it to filter. Allow the sediment to settle at the bottom of the cups before drinking.

Electricity Data.

Every year the families in homes where electricity is used spend $75,000,000 for electric current. By itself that looks almost as imposing as the expenditures for the famous three C's—confectionery, cigarettes and cosmetics. Yet it averages only four cents a day for each person who uses electricity.

Irritating Gases Prevent Colds.

Scientists have come upon the fact that men and women who work in factories where there are irritating gases rarely if ever suffer from colds. This is due to the gases acting as an irritant, keeping the membrane inside the nasal passages moist so that the germs do not lodge. For this reason elderly people once used snuff, it is said.

"Billie" Brown, a Junior, won the camp championship with 35 points while Donald Higgins in the Senior class was second with 23 points and Bradford Hill an Intermediate, was third with 25 points. The last two named were winners in their respective classes. Other Scouts scored points as follows: Henry Dorset, 22; William Russell, 19; Kenneth Kingston, 18; Harfield Capron, 14; Herbert Brooks, 13; John Blank, 12; Alan Wilson, 11; John Robinson, 4; "Red" McKeever, 4; George Gillette, 4; William Higgins, 4; Harold Smith, 3; George Byrne, 1, and Andrew Skilling, 1.

Prizes were awarded to the winners at the camp. "Red" McKeever, the winner of the Camp Pocket Billiard Tournament, and to "Andy" Skilling, George Byrne, and William Higgins who were first, second and third respectively in camp inspection.

The various groups' score in inspection for the whole time was as follows: First place, the "Tent" with 83.6 per cent; second, the "Lodge" with 81.3 per cent; third, the "Annex" with 77.5 per cent; and fourth, the "Wigwam" with 70.9 per cent.

With 25 points of school the meetings of the various troops are scheduled for another year and the Saturday hikes, inter-troop contests and bi-weekly examination meetings will occupy the time of the Scouts, but without doubt around the campfire, as the bacon is sizzling or the steak is broiling many will be the stories of what we did at the summer camp.

THE TALKING SERPENT
By Adolph Roeder

Aesop, the slave philosopher of ancient Greece in one of his fables tells the story of a farmer who picks up a frozen serpent, warms it in his bosom and is bitten for his pains. As he struggles with the serpent, the latter talks back and tells him, crudely, that he is a fool for thinking anything but ingratitude would be the result of such misplaced kindness.

No one is mystified by the story. No one believes that it ever actually took place. No one misunderstands the symbolism. Every one knows that that particular serpent signifies or typifies or symbolizes the spirit of ingratitude, so common in the world.

No one asks at what date or in what place the event transpired, because everyone knows that there is neither time nor place with the spirit of ingratitude. It may be found everywhere and at all times among human beings.

Wagner in his "Ring des Nibelungen" tells of how Siegfried kills Fafnir, the great serpent dragon who guards the hoard of treasure of the Nibelungen. When Siegfried first approaches the cave, Fafnir, the giant dragon unrolls his folds from the cave, yawns and talks to Siegfried.

Has any one ever stop to think that this event took place at any specific time or place? Does any one believe that Fafnir is a real, literal or historic serpent? How absurd! Everyone knows that that serpent signifies, typifies and symbolizes the spirit of greed, and that the entire story of the "Ring" concerns itself most directly with the results of the "greed of gold," which is part and parcel of the "sense-man," whom all symbolists and writers of folk-lore and other symbolists have ever called "the serpent."

Have you ever tried this tendency of the "sense-man"—of the sense of "right, hearing, of touch—and see how it craves and wants everything in sight? Try it some time. Walk through a department store and note how, as you see various things your "sense-man" whispers, "My, but I would like to have one of those."

bracket, that string of pearls, that camping outfit, that new style radio, that fireless cooker, that—but why run on? Then go into some quiet spot, look over the list and see how many, or rather how few of these things you really need, and you will be amazed at the paucity. The chances are next to one that you will not need a single one of them. Man wants many things; he needs few. Think this over, and then say quietly to yourself: this sentence from the Holy Book: "Many are called, but few are chosen."

Many are called, but few are chosen. You will have a version of the text that is a decided improvement on the old, mediæval traditions concerning denational relations and their supposititious values.

So the "talking serpent" story runs through pages and pages of folk-lore and nobody has the slightest trouble with it. But the minute we read Hebrew folk-lore and reach the story of the talking serpent in Paradise, all the other stories are forgotten. Here we have the most truly trivial, the most truly significant, and the most truly spiritual of them all; and yet at this very point, where the Master wants us most categorically to apply His own rule. "My words are spirit and they are life," the Church demands the most killing literalism, as against the additional warning of the Master: "The letter killeth; it is the spirit that maketh alive." Your "sense-man" (or "serpent") is constantly deceiving you. He is constantly telling you things that are not so. Again try it. Go out under the stars at night and your senses will tell you that all the stars are at the same distance from your eye; that there is an arch of blue above you; that there is a horizon-line at the edge of things; that the earth is standing still and the stars moving; that the sun rises and sets; that—but again why lengthen the catalogue? Your senses do not tell you the truth. Therefore the serpent does not tell you the truth. And in order to express that very idea, that your senses are not telling you the truth, the serpent has to be represented as talking. There is no other way of conveying this essentially spiritual and vital fact.

HUNTING SEASON ON DUCKS AND GESE WILL OPEN ON SEPT. 16

Director William C. Adams of the State Division of Fisheries and Game in a recent statement to the press gives a brief outline of the laws governing the open season on migratory waterfowl which will commence on Sept. 16.

The open season on Ducks, Geese and Brant will extend from Sept. 16 to Dec. 31, both inclusive. The daily bag limits to each gunner are: Black Ducks 15, other ducks 25 in the aggregate of all kinds, Geese 8 and Brant 5.

The open season on Jacksnipe, Coots and Gallinules is the same as the waterfowl season. The daily bag limit on these birds is 25 in the aggregate of all kinds.

Under a new law passed in the last Legislature the use of live duck and goose decoys is now permitted on the island of Nantucket, where formerly their use was prohibited.

It Is Forbidden
To hunt between sunset and one half hour before sunrise.
To use shot guns larger than ten gauge.
To use rifles, revolvers or pistols.

To use power-driven or sail boats, either under power or at anchor.
To kill Wood Ducks or Elder Ducks.

The regular hunting license obtainable from any town or city clerk in the state is required of all persons who hunt.

State Wardens will make a special effort this year to see that the established bag limits are not exceeded and that no shooting is done after sunset or before one half hour before sunrise.

In addition to the penalties provided by the State laws the migratory birds are protected by Federal law which carries a penalty of $500, six months in jail, or both fine and imprisonment, for violations.

Detailed copies of the fish and game laws may be obtained by applying to the Fish and Game Division at the State House.

NARCISSUS BULBS BANNED

The Federal Horticultural Board of the United States Department of Agriculture has decided to forbid the importation of all varieties of Narcissus bulbs for garden bloom, house culture or for forcing under glass after 1925. They claim this action is necessary because of insect pests which the Narcissus bulbs might introduce.

If you want Narcissus in ample supply, write your Senators and Congressmen and protest against the enforcement of the Narcissus embargo under Quarantine No. 37, without a public hearing. There are 100,000,000 (one hundred million) Narcissus bulbs used in the United States each year.

The same restriction will also exclude Chionodoxas, Eranthus, Grape Hyacinths, Ixias, Scillas, and Snowdrops. Buy them this fall, it at all.

If interested, write your Senators and Congressmen today.

COVERS ALL POINTS ON LAKE WINNEPEAUCKE IN ONE AND ONE-HALF HOURS

Complaint of poor mail service in the lake region where in summer hundreds of Massachusetts folk live, has resulted in the establishment by the government of the first delivery of rural mail by an airplane in the United States. Where it formerly took three days to receive an answer to a letter mailed from Wolfeboro, the answer can now be received in 24 hours through delivery by the emergency star route No. 1, with Lieut. Robert S. Fogg, an old Winchester boy and a former army aviation instructor as pilot.

Establishment of the air service for this section was made possible through the work of the Lake Winnepesaukee Region Associates. Where formerly the Boston papers and mail did not arrive at some sections of Lake Winnepesaukee until almost noon, now delivery is made shortly after 7 each morning except Sunday.

On arrival of the 5:55 a. m. train from Boston at The Weirs, 10 sacks of mail are unloaded and instead of being taken to the local post office, are loaded into compartments on the Fogg plane near the station, where railway mail clerks assist the pilot in sorting the first class mail so that 15 minutes later Pilot Fogg and his mechanic, Clifford Kemp of Concord, are off on the daily trip.

From 200 to 400 pounds of first class mail and newspapers are carried across the lake on the plane daily. Parcel post packages and other mail not in the first class are transported to the various points on the lake by the mail boat, Uncle Sam. Pilot Fogg estimates that the daily collection taken to the Wolfeboro post office by the plane averages 2000 pieces.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

THE COST OF A WIFE

In those days a good wife would cost about three and a half donkeys. But that wasn't so cheap either because a man would have to work two years to get a donkey.

Dr. Leon Legrain of the University of Pennsylvania made this statement to a Philadelphia newspaper reporter lately. Dr. Legrain is just back from a British museum expedition to Ur of the Chaldees and he gleaned this information from some old baked clay tablets.

Ur of the Chaldees, you will recall, was Abraham's country and it was his grandson Jacob, who served seven years for a wife. This would seem to make Dr. Legrain's clay tablet arithmetic come out just right—two year's service equals one donkey and three and a half donkeys or seven years' service, buys one wife.

Well, that was a woman's value in Abraham's time, but today the wife and home-maker is considered man's equal and is, in fact, his most treasured possession. Wives and dearly loved mothers are too precious to waste in the grind of house-keeping slavery. When your wife talks about needing a new gas range, or a water heater or a gas ironer, consider her strength and be generous. She thinks of your comfort in a hundred little ways a day.

TWO ALARMS SUNDAY

The Winchester Fire Department put in a busy afternoon last Sunday, answering two alarms at the extremities of the town. The first call came at 3:40 from Box 571 on Ridge street at the Arlington line and was for a brush fire on Andrews Hill near the Lexington boundary in the rear of the farm of Mr. H. L. Cox. The fire quickly gained headway due to the excessive dryness of the woods, and the firemen had a hard two and one-half hours' fight before they were able to get it under control. A considerable area of brush and young trees was burned over by the flames.

While a part of the department was busy on Andrews Hill, a second alarm sounded from Box 23 on Washington street at Cross street. This call came at 4:45 o'clock and was for a fire in the old Winn cranberry bar at the Highlands. At one time the blaze threatened to get into the woods in the rear of the residence of Town Engineer James Hains but this danger was successfully avoided by the firemen who fought the flames largely with chemicals. The fire in the bar proved particularly stubborn, and was finally put out by blowing around the burning area. All in all it proved a busy afternoon.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Callahan's 188 Washington street, last Friday night and was attended by Miss Lucy M. Hargrove of Main street, this town who became the bride of Mr. George W. Kitchin of Thompson street, this town last Sunday evening at St. Mary's Rectory.

The shower was a complete surprise to Miss Hargrove who attended the Callahan home to find so many of her friends there to wish her success in her new adventure.

Miss Hargrove is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hargrove of 808 Main street.

A dainty collation was served, and music and merry conversations rounded out a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kitchin will make their home at 912 Main street this town after Nov. 1.

About 50 tenements, occupied by a democratic crowd, all for sale. I need the money.

Several to let after Aug. 31st, if I can't sell. We have a lot of used, "Kindly used" plumbing and heating equipment for sale today. Easy payments. But we need the price.

We sell real nice plumbing goods when we get the chance. Have sold more than all other dealers added and multiplied by two or three since we hung out our shingle many, many years ago. Had we charged the profit some really have to get the old man would be playing golf with John D. instead of working 21 hours per day.

There was a large gathering at the Modford Boat Club on Monday evening to listen to the two groups of tenor solos broadcast from station WNAc by Mr. Frank L. White, a former Modford resident and prominent member of the club. Judging from the announcing of Director Lunt, the station was fully aware of the interest taken in the program by the club, and his dedication of the numbers, together with Mr. White's fine solos were greatly enjoyed.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Ralph Herrick, widely known as a former resident of this town, is seriously ill in a Boston Hospital following an operation for a head tumor. Although his condition is considered serious, hopes are held for an ultimate recovery.

Another stolen canoe mystery was cleared up this week when two Winchester boys reported to the local police that their canoe had been taken without their permission and had not been returned. The police got to work on the case and in the course of their investigation discovered that their two informants had in turn stolen the canoe in question some two months earlier in the summer. The owner of the boat refused to prosecute the boys whose ages were respectively 12 and 13 years, but possibly some action was taken calculated to make the culprits realize the error of their way.

It is reported that the block at the corner of Park and Main streets now occupied by the W. K. Hutchinson Co. has been sold by Howard S. Cosgrove for Jonas A. Laraway. The name of the new owner is withheld.

NOT KIL KUN

It turned out all right but for a moment. Secret, Cassidy of the Winchester Police thought the hoodlums had commenced operations at the northern extremity of the town. And there was some reason in his surmise in view of the riot which he had received Wednesday evening from a greatly excited woman to the effect that a man rebel in a long coat and a shaggy head had climbed onto her back steps and had made off without making any intelligible answer to her questions.

Secret, Cassidy responded to the call at once, and upon arriving at the house in question found two badly frightened women who related the story of the hoodlum prowler. According to what direction the man had gone the Sergeant started a search, and upon approaching a grape vine at the extremity of the yard he distinguished through the gloom two figures, one clothed in what looked for all the world like a long white robe with a black hood.

As he came closer the police officer questioned the wearer as to what was going on and as he did so he saw that what he had thought was a Kil Kil outfit was merely a long auto duster and a piece of cheese cloth thrown over an ordinary hat. The wearer of the strange clothing was engaged in the swarming of a hive of bees and Secret, Cassidy left without ceremony when he heard the hum of the insects, stopping long enough, however, to reassure the frightened ladies that their nocturnal visitors were not legitimate business which booked no interference.

PAINTFULLY INJURED AT FACTORY

Wednesday morning shortly before 8 o'clock George Beaton, aged 29, of 12 Oak street, was badly hurt while at work in the Lamb and Nash factory on Swanton street. In some way the young man fell, striking his head and his right arm against a heavy machine. He was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Sergeant Thomas Cassidy and Officer James Donaghy of the Winchester Police where he was treated by Dr. R. F. Brown for a slight concussion and lacerations of the head and face.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Giovanni Evangelisti of 45 Oak street are the parents of a son, Edmundi Pandisi, born Sept. 6 at their residence.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of 15 Park street are the parents of a son born Sept. 7 at the Winchester Hospital.

MARION H. GILMAN

Mrs. Marion H. Gilman, wife of James E. Gilman of 490 Washington street, passed away Monday, Sept. 7, at the Winchester Hospital after a two weeks' illness. She was 37 years old.

Mrs. Gilman was a native of Haverhill and the daughter of James O., and Helen Gertrude (Stearns) Mayberry. Her early life was spent in that city and she attended school there. Following her graduation from Grammar School she moved with her parents to Lynn where she graduated from Lynn High School and remained until her marriage to Mr. Gilman when she came to Winchester 18 years ago.

During her residence here Mrs. Gilman had been much interested in the social and fraternal life of the community. She had been Past Noble Grand of Victoria Rebekah Lodge and a member of the Past Noble Grand Association of Massachusetts as well as District Deputy President of the Rebekahs for two years. Upon the formation of the Winchester Emblem Club, the Elks' Auxiliary, she became a member and had been a past President of that body. She was a member of the Women's Social Whist Club for many years. An accomplished musician, Mrs. Gilman was much in demand as an entertainer, her willingness and gracious personality endearing her to a host of friends who will mourn her passing.

Besides her husband she is survived by her parents and by one son, Melvin Edward Gilman of Winchester.

Largely attended funeral services were held at the late residence on Wednesday afternoon conducted by the Rev. Allen Evans, Jr., Rector of the Church of the Epiphany, of which church the deceased had been a member. The funeral ritual of the Rebekahs was exemplified under the direction of Noble Grand Mrs. Edith Russell, who was assisted by Past Grand Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, acting as organist, and Mrs. Arvilla Higgins, Chaplain. Delegations were present from both Victoria Rebekah Lodge of Winchester, and the Winchester Emblem Club.

The burial took place at the "Going Home," and the hymn, "Lead Kindly Light" were sung by Mrs. A. Morrison, accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Leachman. The bearers included Messrs. H. M. Gilman of Everett, Samuel R. Gilman of Andover, Luke M. Dohanian of Somerville, and the Rev. Allen Evans, Jr., of the Zakular of Boston. Interment was in Willowdale Cemetery.

HURLEY-DeROSA

Miss Margaret Alice DeRosa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. DeRosa of Highland street, was united in marriage on Wednesday evening at St. Mary's Rectory to John Joseph Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hurley of Highland street. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. Cornelius Murphy of St. Mary's Church.

The bride was dressed in a wedding dress of white satin with leaded tulle and wore a Spanish crown, her wedding veil being trimmed with Spanish lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Anna M. Tully, as maid of honor. The groom was in a tuxedo with a white bow tie and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Daniel W. Hurley of Arlington, brother of the groom, was best man. Following the marriage ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the groom's parents in Arlington.

The young couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. The house was attractively decorated for the occasion in a color scheme of pink and white. Guests were present from New York, Providence, Hartford and Waterbury, Conn., and Athol in addition to those from Arlington and Winchester.

After a two weeks' honeymoon trip to New York and Niagara Falls Mr. and Mrs. Hurley will make their home in Cambridge.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID MEN REPORT

Winchester High School opened its football season Wednesday afternoon when a squad of 60 boys including 12 letter men reported to Coach Wendell Mansfield and Captain Floyd "Bud" Robinson. With the opening game of the season coming a week from tomorrow at Moody against Medford High School there is much work to be done in whipping a team into shape, and Coach Mansfield has been busy at the job.

The town's football record this year. Himself a former Springfield Training School and Providence Boston College letter man, Coach Mansfield knows the value of fundamentals in the drilling of a football team and the boys have been getting plenty of drill in the art of blocking, tackling, falling on the ball, and other essentials as a preparation for the other work to come.

As a result of the hard work done for veteran material than has been the case for the past two seasons. Captain Robinson, "Spike" O'Donnell, Cassidy, Walter, Rolli, "Jim" Halvartz, Harriman and Knowlton are veterans from last season around whom a fairly capable nucleus should be formed. In addition to those named are other letter men and varsity substitutes who are bound to give the veterans a meriting of the title. Coach Mansfield has announced that his team is wide open, and no man is as yet sure of his position.

Allen R. Wilson of Willowd street had his watch stolen yesterday while on foot patrol on Manchester street. The watch was taken from a pile of clothing which was left.

Newly enlarged and renovated home at Mt. Vernon, Kendall and Elm streets, opened for use last week.

New and Enlarged Quarters Occupied For First Time Last Week

The Home For Aged People, Winchester, is completed. The residents occupied the newly renovated and enlarged quarters last week. The first dinner on Wednesday in the big, spacious dining room. This town now enjoys one of the finest and best equipped homes of its kind in the State, a home in every sense of the word, with nothing left out which would tend to increase the pleasure or comfort of its residents.

Since early in the spring the work of connecting the two houses which occupy the beautiful corner at Mt. Vernon, Kendall and Elm streets has been underway. A bright, sunny and spacious passage has been constructed between them, both houses have been remodeled, refurnished and renovated. New equipment has been added, including a complete new heating plant in addition to furnishings, and the new street after a long drive with an afternoon call and join in the pleasure of the 14 residents who are occupying this spacious and comfortable building.

The new address is 110 Mt. Vernon street, the entrance now being in the new section. Through the connection with this house the capacity of the home is just doubled, and already preparations are being made to admit at least four new residents this fall. (Continued to page 6)

DANIEL H. O'SULLIVAN

Daniel H. O'Sullivan, retired, a veteran of the Civil War, died Friday morning, Sept. 4, at his home in Cambridge, Mass., after a long illness with pneumonia. He was 87 years of age and a native of Ireland. For many years he had made his home in Winchester, where he was known to many of the town's residents as "Captain" O'Sullivan. He left no near relatives, and thus far nothing authentic has been learned of his early life. He was discovered. Rumor has it that he was retired with the rank of Captain, but whether in the army or navy is not known. Following his death, and until after the funeral services, the flags on the common and public buildings were at half-staff in his honor.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Mary's Church Monday morning at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. Cornelius Murphy. Four members of the St. Wilson Canon, Sons of Veterans acted as escort to the flag draped casket. Included were Commander Walter B. Lord, and Frank, John and George Nowell. Frank D. Marchand represented the Grand Army of the Republic. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, East Woburn.

SAMUEL S. HOLTON

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Congregational Church, High and Salisbury streets, West Medford, for Samuel S. Holton, a resident of this town who for years has done business as the S. S. Holton Company. He died Saturday at his home, Derrymount Farm, West Medford, at the age of 75th year. Born in Winchester at the old homestead on Washington street above Lebanon street, he first entered the retail shoe business with his father, but later opened a lively stable in West Medford. He married Laura A. Spaulding of that town in 1872. She survives. They have two daughters, one sister Maria was the wife of John Twombly and died several years ago, and two brothers.

The Winchester Fire Department answered a still alarm Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock for a fire in an automobile at the residence of Commander Nathan Thumlin of the local American Legion post on Sheffield road. The blaze was thought to have been caused by a backfire, and was put out with hard chemical foam. The car was only slightly damaged.

Elks' Carnival Successful Despite Poor Start

Winchester Lodge of Elks closed its three day Lawn Party and Frolic Wednesday evening at the Knights of Columbus House and Grounds on Vine street. The affair was a complete success, and while attendance was somewhat less than had been hoped for, it was nevertheless exceptionally good when one considers the inclement weather, and other attractions.

The Frolic opened at 2 p. m. on Labor Day with a letterment especially prepared for the children who are never overlooked at parties of the Elks have a hand. Late in the morning it was thought best by the committee to postpone this part of the program as heavy rain was falling, and it seemed improbable that many young folks would turn out. It seemed however that more than a bit of rain was necessary to keep the kiddies away from an Elks' Frolic for at noon, fully two hours before starting time, the children had commenced to gather and by 2 o'clock there was a good crowd on hand. It had originally been planned to hold the entertainment in the open air but due to the wetness of the grounds it was thought best to go indoors and the tumbling and acrobatic acts of a team of professionals from Boston were held in the K. of C. Hall, a heavy canvas being stretched over the floor. More than 500 children were present to enjoy the antics of the tumblers, and the music which was furnished by Mrs. George H. Leachman.

Starting at 6 p. m. the evening's program was opened with selections from a 15-piece Italian Band from Wakefield, a special feature of the carnival the band paraded through Winchester and surrounding places bearing transparencies advertising the Legion Party. From their march the musicians gave a concert upon the lawn from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

The grounds surrounding the K. of C. House and the ladies of the Emblem Club completely sold out during the night. As on Monday evening the Italian Band gave a concert which was a feature of its predecessor, though due to better weather a larger crowd was on hand. Many of the booths, especially those which were operated by the ladies of the Emblem Club completely sold out during the night. As on Monday evening the Italian Band gave a concert which was a feature of its predecessor, though due to better weather a larger crowd was on hand. Many of the booths, especially those which were operated by the ladies of the Emblem Club completely sold out during the night.

The following ladies of the Emblem Club charged out of the elaborate program. Mrs. Fred H. Scholl was in charge of the refreshment and candy booth, assisted by Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon, Mrs. James H. Shaw, John Halligan, Mrs. George F. Osborn, Miss Frances Sullivan, Mrs. John D. Coakley and Mrs. E. Shanon Nicholson. Mrs. Margaret E. Shanon had charge of the novelty booth assisted by Mrs. Frank E. Gilchrist, Mrs. Maurice Dineen, Mrs. Frank T. Holey and Mrs. Colla Harold. Mrs. George T. Davidson, President of the Emblem Club with Mrs. George H. Leachman was in general charge of the ladies activities.

ELIZABETH E. BLAINE

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Blaine, wife of Edwin K. Blaine, Boston architect, and formerly of this town died Saturday night at her home on Stratford road, Wakefield, after a long illness. She was a native of Lawrence and the daughter of William F. and Harriet E. (Golding) Snow. She was 58 years old, and for the past 10 years had made her home in Wakefield where she was a member of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral Church. Previous to moving to Wakefield Mrs. Blaine had made her home in Winchester, her husband having developed much local property in the vicinity of Mystic Lake and through the Wedgemore district. Besides her husband the deceased is survived by five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the late residence Tuesday afternoon. The burial was in Willowdale Cemetery, Winchester.

K. OF C. NOTES

The biggest party of the series now being conducted weekly in aid of the coming autumn festival of Winchester Council, K. of C., is expected to take place Tuesday night, the 12th. This party will be under the personal direction of Luke P. Glendon, for years an earnest worker in the interests of the K. of C. who has a large following.

A large advance sale of tickets is reported by those assisting Mr. Glendon. In itself indicates that the many valuable prizes that have been donated will find scores of players eager to hold winning cards.

This party will be the opening of the intensive campaign among the council members for increased interest in the coming festival. To date the committee in charge has held preliminary meetings with a view of gathering suggestions that might prove valuable in making the festival a financial success.

All gatherings of the committee after this week will be marked by a large attendance of the public and the furtherance of plans already made.
Several representatives of women's groups are already meeting with the committee. More women are expected to assist in the arrangements for the festival during the weeks that remain between now and
Oct. 9 and 10.

Grand Knight Terrence Cullen who has been in charge almost every night during the summer months will be at liberty to attend committee meetings from now on. With his encouraging spirit directing the meetings, much is expected.

The regular council meeting will be held Monday night. This meeting was postponed from last week because of the Elks' carnival.

Many important questions that are brought to the council during the next few months will be taken up at this meeting. It is hoped that with a large attendance of the public and members that these questions will be satisfactorily decided upon.

In a decision to give the clubhouse a more home-like appearance and as an inducement to the members to frequent it during the coming winter, the council officers plan to take steps to obtain pictures, ornaments and other objects that will beautify the building interior. Council members are asked to assist in this work as are also friends of the council.

A drive for increased membership will start shortly after the autumn festival. To insure the success of this drive a survey of the population of eligible residents of the town is being made and the campaigning will be conducted in a systematic way. Grand Knight Cullen is personally interested in this movement and promises to lend his utmost efforts to it.

Council members are urged to read their copies of this month's issue of Columbia, the K. of C. official literary organ. Many excellent articles are contained within the pages of this magazine which is rapidly becoming the equal of some of the country's better known publications.

Among the articles that should interest every K. of C. man is the annual report of Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty. This was delivered at the annual convention held at Duluth, Minn., Aug. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

A sport story dwelling upon the two foremost athletes in the sporting world today, Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey, is a contribution by Bill Cunningham, whose works are published daily in a Boston newspaper.

The evolution question is touched upon in a deep yet vivid manner by Bertram Windle, F. R. S.

The book review by Francis X.
Tahol, S. J., includes many of the popular works of the world's authors is one that is instructive and interesting.

A closer and more often renewal of the Columbia by members of Winchester Council, undoubtedly would be instrumental in creating a new spirit, a spirit that could dominate the council and led it to heights of fraternal success.

Mr. Wallis is also the Director of Camp Mishe Mokka for Younger Boys, which yearly enrolls its youngsters from the leading families of Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

With Mr. Wallis on the staff are Herbert Gammon, Bowdoin College graduate, for seven years head teacher at Deerfield Academy and Clyde Driscoll of Brown, with a record of success in day schools of the West.

There will be part time instructors in wood working and nature study.
The school is sub-preparatory, taking boys at the fourth and fifth grade and keeping them until ready for the boarding schools.

The school day is from nine to five with supervised study and play. A hot dinner will be served at cost for those who wish it.

Emphasis is placed on thorough work in the class room, courtesy, manners, good sportsmanship and building a strong, healthy body.

With a strong nucleus already listed, the new school is looking forward to a successful year.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The engagement has recently been announced of Miss Irene Thayer, daughter of Mrs. Leora Thayer Sessions of Cohasset to Mr. George Forsythe Purrington, son of Mr. George W.
Purrington of this town.

Mr. Purrington is a prominent younger member of the Boston Wool Trade, being a partner of Furrington Brothers, Wool Merchants.

PLAN FOR BOWLING

Calumet Tournament Starts Oct. 5th

Under the direction of "Al" Snow, the bowling committee at the Calumet Club will announce this week the opening of the annual fall tournament for the Calumet Club for the fifth of October. Entries by teams and individuals will close Sept. 21.

It is planned to have this opening tournament the largest in the club's history, many old teams having been reorganized to take part and the rules revised on the basis of the experience gained through the last few years.

The substitute rule, tried out during the last two tournaments, allowing the substitution of any bowler present at a match in place of an absentee, will be revoked. This was a rule which met with some favor, but which in careful consideration was the part of the committee, was felt to be unsatisfactory.

The usual rotating at two periods during the tournament will be carried out, the scheme having worked very well in holding the various teams to meet in even rolling. As usual, the losing teams will treat the winners to a dinner at the close of the tournament.

Entries for the tournament are open and may be made to Mr.
Albert S. Snow, at the club or at 4
Park avenue.

QUINZANI-McADAMS

Miss Margaret Josephine McAdams daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mc-Adams of Winchester place and Andrew Vincent Quinzani, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Quinzani of Clifton street, Malden, were united in marriage Labor Day evening in St.
Mary's Rectory. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev.
Fr. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons of St.
Mary's Church.

The bride wore a dress of powder blue crepe de chine with picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.
She was accompanied by her sister,
Miss Agnes McAdams of Winchester, as maid of honor. Her gown was of nile green crepe de chine with picture hat to match, and her bouquet was of red tea roses. There were three little flower girls, the Misses Phyllis Foster of Winchester, Claire Langdon of Lowell and Doris Fitzgibbon of Winchester. They were charmingly attired in dainty frocks and carried baskets of tea roses. Albert Paul of Malden was groomsmen.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents from 7 until 12 o'clock, the young couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. The ushers included Messrs. Harold Fitzgerald and Edmund Kindred of Winchester, and Harold Perley of Malden.
Among the out-of-town guests were
Mr. and Mrs. Richard McAdams of New York City, brother of the bride.
After a wedding trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City Mr. and Mrs.
Quinzani will make their home in Malden where they will be ready to receive their friends after Nov. 1.

LABOR DAY GOLF AT COUNTRY CLUB

The holiday golf at the Winchester Country Club was mixed foursome, is hot, electric drive, medal play,
and despite the rather threatening weather a large field turned out.
Three teams tied for low net with M.
but Mrs. H. B. Turner and A. P.
Chase with a gross of 93 had the best card for the round.

The scores:

MEDFORD THEATRE

Marty Dupree and his musical follies, one of the best and most popular shows that has played all the large cities throughout New England, will open a week's engagement on Monday, Sept. 14, at the Medford Theatre.

The Marty Dupree Co., does not present musical comedy, there is an entirely different form of entertainment being a revue in 10 or more scenes with girls, gaudy and music, designed for laughing purposes only,
with Eddie Driscoll and Frank Murray
as comedians.

There will be a complete change of program on Monday and Thursday.

BARTON HAD BEST NET SATURDAY

A medal handicap tournament for members was held at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. J. L. S. Barton turned in both the best gross and net scores, his card reading 80-47-67. W. G. Bott turned in the second best net of 68 while H. T. Bond's 84 was good for second best gross honors.

The scores:
J. L. S. Barton 80 67
W. G. Bott 84 67

3 at her late residence, 2 Summit avenue this town. She was born in Winning 77 years ago and there she grew up, married and lived for the greater part of her life. She was the widow of John Ferguson, a retired Naval officer, to whom she was married 34 years ago. She is survived by her two sons, George R., of this town and John Berton, of Hager-town, Md., and by two daughters, F.
Mabelle and Florence T., with whom she made her home and by her two grandsons.

She was a member of the

WOMAN STRUCK AT SYMMES CORNER UNHURT

Last Sunday as Mary E. McElhenny of 21 Hill street was driving her Ford sedan on Main street at Symmes corner she was unable to avoid striking an elderly lady who gave her name as Susan C. Hall and her address as 15 Madison street, Malden. The machine struck the woman a glancing blow, and upon being removed to the Winchester Hospital for examination she was found to have sustained no injuries.

Lancaster Facts

When an evening at the Movies is planned, one naturally selects a theatre offering entertaining pictures, good music, comfortable seats, and with the best ventilation.

The Lancaster exhibits only high grade pictures, uses only the best of equipment, and insists upon courteous attention from its employees to all visitors.

The Lancaster has unquestionably the latest and best projection equipment in New England, controlled by a projectionist of national reputation who has instructions to let no competitor surpass him in quality of production.

By constant and painstaking care in all departments the Lancaster has won loyal support from discerning and appreciative patrons, who bring their friends to share their enjoyment.

If you have never tried the Lancaster, why don't you?

No Gas-Wasting Water Heaters "Get By" Here!

YOU know, of course, that all the gas appliances
we sell are tested and guaranteed. One point we're very careful about is the gas consumption.
If we sell a water heater that consumes too much gas, the monthly bill goes up and the customer comes right back with a complaint. To save ourselves this difficulty, as well as to protect our customers, we make sure that every heater we sell is conservative in the amount of gas consumed.

Of course some types of heaters use more gas than others, just as some families require more hot water than others. But when you buy here you know your heater will give you the best possible service for the money expended, and no waste.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If at some public function your wife asks you "who is the prettiest woman present," don't rubber, it belongs to her.
They say money talks, but never in the presence of the man who possesses wisdom.
Mother—the one person in the world whose kindness was never the preface to a request.
What a lot of time would be saved if some of the time lost in hurrying hadn't been wasted.
The man who gets angry suffers more than the person who is the object of his anger.
A good pilot is rather to be chosen than great quantities of life preservers.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

The first business meeting after the summer vacation was held Wednesday evening, and a sad session it was, owing to the first death in our ranks—that of our Past President, Marion H. Gilman. A short memorial service, with Mrs. Clara Morrison as soloist, followed the roll call of officers. President Allie E. Davidson paid highest tribute to our departed sister's many sterling qualities as an officer, her pleasing personality and her kindly efforts to help others. A charter member of the club, and filling the Past-President's chair since its formation, her passing seems tragically sad to our little group who will always remember her as—
The first of our band to blaze the way
Along that dim and unknown trail
That all must track to the end some day,
When earthly help proves an avail.
With courage she bore her cross of pain,
And smiling she passed to a serene end,
God grant her new life wins the abodes
Safe in the heart of the Shepherd's Fold!
F. S.
A report of the sick committee was given by Vice-President Anna W. Lochman, and plans for various fall activities were outlined. Progressive reports were given by those in charge of booths at the Elks' Lawn Party, and from all accounts, when the final report is read, the club's earnings will make a substantial addition to the proceeds.

A reception to visiting Elks and ladies from the newly formed lodge of Waterbury, was held after the business session and our board of stewards, with Mrs. Susan L. Quigley, a very active chairman, served a very substantial lunch.
In aid of the Elks' Hope Chest, Mrs. Lochman announces a whist on the date of our next regular meeting, Wednesday evening, Sept. 23. The committee in charge includes many of our best workers and it is hoped that all will respond to their efforts to make this affair one of the best in the annals of the club. Articles for the hope chest are expected from all members and should be in by the second meeting of the club in October.

ENTERTAINED AT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Callahan were at home on Wednesday evening to Mr. Callahan's fellow employees in the various departments at the Town Hall. Their residence on Eaton street was artistically decorated for the occasion, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Vocal solos were rendered by Messrs. William Nicholson and "Alec" McDonald with a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lloyd while everyone joined in community singing. A feature of the entertainment program was a real Irish jig ably executed by Mr. John J. McGoldrick. Refreshments were served, and before the guests departed Mr. and Mrs. Callahan were presented with a purse of gold and the best wishes of all assembled.
Among those present were Miss Cora A. Quimby, Miss Elsie H. Hudson, Miss Mabel Stinson, Miss Mabel A. Doherty, Miss Lillian Hardy, Miss Louise Stinson, Miss Lillian Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. George S. F. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Lloyd, Mr. William Nicholson, Mr. James Hinds, Mr. Parker Holbrook, Mr. John Sharon, Mr. Theodore Lawson, Mr. Fred L. ### WHAT ARCTIC FLYERS EAT

Navy beans went with the Navy flyers into the Arctic.
They constituted one of the innovations in Arctic menus introduced through MacMillan-National Geographic Expedition.

Powdered orange, powdered lemon, powdered milk, tomato paste, and American cream cheese are other novelties in food carried by the flyers. The only two concessions to the usual Arctic food requirements are pemmican, or dried meat, which makes up one-third of the food supply, and biscuit.
The food list of the explorers is the answer to a difficult problem the navy dietitians had to solve. Minimum weight had to accompany maximum caloric value. Foods had to be such that they would require little or no cooking. Furthermore, the menu-makers had to consider the possibility of a prolonged stay. This meant heavy stress on proteins and fats.

What would the housewife, who ponders what she shall have for dinner, do with an order like that?
This is the ration the explorers must depend upon every time their planes fly: for one man for one day; one-seventh of a pound of flour, two-fifths of a pound of pilot bread (pilot name for hard tack), tenth of a pound of bacon, third of a pound of powdered milk, twentieth of a pound of oatmeal, twentieth of a pound of chocolate, twentieth of a pound of cream cheese, one pound of pemmican, spoonful of tomato paste, tenth of a pound of powdered orange and lemon, fifth of a pound of sugar, tenth of a pound of timed butter, and small portions of tea, coffee, salt and pepper.

Pemmican is explorers' food. The word comes from an Indian name for their variety of dried meat. Originally it contained only meat and suet. White men and various tribes in Africa have added vegetables, oatmeal, raisins, currants, sugar, wild cherries, and honey. MacMillan Expedition pemmican is flavored with raisins and sugar.

For his earlier expedition by dog sled out into the same Ellesmere Island the planes explored. MacMillan took nutritious pemmican put up in eight-pound tins for the dogs and in six-pound tins for the men. At the end of a march the frozen blocks of meat would be carved with an axe.

No crumb ever escaped.

Hood's Grade Milk

has set a new standard for dairying in New England

NEVER before has the family milk bottle been so uniformly rich in the good things that make for health, strength and good digestion. Never before has the family milk supply enjoyed the intensive supervision that now inspects, directs and guards the production of Hood's Grade "A." We have selected the finest milk producing centers of New England, from these we have chosen the best individual dairies, we have instituted advanced dairying methods, we have established a system of veterinary inspection and laboratory check that hitherto has been unknown to any large milk supply in New England. This finer, richer milk is ready for everyone. You owe yourself and the children a chance to test its wonderful quality.

Hood's Grade "A" Milk is produced in accordance with the new Massachusetts standards for Grade "A" Milk and we believe no more stringent set of regulations were ever drawn for a family milk supply. Not only is it protected by our own supervision, but every official safeguard provided by the regulations is employed to further protect its fine quality.

A few days more and the stream of Summer absentees will be heading homeward. The children will be getting ready for school. Let us have a bottle or two or whatever you need of Hood's Grade "A" Milk on your doorstep when you arrive. The children will enjoy it as they never enjoyed milk before. Give them the milk they will like—Hood's Grade "A."

If you are in the country when you read this, write us a postal card and say when you will be home and the amount of milk you will need. When you arrive your order will be there to welcome you. If you are now at home, a telephone call, a postal card, or a word to the Hood salesman will start your Grade "A" service at once.

A Co-operative Investment

People who know, appreciate the sound investment value of real estate first mortgages.

If you undertake such investment alone, your security is centered on single properties.

Such an investment in co-operative bank shares is safer because the same kind of security is distributed over many properties and because there is a Guarantee Fund to absorb possible losses.

Besides, all the bother of administration is removed.

And finally, we extend this investment opportunity on a payment schedule of $1.00 a month or more.

PACKARD

FIFTY per cent more Packard Six cars were sold during the first six months of 1925 than during the entire year 1924.

Records show that 72% of these sales were made to those who had owned other makes of cars.

Thousands of cars, representing 41 different makes, were traded in—cars far above and below the Packard Six in price.

Sixty per cent of the new owners came to Packard because of the recommendations of those who owned Packard cars.

Considering this record, the lowered prices, and the improvements now offered—is there any reason why you, too, should not have a Packard Six?

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE

The office of the matron, Mrs. Edith J. Moore, who has guided and supervised the home for the past two years in an enviable manner, is located at the right of the entrance, her living room adjoining. Hitherto the matron had no room of her own and she now enjoys an office distinct from the privacy of her living quarters.

The heating plant, with two large new boilers for heating the houses and a separate boiler for hot water, is also located in the newer addition, comprising a fireproof section of the cellar, which is otherwise given over to coal, cold closets, laundry, etc. The new heat is a vapor system, assuring always an even temperature.

The connecting passage affords opportunity for a community room which may be used for music and evening gatherings. Here is placed the piano and the always popular radio. Within a few days it will be furnished with willow fittings in keeping with its cheerful, sunny outlook. A broad rug of leather and rubber, delecting the foot-fall and giving comfort and safety under foot, runs along its full length, while in the spacious pantries, laundry and closets provide ample room for the necessary outfit of housework.

In what was the former home, the removal of a partition makes one of the most attractive dining rooms imaginable. Now furnished with individual tables seating one, two or four, replace the former long single dining table, and with its bright, sunny outlook, attractive flowers on each table and the buffet, makes a place which cannot but cheer all who enter it.

The kitchen is located directly under the rear of the dining room, which is served by a double-acting lift. It has a separate entrance on Elm street, making it easy of access. A room adjoining the dining room has space for the table dishes, which are washed and stored there without going to the kitchen.

By the removal of the old "back stairs" and the widening of the hall, another stairway has been built, giving greater safety and convenience. The front stairs remain as they were.

All-in-all, the new home is something which every resident of Winchester should be proud of. Your visit will be well repaid with your delight over the cheer and conveniences and comfort which is provided for your old friends. Not a little credit for all this goes to Mr. Arthur E. French of Highland avenue, a member of the firm of Hutchins & French, whose architectural ability and skill equalled his interest, and made the happy combination of the two houses possible without additional cost to those who give their time and money for the betterment of Winchester. New electric wiring and fixtures are another feature, largely hidden, but of inestimable convenience and comfort. These are the gift of Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson, who has equipped the home with the latest and finest in electric lights.

And before you leave this new home, with all its comfort and convenience, survey the whole, from the former single house on Kendall street, the second house on Mt. Vernon street and lastly the one complete unit, then say all that is due to the untiring work of one of Winchester's foremost citizens, Mr. Preston Pond, whose efforts for many years have guided its destinies and made it what it is—a real home in comfort and happiness.

YOUR Gas Man

BACK TO THE BATHTUB

"We love the country, and the birds and the trees and the cows and the chickens and all that goes with life 'down on the farm' but isn't it nice to get back to the cool, white-tiled bathroom in your own little home?—just to hear the water running and know you can have a whole tubful just as hot as you want it."

That's the way a certain well known writer starts out on an editorial about the joys of getting home after vacation. And as you look back on your life in camp or at "Shadyrest Cottage" or down in the country this summer, you'll recall that you missed your good bathtub most of all.

A clean bathroom—a white tub—big soft towels, and PLENTY OF HOT WATER—that's luxury and that's health. The most convenient way to insure a steady supply of hot water is by means of a gas water heater. New style heaters are being designed right along—more efficient and more economical than ever before. Have you looked them over recently?

NO-NOX is guaranteed to be no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline, and is priced only three cents per gallon higher than that good GULF gasoline of Winchester. Refreshments were served and general dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Miss McAdams was the recipient of many handsome gifts of linen and glassware.

Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck of this town has been asked to serve on the committee which is to formulate plans for a permanent memorial to the late William Jennings Bryan, and will attend a meeting of the committee in Washington today. His invitation to serve came from Patrick H. Callahan of Louisville, Ky., who is acting as secretary of the temporary committee. Franklin E. Barnes and family returned this week from a week's outing at Chebeague Island, Me.

Firestone

Tire Prices Are LOW— CRUDE RUBBER HIGHEST IN YEARS

Buy Now and Save Money!

The unprecedented demand for Firestone quality and mileage has more than doubled the sales of Gum-Dipped Cords to car owners so far this year, enabling us—because of this tremendous volume—to keep prices low.

Experienced car owners insist on tires that deliver the greatest mileage at the lowest cost per mile, because such tires last longer—make the restricted rubber supply go further—reduce crude rubber costs—and help maintain the present low tire prices.

Firestone extra process, is also one of the biggest and most important economy factors in tire performance. This method of treating cord fabric, developed by Firestone tire chemists and engineers, insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and gives the sidewalls the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strain—insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy.

Buy now—make sure of economical transportation by obtaining these outstanding Firestone superiorities at present low prices.

AMERICANS SHOULD PRODUCE THEIR OWN RUBBER

Your REASONS for the use of NO-NOX

- 1 It eliminates fuel knocks in your engine—and the waste of fuel, the lack of power and the carbonization that this knock implies
- 2 It reduces gear shifting to a minimum, making it a pleasure to drive in traffic or over the hills.
- 3 It prevents all harmful effects of carbon accumulation.
- 4 It increases the motor's smoothness and power—insures a quicker speeding up of the motor—and greater economy.

Several of late after Aug. 31st, if I can't sell. We have a lot of used, "kindly used" plumbing and heating equipment for sale today. Easy payments. But we need the price.

We sell real nice plumbing goods when we get the chance. Have sold more than all other dealers added and multiplied by two or three since we hung out our shingle many, many years ago. Had we charged the profit some really have to get the old man would be playing golf with John D. instead of working 21 hours per day.

The real estate office of Thomas H. Barrett reports the following local transactions:

Sold for Mahal Kneeland the property at 157 Highland avenue consisting of an 8 room house and $224 sq. ft. of land to E. A. MacKinnon of Stevens street who will occupy the premises.

Sold for Reed J. Coughy of Schenectady, N. Y., the two family house at 9 Governors avenue to Margaret and Leonard A. McNeil of Washington street.

Another new street will be opened on the George E. Henry development of Symmes corner next Monday which will extend from Everill road to Main street and which will give access to some 50 new lots. The new street, which will be known as Road E, has been passed on and given the official O. K. of the Board of Survey. The work of opening the new way is being done by the James J. Fitzgerald Contracting Company which has already done much of the contracting work on the Henry estate.

Already 25 lots have been sold on this property and it is expected that by the first of next May there will be 50 houses erected, constituting one of the largest developments in town for many years.

VETERAN FLORIST STARTS 26TH YEAR IN WINCHESTER

On Sept. 10, 1925, I began my 26th year in the florist business in Winchester.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank one and all who have in any way assisted me in building up a flourishing flower business.

Starting in 1900 in the same store in Waterfield Building in which I am now located, I have made an effort to increase the volume of my business by giving every order personal attention, rather than to move to larger quarters.

I handle only flowers and plants that are grown by the best growers of the country. Also I carry a full line of accessories such as can be found in high grade flower shops.

Starting in 1900 in the same store in Waterfield Building in which I am now located, I have made an effort to increase the volume of my business by giving every order personal attention, rather than to move to larger quarters.

Visitors are always welcome and advice on the care of plants cheerfully given.

Again I wish to thank all for past patronage and respectfully solicit orders for flowers that you may want for any future occasion.

Respectfully yours,
George F. Arnold

HAD NARROW ESCAPE ON WAY TO WINCHESTER

Paul I. Dotten, formerly of this town and now connected with the Detroit Police signal bureau in that city, was on his way to Winchester on Tuesday of this week shortly after he had started to drive his Marmon coupe over the road which leads to Winchester to attend the funeral of his father, the late William T. Dotten, who died suddenly at his home on the night of Sept. 17, 1925.

The telegram containing the news of his father's death reached Mr. Dotten early Tuesday morning and he left for his home in Detroit, Mich. He had proceeded but 28 miles out of Detroit when his machine was sideswiped by another car and was knocked into a ditch. Mr. Dotten's coupe was turned completely over and reduced to a twisted mass of junk.

Through the 32 years in which he served the town his duties brought him into contact with all classes of the town's people and to those who knew him best, his death comes as a distinct shock.

In 1916 Mr. Dotten, with his wife, celebrated the 50th anniversary of his marriage at the family home on Reservoir street. His only son, who was with the New England Water Works Association of which he had been one of the earliest members.

Following the death of his father, Mr. Dotten was common, and other public buildings have been at half staff in his honor.

Surviving, besides his wife, are three daughters, Mrs. William H. Smalley of Philadelphia, Mrs. Robert S. Kingston, and Miss Sarah S. Dotten; and five sons, Chairman Walter I. Dotten of the Board of Selectmen, Assistant Superintendent Harry W. Dotten of the water works, Paul I. Dotten of the Detroit Police signal bureau, William J. Dotten of Roxbury, and George C. Dotten of Seattle, Washington.

Two brothers, Thomas F. Dotten, retired Winchester police officer, and Daniel P. Dotten of Moncton, N. B., besides seven grandchildren also survive him.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal Church, and were conducted by the Rev. Alliston B. Gifford, former pastor assisted by the Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends including delegations from the various departments of the town.

There were many beautiful flowers. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

REV. CHARLES W. BLACKETT

Rev. Charles W. Blackett, a former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this town, died Monday at his home, 15 Jefferson street, New York.

Dr. Blackett, who was well known here during his pastorate, left town in 1912. During his career of 35 years in the Methodist ministry he occupied pulpits in Natick, Everett, Winthrop, Peabody, Lynn, Malden, Dorchester and Cambridge as well as in Winchester. He was born Aug. 3, 1859 and was graduated from the Liberal Arts Department of Boston University in 1888. He received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the same university in 1904. In 1890 he joined the New England Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was married to Miss Florence E. Watson of Chelsea on Aug. 18, 1891. In November, 1916, he was made treasurer and agent of the board of stewards of the New England Conference and was entrusted with the task of raising money to complete the permanent fund of $500,000 for that board. This obligation he accomplished a few months previous to his death.

Dr. Blackett is survived by his widow and by four sons, Dr. Charles W. Jr., of Boston; Olin W., associate professor of economics at the University of Michigan; Sydney W., of Boston; and George H., a student at Western University, Middleton, Conn.

A brother, George Blackett of Chelsea, also survives.

K. OF C. NOTES

The annual autumn festival to be conducted by Winchester Council, K. of C., gives promise to play an important part in the shopping activities of the women folk of the town during that week. With a desire to give all who attend the festival something practical in return for money spent, the festival committee has decided to place a large quantity of household commodities in the booths that will be conducted.

Several years of experience in conducting successful affairs similar to the coming festival has given the members of Winchester Council a clearer insight as to what the public wants, than most committees possess. A lengthy and careful discussion of what the people want when they attend such an affair, heard at the last meeting of the committee, resulted in an almost unanimous opinion that foodstuffs, including the fruits of the season, smoked meats, and countless other necessities would receive greater patronage than the "foolish" articles usually displayed.

It was under the advice of the women who have taken an active interest in the coming festival that the committee took this course. At the recent meeting several women representing the various women's organizations in town were present to offer suggestions and express a willingness to co-operate in any way possible.

Saturday afternoon, Oct. 10, the second day of the festival will be devoted to the entertainment of the children. This should be a gala day for the children of the town. According to plans now in formation it will be a great time. Many novel features of entertainment will be provided and many of the committee will lend their aid in making the children happy.

Games and races will be held for the children and appropriate prizes will be given to the winners. The weekly whist parties in aid of the financial success of the festival continue to be held with large crowds in attendance. The party this week under the direction of Luke P. Glendon was the greatest success of the season. Scores of friends of Mr. Glendon and the council turned out to do their bit in assisting.

The next party will be held at the clubhouse Tuesday night, Sept. 22, under the direction of Miss B. Young. Already a large sale of tickets has been noted and a gathering similar to the Glendon crowd is expected. The council will hold a regular meeting Oct. 21, at which time the annual election of officers will take place. Much interest in the election of officers has been noted this year. Nominations were received at the last meeting of the council and from the interest displayed at that time the election should be a friendly but spirited contest.

EMBLEM CLUB WHISTS

A drive to fill the Elks' hope chest, which is to be the leading feature of the Charity Ball is now on. To further this very worthy effort, the next regular meeting of the Emblem Club will be omitted and the hall will be turned over to the Hope Chest Committee: Mesdames G. H. Lochman, L. A. Flanders, A. M. Little, H. L. Scholl, C. S. Larson, B. F. Cullen, Jas. Horn, and the Misses Alice Sullivan and Margaret Fitzgerald. A whist under the direction of Mrs. Flanders and Mrs. Little will be the first move of this enterprising group whose past accomplishments in various Elks activities are worthy of highest praise. Needless to say that there will be a grand array of prizes, for the Emblem Club whists are noted for this attractive feature. The date is Wednesday evening, Sept. 23. The place is Lyceum Hall and every member of the Emblem Club is expected to assist in every possible way.

At the committee meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Elks' Room, Lyceum Building, Mrs. Lochman, general chairman, announced the receipt of several valuable articles for the hope chest and outlined plans for soliciting further contributions. Gifts are expected from each member of the Club, and it is hoped that many will see fit to make their offering next Wednesday night, in order to facilitate the work of the committee.

Van French, last year's football captain and star back at Tufts has been helping Coach Eddie Casey this fall, doing special work with the kickers. In most of the Jumbo games last year French had little difficulty in outbooting his opponent and it is hoped that he will pass this ability along to this year's kicker.

ANNUAL VISITATION LAST SUNDAY

Winchester experienced its heaviest traffic of the season last Sunday when the Jewish Cemeteries in Monvale were visited, the occasion being the day of Slichos. It is estimated that nearly 30,000 people passed through town in the course of the day, a goodly part of that number making the trip to Monvale by automobile. It was necessary to order one way traffic on some of the streets to keep things moving freely while the usual parking in front of St. Mary's Church on Washington street had to be forbidden. The entire Winchester Police Department was ordered out for duty during the day by Chief McIntosh and so efficiently did they handle the large press of traffic which flowed through the town from early morning until late at night that but two motor accidents of a most minor nature were reported during the day. The Metropolitan Police also reported heavy traffic along the Parkway during the day especially through Alewife Brook where often the cars ran two and three abreast.

CAMPBELL MEMORIAL WINDOW

The memorial placed by Mrs. James L. Campbell in the Unitarian Church and dedicated to the memory of her husband, died Sunday morning, fills the entire south window of the auditorium. Its inscription reads, "To the Glory of God and in Memory of James L. Campbell, 1848-1922, and of his wife, Katharine P. Campbell, 1846-1889." The window is composed of five lancets with tracery openings above. In the three center lancets are life-size figures of Paul the Apostle, and Barnabas and Priscilla who were closely associated with his work. Paul holds the sword and book, symbolic of the good fight which he fought and of the epistles which he wrote. Barnabas bears a scroll inscribed, "St. Matthew"; for he was said always to have had the Gospel of Saint Matthew with him when he preached. Priscilla, in whose house a church was founded, carries a palm referring to her martyrdom. In the two outside lancets are medallions illustrating four important incidents in Paul's life. They are Paul the tent-maker, his conversion, before Atrippa, and preaching at Athens. Red and blue are the dominating colors of the window, but they are softened and given a jewel-like setting by the use of silvery whites and gold.

FALL OPENING

Miss Nellie Iahon announces a Fall opening of Millinery and dresses at the Boston Millinery Shop, 372 Main street, Stoughton, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 24, 25, 26. Complete line of trimmed hats including the famous "Gage Bros." and "Monterey" hats from New York.

A Ford sedan and a Cadillac coupe were somewhat damaged last Friday afternoon at 1:30 as the result of a collision on Cambridge street in front of the residence of Mr. F. O. Fish. The Cadillac, owned by Mrs. Olga MacDonald, 112 High street, Chelmsford, and operated by her husband, Harold, was going north when it was struck by the Ford, owned and operated by Edward Groney of 63 North Union street, Arlington, which was attempting to pass a truck. No one was injured.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The Winchester Boat Club's followers of the paddling game were on deck Saturday, Sept. 12, to make their stand against Medford Boat Club in a double race, the Mediford boys failed to put in their appearance. After waiting for them until 3:30 p. m. it was decided to run an all-Winchester regatta among the dozen or more paddlers who were then present.

In order to cool the boys off at the very start, a "cup race" was the first event. Eight paddlers entered.
The wind of the afternoon was almost as stiff an opponent as a visiting club would have been. It was a strong southerly blow directly broadside to the course. Two of the starters "Jerry" Foster and another "dark horse" tipped over before the scheduled time, due to the heavy breeze. Kenneth Pratt won the event with Lars Sanderberg trailing for second place.
Sanderberg pushing him closely for third honors.

The second race was the tandem single blade. The course was Edward Sanderberg and Philip Hight winners. Kenneth Pratt and Dan Barnard were leading for second place but Pratt fouled the boat of Max Hight and while Ralph Purrrington and the latter were given second place.

The tandem hand paddle came next.
This was run over the course from Robinson's boat house in toward the Boat Club boat. Alan Hovey and Edward Sanderberg beat Kenneth Pratt and Philip Hight by a small length while Lars Sanderberg and Jerry Foster came in third.

The tail-end race was a funny one.
The strong wind made it next to impossible to guide a boat in a straight course. There were a dozen starters.
Each faced away from the finish line,
and had to slide about at the start-off. Canoes went in every direction.
They described arcs, curves and did every kind of a whirl. Alan Hovey was precipitated into the "drink" and finished the course in the style of a tip-over race. Others were hurriedly forced to take to the water. Kenneth Pratt after paddling almost the full distance without describing a circle, went into a tail spin just before reaching the finish line. After some maneuvering he straightened out again and crossed the line a winner. Lars Sanderberg was second and Philip Hight third.

The standing gunwale race with one man paddling resulted in a number of spills and was good to watch.
Philip Hight won, Edward Sanderberg was second and Kenneth Pratt, third.

The tilting match was run off with a brand new equipment. Instead of the tilter standing in the bottom of the canoe or up on the gunwales, he stood on a platform near the bow of the boat and in place of the very heavy tilting poles usually carried, light bamboo ones eight feet long were substituted. This speeded up the results of each joust and no tilter stayed on deck too long. Ralph Pur-rington, tilter and Merrill Tucker, paddler, drew Kenneth Pratt, tilter and Bob Hight, paddler. The first encounter passed without any loss of blood, but on the second lift, Ralph Purrrington lifted Pratt off his feet and down on top of Bob Hight with the result of the canoe sinking. Alan Hovey, tilter and Edward Sanderberg, paddler, took on Jerry Smith, tilter and Ferdinand Hawley, paddler. One jab from Hovey's pole sent Smith into the lake. The final, between the Purrrington and Tucker crew and the Hovey and Sanderberg team was of longer duration. But after a couple of jousts Hovey soaked Purrrington a good one and Ralph slipped over but Hovey also lost his balance and fell from his deck. Both got back in their respective boats again and took up the battle once more. The platforms were pretty wet by this time and it was placed with a good tipped Pur-rington overboard and Hovey and Sanderberg were awarded the prize.

Mr. Charles H. Eastwick and Joe Appel Smith acted as judges. Stafford Rogers was starter of the races.
Due to an injured knee he could not attend the events, and thus saved a number of winners from a probable falling.

DRAWINGS FOR FALL GOLF AT COUNTRY CLUB

Plans have been completed for the fall golf campaign at the Winchester Country Club, and call for rounds of match play as well as those for the President's cup, a feature of much local interest. Drawings for the latter event which gets under way tomorrow have been announced as follows:

A. P. Chase vs. W. W. O'Hara.
F. O. Fish vs. P. A. Goodale.
Robert Goodale vs. G. L. Barton.
P. B. Elkins vs. P. A. Hendricks.
S. T. Hicks vs. H. T. Bend.
H. A. Peterson vs. W. A. Jackson.
S. E. Newman vs. J. F. Tuttle.
A. M. Bond vs. B. K. Stephenson.

The match play drawings for the fall cup are:
E. H. Walker vs. H. W. Stratton.
A. V. Adams vs. I. S. Hall.
G. A. Healey vs. J. A. Reeves.
R. F. Whitney vs. R. L. Palmer.
R. V. Thayer vs. A. W. Osborne.
H. B. Turner vs. D. E. Stokes.
W. G. Dobb vs. R. F. Fenno.
J. A. Bolton vs. A. H. Morton, Jr.
Starting Saturday in the first round of play, the second round must be completed by Sept. 27, the third round by Oct. 4, and the final round is planned for Columbus Day, Oct. 12.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS AT WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The annual fall tennis tournament for the "Davis" Cup will be started next Saturday, Sept. 19. William S.
Davis, the donor of the cup will not be able to attend the matches in person but he still puts his enthusiasm and well wishes behind the tournament and their success is assured.
Twelve members have already signed up and close matches are promised.
It is likely that it will take two weeks or more to decide the winner as there is but one court to play on. At this writing the following are considered possible winners: Albert Moffette, Ralph Purrrington, Francis Randlett, Maurice Tyler, and Hall Gamage.

ENTERTAINED AT COUNTRY CLUB BY MR. DOWNS

For the past four years Jerry A.
Downs, member of the firm of Hayden, Stone & Co., has staged an outing for the employees. But it is doubtful if there was as much enthusiasm shown in the past years as at the get-together day at the Winchester Country Club Monday afternoon and evening, when 175 enjoyed golf, tennis, a buffet supper and dancing.

While the golf and tennis games were being contested Mr. Downs and his sister, Miss Downs, held open house at their beautiful estate, a stone's throw from the Winchester links.

The Boston team of golfers and tennis players succeeded in retaining the Charles Hayden Cup. In the best ball foursome they scored the same number of points as the Metropolitan aggregation, each team getting six points. New York was shut out in the singles tennis matches, Boston winning the trophy, 12 to 6.

Boston also defeated Springfield in golf and tennis, capturing the three foursomes and the singles match in tennis. The player with the lowest handicap in each foursome played scratch. The other players took three-quarters difference between his handicap and theirs, the strokes being taken at the times, as indicated on the scorecard. Then the Nassau system of scoring was followed.

The prize for the best net score went to Horace Frasier, a member of the Winnipeg Club, who returned a card of 95—22—73. Prescott Bigelow captured the trophy for the largest number of 16, having eight in his credit.
Mr. Galen L. Stone, who retired from the firm several years ago, and his wife were the chief guests of the day's outing. Other members of the firm present included C. M. Connelly, F. H. Baird and Lester Watson. The host, Mr. Downs, made a speech of welcome and the prizes were awarded to the winners by Miss Elizabeth Downs.

AUTOS FIGURE IN FOUR ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

Despite the fact that traffic was reported to have been particularly heavy over the past week-end only four motor mishaps were reported between Saturday morning and Sunday night,
no one of which was at all serious.

At 7:25 Saturday morning a Buick sedan, owned and operated by William C. MacLean of Wave avenue, Wakefield, and a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Savio Nivirno of St. Main street, Medford, were in collision at the corner of Main street and the Mystic Valley Parkway. The Buick was going east on the boulevard and was about to cross Main street while the Ford was coming from the direction of Medford. The latter machine was tipped completely over by the force of the collision and both cars were quite badly smashed.
The only injury reported was a cut which MacLean sustained behind the ear.

Saturday's second accident was at 1:50 in the afternoon and occurred at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Main streets in the square. Two Ford trucks figured in this affair, one owned by James Barabro of 43 Oak street and driven by his son Anthony of the same address and the other owned and operated by Paolo Amico of 120 Swanton street. The latter had neither license or registration with him at the time of the accident. Both trucks were somewhat damaged, but no one was injured.

Washington street at Park avenue was the scene of Sunday's first collision at 10:30 a. m. A Ford runaboud owned and operated by Isadore
Friedman of 125 Ellington street, Dorchester, was struck in the rear by a Studebaker sedan, owned and operated by Abraham Lyman of 5 Milton street, Dorchester, as both machines were proceeding north along Washington street. The damage done the cars was slight, and no one was hurt.
The last of the four accidents took place at 1:30 p. m. Sunday in the square. While Samuel Fisher of 1720 North Shore road, Revere, was turning his Studebaker sedan out of Mt.
Vernon street to go south on Main street, the machine collided with an electric car of the Massachusetts Eastern Street Railway Co. which was headed east along Mt. Vernon street.
Fisher's car suffered a dented mud-guard. No one was injured.

Dare-Devil

In 1927 John Childs climbed to the top of a high steeple in Boston and jumped off, alighting safely 700 feet away. He was one of the pioneer aviators, demonstrating a sort of parachute contraption. Boston recently honored him with a bronze tablet of scientific billboard. It takes generations to develop a revolutionary new device like the airplane. You should remember John Childs and other pioneers when you buy your flying shoes
—15 years from now?

WINCHESTER ELKS TO HELP OLD IRONSIDES CAMPAIGN

The campaign to raise funds for the preservation of the famous frigate, Old Ironsides, inaugurated by the Elks of the United States, will be actively endorsed and supported by Winchester Lodge of Elks. A committee of officers and prominent Elks of this town has been appointed by Exalted Ruler Maurice Dimmen, who will head the organization, and plans are being formulated to secure as large a sum as possible to place in the hands of the national committee.
The local committee consists of the following: Exalted Ruler Maurice Dimmen, Treasurer John P. Donaghey,
Fred H. Scholl, E. L. K.; George H.
Lochman, E. L. K.; Fred D. Clement,
P. E. R.; George T. Davidson, P. E. R.; John McNally, P. E. R.; James J. Fitzgerald, Charles Harrold, George F.
Arnold.

As outlined, the plan here will be to interest the school children in the patriotic enterprise to save and preserve this grand old war ship. Prizes will be awarded for the best essays written on the subject by school children and talks will be given in every school by members of a sub-committee appointed for this purpose.
Anyone and everyone are invited to contribute to the campaign, all moneys to be sent to treasurer John P. Donaghey, Winchester, Mass.

Odd Name for Stew

Literally, the phrase "olla podrida" means a "putrid pot." The name is applied to a stew made of meat, daisies, poultry, vegetables and other ingredients. It is cooked in a closed pot.
The stew is highly seasoned with pepper and garlic.

Tribute Money.

During the administration of Thomas Jefferson, the Barbary states gave much trouble, not only to the United States, but to the European powers, because of the pirates that infested the waters of this part of the coast of north Africa. The European powers had been accustomed to pay them tribute in order that their vessels might not be molested. The American government had entered upon the same practice. Caravans of presents were sent now and again to appease the greed of these pirates. The demands became so exorbitant that our government at last sent a small fleet to the Mediterranean, which taught the pirates that blackmailing must cease. This is the only instance in which the United States had paid tribute to any country.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

On the front door of a business office is the word "push," but on the city hall door "pull."

A young man just married told his bride that he could not make bread like his father. She reminded him that he could not make dough like her father.

Some day someone may write good things about Father. Mother has always had a monopoly on praise while Father comes in for a roast.

In the big department stores these days, it is a problem to guess whether the women are buying or shopping.

The cottage bears the castle as a joy factory.

To Postmaster George H. Loehman We award palms or laurel wreaths, or whatever it is that goes to the prize peach grower. Last year he was the winner of this prize also, if memory serves us correctly, but we doubt if he produced such luscious fruit or such monstrous size as the two beautiful peaches which we found upon our desk Monday forenoon. He speaks well for our office assistants that they were there waiting for us! How they withstood the temptation is beyond comprehension. This fruit was truly the finest we have ever seen—and we don't mean May-be.

In the deaths of the past week Winchester people have lost a number of old friends. Seldom has the Star recorded the passing of one of such a list. Their relations and friends probably touch every home in our town. Our veteran superintendent of the Water Department, William T. Dotson, known to young and old through his courtly kindness and untiring faithfulness to his important trust, is mourned by the community. One of his last acts, performed even on the day of his death, when he left a beautiful bouquet of flowers at the home for aged people, was typical of his life among his friends. A. Wadleigh, keen of mind and sunny of disposition, leaves a void in our midst which few can fill. No longer may we lean upon his face and figures in the guidance of our public affairs. William R. Cowdery is another courteous gentleman of the older days who will greet us no more. Quiet and unobtrusive, he has served his town in more ways than can ever be told. In the death of these good friends we mourn as a community, and not as a friend. Winchester will miss them.

WINCHESTER OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON AT MEDFORD

Winchester High pries the lid from its 1925 football season tomorrow afternoon when its eleven will medford to Medford for a game with Medford High at the Fulton Street grounds. Quite some interest is being manifested in the contest locally in view of the fact that Ernest H. Roberts, for the past two seasons a member of the Winchester High School is starting his first season as assistant to Coach Arthur Sampson at Medford and his former charges are anxious to make a good showing against the team of their old instructor.

There can be no questioning the fact that the local boys will face a stiff assignment tomorrow. Medford is a school rich in gridiron tradition and one of the strongest in many years of the Suburban League, a much classier circuit than the Mystic in which Winchester has been a potent factor but seldom a winner. The game was originally scheduled it was thought that "Jim" Mansfield would again be in charge of the Blue and White forces. Winchester's veteran mentor would satisfy himself with merely trying out his new men against his first game opponent, now he has left Medford for North and his successors will naturally want to make a good showing in their season's debut, even to the extent of running up a sizeable score. Even without the "Fish" Ellis Medford is apt to have an offense which the local boys with their lack of weight will find hard to stop. Local fans should not expect too much of the team Saturday. The boys will do well to hold Medford to a low score. We don't mean to say that Winchester isn't going down to Fulton Street with the will to win. The new coach, Wendell D. Mansfield, has been working his changes hard for a week and has one of the biggest squads in the history of the school out on Manchester Field today. Sprinkled among the 20 men who have reported are a fair nucleus of experienced players, including Captain Robinson and O'Donnell, ends; Charlie Cassidy, tackle; Walter Johnson, guards; and Flax, rolls; Jim Halwartz, Jack Harriman and Heinie Knowlton, backs from last year's team. Thus far it looks like Jim Halwartz would be shifted to center to fill the big gap left vacant by the graduation of Frank Melly, all Mystic Valley League snapper last year, and just about the best pivot man the high school ever had. Harriman, also may play on the rush line this season as Coach Wadleigh seems to have plenty of backfield aspirants and Jack has the weight. The definite lineup for the game tomorrow will not be determined upon until after practice tonight, but it is probable that most of the boys who have shown promise will get a show against Medford.

The entire squad includes A. Amico, N. Amico, H. Ambrose, L. Clark, C. Cassidy, C. Callahan, J. Drohan, R. Doherty, N. Fitzgerald, E. Ferrina, R. Franklin, E. Fleming, H. Gibson, B. Hill, A. Haley, J. Halwartz, D. Hight, J. Harriman, H. Johnson, R. Kordas, P. Kendrick, H. Knowlton, F. Kempton, B. Murphy, R. Murphy, W. Morton, P. McCauley, D. McCarthy, H. Nelson, C. O'Donnell, W. Prue, F. Ross, R. Simonds, E. Taylor, S. Wildburger, A. Wilson, R. Bowe, A. Walker, A. Carroll, C. Chamberland, P. Coss, R. Finberg, J. Flaherty, E. Nichols, A. Ghirardini, J. Blank, C. Wadsworth, C. ## NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Annie K. Gorman who is to be married this week to Peter McCabe of New York was tendered a shower last Friday evening by her sister employees at the Winchester Laundry. She was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts including a purse of gold.

Francis Melly, Winchester's crack all-around athlete and all-Mystic League center last fall has entered Montpelier Academy where he will prepare for college.

James J. Fitzgerald, Jr. enrolled for the pre-registration period at Tufts Engineering School yesterday. If big Jim was successful with a couple of exams which he took early this week he will be a welcome addition to the athletic life of the college. He's the best prospect Winchester has produced for years.

The work of installing the new traffic signs in the centre was commenced this morning. Four separate lights are to be installed facing the four entering streets. This scheme will hold automobiles back of the railroad tracks and will, if necessity arises, allow the center to be cleared of all cars.

At 7:15 this morning a bad accident occurred at the corner of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets. A Ford sedan driven by Thomas J. Carney of East Woburn and a coal truck of the Parker & Lane Co. crashed together. The driver of the truck, nor Raymond J. Carroll, who was driving the truck, were injured, but the Ford was badly smashed.

CAPE HUBBARD: HOPPING-OFF PLACE OF THE NAVY PLANES

Cape Hubbard, the northern extremity of Axel Heiberg Island and the proposed hopping-off place of the planes of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition at the edge of the uncharted polar sea, has been visited only twice before by white men. Robert E. Peary, coming from the north along the fringe of Grant Land, turned back at this point in June, 1907. The other visitor was MacMillan himself, during April and May, 1914, on his Crocker-Land Expedition.

Cape Horn of the North At times Cape Hubbard is a veritable Cape Horn of the North, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Heavy winds from the Arctic Ocean sweep through Nansen Sound, which separates it to the north, bringing low-hanging clouds, fog, and during the summer months, chilling rain squalls.

A good deal of the time, however, the air is marvelously clear and bracing. Arctic birds break the silence with their twittering, while mosses, patches of grass and flowers add soft touches of color to the stern and rocky mountainsides. Snow patches and ice fields are contrasted sharply against the dark cliffs and the gravel patches along the shore. Sometimes the constant summer sunshine brings the mercury well above freezing, and the melting snows and rushing mountain torrents down to the shore, covering the sea-ice with a lake of water.

Route For Plane's "Shuttle Service" Far up Nansen Sound, which is the lane through which the Navy planes will fly on their daily journeys between the intermediate base west of Etah and the outpost at Cape Hubbard, the snow-covered summits of Ellesmere Island can be seen, with leading glaciers leading down almost to the ice-foot that marks the shore line. To the south are the towering Lands End, or Cape Colgate, the northwestern angle of Grant Land, 2000 feet high and, according to Peary, more truly Alpine than any other peak in Greenland or Grant Land.

Cape Hubbard, which was discovered by Peary and named by him in honor of Thomas H. Hubbard, president in 1906 of the Peary Arctic Club of New York, has a succession of three peaks, rising from the water's edge in great sweeping tiers, like a huge amphitheater. On the third and highest Peary built his cairn and buried a message and a piece of an American flag in a covea tin during his visit 19 years ago. MacMillan, returning from the Crocker-Land Expedition, brought this record with him, replacing it with a duplicate and another of his own.

Landing Places Probably Available

Although both explorers reported high winds in the vicinity, there are many high sheltering cliffs and indentations near the Cape. Wide gravel beaches below the cliffs offer suitable landing places for the planes in case it is not practicable to drop on the water or ice.

Peary, in his book "Nearest the Pole" comment on the district which he referred to as Jessup Land: Camping in this region in June, July, and August, if on land, and it is calm and clear, and one is not under the necessity of traveling every day, can be very pleasant. But if it blows or snows, or both, or if one is on the sea or bay ice and obliged to get somewhere at a certain time, it is sure to be unpleasant. I must confess to a feeling of sadness and regret at leaving this last camp. It was a striking picture, the deer and hare, feeding in the brilliant sunshine under the high bluffs, the call of the birds, and the sound of running water.

Mystery Land Sighted From Cape

It was from the summit of the third hill, where Peary built his cairn, that he looked far to the west and saw what he thought was land. MacMillan, too, plainly made out the outlines here of a huge range of mountains far out over the sea. Yet MacMillan, after a tortuous 150-mile journey out on the ice in the direction of this "Crockerland," as it was called, came no closer to it than Peary. For the farther MacMillan went in its direction the fainter it appeared. But on his return to Cape Hubbard MacMillan again saw its mocking, alluring visage, a mystery that the airplanes may be able to solve.

Strange though it may seem, a little more than 400 miles from the North Pole, big flies are one of the chief annoyances of explorers in this region during the summer time. On sultry windless days they swarm over everything, especially if there is any meat exposed.

Wild Life Plentiful at Cape Hubbard

The Navy planes are not alone in the air. Great flocks of glaucous gulls, or "big burgomasters" as they are called, the king-birds of the Arctic, sweep along the faces of the vertical black cliffs—bold, strong and vigorous birds, battlers with the wind and snow. The redlegged sea penguins, stormy petrels of the north, circle over the open water, unmindful of violent winds, stormy seas, driving snows and freezing sleet. And of course there is the Little Auk, or dovekie, the true representative of bird life in the Arctic and the darling of the Eskimos. The eggs of these birds form an important item in the food supply, while their flesh is considered a great delicacy.

Along the ice-foot, the shelf left by the receding tide, seals sun themselves, while far up in the hills, musk oxen, deer, wolves and Arctic foxes and hare are numerous. Life for those at Cape Hubbard is by no means monotonous.

AUCKLAND: SHIPPING CENTER FOR THE SOUTH SEAS

Auckland, New Zealand, which was called "Last, loneliest, loveliest" by Kipling, may still seem lonely to those who never visit it; but with its 160,000 inhabitants and all the trappings of a modern American or English city it has interests and activities of its own which make the average Aucklander feel scant thought to his geographic isolation. So says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society dealing with one of the chief Pacific ports at which the United States fleet is putting in on its return trip from Australia.

There are other factors that work to banish thoughts of loneliness from the minds of Aucklanders. The port has become the busy center of trade with the South Sea Islands; and the ships of some of the chief Pacific steamer lines from San Francisco and Vancouver put in at Auckland on their voyages to and from Sydney. As a result of this service Auckland theatres and concert halls are supplied with the theatrical talent and musical artists who are interesting the rest of the world.

Two Harbors to Choose From Auckland gives another example of the lavish way in which Nature has dealt out wonderful harbors to Australia. The main Auckland harbor, opening to the east—Waitemata Harbor—furnishes about six square miles of deep, land-locked water; and this opens upon Hauraki Gulf with an area of hundreds of square miles. A ship must steam 30 or 40 miles north from Auckland before it meets the swell of the Pacific, so well is the Gulf protected by its barrier islands.

In addition Auckland has a backdoor harbor in reserve. The city is built on a hilly isthmus only six miles wide, with its main harbor on the east, and an almost equally commodious protected body of water, Manukau Harbor, on the west. The site of small. Auckland probably leads most seaside cities of the world in per capita boat ownership. Hundreds of workmen own boats and on holidays there is a sizable exodus by water to some of the charming picnic islands near the harbor's mouth.

Auckland is almost the exact antipodal point of Gibraltar, and has a climate not unlike that of Sunny Spain at its best. The temperature seldom rises higher than 82 degrees Fahrenheit in summer (December, January and February) or falls much below 40 degrees in winter (June, July and August). The maximum temperature in Auckland in August is about 69 degrees. Palms grow in the parks beside the trees common to more northern climes. Grass remains green the year round, and Aucklanders carry on their outdoor life through winter and summer alike.

STOCKHOLM: HOST TO THE CLERGY

Stockholm, which will be the host this month to a gathering of church representatives is a happy choice as a summer conference city, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

A winding fjord, leading up from the Baltic Sea, provides an enchanting approach. Along the low rocky shores the small steamers and lumber boats, called wood billies, lie in little coves, their rigging almost tangled among the boughs of the forest. A few wooden houses set among the trees and the constantly shifting shores give a fairylike effect, which is heightened as you round a bend in the fjord and a huge stone city comes suddenly into view, seemingly carved from the rocks and the woods.

The Venice of the North

Stockholm, like Venice, is a city founded on islands, but it has spread out into the mainland to the north and south, where most of its people now live. The early Vikings gave the city its start when they chose one of the islands in the harbor as the site of a fort, to protect their settlements along the chain of lakes and rivers inland. These inland waterways, with the addition of several modern canals, now connect Stockholm with the Cattegat and the North Sea.

Magnificent Royal Palace

The island portion of the original city, Staden, like its Parisian counterpart, the Ile de la Cite, bears reminders of its early history. Today it contains the magnificent Royal Palace, one of the finest structures in the French Classic style in Europe, and many of the business establishments of the city, most of them housed in handsome stone buildings of uniform Renaissance design.

The Staden is connected with four adjacent islands and the main land to the north and south by arched stone bridges. The most famous of these, the Norrbo, is the Brooklyn Bridge of Stockholm, in respect to traffic, and its London Bridge, as an object of sentiment.

To the west, on the smaller island of Riddarholmen, rises the lofty iron spire of the most famous church in Stockholm, the Riddarsholms-Kyrka. In a country of fine cathedrals, such as that of Upsala, it is misleading to refer to the Riddarsholms-Kyrka as the Westminster Abbey of Sweden. Perhaps the Pantheon or Valhalla would be more appropriate, for buried there are many illustrious sons of the nation. The Storhyrka (Great Church), near-by on Staden, is incorrectly referred to as a cathedral.

Perhaps the visitors may be given a taste of the traditional lack of ceremony of the Swedish court. In striking contrast to fence-off Buckingham Palace, with its red-coated guards, the Swedish Royal Palace is open to the public. Visitors are invited to the comfortable private rooms of the huge edifice, which has the atmosphere of a large English country home.

The modern quality of the city is illustrated by the extensive use to which a comparatively recent invention—the telephone, has been put. Stockholm has 107,793 telephones, or 25.4 for every 100 inhabitants. Stockholm also is a great industrial center, with iron foundries, ship building plants, sugar, tobacco, cotton, leather, soap, furniture and food products factories. Although within a few miles of being as far north as Cape Farewell, Greenland, ice breakers keep the harbor open all winter.

Elemental Spirits

Elemental spirits were beings who, according to popular belief in the Middle Ages, presided over the four elements, living in and ruling them. The elemental spirits of fire were called salamanders, those of water, undines; those of air, sylphs, and those of earth, gnomes.

Geographically of all New Zealand cities, says the bulletin, for its harbor opens on Cook Strait, the natural waterway that splits New Zealand's land roughly into two equal parts. Situated on the southern tip of North Island, the city is almost exactly at the geographical center of the Dominion, and in a position from which steamers can reach the ports of both islands by the shortest passages. Because of this strategic central situation Wellington took from Auckland in 1864 the capital of the Dominion.

On Lake like Harbor Although Wellington undoubtedly has the best location with regard to New Zealand, it has not yet overcome Auckland's advantageous position for the South Sea trade and the fact that both the big New Zealand ports can be reached with about equal ease from Sydney. Wellington's population is short of 120,000, but it is growing with great rapidity and may yet overtake that of its larger sister city to the north.

As is the case with Sydney, Auckland, Hokart and Melbourne, Wellington owes much of its prosperity to its excellent harbor. Shipping enters through a relatively narrow bottleneck to find a great, broad lakelike body of water opening out beyond. A rim of high, steep hills hems the harbor in. At places these rise a little distance back from the shore, at others they meet the water in bold promontories, their edges carved for roadways or their lands pierced by tunnels. In nearly every little bay, as one passes into the harbor, are found suburban communities reached by ferries.

Building Sites Carved From Hills The city of Wellington lies on the southwestern side of the harbor. Only a narrow strip along the coast is level and a considerable part of this has been reclaimed by filling in a part of the harbor. On this level plot near the water is the business section of the city and the government buildings. Wellington obviously has been cramped by its hills; but just as obviously it has struck out to conquer them. Few cities have had to go in so deeply for engineering enterprises in order to expand. The hills rise steeply to heights of 700 feet and more. For years the city builders of Wellington have been carving and terracing their slopes, filling in gullies, tearing away ridges and building innumerable retaining walls and bridges and the work still goes on. Streets outside the level plot wind snakily along slopes, working ever higher and higher. As in Rio de Janeiro one man's house looks down upon the roof of his neighbor's below, and in turn is looked down upon by his neighbor's above. On some of the hills houses have been built all the way to the crest, and each year sees on other hills a revision upward of the high house mark. Special cable and electric tram lines run up several of the hills.

So rough is Wellington and its environs that the city's race track (all most a necessity in Australian and New Zealand communities) had to be placed on a hillside.

Drilling Holes in Glass. Holes may be drilled in glass in the following manner: Dip a pointed, three-cornered file in pure turpentine. Put the point of the file where the hole is to be drilled and twist the file first in one direction and then in the opposite direction, bearing down lightly on it. Turn the handle of the file around slightly in the hand and twist it a number of times. You may find it necessary to dip the file in turpentine again before the hole can be drilled entirely through the glass. After the hole is drilled, it can be smoothed with emery cloth.

The Old Savannah. The Savannah was the first steamer to cross the Atlantic. On May 24, 1810, she left Savannah for Liverpool, which port was reached in 27 days; 80 hours of which time she was operated by steam power. The vessel was first constructed as a sailing packet, but an auxiliary engine and boiler with paddlewheels were fitted before she was placed in service.

placed 26 miles out in the country. The distance does not deter racing fans. On the days of racing meet the railroads do a thriving business and the downtown streets of the city seem almost deserted.

Dominion and City in Business The status of Wellington as capital of New Zealand has brought a considerable group of public buildings to the city. At first these buildings were of wood due to an earthquake scare near the middle of the nineteenth century. The old government building is one of the largest wooden structures ever built. In recent years brick, stone and concrete have been used to a greater extent in erecting larger structures. The new building which houses Parliament and the Town Hall are monumental buildings of marble.

The capital of a country devoted largely to state ownership must have structures to house activities whose names sound strange to those familiar with ordinary capitals. In Wellington in addition to the department structures usually associated with the conduct of a central government are the buildings of the Government Life Insurance service, the Railway Department, the Government Trust (which administers wills), and other unfamiliar state activities.

The city of Wellington also is deeply in business for its citizens. It owns its water works, electric power and light plant, ice factory, street railway lines, cemeteries, public baths, slaughter houses, and has a municipal monopoly for the distribution of milk.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The first regular business meeting of the fall and winter schedule was held on last Thursday evening.

The first regular social of the fall and winter schedule will be a whist party on Thursday evening, September 23, in the K. of C. Hall under the able direction of Sisters McKee and Hayes and committee. Many useful and attractive prizes have already been donated. A prize will be awarded the holder of the lucky ticket. All the sisters are reminded of this date.

Regent Blake has announced all committees. Sick and Publicity will remain the same during the coming months. The work of these committees has been very well handled during the past year and the membership highly favors Regent Blake's action in this regard.

A representation from the local branch has been appointed to act as a Refreshment Committee and take charge of a booth at the annual autumn festival to be held by the K. of C. Oct. 9 and 10. This committee is under the direction of Sister Ambrose. The members are all pleased to learn the several sister who have recently been on our sick list are now all recovered and about again.

Sister McCauley has returned from a pleasant vacation at York Beach.

Sister Rose Meahan McKenzie has the congratulations and well wishes of all the members on her marriage to "Jack" McKenzie, son of Sister Mary McKenzie. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie will take up a residence in Tulsa for the next two years, at the end of which time they will welcome Sister Rose Meahan McKenzie back in our midst once more.

Sister Mary McKenzie has returned from a pleasant auto tour of Vermont, New Hampshire, Montreal, and Quebec, including a visit to the charming Ste. Anne de Beaupre, and New York State.

With our sisters all returned from vacations and general routine look on winter schedule the branch looks forward to a very successful winter program, thus enabling them to take care abundantly of their numerous charities.

THE 48 STATES IN WASHINGTON

Finding your state in Washington, D. C., is a puzzle contest the Capital offers free to visitors. Each state represented in the Senate and the House is represented many more times in the highways and byways of the District of Columbia.

Somewhere in the Federal reservation a broad avenue honors every State except one, says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Avenues At Angles

Only native sons of the State of Washington seek vainly for the city street, but that does not count, for in the Capital avenues are the macadam patrician and never run on line with the streets. Famous Pennsylvania Avenue runs west northwest from the Capitol toward the White House and all its forty-six brother avenues named for states proclaim the spectacle of cutting angles among the staid streets which have to hew to north-south or east-west lines.

What secret diplomacy gave Pennsylvania's name to the Avenue, as the Capitol calls it? That is still secret. The map of L'Enfant, the French engineer and father of city planning in America, names the streets but not the avenues. Some say geography gave it to Pennsylvania. It is the middle avenue of three great thoroughfares just as Pennsylvania was the middle state of the original 13. South of Pennsylvania Avenue is Virginia Avenue and north of it is Massachusetts Avenue. While Pennsylvania Avenue is more famous, Massachusetts is more beautiful, for the latter is bordered by handsome buildings and by far more plentiful than Unter den Linden, Berlin's famous boulevard.

New England States Conspicuous

Avenues named for southern states usually are southwest of the Capitol, where the original planners expected the greatest development. However, like all American cities Washington has moved with glacier slowness to a new axis. Now the busiest avenues are those northwest of the White House, carrying the names of the New England States; Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island. States entering the Union more recently are honored by avenues on the fringe of the District. Florida Avenue is an exception to all these highway rules; it was once Boundary Avenue, extended to Baltimore, and the limit of the original city.

Mathematical sharks can have a feast on the enigma presented by state names on the Lincoln Memorial. Two files of state names crown the classic temple; the lower lists the 36 states of the Union at the time of Lincoln's death, the upper lists the 48 states of the United States today. In both tabulations the states appear in the order of the time of joining the Union. The short list begins at the upper left hand corner of the east facade. At what corner, it is asked, must the long list begin in order that no one name shall appear twice on the same face of the memorial?

48 States Represented in Washington Monument

At the end of the Mirror Basin, opposite the Lincoln Memorial, the visitor may again find the names of the 48 states arranged within the shaft of Washington Monument. Inscribed stone blocks bearing the names of 40 states, some of which were too small to be placed on the tablets were placed, can be seen as the elevator climbs to the top. To see them in detail one must undertake the Capitol's best feat of youthfulness, climb the monument's 894 steps.

At least once a year the big white inner court of the great stone Post Office Department building, about midway on Pennsylvania Avenue between the Capitol and the White House, blazes with color contributed by state flags. Governors and private citizens, organizations of postmasters and postal employees, a chapter of the D. A. R., and numerous other societies and individuals have added to the Departments set. It has no flags of Kansas, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota and Wyoming.

State Flag Collection

The Hawaiian flag's arrival at the Post Office department drew together some loose ends of history. On the field of the territorial emblem appears the British design Crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick, which was the flag Benjamin Franklin served under as colonial postmaster general. He later became the first postmaster general of the Stars and Stripes. Another English flag in the collection is Maryland's the brilliant old banner of the Calverts, which that state adopted.

In the Capitol itself, the original House chamber, called the oven, both for its temperature and shape, has been converted into a Hall of Fame for state heroes. Enough states have filled half or all of their quota of two, to give Statuary Hall a forest of marble figures.

If the Lincoln Memorial offers a mathematical puzzle, Statuary Hall offers an information test. One might spend a profitable hour with a group of friends checking how many can tell why the following men were honored by the state in their places in the U. S. Capitol's gallery of fame:

How Many Can You Identify?

Alabama: J. L. M. Curry and Gen. Joseph Wheeler; Arkansas: James P. Clarke and Uriah M. Rose; Connecticut: Roger Sherman and Jonathan Trumbull; Florida: John Gorrie and E. Kirby Smith; Idaho: George L. Shoup; Illinois: James Shields and Francis E. Willard; Indiana: Lew Wallace and Oliver P. Morton; Iowa: James Harlan and Samuel J. Kirkwood; Kansas: George W. Austin and Samuel Houston; Vermont: Ethan Allen and Jacob Colburn; Virginia: George Washington and Robert E. Lee; West Virginia: John E. Kenna and Francis H. Pickens; Wisconsin: Father James Marquette.

JERBA: FABLED HOME OF THE LOTUS EATERS

Jerba, the North African island where an ancient Greek treasure galley was discovered recently, is not listed as a stopping place on Mediterranean cruises, although it possesses a background of rich historic and romantic interest. Tradition places this little Tunisian island, almost midway between Gibraltar and Suez, the home of the lotus-eaters, of whom Homer tells in one of his sea tales. The present day natives, mostly Berbers of the Kharite sect, would probably tell you they have never heard of the fabled sweet forgetful plant that was said to come to the Lotophagi, as the eaters of the Lotus plant were called, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. There is nothing today about their busy little palm-shaped towns, or harbors full of fishing boats, that lends its atmosphere of a land of always after dinner. Secure in their insularity against the attacks of nomadic Arabs, the Jerba islanders and their fruit groves and vegetable gardens, vying also in industry with their kinsmen, the Mozabites, as traders to all the seaports of the Orient.

Sponge and Polypus Fisheries

The sponge, polypus and other fisheries, and the oyster beds in the channel d'Ajaj, the ship channel through the narrow sweep of water that separates Jerba from the mainland, are productive. Every morning the queer looking craft of the Arab sponge fishermen put out from the long wharves, with flags flying, for the great stretches of shallow water that extend in all directions from the island. Large steamers must be met by native sailing craft and rowboats, as it is impossible for most of them to approach within two or three miles of the shore.

Jerba has been made, through the efforts of its inhabitants, one of the most fertile and prosperous spots along a great stretch of sun-baked Mediterranean coastline. More than a million date-palm trees wave their fronds over the whitewashed towns and villages of this island oasis, which is approximately twice as large as Malta, its British neighbor 250 miles to the northeast. In addition there are extensive groves of olive, orange, lemon and peach trees.

True to the stranger's dream from the bleak and parched Tunisian mainland this fertility seems a miracle. There are no rivers on Jerba, no streams north of the town, even, and rain-fall is as scant and infrequent as on the mainland. The answer to the riddle is underground water, obtained through artesian wells in the same manner that the natives of the Yucatan peninsula in Mexico secure a constant supply of fresh, cool water.

Hunt-Sak, the capital and principal city, lies on the sandy north coast about half a mile from the sea and is reached by a number of small steamers. Its countless little buildings of one or two stories all have domes and from the roof tops of the city look like an array of inverted saucers, with the graceful minarets of the mosques breaking the skyline like slender lighthouses. Public gardens and a number of wide curving streets show the beneficent influence of the French. Down by the sea is the spot where a great mound of Christian bones, called the Skull

Fort, stood for centuries. The bones were those of several thousand Spaniards who were massacred by the pirate Dragut in 1590. They were collected and buried in the Christian cemetery nearby in 1848.

All over the island are Roman ruins, decayed causeways, bath temples—the subsoil of all the Mediterranean world. But aside from the mausoleum of Borgho nothing remains intact of this one time important Roman colony, the birthplace of two Roman Emperors, Vilius Gallus and Volusenus.

Hara-Sirak, a village of 1500 inhabitants five miles south of the capital, is a resort of Jewish pilgrims from southern Tunisia and Tripolitania. The Gheriba or synagogue, is built on the spot where, according to tradition, one of the tables of the law of Moses was found. It is much revered also by Catholics and Moslems. Not far away, at Gallala, is an unexploited Eden for photographers. This is the center of pottery-making, facturing, where all day long the statuesque native women, 20th Century Rebecca, carry graceful white water-jugs to the stone-rimmed wells.

Lotus Nearly Extinct

Of the lotus, or jubbier, as the French call it, there are few remnants. There has been much disagreement as to the identification of the Homeric lotus. Lotus is a popular name applied to several plants, and whether the one that the Greek poet had in mind was a tree, a bush, a flower, or the seed of any of them, has not been determined.

One visitor was taken by a native guide far inland to see what the guide said was the only living specimen of the lotus on the island. It was a bush or vine, trained up the wall of an Arab house, shoulder-high and grew in stout, hardy stocks. It was almost leafless and bore no blossom. Some of the natives contend, however, that the lotus has nothing to do with the stranger's forgetfulness of home. They point to the soft glow of the sunset on the white-domed houses and minarets, the rippling blue-green Mediterranean and the waving palm trees along the sandy shore, and then ask if any such loadstone is necessary.

Author of "Mother Hubbard."

Mother Hubbard's tale is a satire poem in the style of Chaucer, written by Edmund Spenser (1552-1590). It is assumed to have been recited by the poet during a time of sickness by an old woman called Mother Hubbard, and recounts the adventures of an ape and a fox that formed a union to better fortunes. After meeting with a variety of experiences they finally came to grief at the court of King Lion. The nursery tale of Mother Hubbard, who "Went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone," is the one, however, usually associated with the above title.

Ingenious Band Saw

There is in use an ingenious sort of band saw for coarse work, such as felling trees and sawing stone wood. The saw, instead of being a continuous ribblike blade, is made up of links, like those of the driving chain of a bicycle. On their outer side they have teeth of extremely hard steel. The endless chain is supported on four half-bearing sprockets, which are mounted in a light metal frame. A 5-horse power benzine motor drives it.

FOR BETTER REPORT

School books and pencil sharpeners . . . new caps and little blouses. The child world is turning back to the class-room again. You, mother, if you only realized it, can help your children so materially in their progress through school. Boys and girls need heartier breakfasts now—especially if they carry a cold lunch. Hot cereal, eggs or bacon, stewed fruit with Graham bread toast, and milk or cocoa is none too much. If the children come home for luncheon, the next best to prepare at least one warm dish—soup or a vegetable or baked dish hot from the oven.

Provide good light for evening lessons. Gas light is meliorated and most useful of all. If you burn gas, equip the lights with new mantles. A study lamp is also a good investment. Insist on a thorough hand washing with hot water and soap the minute the child comes in from school. Germs of all kinds ride away from the classroom. The excellent saucers transportation provided by Willie's ten fingers. A ready supply of hot water from the instant hot water heater makes children more easy to train in this habit of health and hygiene.

New England—a Neighborhood

If you don't know the number ask your local information operator

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company

Signal your own central from any telephone this Company operates.

Place by number, with your local operator, your order for any other telephone we serve.

We will undertake to connect you with that telephone (or, failing that, to give you a report), not quite with the swiftness of local service, but with an average speed that warrants your holding the line.

This goes for any one of more-than-a-million telephones—from Lake Champlain to Cape Cod, from the Penobscot to the Berkshires, from Winnepesaukee to Narragansett Bay.

Call your operator. Give her the number. Hold the line.

We call it "Neighborhood Toll Service" because it makes New England a neighborhood.

It is our latest contribution to the social, industrial and commercial unity of New England—to which nothing is more nearly essential than Communication, swift and sure.

Will appeal to the Children They will like its fine flavor

If you happen to be one of the mothers who say, "I can't get the children to drink enough milk," we ask you to try Hood's Grade "A" Milk. You will be delighted at the eagerness with which they will drain the glass. No longer will the "time for your milk" be met with indifference or protest. The regular glass of milk will be a pleasant anticipation and the milk habit so firmly established that the greatest of diet problems is definitely solved.

This finer, richer milk is produced in accordance with the NEW Massachusetts regulations for Grade "A" Milk and is the finest large supply of family milk produced in New England. It is safeguarded and checked by our own veterinarians and inspectors and those of your health authorities as well.

You owe yourself and the children a chance to test the fine qualities of Hood's Grade "A" Milk. The first bottle will make a welcome that will never wear out. Its uniform richness, its freshness, its fine flavor and the double sealed bottle make a perfect combination.

HOW FRANCE'S LEADERS FLY TO MOROCCO

The recent spectacular journey by airplane of Marshall Petain from France to Morocco to take supreme command of the French forces fighting in that country, and the similar air voyage of Premier Plainville to look into the political aspects of the war, were over one of the most picturesque air routes of Southern Europe, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The bulletin quotes as follows from a communication to the Society from Lieut. J. Parker Van Zandt, U. S. Army Air Service, who covered this route, starting from Toulouse, France. An answering roar from the engine as the throttle was advanced, wheels plowing through the deep dew-laden grass, tail poised for flight—and I was off on what was destined to prove my most memorable air ride in Europe.

Mediterranean Appears
 The gentle valley of the Garonne lay sleeping under a fleecy sheet of light fog. Like a child's ribbon, the canal lay curled at the base of the furrowed hills, a solemn double row of poplars guarding its banks. The black thread of the railroad now ran close beside it, now struck out boldly across the rich farmland toward where the valley narrowed before the encroaching Pyrenees.

A half hour passes. We dodge through a winding pass ahead, swing to the east again, and abruptly there opens before us a glorious picture of the breaking day. The walled city of Carcassonne slips by, sharply etched in light and shadow, and the glistening waters of the Mediterranean appear ahead. As we swing by the eastern slope of the Pyrenees, the clouds that had seemed so black and ominous overhead now appear snow-white, soft, vaporous, streaming south.

A Sun-baked Land

Perpignan lies in a fertile valley at the eastern foot of the Pyrenees, and here we make our first landing, one hour from Toulouse, to pick up the mail from Marseille. The connecting plane has arrived before us with another passenger, a young Frenchman with military clothing samples for his clients among the fonctionnaires at Rabat.

It is noon and we are approaching Alicante, 6000 feet above a tangle of rocky slopes bordering the sea. Sun-baked white huts cling precariously to the ridges. Terraces, burnt dry, struggle up the hillsides. On our right the mountains rise sharply pointed, precipitous, gullies and pockets in their bare sides, patches of rough cultivation on their lower slopes. Dried river beds lie parched in the heat of the summer sun.

On our left the great bowl of the Mediterranean, green to deep indigo-blue along the rocky shore line, silver-gray on the shimmering horizon; a few tiny fishing boats motionless on its placid surface.

From Cool Clouds to Heat and Dust
 We leave our cool height and glide down slowly, skim over a fence of rough piled stones, and settle to the earth, kicking up a great cloud of yellow dust behind us, as we taxi to the hangar. What a contrast with the cool green field at Toulouse a few hours earlier! Here the barren, sandy ground seems to settle in heat and the air is thick with suspended dust.

No time for lunch. A cup of black Spanish coffee while the mail is being transferred to a waiting plane, and we are off, happy to rise quickly above the mantle of dust and breathe the clean air again.

A snow-cold peak appears, dimly visible above its companions upon the horizon; two hours, and it has passed beneath us and lies indistinguishable among its neighbors, now far to the rear. Thus does air travel obliterate ancient barriers. Tiny white villages, like clustering flights of egrets, begin to dot the great brown slope rising up from the shore.

From Europe to Africa in a Flash
 A valley opens out and Malaga appears, a welcome sight after four hours. It is hot on the ground, and tropical palms, their fronds gray with dust, border the field. In 10 minutes we have transferred to a new plane, and with another pilot are off down the coast, the lower contours flattening out as we rise above them. Here at last the long Spanish coast ends at the Strait of Gibraltar, culminating in that strange, formidable out-thrust of the earth named after a long-dead Moor (Tarik). The wind sweeps through the narrow strait, scattering sudden flashes of white foam in the Mediterranean blue, like fireflies against a twilight sky, while beyond lies Ceuta on the Moorish coast, with the highest peak of its headland, the African Pillar of Hercules, standing out menacing, portentous.

The Rif, Where Spain Bleeds
 The International port of Tangier beneath our wings, white, bat-roofed houses rising above each other in tiers of cubes, a solitary minaret jutting into the air, a gray line marking the trace of ancient battlements, Portuguese or English.

To our left lie the Rif hills, where Spain is vainly bleeding herself to death; before us, brown, burnt, and dead, the wide, rolling world of the Bled, the Moroccan veldt; on our right, the restless blue of the Atlantic. This is the East, bright and shining as a sword, under a pitiless sun.

The heat at this hour of the day, even at 2000 feet, is stifling. From my exposed perch on the sack of mail, the blast from the propeller is like that from the open grate of a furnace; impossible to look westward, toward the burnished sun low on the horizon.

Rabat, the Imperial City
 I crouch down to find shelter in the shadow of the cockpit, but the oppressive air seeps up and stifles with its stagnant warmth.

Our pilot descends to a few hundred feet above the Bled, where it is surprisingly cooler. The white-dove-like glitter of an Arab town appears by the blue rim of the Atlantic, the plunging breakers crashing soundlessly at its feet. Then Sale (Sali) of a dazzling whiteness, ancient home of the "Sally Rovers," and Rabat-el-Fath, the Imperial City, on the banks of the Bu Regreg, winding down to meet the blue of the ocean under high cliffs, through a brown-velvet valley. As we glide down over the Residency, the sun slips at last behind the low, banked clouds on the horizon, in gray mist and secret splashes of fire, and the red cliffs across "The Father of Glittering" are reflected like a flame in the river.

Oldest Jewish Church in U. S.
 Newport, R. I., was named for Judah Touro, an eccentric, great-hearted Jew, who left the town $10,000 for its purchase in 1804. Near by is a little Jewish cemetery, which is one of the ornaments of the city and not far away, in Touro street, one is brought to the synagogue of the oldest Jewish congregation in America, says the Detroit News. The congregation of Salvation of Israel was organized in 1650. The synagogue was built in 1783. One of the scrolls of the law deposited in the synagogue and now more than 400 years old, was brought from Europe by the Jews who reached Rhode Island in 1653. When the British troops occupied Newport, the Jews, ardent supporters of the American cause, were forced to flee. The synagogue was closed and for almost a century it was deserted.

Research Work Stops.
 Research by scientists in medicine and surgery in Germany is reported to be practically at a standstill because of lack of financial support.

Petrified Body of Ancient Miner.
 The petrified body of a miner was found in a salt mine near Bucharest. A mine lamp found on the body was of so old a type that even the oldest living miners had never seen one.

MILK CHART FOR AUGUST 1925

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

JUBALAND: ITALY'S NEW AFRICAN "COW COUNTRY"

The announcement that as a result of negotiations the Italian flag has replaced the British flag over Jubaland, Africa, scrambles the map of Africa once more. The name, "Jubaland," will probably be eliminated, for the territory is being added to Italian Somaliland.

News out of Jubaland a few weeks before the transfer of sovereignty telling of fighting between Somali tribes over water-holes, indicates that Italy is not adding an entirely peaceful realm to her colonial possessions, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Tribes Fight at Water-Holes
 Americans who know something of fights between Indians and cattlemen in the arid regions of our cow country in the old days often around priceless water-holes—may fancy they can construct a picture of the continual cattle wars of Jubaland, continues the bulletin. The American Westerner set down in this Africa cattle region, however, would find the differences so striking that probably he would lose sight altogether of the few similarities.

Jubaland is alternately a parched desert and a green pasture. The Juba itself is the only year-round stream, and it rises in Abyssinia and receives practically all its drainage from that country. The region through which the river flows is remarkably level and steamers ascend the stream for 400 miles during all but the lowest water periods.

Alternately Desert and Pasture
 The Equator crosses the country near the mouth of the Juba, and along the stream's banks of tropical vegetation. A short distance from the river the typical Jubaland plains begin, vast level stretches covered with a dense growth of thorn bushes higher than a man's head. In the dry season these bushes are leafless and the ground is dry and dusty. As soon as the rainy season sets in leaves spring out on the thorn bushes while the ground becomes covered with succulent grass.

The Somalis, the principal people inhabiting Jubaland, keep extensive herds and drive them into the interior as soon as the grass appears. Scattered among the thorn thickets are numerous water-holes, filled by the rains around which grazing activities center. Game trails beaten out by antelope, gazelles, giraffes, elephants and other wild creatures, connect the water-holes and are used by the Somalis. The herds of these natives consist of cattle, sheep, goats and camels, the latter for use as burden bearers as well as steeds to transport members of the tribe.

Somalis Are Cattle "Rustlers"
 Under the nomadic conditions enabled by the climate, clashes are inevitable between wandering tribes seeking water and grass. In addition the Somalis are born cattle rustlers and take animals from any tribe or individual owners not strong enough to defend their possessions. In the same region are a number of Gallas, an inferior people, many of whom are held as slaves by the Somalis.

The Somalis are Mohammedans and follow the outward forms of their religion most scrupulously. They dress in white, togalike robes. The dusky, white-skinned Somali warrior, at rest, cradles on one leg, leaning against his long, broad-bladed spear, makes one of the most picturesque sights in Africa.

No Place for a Nervous Traveler
 One custom of the Somalis not very popular with white travelers in their method of honoring a visitor of importance by a war dance. The visitor, placed in a front seat, soon finds that the dance consists chiefly in the warriors rushing at him and brandishing their spears within a few inches of his face. If he winces or fails to show complete imperturbability he loses prestige.

Another custom which fails to reassure a white man traveling without a formidable guard through the Somali country is the recognized method by which the young Somali men win their spurs of warriorhood. The coveted emblems, a feathered headdress and a black-shafted spear, are given only to young braves who have killed an enemy. Since Somalis are likely to consider anyone an enemy who is not of their tribe, young men seeking to qualify have been known to go on still hunts for non-Somali natives and even white men to murder them in cold blood.

Marriage Age in Turkey.
 Under the Turkish law there is no minimum age fixed for the marriage of girls. Any miss who can "walk properly and can understand the necessary religious services" is permitted to become a wife.

The Man to Be Envid.
 I pity so man because he will work. If he is worth his salt he will work. I envy the man who has work worth doing and does it well.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Firestone
will ALWAYS give
Most Miles per Dollar

No matter where crude rubber prices may go—Firestone advantages in securing raw material, in manufacturing and distribution are always active to make good the pledge of Most Miles per Dollar.

Racing drivers—hill-climbing and endurance record holders—taxicab, motor truck and bus operators—and hundreds of thousands of car owners—are daily emphasizing the unheard-of mileage and service delivered by Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is one of the biggest factors in tire performance and long mileage, making Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords the most economical tires ever offered motorists.

The cord from the fabric mills is first delivered to a separate plant where it is treated in a solution of gum, which insulates every fiber of every cord. This protects against internal friction and heat, giving the sidewalls greater flexibility and additional strength.

Prove Firestone's many superiorities for yourself. If you have never had the safety, comfort and economy of these serviceable, long-mileage tires—go to the nearest Firestone Dealer—for Firestone only builds Gum-Dipped Cords.

Hia College!

I have just come across this story in "Twenty Five Years in Six Prisons" by that well-known chaplain, Mr. Eustace Jervis: In a London omnibus one day the chaplain recognized a strange hanger as a "client." "Hello, Jack!" he said. "Got work, I see?" "Oh, yes, sir," was the reply: "getting on all right. You're still at the same college, I suppose? How are the students?" "Well, I shall be coming back to see you for some time, I hope." "Now I call that Art with a big A," comments the chaplain. "For though everybody could hear every word, no one could tell what the college was."—London Times

Most Useful Tree?

It is appropriate that the coconut should be the symbol of the tropics since it grows nowhere else. For ages it has provided the swarming natives of the Pacific Islands with food, drink, shelter and most of their other needs. Now it has extended its beneficence to the races of the temperate zone, giving them fats for cooking and eating, soap to keep them clean, and a delightful confection to satisfy their craving for sweets, says Nature Magazine. The coconut would stand high on a list of trees most useful to mankind.

The Silent Lake

There is a lake the depth of which is unknown. This is the Great Sunk in lake in the Cascade mountains, and besides being possibly the deepest in the world it is also the most silent. Sunk far below the mountain rim, its walls average 2,000 feet down to the water's surface, and how much farther down the water goes no one knows. The length of the lake is fifteen miles and the breadth about four and a half miles.

New Thing in Lenses

It is well known that quartz glass possesses the property of transmitting very abundantly, the so-called clearest rays of light, by means of which photographic effects are produced, and it has often been attempted to make photographic lenses of quartz alone. Unfortunately, quartz also possesses the property of double refraction, so that, unless the opening of the lenses is very narrow, good images are not produced. A French optician, E. Morin, is reported to have succeeded in making small photographic lenses of quartz glass in which some of the difficulties have been avoided and the lenses show great rapidity of action.

Dodging Autos.

Necessity is the mother of invention. Many a pedestrian has learned to execute funny steps that would make a ballet teacher turn green with envy.

Lancaster Facts

TUESDAY—REVIEW DAY. On each Tuesday for several weeks we have been showing two of the proven pictures of the past, such as "Broken Blossoms," "Screamers," "The Mark of Zorro," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "Jean Bruneau," "Secrets," "Way Down East," "Three Weeks," etc. Review Day has proven so popular that we shall continue it indefinitely. On Tuesday, September 22, we will show "If Winter Comes," followed on later review days by such pictures as "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Arabian Nights," "Peter Pan," "The Three Musketeers," "Three Wise Men," "A Woman of Paris," "Plink Osen," "Down to the Sea in Ships," "The Miracle Man," "The Christian," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and many others.

We ask our patrons to suggest pictures they would like to have presented and every request is granted if possible.

About 50 tenements, occupied by a democratic crowd, all for sale. I need the money.

Several to let after Aug. 31st, if I can't sell. We have a lot of used, "Kindly used" plumbing and heating equipment for sale today. Easy payments. But we need the price.

We sell real nice plumbing goods when we get the chance. Have sold more than all other dealers added and multiplied by two or three since we hung out our shingle many, many years ago. Had we charged the profit some really have to get the old man would be playing golf with John D. instead of working 21 hours per day.

VICTIMS OF EXPLOSION DIED IN HOSPITAL

Thomas Sirette of Washington street and Angelo Arsenault of Beach street, both of Reading, died Monday several hours after their removal to the Winchester Hospital as the result of injuries sustained in an explosion in a one-story brick building occupied by the Leo Products Company of Reading. Two other men were badly injured and are at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The explosion, which completely wrecked the building, was heard for miles around. Its force blew Sirette and Arsenault bodily through one of the walls of the plant. The company was engaged in the manufacture of artificial leather counters for shoes.

CANOE REMOVAL HALTED BY POLICE

Monday evening at 6 o'clock police headquarters received a phone call from a resident of Lloyd street stating that two men had removed his canoe from the yard and were taking it away in a wagon.

Sergeant Rogers and officer Farrell hastened to the scene in the police auto, and came upon the men on the Parkway not far from the owner's home. They were placed under arrest, charged with larceny, and were taken to the Winchester Police Station where they gave their names as Gordon and Carl Erickson. They claimed to be brothers living in Medford and stated that the canoe, in question was their property and had been missing for a month.

In the District Court at Woburn, Wednesday morning Carl Erickson was discharged while Gordon was found guilty on the larceny charge. His case was placed on file.

PAGING BOSS

The Winchester police were notified shortly after 7 o'clock on last Saturday evening by an excited resident of one street that a good sized cow was sprawling leisurely about the R. and M. railroad in his neighborhood and seemed in no hurry to depart to a safe stamping ground.

The fact that several trains were due, the police obligingly notified the owner of the refractory beast, and that individual must have acted quickly and to the point for when officer A. O'Connell arrived upon the scene to save the cow's life he could find no trace of the animal. We have been unable to learn the policeman's feelings in the matter, but possibly he was glad the owner beat him to it.

Last Saturday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock as Ernest Von Evans, formerly of this town and now of 189 Norfolk Downs, was driving an Essex coach, the property of the N. M. Christiansen T. Co. Inc., of 261 Franklin street, Boston, across Bacon street into Central street he was run into by a Ford sedan owned and operated by George Cavalcio of 15 Canal street, Medford, the latter going north on Bacon street. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

TEACHERS PICKNICKED MONDAY

Twenty-five members of Winchester's teaching force thoroughly enjoyed their first get-together of the fall season which took the form of an informal picnic in the woods at the rear of the Russell farm on Cambridge street from 4 until 7 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Most of the parties' activities upon arriving in the building of a huge campfire at which a piping hot supper consisting of steamed clams, waffles, rolls, doughnuts, hot coffee and chocolate was prepared. The menu was entirely pleasing and with the open air and good fellowship lending a zest to the appetite it is entirely probable that calories, vitamins and attendant food values were for the nonce forgotten. No entertainment program was arranged, everyone amusing himself according to his own ideas of a good time. The usual singing around the campfire was omitted because, we understand, "every one was too full for utterance."

Miss Irene E. Murphy of the Neenan School was in charge of the picnic assisted by Miss Clara Antin of the Kindergarten department.

The Winchester Police were notified by the Medford Police on last Saturday evening at 8:35 o'clock that a Ford car containing a young man, woman and coming from the direction of Winchester had struck a woman on Withnail street near Franklin street in that city. ### FORMER WINCHESTER RECTOR DEPUTY TO EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

Rev. John Wallace Suter, well known to many of Winchester's older residents as a former rector of the Church of the Epiphany, has been selected as one of the deputies from the diocese of Massachusetts to the 15th annual convention of the National Council of the American Episcopal Church, to be held in New Orleans from Oct. 7 to 24. This convention has been chosen as one of the most important meetings for many years, for numerous issues in which Episcopalians are deeply interested are coming before the House of Bishops and the House of Lay Deputies for settlement. Among the matters to be taken up are the proposed reorganization of the church structure, the establishment of a Bishop of Europe for the first time, the revision of the Book of Common Prayer and the office of baptism, with the question whether or not to leave the word "only" out of the marriage ceremony, and the attitude which the church is to take toward the remarriage of divorced persons.

Rev. Dr. Suter, who is now of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, will have as his colleagues the Rev. William H. Van Allen of the Church of the Advent, Rev. William G. Thayer, headmaster of St. Mark's School, Southboro, and rector of St. Mark's Church, and Rev. Henry K. Sherrill of Trinity Church, Copley square. Lay deputies will be Philip S. Parker, Joseph H. Beal, and Joseph Grafton Minot of the diocese standing committee, and B. Preston Clark of Plymouth. Rev. John W. Suter, Jr., a former Winchester boy, will also attend the convention for the first time in his new capacity as secretary of the National Department of Education.

Mr. A. A. Grant of 26 Harvard street while driving his machine along the Metropolitan Parkway last Saturday evening struck and killed a dog near the sub-station at Mystic Lake. The animal jumped from a Ford car directly into the path of Mr. Grant's auto and he was unable to avoid hitting him. He reported the matter to the police.

Mrs. William B. Stearns, Jr. of Randolph was one of the bridesmaids at the Flagg-King wedding at St. Michael's Church in Milton on Monday. In chatting with Principal Wade L. Grindle of the high school last week the reporter was told that this year's opening of the school was one of the best he had seen in his experience.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

It is a lot better to tell the truth and run, than to lie and get caught in the net.

This will be a new world when we have less law, and fewer lawyers, more living, and more lovers.

Many a young man is called "fast" by his friends and "slow"
by his creditors.

One person will sit and "chill" about his wrongs, while another storms and raves about his rights.

When looking at ourselves we sometimes call it firmness. When looking at others we call it stubbornness.

Truth is Stone, but lies are Rubber.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE URGES VACCINATION

The Chamber of Commerce is urging industries to interest their personnel in vaccination, to prevent the financial loss following an outbreak of smallpox. The Massachusetts Department of Public Health strongly backs the Chamber's campaign in this effort. The Department issues the following statement:

"During the last three years a new severe form of smallpox, which kills from one-fourth to one-third of its victims, has appeared in the United States. Kansas City, Denver and California were the first to be hit. A year ago Duluth, Minn-neapolis and Detroit had outbreaks. More recently it has appeared in Bridgeport, Conn., Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Washington, New York, New Jersey, Worcester, R. I. and Iowa.
In each case following the development of a few cases, wholesale vaccination at the expense of the State in a day have been resorted to. It is the duty of all health authorities to attempt to profit by the one hundred twenty deaths in Detroit and many more elsewhere and interest Massachusetts communities in wholesale vaccination before the season arrives.

Boston was last visited in 1921-22 when there were two hundred sixty deaths. Twenty-two years before that there was an outbreak.
From this experience we might expect an outbreak in the not distant future, as smallpox is always present in Canada and we are but a few hours away, it is easy to understand, unless we maintain a high percentage of immune persons in our population. For this reason the efforts of the Boston Chamber of Commerce should be supported by all persons interested in the industrial and humanitarian interests of Massachusetts."

NEW TRAFFIC BEACONS LAND BOULEVARD IN TOILS

Like 'em or not, just as you wish.
Believe them a good thing or figure them likely to precipitate a large jam in the square. The fact nevertheless remains that had it not been for the newly installed traffic beacons in the center, a bad-tempered might easily have made his way through without any one being at all the wiser. It all happened Wednesday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock.

The new "stop" and "go" lights were flashing merrily and Sgt.
Thomas Cassidy was standing in the square at the entrance to Mt. Vernon street observing the scene. His operation when he noticed that a Ford touring car going north on Main street had disregarded the sign at the corner of Hoxley's Pharmacy which he set against it.

Sgt. Cassidy hastened into the center to give his driver a few pointers on signal lights and upon arriving at the vehicle found the man at the wheel apparently very nervous.
The machine was completely clogged in with side curtains and the car was loaded with something covered with blankets.

The driver, upon being questioned, said he was from Worcester and that upon being pressed changed his story, and stated that he was going to Lowell. Asked about his load he was non-committal and the chief of police his suspicions being aroused, decided to investigate. Pulling up the hood he found the rear of the car to be loaded with 5 gallon cans of alcohol.
The contents of which was indicated by a pungent odor that was unmistakable.

Sgt. Cassidy ordered the man to take the load to the local State police where his car was thoroughly searched and found to contain 11 five gallon, and five one gallon cans of alcohol.
The driver of the Ford who has the name as John Kefonios of 110 Lewis street, Lowell, was locked up on the charge of illegal transportation of intoxicants.

In the District Court at Woburn
Thursday morning his case was continued until Saturday.

The women of the First Baptist Church entertained the State committee and the Boston East Baptist Association chairman at a golden anniversary breakfast at the church vestry Wednesday of this week. A conference followed the breakfast.
Mrs. Richard Taylor had charge of the breakfast, which was attended by over 150 persons.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The next business meeting of the Court will be held on Thursday evening, Oct. 1. All members are requested to be present. Matters of importance will be brought up. There should be no absentees as everyone now is at home after the vacation season.

The congratulations of the Court are extended to Sisters Mary Fenton and Margaret Donovan on the birth of a son and daughter respectively.

Sister May O'Neil who has been on the sick list for the past two weeks is again able to be around.

We are all pleased to know of the complete recovery of Sister Hannah Raftus who has been ill for some time.

Sister Nora O'Melia, chairman of the sick committee, is making plans for the annual whist party of that committee which will take place sometime in October. All the members should make an earnest effort to help her make this party as successful as all previous ones have been.
She has taken charge of it.

The members are undecided as to whether it would be better to have a masquerade show or a play this year.
There is food for thought.

We are all glad that Sister Ella O'Connor is well again after her recent illness.

On last Thursday evening, Sept. 17, Mrs. Nellie Moffett conducted one of the most successful whist parties so far in Layman Hall. The large gathering was proof of Sister Moffett's hard and untiring work. An unusually large number realized on this party which swells the charity fund of the Court considerably. The prize winners were as follows:

Arthur King, Annie Dowd, Mrs.
Fred Flannigan, Mrs. John Mawn,
Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, Mrs. Nora O'Melia, Dorothy Kean, Walter Crowley, Mr. Raftus, Mrs. James Allen, Sullivan J. Malmon, Alice Daley,
Eleanor Farrell, Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, Mrs. Edward Shea, Gordon Horne, Mrs. Josephine Powers, Mabel
Cory, Mrs. Mary Smith, Katherine O'Connor, Mrs. Catherine Kean, Sarah
Quigley, Mrs. F. Dolan, Mrs. John
Murray, Mrs. Annie Hamilton, Mrs. P.
McCur, Mrs. D. Reagan, Miss Mary
Brown, T. Mackasee, Mrs. P. Quill,
Mrs. Marion McLaughlin, Mrs. K.
Corcoran, Miss R. Yarnall, Mrs. Yelta, Mrs. Davis Fitzgerald and Mrs.
Annie Scott.

The lucky winners of special prizes were Mrs. M. M. McLaughlin of Wolburn, five-pound box of chocolates, Miss Mary Martin, $2.50 gold-piece, and Mrs. Yelta won a wonderful lot of exquisite new shoes and donated by Mrs. Mary Hamilton of Wolburn, who is an expert cook.

The committee who assisted Mrs.
Nellie Moffett in making this party the success that it was and who helped in sourcing such a great number of excellent prizes were as follows:

Mrs. Annie Hamilton, Hannah
Raftus, Josephine Powers, Mary Fenton, Gertrude Prue, Bessie Dinneen, May O'Neil, Catherine McLaughlin, Jessey Quill, Doris Fitzgerald and Mary Hamilton.

A committee will be appointed at the next meeting to make all arrangements for the annual Halloween party of the Court. All members look forward to this party every year and we expect this year's Halloween party to be one of the most successful.

At present the winners are at work in the new building. Start in now and hunt up your costumes and get ready for one of the jolliest nights of the season.

WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE AND HOSPITAL NOTES

The method of raising money for maintenance of the hospital by having an annual Envoys' Day was considered by the Boarding House Committee. Now that it is resumed the directors are hoping for generous response and co-operation from the community. The opportunity will be given next week for each and every one to make a contribution toward this fund which is so vital to the welfare of the hospital during its transition period.

At present the patients are at work in the new building. Start in now
and hunt up your costumes and get ready for one of the jolliest nights of
the season.

Seven new babies are recorded for the week.

During the month of August 320 calls were made on the district including 65 patients which is a large number for the summer. Some more calls are to be equally busy.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits granted for week ending Thursday, Sept. 24, as follows:

"The Beelzebub," a monumental manuscript written by Francis Daniel Pastorius, founder of Germantown, has been loaned to the University of Pennsylvania by his descendants," says the Philadelphia North American.
The book which consists of about 1,000 closely-written pages, was written to Pastorius, as a legnacy to his son and to rest his mind of many facts that are in it. It was never printed. The volume is written in several different languages, including Latin, Greek, German and English. It contains much dry humor mixed with philosophy."

DAVIS CUP TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB PROGRESSES

The first match in the Wm. S. Davis is Singles Tennis Tournament at the Winchester Boat Club was run off,
Saturday afternoon Sept. 19. Stuart Edredge and Bob Moffette were the opponents. The very accurate shots executed by Bob Moffette were the feature of the contest. Edredge rallied gamely and essayed to make a courageous stand against placements of the ball, which were well nigh impossible even for a player of lighter figure and of less poise than our sympathetic friend Stuart. Moffette won both sets by the score of 6-4.

The next match took place between Miss Nancy Wilson and Merrill Tucker. Allow us, please to state right here that this was a good, close contest. Merrill was pressed closely from the start and should not might suppose that a gentleman would show considerable favor to a female opponent, yet this was not the case, as Tucker was forced to serve just as swiftly as he would have to an adversary of his own sex.

The first set went to Tucker 4-1, but every game was evenly fought for,
and quite a few of them reached the duce stage. The second set, secsawed back and forth, with first a win for Nancy and then for Merrill. There was quite a gallery by this time, and eager and ardent applause was quite manifest. Miss Wilson by this time hit her stride and finding Tucker's weak spots she went right through the set winning the last four games and the set, 6-2.

she continued by taking the first game in the third set. Then Tucker managed to edge out two games in succession, but Nancy was not to be outpointed and she ran off with the next game. This evened the score 2-2. From this point it was a more stubborn contest as game by game passed. As the match wore on Nancy tired a bit and Tucker was winning more games. He finally secured victory 6-4. It was a very good contest and the spectators were warm with their applause.

The third match was Hal Gamage versus Dr. F. M. Blanchard.
Gamage from the start showed superior form and had a better control of his shots, although Doc, Blanchard was quite steady and was by no means a weak opponent. The first set Hal won by the score of 6-2. In the second set Doc Blanchard overcame a lead by Gamage of two games and came through ruby, winning the set 6-3. The final set was all Gamage's.

Accepting every opening and playing very good tennis he gained every point for a win 6-0.

The final match took the form of a water sports carnival between Floet and Roger and Willie Pratt.
The latter might have done better if it equipped with a paddle but with a tennis racket, he was in too rough water. He showed a very good brand of tennis but lacked any compulsion to extend himself at all. He paddled Pratt soundly to the tune of 6-0. The fact remained in the victor and set and Willie surprised himself and all the spectators by winning a game. It stopped there though, as he was too tired to continue for Sailor
Pratt and he sank in six fathoms.
The spectators presented Willie with a floral "boo-que" for his almost tenacious grip.

It is expected that the winner of the Davis Cup will be announced next week as by Saturday and Sunday all matches should be completed.

TERENCE CULLEN HEADS WINCHESTER KNIGHTS

At one of the largest meetings of the year, Winchester Council, K. of C., held its annual election Monday evening, with the following result: Terence D. Cullen, grand knight; Dr.
Frank Linen, deputy grand knight;
Arthur W. Day, chancellor; Thomas Kilroy, recorder; Edmund D. Gorgin, financial secretary; Eugene P.
Sullivan, treasurer; Michael C. Ambrose, advocate; George Young, warden; Edward Cullen, inside guard; Adolf LaForte and Edward McMahon, outside guards; Francis R. Murphy, trustee three years, and Arthur King, two years; Grand Knight Cullen and Luke P. Glendon, delegates to State convention, with Isaac E. Kennedy and Frank E. Bennett, alternate.

A most interesting report was made as to the progress on the Autumn festival to be held in the community hall, and by Harry E. Cullen, chairman of the committee on week-end whist parties that are being held in connection with the festival, stated that they are proving very successful.

The council's annual minstrel show will be presented early in December.
The new officers will be installed in October, in a convention with which there will be a supper. The program will include entertainment and addresses will be delivered by prominent officials of the order.

Japs Never Use Ladders.

Ladders are not used in Japan, even in the construction of the tallest buildings. The inclined plane being the means for taking the material to the highest places, the custom in construction being to erect the network of the pole scaffolding before work is set under way and have the rope all completed for the hoistmen to carry the material for construction. The inclined plane, says the Detroit News, is used probably because the barefooted coolies could not conveniently climb ladders, although the stairway in a Japanese house is so steep as to be virtually a ladder.

Lines to Be Remembered.

True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends, but in their worth and choice.—Samuel Johnson.

Three Accurate Clocks.

Three clocks kept in a crypt in the Paris observatory, where the temperature practically never varies, are accurate to three ten-thousandths of a

WINCHESTER SCHOOL NOTES

Regular meetings of the School Committee are held the first and third Mondays of each month. All applications for the use of school buildings must be in the hands of the Superintendent of Schools on the Saturday preceding the first and third Mondays of each month. Applications for may be obtained at the office of the Superintendent of Schools. The committee welcome at its regular meetings anyone desiring to confer with the committee on matters of general educational import.

A conference was held by the Superintendent of Schools with Miss Pratt, Mr. Crowell and Mr. Grindle who have the immediate supervision of divisions of the school system. The following were some of the subjects discussed and considered:

1. A closer correlation of the work throughout the school system.

2. The revision of the curriculum emphasizing the continuity of work throughout the grades and the High School.

3. The constructive supervision of classroom work.

4. A keen interest in the acquisition and maintenance of the books and supplies.

5. Co-operation with the Elks in regard to funds for the repair of "Old Innocents."

6. Value of the Junior Red Cross.

7. The department's policy regarding the solicitation of money in the schools.

8. The education of public school pupils in a finer musical appreciation by means of the appearance of players from the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

9. A finer appreciation of art by means of co-operation with the Boston Art Museum.

10. The value of educational publicity.

11. The possibility of broadcasting from the Edison station certain school activities.

This conference was the beginning of several that will be held throughout the year between the Superintendent of Schools and the three supervisors.

Mrs. Pratt is preparing valuable instructions in reading for the teachers.

The girls of the High School and the Wadsworth School have been examined during the past week by Dr.
Moore of the State Department of Health.

The boys of the High School are now being examined by Dr. Burgoyne, the school physician. These examinations are given in compliance with the law. The instructions in an absolute and the character of physical training are determined after the physical examinations.

Fish Require Vitamins.

Fish need vitamins no less than do man. Recent experiments have shown that fish fed on a diet free or nearly free of these substances showed an exceptionally high mortality as compared with smaller fish given a diet in which vitamins were abundant. Lack of vitamins, however, did not seem to interfere with the growth of the fish. The similar lack does with the growth of animals; but the fish developed severe nervous symptoms, ending in fits, which resulted in their death from exhaustion.

Parrot Young Gray African

Intelligent young gray African pa-rots will acquire a vocabulary of 100 words or more, associating them so accurately that often they are used with startling effect.

mitting his pup to share his bed since

THE RADIO AMATEUR'S PART IN THE MACMILLAN EXPEDITION

Who is this radio amateur?
Everyday who reads newspapers has been introduced to him this summer by the line in virtually every news dispatch about the MacMillan Arctic Expedition, which said: "This message was transmitted through amateur station operated by..."

Some nights he was in Cedar Rapids, Ia.; then again he would be at South Manchester, Conn.; he ranged from Portland, Ore., to Portland, Me., and he showed up in Australia and in England.

The great majority of the messages given out by the National Geographic Society, and many of these made public by the Navy Department, depended upon these amateurs.

Burning the Midnight Tubes
From coast to coast, and from the Gulf to Canada, radio amateurs have been working long hours into the night, taking thousands of words in news dispatches, and also personal messages, and doing it as a gift of service. For the amateur's only recompense is a lively and enduring affection for his hobby, "ham radio," and a desire to contribute further to the radio science he has done so much to develop.

One of the amateurs who has been most successful in "getting" WNP, (nearing the wireless station aboard the expedition's flagship, the Bowdoin) is a 15-year old schoolboy who took his vacation money to go to Wisconsin, Me., and interview John Reinartz about short wave sending and receiving. Another is a well-to-do tobacco planter. A third is a successful business man who burns the midnight tubes as his hobby. Most of the amateurs, however, are high school boys.

Amateur as Old as Radio

Amateur radio is as old as radio itself. In the days of the spark transmitter there were a host of enthusiasts striving mightily, with comparatively inferior equipment, to converse with their fellows in near-by towns. There gradually grew up a camaraderie of accomplishment. These transmitting amateurs were able to converse with each other from town to town by means of the special telegraphic code evolved for radio.

As the discoveries of scientists, at work in laboratories, and of amateurs, at work in their radio shacks, stretched out the distance over which it was possible to converse, there was born the idea of finding a station between two others that were unable to communicate directly with each other, and make the half-way station a relay point.

The development of this idea was the development of the American Radio Relay League. Early amateur amateurs banded together to furnish relay service to their fellow-amateurs and to the public. As the years passed on the apparatus improved, transmitting and receiving units became more efficient this need for relaying became less acute. With this change came another.

Development of Relay Idea

Amateur radio stations were added to the equipment of vessels that had never before considered carrying radio; portable, light-weight amateur stations became a necessity for expeditions to odd corners of the world where other means of communication were limited.

These stations away from civilization and the homeland, because of varying conditions, were not always able to talk with one specified station at home. Thus once more the relaying of messages became a matter of prime importance to the transmitting amateur.

Transmitting over great distances and with low power that makes verbal communication difficult, the radio amateur uses telegraphic code, similar to that used by wire lines. Instead of the familiar clicks of the hand line there is a steady flow of short and long buzzes—dots and dashes—and as the evening wears on and morning approaches the radio amateur has before him long messages that no other method of communication could bring in so rapidly.

Amateur Like Explorer

When plans were being developed for the present MacMillan Expedition, officials of the National Geographic Society wanted a reliable method of carrying on daily communication between the expedition and the United States. A survey of the possibilities showed that dependence might be placed on this amateur—who, much like the explorer, was willing to work long hours and endure discomfort for the love of the game.

Amateurs in America successfully talk with Argentina, with India, China, with Japan, with New Zealand, with Australia and with England.

If such men were available and were able to carry on nightly conversations over such prodigious distances, they were the men with whom the expedition must make its arrangements. Short waves and their power, the logical methods of communicating from the Far North.

Governmental regulation had given the amateur the short wave bands where his skill and experiments developed a host of new radio theories. The necessity of keeping a hobby within reasonable financial bounds precluded the use of high power.

Reinartz Chosen For Operator

With these facts in mind, officers of the National Geographic Society and of the American Radio Relay League, worked out plans with John L. Reinartz, operator of the Bowdoin and one of the outstanding exponents of the new short wave theories. It was decided that member stations of the American Radio Relay League in the United States and Canada—or other countries if necessary—would act as receiving stations for all of the news and scientific information sent back to this country by the expedition. At the same time messages between members of the expedition and their families and friends in the United States would be handled by the amateur radio stations.

This plan has worked without interruption throughout the stay of the expedition in the Far North. Daily schedules have been maintained. News dispatches have been handled with a speed that would delight the most critical editor and personal messages have kept the morale of the exploring party and the families at home at a higher pitch than was ever possible under old conditions.

From the standpoint of getting news home, the radio accomplishments are ideal. On a recent occasion when the airplanes of the expedition started out on an exploration trip at 10:45 in the morning word was sent out from the Bowdoin at 11:03 that the planes had just started on a three-hour run.

Collins Makes Speed Record
Received by A. A. Collins, radio station 9CXX, at Cedar Rapids, Ia., the first plane was relayed to the headquarters of the National Geographic Society in Washington at 11:56 and immediately released to the various news services that cover the country.

So great was the speed with which the entire transaction was accomplished that many papers were on the streets of the country with the word before the airplanes had returned to their station with the Schooner Bowdoin.

A number of remarkable feats in radio were accomplished in the course of the summer. Long distance relays were handled in record time, extreme long distance communication was secured and many stations maintained daily schedules over a considerable number of days at a time.

Two-Way Distance Record
Bruce Stone, of San Jose, Cal., owner and operator of station 6AMJ, succeeded in carrying on two-way communication with the expedition when he was off the coast of Greenland, making a distance record for two-way work. The record of greatest distance covered by a message from the explorers goes to several dispatches copied by I. H. O'Meara of Gisborne, New Zealand. O'Meara was unable to make two-way work, it however, due to the extreme distance.

Other members of the American Radio Relay League who are recorded as contributing to the expedition's success were E. L. Eldon Smith of Whittier, Cal.; R. Bartholomew of Porto Rico, J. W. Newman of Mobile, Ala., and John Bansola of St. Petersburg, Fla.

One set of messages covered a unique path but succeeded in making the journey within a day. The expedition stations established contact with J. A. Partridge of London, owner of British amateur radio station 2KFL. Partridge took a shower of messages communicated with the expedition and immediately relayed them to J. H. Sarkisian of West York, N. J. From Sarkisian's station to the headquarters of the National Geographic Society in Washington was but a trifle after that.

Others on Honor Roll

Others sharing honors with A. A. Collins of Cedar Rapids, Ia., are Donald C. S. Comstock of East Hartford, Conn.; G. H. Pinney of South Manchester, Conn.; A. W. Everest of Pittsfield, Mass.; E. H. Koetter of Elmhurst Manor, N. Y.; E. B. Duval of Mt. Ranier, Md.; J. M. Meyer of Milwaukee, Wis.; and Fred Link of York, Pa. Comstock and Pinney, as friends and neighbors of John Reinartz, operator on the Bowdoin, whose home is also in South Manchester, had available for relaying messages through from the Northland and returning answers at the same sitting.

Throughout the time when the expedition was out of touch with all other kinds of communication, daily news dispatches, messages to and from the members of the party, and routine naval messages have had free way on the short wave transmitters and receivers of the transmitting radio amateurs in every country where clarity of reception was possible.

A Mixed Scene

They sometimes shoot "bits" in the movies. Shots of a big city parade cost nothing, for instance, and you can work them into your movie as a plot. A director who had gone high into the mountains got to talking with a scientist who maintained a small observatory. This expert told him something which caused him to send a telegram: "This is an interesting scene. I can catch some snowstorm." Some hours later a truck arrived and so did the snow. But when they set up the scenery they found it was not well chosen to match a snowstorm. All they had was a region of clouds, a section of the New York subway and an elaborate bathroom scene.

Penelope's Shroud

During the long absence of Ulysses, king of Ithaca, at the siege of Troy, his wife, Penelope, was beset by numerous suitors for her hand. To put them off, she declared that she could not choose from among them, until she had finished weaving a shroud, or robe, for Laertes, her aged father-in-law. Penelope was careful to undo at night what she had woven by day, and thus managed to keep her suitors at a distance. This stratagem was finally discovered by one of the suitors, who then renewed their attentions; but the timely return of Ulysses after an absence of 20 years put an end to their importunities.

Origin of Honeymoon

The origin of the word honeymoon is disputed. The old theory was that it refers to the practice of the ancient Egyptians who drank "hydromel," a drink made of honey, for a month, or "moon," after marriage. There is an old story that Attila the Hun indulged so freely in hydromel at his wedding feast that he died. Thus the drink after marriage when people drank honey wine was called "honey-moon." But modern philologists frown on this derivation. They say originally the word had no reference to the ever-changing character of the moon. At any rate, honeymoon now refers to the period immediately after marriage, especially that part spent away from home, when everything is supposed to be as sweet as honey—Pathfinder.

Birth of Christ Dating.

Dating the years from the birth of Christ originated with Dionysius Exiguus, a learned monk of Rome, who lived in the last part of the Fifth century and the beginning of the Sixth century. An error in his calculations was discovered in the Fifteenth century, which resulted in placing the estimated date of Christ's birth four years earlier than the date set by Dionysius.

To Save Birds.

A Dutch ornithologist has hit upon the simple plan of having perches placed under the shutters to save migrating birds from being killed by dashing themselves against the lenses of the great lanterns of lighthouses, when attracted and confused by the glare. Perches for 30,000 birds have been set up, and at Bransis light on the island of Terschelling 20,000 birds have been seen perching on them.

A Valuable Rooster.

A city gentleman was taken all over an extensive and lavishly equipped farm. He saw blooded stock of many kinds and was particularly impressed by the prices that had been paid for some of these specimens. Upon rejoining the guests at the mansion he proceeded to enlighten his wife. "Now take that rooster yonder, for instance. That rooster is worth $200. He's a genuine Southdown."

DWIGHT FISKE GATHERING NEW MATERIAL HERE

Americans Deeply Interested in Paris. He Says

After spreading the magic of Paris and France in fantastic songs and monologues throughout the United States, Mr. Dwight Fiske, well-known American composer and song-writer, is back in Paris to gather new material for his next tour.

Mr. Fiske achieved fame in every state of the Union by his "esthetic monologues" which consist of original stories which he delivers himself with modern accompaniment on the piano.

"Americans have shown an unusual interest in everything French," Mr. Fiske told the "Chicago Tribune" (Paris edition) reporter recently. "I have had no difficulty in getting over the 'nuances' of the stories that have the background of Paris and parts of France and Europe."

"Every little town in the Far West understands perfectly well what I mean by Zelli's, the American Express, the Butte, the Place de l'Opera and other landmarks of Paris, not to mention Cairo, the Graben of Vienna and places of this kind."

"There is a tremendous interest in Paris, however. It is the dream of every schoolmaster and every college boy. They ask me questions about comprehensive questions about the French capital, which they all would like to see some day."

"I have made it a point to present in a more or less humorous vein some of the strange adventures which American travelers in Europe run into during their stay here. I have appeared in every state except four, and have found an unusual interest for the European scene everywhere."

Mr. Fiske, together with Mr. Paul Leyssac, formerly of the Theatre Francaise and one of the leading actors under Sarah Bernhardt, will return to the United States in October to resume the tour under the auspices of the Pond Bureau.—[Taken from the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune.

BURLINGTON FAIR COMMITTEES WORKING FOR BIG TOWN SHOW

Success of Past Four Years Will Be Surpassed on Sept. 25 and 26. Town Hall Grounds

The fourth annual Burlington Fair will be held on the grounds of the Town Hall at Burlington, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 25 and 26. The fair this year promises to excel in many ways those of the past and by all appearances will be one of the big events of the year in this part of the state. Already many entries have been received and before the opening day all the available space will be utilized. The exhibits will all be under canvas or in the Town Hall and other buildings so that everything will be protected from the weather.

Two large 100 foot tents will house the poultry and vegetable exhibits. The poultry show will be an attraction well worth seeing for it will include practically every breed of hens, ducks, geese and turkeys. A special exhibit of water fowl will also be made.

The vegetable and fruit exhibit will be exceptionally well displayed. There will be all kinds and varieties of fruit and the apple display will be as fine as shown at any of the fairs.

A large tent will be utilized for the fine show of horses as well as many work horses and a fine exhibition will take place at the horse show given each afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A new feature will be a dog show and the interest manifested by many dog lovers promises to be but the beginning of a much larger show than has been seen before.

A large refreshment tent will dispense lunches all day and evening including sandwiches, pies, doughnuts, coffee, nuts and cream cakes.

On Friday from 5 to 8 o'clock a real Cape Cod clam chowder supper will be served in the banquet hall. Saturday from 12 noon until 4 p. m., the usual excellent Burlington Fair dinner will be served and hundreds of people will avail themselves of this chance to obtain this fine repast which will include plenty of all kinds of vegetables fresh from the local farms.

Friday, Sept. 25, will be Children's Day and all children from any of the surrounding towns will be admitted free from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Many special features will be provided for their entertainment including a doll carriage parade with many suitable prizes for the best decorated carriage. Toto, the fair clown will entertain the children with his humorous antics and every effort will be made to give the children a good time.

Band concerts will be given both days, afternoon and evening from the band stand on the Town Hall lawn. On Friday evening, a most spectacular display of Italian fireworks will be presented.

Saturday will be known as Governor's day and Governor Alvan T. Fuller will be present and speak at 3:30 p. m. On Saturday evening, from 7 o'clock until midnight, there will be continuous dancing in the Town Hall.

A large midway will provide plenty of good clean amusement as to fairs will be allowed on the grounds. A Ford touring car will be given away to someone holding the lucky ticket. All buildings, tents and grounds will be well lighted by the Edison Electric Co. of Boston.

A special electrical display, the like of which has never been seen anywhere in this vicinity will be made both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Language of Plaid.

In Scotland plaids are worn for purposes of identification, signifying also the wearer's occupation, revealing whether he or she is engaged at the time in business, war or pleasure. Some of the "plaids" now being worn here make a real Scotchman wonder if his boyhood study of clan insignia wasn't wasted.

Ice for Fruit.

An average of 19 tons of ice is required for the refrigeration of a carload of fruit in transit between southern California and the Atlantic seaboard.

THE MIGHTY EATER OF ETHA

This is the tale of Akkomdingwa, Old Man of the North, once a mighty hunter, and now a mighty eater and patriarch of Etha, as told by Maynard Owen Williams, of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition, and forwarded by "the machine that talks through the air," as the Eskimos call it, to the National Geographic Society at Washington.

The amateur radio operator who relayed the message was A. W. Everett, of Station W A R E, at Fairbanks. Although it is known as the most northerly settlement in the world, Etha's population is unstable, the message says.

Tupik and Igloo, summer tent and winter rock house, are not always in the same location. The Eskimo, still a hunter, moves his dwelling to sea or hill according to whether he is pursuing the savage walrus or searching his stone or metal traps for blue foxes. In summer, when the winter there are likely to be Eskimo settlements at Anorikot and other places farther north.

The dean of Etha society, by living the year round in a rock igloo at the inner break of the Etha Harbor, Boomerang, enables Etha to maintain its reputation. When there was work to be done in assembling the planes, this old Eskimo chose for himself a convenient viewpoint and retreated to his igloo to observe the job of piling a new back plaster whose presence was proclaimed only by his peculiar stool.

Akkomdingwa came to be known as Old-Crick-in-the-Back. He is father of the tribe's best hunter, Kookapingwa. The old man has staked out his food sitting-out job and taken into his home as partner and helpmate a seventeen-year-old girl whose industry is as unnoticeable as his.

As an eater, Akkomdingwa is without a peer among the Smith Sound Eskimos and he is as regular with his meals as the moon. Acquisitive by nature, his stomach, acting as general staff of operations, looks out for itself first.

When I first heard of him he was reputed the greatest "bummer" and beggar among a people whose way of inviting themselves to partake of the white man's food might be censured were it not for the fact that when opportunity arises they are as eager to share their own as another's.

Akkomdingwa is as clever as any of his juniors and has a real sense of humor. His head not only serves with his meals as the moon, but contains a craftiness that he is ready to place at the disposal of his friends. When a visitor wants a section of walrus tusk made into a knife, and bearing the insignia of his lodge, Akkomdingwa is the one who can do the job.

He received a real friendship for Dr. Davidoff (Dr. Leo Davidoff, of Boston), and in return for professional services rendered, which not only relieved his own troubles, but also gave the old man a certain standing in his own community, he made a generous present for which he obstinately refused any return. He also won his admiration and our ichthyologist proclaims that he has never detected a sign of the mercenary in the old man.

When Kookapingwa sailed with Captain Bernier for Ellesmere Island on the Canadian patrol steamer, the Arctic Albatross, he showed no tears, not so much at the temporary loss of his meat ticket, for Kookapingwa's enches of walrus meat will always be at his father's disposal, as at the thought that they may never meet again. Akkomdingwa, clever at keeping inside the law, is committing that unvarnished sin against the cruel north. He is getting old.

When Akkomdingwa salvages gasoline boxes and coffee cans from the wreckage of wrecked sleds, some of his fellows think him stingy and grasping, but it is really foresight which prompts him to gather fuel for his American cook stove, also salvaged in other years so that his rock igloo, embellished by his youthful mate and the colorful labels from cans which, in him, are not only legacy fruits, but are not without cheer in that day when cold and hunger exact their toll and the dean of the Smith Sound Eskimos of Etha goes home, let us hope to a land where the joys of the stomach are not unknown.

It was not mere chance that enabled Captain MacMillan to picture for geographic readers the Eskimo patriarch in the act of eating. That is one task in which Akkomdingwa, whose hard work is not without reward, even if he is a leader without a peer.

Ouch!

Dining out one night during his recent visit to London, Padrewski met a young society man who had won for himself a great reputation for his skill at polo. Being praised by the pianist for his clever playing, he said it was different, indeed, from Padrewski's performances. "Yes," agreed Padrewski, "the difference between us is perfectly clear. You are a dear soul who plays polo, whilst I am a poor Pole who plays solo."

Okepi a Rare Animal.

The "okepi," to obtain a specimen of which an American expedition is now on its way to Africa, is a very rare animal, first discovered in Uganda by the explorer Sir Harry Johnston. The animal is about the size of a large ox. The coloration is, perhaps, unique among animals. The body is of a reddish color, the hair is short and the appearance of the hide is extremely glossy. The hind quarters and legs are of a cream color and striped like those of the zebra.

Bones.

The bureau of animal industry says that there are 205 bones in the body of a horse as compared with between 210 and 220 in the body of a man.

How Efficient is Neighborhood Toll Service?

Neighborhood Toll Service has not just cracked the laboratory egg.

Signal your operator
Give her the number Hold the line

It has been in actual operation in this territory for months, expanding with the set-up of new apparatus and the training of our forces. Now it is ready in the five northern New England states. It is reasonably efficient else we would not suggest its commercial use.

It is not perfect.

If you don't know the number ask your local information operator

Like local telephone service, which it resembles, Neighborhood Toll Service is subject to human and mechanical error, and to conditions beyond any control.

There will be some "wrong numbers." There will be some "cut-offs." There will be some "don't answers." There will be some "busys,"—a few more than in local service because one may be met with at several points along the toll line.

Neighborhood toll calls take our lowest rate

But on the whole, there is efficiency approximating that of local service. There is the same simplicity. There is equal certainty. Clearly, there cannot be quite the speed of local calls; but none the less this is the fastest toll service you have ever known.

Double the Mileage at Half the Cost

Only a few years ago a 32 x 4 cord tire listed over $50.00. Today, you can buy the highest quality 32 x 4 tire—a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord—for about $26.00.

Last spring crude rubber cost tire makers around 40 cents a pound. Today, it is over 90 cents a pound.

It was not so long ago that 7,500 miles represented the average life of a cord tire, while today, 15,000 miles—and more—is only the usual performance for a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

Due to large, concentrated production, specialized machinery and simplified factory methods, together with economical distribution, Firestone is able to keep tire prices low—no matter where the price of crude rubber goes.

And, because of special Firestone processes, chief among which is Gum-Dipping, motorists are today getting thousands of extra miles by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is an exclusive method used by Firestone. It is an extra process, carried out in special Gum-Dipping plants, after which the cords are put through the usual calendaring machines. Gum-Dipping insulates and impregnates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and practically eliminates internal friction and heat, and builds strength and endurance into the tire.

In the day-in and day-out service of taxicabs, buses and trucks—on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists everywhere—Gum-Dipped Cords are giving unheard-of mileage, dependability and satisfaction.

Get ready for the coming months of slippery pavements and bad roads. Assure yourself of greater safety, comfort and economy by equipping now with Firestone Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons.

GOLF COURSE AT WINCHESTER COUNTRY CLUB

Lengthened and Improved by Addition of New Holes—Present Record For Altered Layout Held by Phillip Hendrick

Golfers familiar with the Winchester Country Club course, but who haven't seen it of late, will commend, I am certain, the changes which have been made at the ninth, sixteenth, eighteenth and twentieth holes. The altered holes are now in play. The ninth green, located in the hollow below the old green, played from a tee to the left of the old one, is a gem. In length it can be made anything from 155 to 170 yards, according to the placing of the disks, and it is one of the those greens as formed that the only perfect shot is the one that lands home and sticks. There is no rolling the ball up on a top or half the green, for the front of the hole is all of 15 feet high, on one side, and no gentle slope on the other. Yet the green is large enough to make the shot eminently feasible. The line pleasure to the man who selects what for him is the proper club and plays the shot as it should go.

The other big change is at the sixteenth. The old hole was neither one thing nor the other. It never was satisfactory. Now the green is in that same hollow that has the new tenth, only down more toward the clubhouse. The old tee has been extended out to a point where, from the forward end, a good drive goes to the old green or even beyond it, leaving a nice pitch down to a well-guarded green—another of those shots where perfection means to land the ball directly onto the putting surface.

Some of the good hitters believe that the forward end of the tee is not the place for the disks, in that a long ball goes to a downslope lie for the mashie or mashie-niblick shot, but that is a matter easy of remedy, for the tee is 43 yards long, one of the longest extant—and it is only a matter of getting a consensus of opinion, after a reasonable amount of play, for the club officials to have a pretty fair idea of where the disks would best be placed to give the hole its fairest playing distance. The chief point, however, is to make it possible for the average hitter to land his ball up far enough on the ridge so that the green is within view.

By this change at the sixteenth the hole can be anything in distance from 255 to 420 yards, as against the old distance of 185. Because of the new tenth, the tenth also has been slightly altered, for the new tee is where the old ninth green was located. Not only does this add somewhat to the length, from the old 260 to the new 405 to 420, according to placing of the disks, but it gives a better setting for the tee with relation to the general character of the hole, and a matter of no small importance it gets rid of the steep, if short, climb up to the old tenth tee.

That steep climb down from the old ninth tee and the climb up to the tenth, were not comfortable and their rillance is assuredly a change welcome to the many, especially when it is a fact also that the changes are beneficial from a purely golfing standpoint.

The added distance on the tenth was not greatly needed and there won't be much difference from the old when the green is brought forward to the brow of the hill, which will be done. There is a change which is bound to meet with favor, for the tenth green has been anything but acceptable.

The location of the new sixteenth green, down in the hollow, would mean a nasty climb back to the upper level, for the drive to the seventh, were it not that a bridge has been constructed, similar to that at the Pine-Burn eighth, so that the walk from the green to the new tee, below the old, is almost level.

One of the most impressive results of the clearing out of that hollow below the old ninth, cutting down the trees and clearing away the brush, is that another beautiful vista is opened up for those who can take their minds off their game for a moment and take in the surroundings. Golfers who have traveled the world over enthuse over the scenic beauties of the Winchester course and there are more such views now than ever before.

Next season the new first hole will be in play, with a tee to the left of the present first, running back to the caddie house. The trees will be taken out back as far as the brook and the old first tee, which was built up, will be torn down and the material used for filling in the brook. Such trees as must be removed for the drive will not be missed; rather, they will give a better view of some of the more stately proportions over toward the eighth green.

The new first green is located on the hill beyond the point where drives from the present first tee go, on that rising ground leading up to the eighth green. It will be a drive and pitch hole, 325 yards from the front of the tee and 360 from the back, and the green will be so formed that it will be a real pitch, up over a rather steep slope, with guarding trees in the face of the hill and possibly at the back left corner of the green.

Less than two weeks ago this new first green was seeded with sods from the Winchester club's own nursery crop and it is positively amazing how quickly these have taken hold and spread over the bare covering of green. Equally surprising is the excellent texture of the new ninth and sixteenth greens, also of sods, spread last April.

From the new first green, when it goes into play, the golfer has a short walk over to the new second tee, up on the hill well back from the present second tee, whereby this hole will be anything from 440 to 465 yards. The brook which intersects the fairway will be filled in and some of those trees on the right, beyond the present first green, will be removed. It will be an exacting two-shotter for the good hitters and the first for the average golfer. Other possible changes are in the minds of John Abbott and J. L. S. Barton, who will never rest content until they make Winchester one of the finest courses there is, but they wouldn't thank me for even intimating that these are, for they believe in going ahead only when the time is propitious for the altered course, as played at present, is 75, made by Phillip Hendrick the other day. Francis O'Brien's record for the old course, 66, now rests secure. Some will say it was reasonably safe before the changes. Al Bond breathes easier because his record of 135 to 30 holes on the old course will remain undisturbed in Father Time's book of golf statistics.—(A. Linde Fowler in Boston Transcript.)

HAWAII: AMERICA'S PACIFIC OUTPOST

Hawaii, recently the objective of the first long non-stop seaplane flight over Pacific waters, is the subject of a communication to the National Geographic Society by its president, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor.

The annexation of the Hawaiian Islands by the United States has turned out to be as good a bargain for the entire United States as it has proved for the Islands themselves, says Dr. Grosvenor.

Valuable Islands Cost Us Nothing Great as is the value of Hawaii as the first line of America's military and health defense in the Pacific, these advantages are ours without the net expenditure of a single dollar of mainland money.

The people of Hawaii not only pay for the operation of their own government, but in addition contribute largely to the National Treasury at Washington to reimburse it for present-day expenditures for the Territory's defense.

Not only do they give Uncle Sam a dollar for every one they spend on themselves, but they do so with a willingness and a pride in the causes of the Nation that make them peculiarly entitled to the consideration of their fellow-countrymen on the mainland.

Visitors Amazed at Mid-Sea Metropolis

The quarter of a century that has now passed since the American flag first floated over Hawaii has seen its people develop a loyalty to that flag and a devotion to the Republic's ideals that are not excelled even in those States whose proud boast may always be that they are of "The Original Ten."

The visitor, however well prepared by reading and by conversation with Hawaiian advisers, cannot escape amazement at the great enterprising metropolis of Honolulu which greets him in these lonely islands in mid-Pacific—vociferous taxicabs, divers and luxurious limousines, spacious hotels, many miles of suburban concrete roads; morning and afternoon newspapers that publish long press dispatches from the mainland and even give the daily quotations of the New York stock markets and the big league baseball scores; large department stores thronged with buyers and displaying the latest New York, London, and Paris fashions; a great university plant and fine public school buildings; a superb country club with golf courses that can compete with our best national links; a Carnegie library; electric trolley cars whose fares are regulated at Washington 5000 miles away; a canning factory that puts up more than one million cans of pineapples in one day; a world-famous agricultural experiment station, and countless other manifestations that we have entered an American minded community.

Any Climate You Wish

Roughly computed, the annual mean temperature is 75.55 degrees, with a divergence in either direction of 7.55 degrees. As a general rule, the temperature is cooler by four degrees for every thousand feet of altitude, so that people can choose their climate to suit themselves without leaving the islands.

We had an amusing illustration of the variety of climate on Oahu. We had requested the privilege one morning of viewing a noted Japanese garden at Waikiki. The owner, with typical Hawaiian hospitality, immediately assented, and added that his wife would be happy to receive us, but he was not sure that he could locate her at such short notice. He had a town house in Honolulu, the Japanese villa at Waikiki for sun-riding, a mountain retreat on Nuuanu, a ranch house on the dry plateau near Schofield Bay, and a completely new and rainy northeast shore. All these establishments were within two hours' ride, and yet each had an entirely different atmosphere. As he had failed to ask his wife in the morning what kind of climate she had selected for the day, he was at considerable trouble to find her and her.

Pearl Harbor Matchless Naval Base

Pearl Harbor, which is located some eight miles from Honolulu, is one of the finest natural naval bases in the world. With a depth of over 60 feet, an area of nearly 10 square miles, reached by a tortuous channel from the sea, and completely hiding all vessels within its haven from view toward the sea, it leaves nothing to be desired as a natural naval base.

No landing forces in the northeast coast can get across the high mountains of Koolau range, and likewise the Waiwae mountains adjacent to the west coast are natural defenses against attack. It remains only, therefore, to defend a short stretch of the northeast coast to protect Pearl Harbor from the rear.

A start has been made in capitalizing its natural strength. A huge dry dock, large enough to float any ship sanctioned by the naval treaty, is in operation, but very little else has been accomplished to insure our permanent possession of this strategic point.

DAYREUTH, THE CITY THAT MUSIC MADE

Seldom does a genius rise who can put an entire city in bondage to his achievements, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society on Bayreuth where the annual Wagner musical festival has just completed its second season since the interruption by the World War.

To Bayreuth, Wagner intrusted the perpetuation of his operas. For almost two months each summer the Festspielhaus, the theatre designed by Wagner himself, resounds with his music and his only, for those two months Bayreuth is all bustle and stir.

Bayreuth, each summer ceases to be a "little German town." Wagner wrote for the ear of the World, not Germany alone, so Bayreuth becomes a sounding board for the cosmopolitan discord of many tongues.

City's Gift to Wagner

Two golden months are over at last, and Bayreuth does little but wait until the festival two months of next summer. Of course there is a trickle of tourists to show the great slab of marble unmarked by inscription or design, that covers the master composer's grave. And from the grave they go to the Villa Wahnfried, Wagner's refuge of peace, now occupied by his aged wife, their children and children's children. It is the gift of a grateful city to Wagner.

Wagner City is just off the route to anywhere. Its very isolation endeared it to Wagner. Many cities offered to do homage to the master's operas as long as there were listeners to hear, but Wagner chose Bayreuth. It lies in mountainous southwest Germany. Scale 40 miles west of the westernmost wedge of Czechoslovakia on the map and you will find it.

Nuremberg is another 40 miles south of Bayreuth. An airplane journey from Nuremberg to the metropolis of Leipzig would take a sky-sighteer right over Bayreuth but the forested mountains that close around it compel the main line railroad to seek a valley farther east.

Audiences Worthy of Music

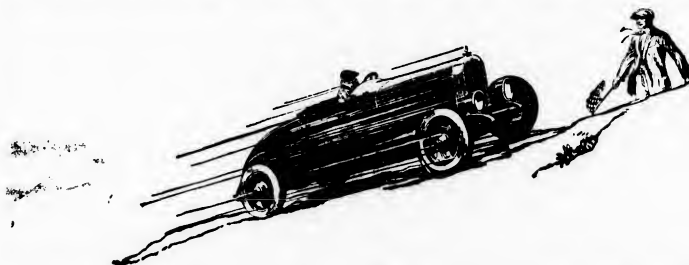

If Wagner, remembering how Paris hoodlums howled down Tannhauser, intended that Bayreuth should be a temple giving admittance only to music lovers he succeeded. Devoted appreciation made fine travelers search out this little hilltown. The journey once started becomes a pilgrimage. And pilgrims who will travel hundreds and sometimes thousands of miles to hear an opera make eager listeners. So here are found audiences worthy of great work superbly done.

Another Record for Chandler!

Wins Annual Pikes Peak Race and Smashes All Records!

CHANDLER calls its motor "the Pikes Peak Motor" because it was developed to master Pikes Peak.

Now—once more—this marvelous motor has proved itself worthy of the name.

On Labor Day, competing against a large field of contestants, a Chandler with a stock motor won with ease the annual climbing race up the grueling slope of Pikes Peak—an event sanctioned by the American Automobile Association.

In winning, Chandler shattered all time records. To the cheers of crowds, Chandler swept up the steep ascent with wide open throttle, taking the sharp curves and double curves at thrilling speed—surging to the top nearly a minute ahead of the second car, and nearly three minutes ahead of the third car!

Chandler's time from bottom to summit was 17 minutes, 48 1/2 seconds—the fastest time ever scored on the world's loftiest automobile highway, 14,109 feet above the sea!

As long ago as 1922 the Chandler engineering staff went to Pikes Peak to conduct important tests that led to the development and perfection of the present Pikes Peak Motor.

The result is that Chandler power, carburetion, braking, steering and cooling all conform to a standard considerably advanced over the everyday standards of six-cylinder engineering.

All the new Chandler models are beautiful; distinctive in style; rich in comfort. See them. Get the thrill of sitting at the wheel of a new Chandler and feeling the smooth, quiet-flowing power of the motor that laughs at America's worst hills!

Members bringing guests to the luncheon please notify Miss Maude Folts, tel. Win. 0803-W.

Winchester sports followers will be glad to learn that Myles Lane of Melrose seems destined to cop a varsity halfback job with the Hanover Indians' eleven at Dartmouth this fall. The big boy has been showing all his old time speed this year, and will be a hard man to keep down. He will be remembered as the left fielder of the Legion ball team which won the "twi" championship two years ago.

Avoid Colds This Winter

DO AS YOUR DOCTOR SAYS—

Keep your body warm. No matter what outer clothing you wear, it is essential that you wear warm, well fitting underwear—underwear that will not only absorb perspiration, but will keep your body from being chilled.

It is no longer necessary to shiver through the long winter months in order to be stylishly dressed.

Styles have changed in underwear as well as in outer wear, and today, underwear is made to conform to the styles of the outer garments.
